The Lady Phrenologist.
Daily Guard, July 22.
The lady phrenologist, Mrs. J. M. Ellis, gave the last lecture of her series here last evening. Her subject was "How to Judge Human Character by Phrenological and Physiognomical Signs." The evening before the lecture on "Love, Courtship and Marriage," was very interesting and listened to by the audience. Not only her lectures but her examinations indicate that she is a progressive student of the science of her profession, and the ease with which she does her work gives evidence that as a professor of phrenology a woman may rank high and is certainly well adapted by nature to the practice. Her audiences have in the main been good, and so far as we can learn her work has given general satisfaction.

Honored Change.
The Salem Independent says: "It is the talk among railroad men to make a change of time for the overland. If the change is made No. 10, which passes Salem at 9:18, will pass between 2 and 3 a. m. A change in No. 29 will be made correspondingly."
A conductor on the S. P. informs us that the run to San Francisco will be lengthened about two hours, and a change of about 20 minutes will be the result on the line in Oregon.

Harrisburg Courier: Harrisburg will soon find herself without a bank, in fact is practically so today. A notice has been placed on the door of the building requesting all depositors to withdraw their money. The business of the bank is being closed up as rapidly as possible, and in a few days the doors will be closed. This action has been brought about by the continued sickness of Mr. Ranney, the banker, but it will be only temporary if he can regain his health.

Horse Trading Case.—Justice Kinsey, a jury of three citizens, and a half dozen attorneys are wrestling with the Rowland-Scott horse trading case, at the court house this afternoon. It is reported that the two horses in dispute are not worth more than $30.

SATURDAY, JULY 22
An Interesting Letter.
CHICAGO, July 16, 1893.
EDITOR GUARD:—According to promise I herewith attempt to give some of the impressions of our trip and of the great world's exposition. Our journey was an uneventful one taking four and a half days from Portland via Northern Pacific and Wisconsin Central. Crops along the road look fair except through portions of North Dakota, where they were burning up for want of rain. I was told it would not be over a half crop. This country is sparsely settled, there being miles and miles in the native barbed fence. This is due to two causes either of which is fatal to its occupancy for years to come. First, it is largely owned by syndicates who hold it for speculation; second, the climate is so rigid that nothing but an Icelandic or Norwegian could endure it and the uncertainty of crops makes it altogether an undesirable country in which to locate. The portion of Wisconsin through which we passed is a wooded country. The larger timber has been used for lumber and it remains covered with saplings and small timber and a dense forest of underbrush. Both incline to be wet and poor. Along the track were thousands of saw logs piled up to be transported to mills near by. They were from 10 to 16 inches in diameter and from 8 to 12 feet long, and many of them hollow, so that if sawed in the west there would be nothing but a hole left. What use they of them I cannot conceive. It is evident that this country will soon have to look to the Pacific coast for its lumber. We entered the fair grounds Thursday morning and stayed there three days and have just made a beginning. Having seen Jackson Park three years ago before any buildings were erected for the fair and having heard and read so much about it I thought I knew how extensive it was but my conception of it was too small. A Michigan man said yesterday that he and his wife had been here two weeks and were completely worn out and were going home a couple of weeks to rest. A city business man said he moved his family near the grounds when the fair opened and his wife had attended almost every day since and expected to continue until it closed and would then be able to see all of interest. So we may conclude that any time from a month to the close of the fair would not be too long to enjoy seeing the exhibits in the world's fair exposition.

The weather the past three days has been intensely warm, temperature ranging from 80 to 90 degrees in the shade. The nights are worse than in the day if possible. About 9 o'clock in the evening I retire to my room, take off my clothing and fall upon my bed exhausted from the day's exertion. I do not sleep until about midnight, in the morning I awake with perspiration issuing from every pore and nearly as tired as the night before. Thursday night the 13th had a heavy thunder storm with rain. Soon after the storm began one of the family tapped at the door and wanted to know if this was an extraordinary or only an ordinary storm in this country. Of course the reply was that it was only ordinary. "If this is only an ordinary storm paper let us pack up in the morning and start home." Anything worse would probably necessitate a move in some direction at least a move to the westward for Oregon.

Expected to write more frequently but am so tired every night that I am glad to take to my room and go to bed. Will probably write again in a few days and say something about the exhibits.
J. H. McCLURG.

Be Careful of Fire.
The law concerning fires in Oregon forests reads as follows:
Sec. 4. Any person or persons who shall willfully set fire to any wooded country or forest belonging to the state of the United States, or to any person or persons, shall be deemed guilty of misdemeanor, and upon conviction before a court of competent jurisdiction, shall be punished by a fine not exceeding one thousand dollars, or imprisonment not exceeding one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment; provided, that nothing herein contained shall apply to any person who in good faith sets a back fire to prevent the extension of a fire already burning.

SUBSCRIBER.—The Salem Daily Independent, a populist paper, for the past two weeks has been publishing reports about how corrupt Lane county has been managed. Now, the editor of that paper is surprised at the mildness of the report, and says: "The alliance of Lane county appointees to a committee to investigate county affairs. This committee, employed Hon. L. B. Boise and J. E. Ables to assist them and they make the following report. It is evident there is something wrong in Lane county, but the committee has not exposed one tenth as much corruption as we exposed in this county. If this is all the Lane county sheriff has done, other sheriffs of this county could give him pointers and then beat him half."

WENT TO ROSEBURG.—Corvallis Times: M. G. Wilkins, the popular host of the McCallan House, Roseburg, arrived in town last Friday and returned home Monday. He took with him his brother Miles, projector and builder of the Hotel Corvallis, whose health has become a matter of much solicitude among his relatives and friends. The son of the latter's ailment is in his brain, which is affected with an extension that is irrational much of the time. It is hoped that a temporary change of residence will prove beneficial.

COMPLIMENTS OREGON.—Comptroller of Currency Eckles unconditionally pays Oregon a high compliment in his statement made in New York Tuesday. He refers to the disasters which have fallen upon the "speculative institutions and boom cities of the states of Washington, California, Colorado, Kansas and Missouri." Taking the illustrative frightful examples it is surely a compliment not to refer to Oregon.

HEAVY DAMAGE SUIT.
The Wife of Deputy Sheriff Croner Sues Mrs. Dr. Patterson Wallace for $3105 Damages.
Daily Guard, July 22.
Mrs. Cynthia A. Croner, this afternoon, entered suit in the circuit court of Lane county against Mrs. Dr. Patterson-Wallace, late of Albany, for malpractice. The complaint alleges that the defendant claimed she was skilled in medicine and therefore commenced to treat plaintiff; that she gave the plaintiff an overdose of croton which blistered the mucous membranes of her mouth, throat and stomach, causing a depression of the heart and other organs; that she has suffered much bodily and mental pain from the same, and is now unable to partake of any nourishment, by reason of taking such medicine. And by cause of said treatment she has been compelled to expend $75 for the services of a physician, $30 for nurse hire and out-of-pocket expenses in addition to the amount of $5000; therefore plaintiff asks for judgment in the sum of $3105.
The plaintiff has retained the services of Attorneys E. R. Skipworth and A. C. Woodcock; and the defendant, Attorney L. Blyden.

Back to First Principle.
Corvallis Times: The arrival in this city Saturday night of five freight trains from Eugene, and their departure Sunday morning laden with merchandise for Eugene merchants, reminded the old inhabitant of the times when Corvallis was the distribution point for the southern Oregon mines, and of how until the old Cannonville first crawled slowly up the river and hove in sight of town, no freight came in and out of the place, except by team. The causes that led to the moving of freight in this day of railroads and labor-saving devices by the old-fashioned and laborious method was the adoption last Friday of a new freight schedule on the Southern Pacific railroad between Albany and points south.
Ten teams have taken away loads during the week, carrying 40,000 pounds of freight. One four-horse team hauled 9500 pounds.

HE WORE THE BEEHIVES.—The Barlow's Three sisters says: A lady customer called at one of the leading stores in Barlow the other day with a view of purchasing a pair of overalls for her husband. The obliging salesman, who is quite a bunch of politeness, proceeded to show the lady two or three different styles of overalls, dwelling meantime on the good quality and make-up of the goods. In his exuberant overflow of words he said: "Madam, here is a pair you can wear over your pants, and they will not look unbecoming if you wear them without pants." The lady assured the young man that her husband generally wore the breeches, whereupon he became unconscious.

GAME LAW.—Under the new game law buck deers can not be killed until after August 1; and spotted fawns can not be killed at any time. It is unlawful to kill any deer at any time unless the carcass is used or preserved by the person killing it, or is sold for food. Elk can be killed from August 1st to November 15th. Trout cannot be sold or offered for sale any time except during the months of September and October.

ORDINARY.—Oregon City Enterprise: The circus has come and gone. It succeeded in attracting a large crowd to town and there was a very fair attendance at the two performances. The few animals including one big and a very small baby elephant were good enough, but there was hardly enough to call it a menagerie. The circus part was ordinary with perhaps the exception of some of the riding.

A. O. U. W. ELECTION.—The A. O. U. W. elected the following officers today: Grand Master, T. C. Mackey; Grand Foreman, W. M. Brannin; Grand Overseer, Horace D. Randall; Recorder, Newton Clark; Grand Receiver, R. L. Durham; Trustee, W. J. Pymale.
Supreme representatives—B. J. Hawthorne, Eugene; D. Solis Cohen, Portland; T. A. Stephens, Portland.

A NEW PROGRAM.—It is quite probable that within a short time a new time table will be adopted, under which the Lebanon train will run direct to Natron, on the Oregonian railway, while the Woodburn train will run to Lebanon, the two trains meeting at the junction, where the passengers will be transferred. This will save one crew of men.

REMITTED IT.—Salem Statesman: Washburn's circus arrived in town yesterday morning and pitched its tent in the vacant lot near the depot. The street parade was short and featureless and the show was slim. This is the season of the year when people are busy but many attended the show and most of these regretted it.

POSTPONED.—The examination of Mrs. Dr. Patterson-Wallace, for practicing medicine without being registered, has been postponed until 7 o'clock this evening, to allow her attorney, Mr. L. Blyden, time to return from Salem. We learn that papers will also be served on the lady this afternoon asking for damages on account of malpractice.

NOT ACCEPTED.—Springfield Messenger: We are informed by private letter from reliable source, that the proposition to move the Corvallis Star to Eugene and establish it as the all-ance ally organ has not been accepted. The county alliance expect soon to have a paper, run exclusively in the interest of the cause.

ARM BROKEN.—While returning from the field late yesterday afternoon, M. J. Hillegas, of Camp Creek precinct, was thrown from his horse and had his left arm broken at the wrist joint. Dr. Koykendall was called and set the broken limb.

MARRIED.—In Lane county, Oregon, July 16, 1893, by Rev. R. Doty, L. N. Dook and Katie L. Drees, all of Lane county, Oregon.

Bound Over.
Daily Guard, July 22.
The preliminary examination of Mrs. Dr. Patterson Wallace, on the charge of practicing medicine without a certificate from the state medical board, was concluded before Justice Kinsey this morning. After hearing the evidence and arguments of counsel the court bound the defendant over to appear before the grand jury, with bonds fixed at $300. These were promptly furnished. In justice to the lady, we would state, however, that it was proven that she had taken the preliminary steps toward procuring such a certificate as required by law and is also the possessor of the following diploma which was introduced in evidence:
State of Ohio, American Health College, Cincinnati, Incorporated, A. D. 1874, and reincorporated, A. D. 1876, together with additional powers and privileges for teaching and practicing the Vitaphatic system of practice, including all vital means of cure for the diseases of the body and soul, originated by Prof. J. B. Campbell, M. D., J. V. D., copyrighted by the United States and incorporated by the state of Ohio, (The names of the several trustees are here inserted).
To all people: Greeting: Know all men by these presents that the within named, Cincinnati, Incorporated, A. D. 1874, and reincorporated, A. D. 1876, together with additional powers and privileges for teaching and practicing the Vitaphatic system of practice, has been fully instructed in the necessary primary study and preparation and being of good moral character, has been fully instructed in the Vitaphatic system of practice and is fully competent and amply qualified to practice in the treatment and cure of all diseases, and therefore, by authority of law, we, the said incorporators, officers and trustees, do hereby confer upon her, this, our diploma authorizing her to legally practice said system; anywhere in the treatment of all physical and mental diseases and to lawfully receive just compensation therefor. And in virtue of our religious organization and second incorporation, we also constitute and ordain her minister of the gospel of life and authorize her to preach and solemnize marriages according to law, to attend funerals and to lawfully perform all ministerial offices.
And by these presents do we fully constitute her doctor of health and minister of life.
Witness our hands and seal with the incorporate seal of the American Health College this 28th day of November, V. B. 18 (A. D., 1893).

CHARGE OF ONE MAN.—Made on each letter given out. Persons calling for letters will please say when advised.
MISSIE WASHBURN, P. M.

A PRESENT.—Prof. B. J. Hawthorne of this city, P. G. M. of the A. O. U. W., of this state, which has just closed its annual session of the grand lodge in Portland, was the recipient of a handsome and useful present from his lodge brethren yesterday. It was a silver ten set presented as a token of the esteem in which he is held and in appreciation of his valuable work for the order during the past year. Prof. Hawthorne left Portland last night for the world's fair at Chicago where he will assume the direction of Oregon's educational exhibit.

AT JUNCTION.—A large crowd attended the horse race at Junction City yesterday afternoon. The entries were made by John Strome, N. B. Millhorn and Mr. Farhart. Judges, T. A. Millhorn and Jas. Hoffman. The race was a half mile for a purse of $80. Black Alder, entered by Lytle, and the Strome horse run a dead heat in 51 seconds, and the purse was divided between them. In the evening the ball was largely attended and an enjoyable race was had. It was a most orderly crowd.

EXPENSIVE FERRIAGE.—Harrisburg Courier: One day last week, Sam Ferguson, who lives a few miles west of this city, drove in some 50 or 60 head of beef cattle. Arriving at the river, he did not use the ferry but drove the cattle into the stream and had them swim across. During the operation three head were drowned.

Mrs. Stanford's Brother.
SAN FRANCISCO, July 21.—It is reported that Charles Lathrop, Mrs. Stanford's brother, who has succeeded the late senator as a director in the Market Street Cable Railroad Company, will also become one of the Southern Pacific directors, to represent the Stanford estate.

LIENS FILED.—Ten laborers yesterday afternoon, filed liens upon the property of the Eureka Lumber Company, for work, in different amounts. The mill is located four miles west of Eugene, and is owned by Barnhart Bros. & Mook.

AN ELECTION.—Cottage Grove Leader: There will be an election in East Cottage Grove August 1 to determine the expediency of issuing $5000 in bonds for water works, electric lights, etc. The business to be under the control of the city.

IN FAVOR OF ROWLAND.—In the suit yesterday between Virgil Rowland and Sid Scott, the jury found in favor of the former, awarding him the horse in controversy and $5 damages. This throws the cost on Scott.

ISSUANCE.—Capt. N. B. Humphrey, whose leg was amputated at Pendleton, July 7, and who has been wildly delirious for several days, was adjudged insane yesterday. He has been taken to the asylum.
