

Creswell Casualties.

Nov. 29.

George Townsend visited the county seat this week.

The Coast Fork got so high Tuesday night that it stopped over a little and B. L. Buoy moved his family to higher ground.

Jack Eaton's wife left for Kansas last Saturday, to visit her mother and brother. How long she expects to stay we did not learn.

We learn that Judge Miller lately declined an invitation to officiate at a wedding, thereby giving Judge Kinsey of Eugene another fee. They say he gave as a reason that there were certain legal objections, but we think C. F. Moore is still studying that manuscript marriage service of the judge's and without which the latter could do nothing in that line.

The protracted meetings still continue despite the severity of the weather. Three services besides the Sunday school and Epworth league were held on Sunday and much interest manifested. Rev. Ingle is a very forcible talker and clinches every statement with numerous passages of scripture.

Messrs. George, Frank and Everett Miller have just completed a substantial shift to be used by them in trapping along the river this winter. Good pelts are in demand and every old rusty steeltrap will be pressed into service this season. But let those having furs to sell look out for the snide firms who advertise for furs and send out startling price lists.

Snow and blizzards are the rule almost the world over, but here in Web-foot the daisies are blooming.

ZEPH.

Theatrical.

Chas. L. Davis representing the rural character, "Alvin Joslin," had a fair audience at Rinehart's opera house Wednesday night. His subsequent years of acting and close study of effect in the character he represents has made him even more entertaining than when on his last Pacific coast tour. Davis is an actor who has devoted as much careful study in bringing out the most striking combination of Yankee character in "Alvin Joslin," as some more famous actors have in bringing into reality the ideals of Shakespeare, and it may be added that his success is justly meritorious.

He is supported by a strong company on this tour, but the leading lady Helen F. Vane as "Lulu Ford," is deserving of especial mention. Everybody present had a good laugh and the pathetic scenes also had a good effect. The company carries considerable special scenery among which was the Brooklyn bridge by moonlight.

COLD WEATHER.

Snowing in Iowa with a Good Chance for a Blizzard.

CECIL RAPIDS, Ia., Nov. 30.—A snow storm began this morning. It is now five inches deep with no indications of a let-up. Street-car service is almost paralyzed. A blizzard is approaching.

At Des Moines the first snow of the season began falling this morning. By noon it was nearly a foot deep.

Snowing in Chicago.

CHICAGO, Nov. 30.—Snow began falling at 10 this morning and continues without abatement.

Admiral Stanton in New York.

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—Admiral Stanton, who was deprived of the command of the South American squadron, for saluting the flag of the rebel, Admiral Mello, arrived here on the steamer Spruce last night. He declined to speak of the incident which led to his recall. Concerning the bombardment of Rio Janeiro, he said that he had been through the city several times and beyond a piece of cornice chipped off here and there very little damage was done to the city.

Episcopal Mount's Report.

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 30.—The Times prints a statement by P. D. Reeder, a well-known Iowa republican, on Hawaiian affairs. Reeder was in Hawaii four months last winter. His statement corroborates Blount's report. He upholds Cleveland and Gresham.

A Southern Oregon Mine.

COTTAGE GROVE, Nov. 29.—J. B. McGee, manager of the Annie Mine at Bohemia in this city. He reports the Annie's new mill in full operation and expects to keep it running during the winter. The ore is delivered to the mill by means of an elevated tramway. The company is well stocked with supplies for a winter's campaign.

Joseph Hutton died yesterday from dropsy. He was 68 years of age and has a son living near Spokane, Wash.

Indictments Against the Jobs.

CORVALLIS, Or., Nov. 29.—The grand jury of Lincoln county at Toledo yesterday afternoon, found an indictment against M. M. Davis, Zeph in Job and B. R. Job for larceny of public funds. Davis was manager of the Yaquina City branch of the recently suspended bank of Hamilton, Job & Co., and at the time of the suspension $1199.96 of Lincoln county funds was in deposit at the branch bank. Failure to return the deposit on demand is the ground for the indictment.

THROWN DOWNSTAIRS AND KILLED.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 30.—The inquest on the body of Newton W. Hall, the young Englishman who was picked up unconscious on the street yesterday afternoon and died Monday morning in the city prison, was concluded yesterday evening. The jury found a verdict that deceased came to his death through being thrown downstairs by Edwin A. Gillespie and the neglect of the officers at the receiving hospital.

THE RIVER.

The river Wednesday continued to rise until midnight, when it reached nearly seventeen feet. Yesterday it fell nearly four feet, but in the evening it commenced rising again and now it is about 17 feet and five inches above low water mark and is on a stand. Those familiar with river state that the cause for the second raise was the warm temperature of the weather last night. No damage was done by the water to speak of. A dispatch from Salem says the river is 25 feet above low water mark at that place and on the rise.

OUR THANKSGIVING.

Union Services—W. K. C. Dinner—The Militia Ball.

Daily Guard, Dec. 1.

The union services yesterday morning were held at the M. E. church commencing at 10:30 o'clock. The church was filled with people who felt it their duty to observe the day. The praise service was short but the pieces well selected. The sermon was delivered by Rev. W. S. Gilbert and owing to its peculiar adaptiveness to the occasion we publish the following synopsis:

"His text was taken from the 95th Psalm, being the following words, 'Thou crownest the year with thy goodness.' 'This psalm was composed on the occasion of a plentiful harvest but at a time of great political convulsion. The year had been full of danger and anxiety. Destruction and disaster threatened. A thousand evils might have happened. But at the year's end a retrospect saw that it was all God's providence.

"As our nation lays down its hamlets, locks its schoolrooms, closes its business houses, hushes its noisy life today, may this Thanksgiving be a day more than holiday for its sixty-million of people. Former years indeed were full of blessing but this year, more than any before, has been crowned with God's goodness. From the very beginning of a discovery in the new world the hand of Providence can be traced in preparing, protecting and perfecting our great republic. From Oriental theocracy through European monarchy down to this theocratic democracy God's providence and plan are easily traced. The fatherhood of God had long been known but not until this government was given did the universal brotherhood of man dawn upon the race.

"This year our gamblers have overflooded the markets of the world are locked. Never before was there so much wheat or corn or cotton. Our fruit has made the world's mouth water. Milk and honey have come to our door. The horn of plenty has been emptied upon us in superabundance. No plague has blighted our nation while other nations have been sick with pestilence. No war has devastated our plains while other countries have been rent by tyranny and blood. We have had calamities it is true but when was there a year in which there was not some calamity, some loss in the country's harvest. The nation has suffered financial panic but when was there so much money in the country as now. The nation needed the scouring. It brought it upon itself but after all it will be a blessing.

"When we consider our phenomenal, unparalleled circumstances and conditions we are thankful that we have been preserved through all. Through the very sorrows of the year God has manifested his goodness, has deepened our love and softened our hearts. Yes, through our tears, from our lonely thoughts, out of our broken hearts, we sing thanksgiving for all the gifts of the dying year for God is good."

EPISCOPAL CHURCH.

The members of the Episcopal church met at 10 o'clock and held the regular Thanksgiving service of that society which consisted of an appropriate sermon by Dr. Loveridge and an enjoyable song service. The church was handsomely decorated on the interior with flowers. The donations for the Good Samaritan Hospital were abundant.

W. K. C. DINNER.

The ladies of the Relief Corps prepared a beautiful dinner in the Harris block, next to A. V. Peters' store, and served over 200 persons. The tables were spread with a great variety of good things and the ladies were alert to see that each person was well served and satisfied.

The corps also served supper for the ball given last night, feeding over 20 couple. Had it not been for the accident in breaking the plate glass window the venture would have been quite a success financially, but donations have been coming steadily in which will assist greatly in making up the loss. The ladies are profuse in their thanks to those citizens who have been so liberal and to the public generally for their patronage.

CATHOLIC SERVICES.

A large crowd of communicants participated in the adequate solemnization of the Thanksgiving of our beloved country at the Catholic church yesterday. Most Rev. Archbishop Gross delivered a very beautiful sermon. He celebrated his mass at 7 o'clock a. m. Immediately after the pastor, Rev. Beck, said the second mass. At 9 o'clock Very Rev. Adelhelm, prior of Mt. Angel, sang the high mass. The choir was large and the singing excellent.

THE DANCING PARTY.

There was a merry crowd of dancers at the ball given last night and they enjoyed themselves until two hours after midnight. The music was furnished by the Eugene orchestra, consisting of clarinet, violin, piano and cornet. The players were Prof. G. H. Yerlinton, Mr. Link, Miss Mae Huff and T. C. Wheeler, and they received many compliments for their excellent music. The numbers of Co. C certainly scored a social success in this ball although no great amount was cleared financially.

TRUCKS AND CROW.—A dovehouse was prepared in Henderson & Linn's drug store window by the enterprising proprietors for Thanksgiving day. J. B. Ferree, the taxidermist, mounted a turkey gobbler and a crow which were suggestively arranged together. The turkey was represented in a rage, with feathers ruffled and proudly maintaining a belligerent position while the crow is on the defensive, snarling his defiance. A great many were attracted to the window by the amusing scene.

BROKEN ENGINES.

Both the engines at the electric light station were disabled last night but the city was without lights but a few minutes. The large engine was soon fixed and managed to keep the lights burning until morning. Both are being repaired to day and the plant will be running as usual tonight.

BOOM BROKEN.—Thursday's Albany Herald: The boom holding the logs of the Harrisburg lumber Co. broke and allowed about 6000 worth of logs to escape before it was again secured.

FRIDAY, DECEMBER 1.

Wild ducks reported quite plentiful. Mrs. H. Tannemose is ill with la grippe.

Rev. I. D. Driver returned home this afternoon.

Attorney E. O. Potter returned from Salem yesterday.

E. M. Carpenter has returned from his trip to California.

Hereafter the city marshal of Albany will receive $340 year.

Mrs. Robert Pratt returned from Creswell this morning.

O. C. Lee, representing the Portland Dispatch, is in Eugene.

Willis Brown and wife went to Portland on this morning's local.

There are 302 men and one woman in the penitentiary at Salem.

Albert Walker has been appointed a notary public for the governor.

Wm. Preston and family returned home from Goshen this morning.

Miss Laura E. Murch went to Portland this morning for a short visit.

Conductor Billy Jamieson had charge of the Roseburg local going down today.

Prof. G. H. Wilkes, of Melama, spent Thanksgiving with friends in Eugene.

The San Francisco Dye Works have removed to the rooms first doors north of the old location.

Wm. Renshaw has been quite sick with the quinsy for two or three days. He is much better now.

Miss Lottie Johnson left on the local yesterday afternoon for Cottage Grove to visit friends.

John Reiter, the Astoria murderer, was hanged at that place today. Sheriff Nolan was present.

J. G. Howell and wife, of Oakland, Cal., arrived here yesterday morning and will remain in Eugene for a few days.

During the month of September the Oregon Pacific rail and steamer system lacked $2739.05 of paying operating expenses.

Mrs. Belle Grimes, of Harrisburg, who has been visiting for a few days at the residence of J. W. Cherry, returned home this morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Thompson spent Thanksgiving at the residence of the lady's parents in this city, returning to their home at Salem this morning.

Miss Carrie Friendly entertained the members of the senior class of the State University at her home last evening. An exceptionally fine time is reported.

President Chapman, of the State University, went to Portland on the local this morning. He will deliver the first lecture of a course before the high school of that city this evening.

Sheriff Massey, the populist sheriff of Columbia county, Oregon, has flown. He is over $2000 short in his accounts with the county. It seems that it makes no difference what a man's politics are. It does not make him honest.

Thursday's Oregonian: George Belshaw will be buried at Eugene this afternoon. As it was the scene of his great usefulness and activity, there is no more fitting place for his remains to rest than in the county upon which, during his forty years of residence within it, he has shed an honorable renown.

Pendleton Herald: As soon as Bill Matlock's card of the Milton plan of borrowing money from bank presidents he threw up his situation as president of the Pendleton Savings bank and retired to the shades of private life. Bill says bank presidenting is getting entirely too exciting for one of his peaceful disposition.

The steamer Hoag left here yesterday morning on her return trip. She took no freight from this point but loaded 125 tons of wheat at Meek's warehouse down the river. If she had remained here until evening she could have procured 100 tons of freight here. It is expected she will be here again the first of next week.

Prineville News: Abe Davis, who is a real estate owner in this county, and who is well known and favorably remembered by many Lane county boys, visited Prineville this week. It was our good pleasure to meet him in a substantial manner. And, by the way, he is liable to make his home in our midst, and—end—cast a vote in Crook county at the next election.

The funeral of the late George Belshaw occurred yesterday afternoon from the residence of Geo. W. Kinsey to the Masonic cemetery, and was largely attended by his many old friends, notwithstanding the inclement weather. The services were conducted by Rev. Mr. Richardson and were of a very impressive nature. A good man has gone and the people mourn his loss.

Several friends of the late A. G. Davis who died at the Hoffman House here last spring of pneumonia, have received invitations announcing the marriage of his sister, Miss Lora Davis on November 30th, at 7 o'clock p. m. at her home in Georgia. This act of courtesy is a touching mark of the appreciation which is felt for the kindness of friends to a brother who died in a far away land.

Oregonian: President Chapman is in Eastern Oregon working up the interests of the state university. Probably that is another of his importations, along with the lecture system. It is a good one. Eastern college and state university presidents make such tours frequently, and they are of value in many ways. Besides gathering students he comes more in touch with the people of the state, and his visit never fails to leave an educational impress on the town.

OFFICERS ELECTED.

Helmet lodge, No. 33, Knights of Pythias, elected officers last night, as follows, for the ensuing year: Henry J. Day, C. C.; Geo. W. Kinsey, V. C.; F. T. Whitcomb, P.; A. E. Reames, K. of R. and S.; Jos. Koch, M. of A.; J. Beavense, M. of E.; Harry Weider, M. of F.; W. L. DeLano, M. of W.

SKIPPED.

Upon agreeing to leave Eugene and forever remain away, Josie Busch, the wayward girl was discharged from the city jail Thursday evening, and departed on the midnight train for Ashland. A good riddance.

Opium Smokers.

Daily Guard, Dec. 1.

Two individuals, giving their names as Jimmy Fennell, an Albany tin horn gambler, and Ed Abbey, of Newport, arrived in Eugene last Monday morning and that night commenced frequenting a certain China house, located on the alley south of Ninth street, supposed to be an opium joint. Police-men Matthews concluded that the individuals were indulging in the narcotic and Wednesday morning, between the hours of 12 and 1 o'clock Deputy Sheriff Croner, whom he had called to assist him, went to the above house to make an investigation. They found the door securely locked but in a short time it was opened by the Chinaman in charge of the house, and the two white men were found, but not in the act of smoking opium, although from their appearance and surroundings it looked as if they had been indulging. On opium outfit was found, the lamp still burning and the pipe was warm, which they captured. The men were arrested and taken to the city jail. Each of the low down specimens of the human race attempted to bribe the officers by offering them from $20 to $30 each, saying that they would also "skip" on the first train. The bribes were spurned by the officers and the smokers were locked up in the iron cells. They were taken before the recorder Wednesday afternoon, and they stood trial, E. L. Skipworth appearing for the city and L. Bileau for the defendants. The evidence was all in by 9 o'clock last night, and the attorneys made their arguments this morning.

Recorder Dorris, after considering the case, imposed a fine upon Fennell of $20 and costs and $10 and costs upon Abbey. Neither of the parties having any money they will board the amount out with the city. The city marshal should compel these degraded specimens of mankind to work on the streets. They could be profitably employed in cleaning off the muddy crosswalks about town.

Fairmount Notes.

Mr. Chapman lost a valuable horse yesterday, by sickness.

Mr. Black is building an extensive addition to his dwelling on Fifteenth street.

A gentleman was here this week looking up a location for a grist mill.

The Barr Bros. knife factory is getting orders for all the work they can do. They contemplate employing additional hands soon.

The Fairmount literary society is again holding regular sessions with a good attendance. Many from Eugene and Springfield are regular participants.

L. L. Schell, formerly of this place but now living in Dundon, writes he will soon return with his family and occupy his cottage on East Fifteenth street.

G. M. Miller is preparing the ground for planting 300 Royal Ann cherry trees on the south part of Fairmount. He will also plant several hundred choice apple trees in the same vicinity.

They Will Test It.

Corvallis Times: As suggested in these columns last week, Benton county people who have property in Lincoln county are suffering tribulation. They have paid the taxes on their property to the sheriff of Benton county, on whose assessment roll the property was listed and hold his receipt. Meanwhile, the sheriff of Lincoln county has assessed the property and now advertises it to be sold at tax sale December 15. The matter came up for a decision in the present term of the circuit court for Lincoln county in the form of a petition for an injunction presented by Attorneys John Bryson and Wallis Nash, representing William M. Hoag. A preliminary injunction restraining the sheriff from selling the property was granted, and will be argued at the special term in this city December 27.

A Revival Spirit.

Daily Guard, Dec. 1.

Last night at the Methodist church there was a very interesting prayer meeting. A large number were present and many earnest speeches were made looking to a revival. When an opportunity was given there were forty-nine requests for prayer. Under the same conditions before the great revival last winter thirty-five requests were made. The talk looking to a revival in this church is becoming general among both converted and unconverted people, and many hearts are looking with earnest expectation to its coming.

Revival at Cottage Grove.

Daily Guard, Dec. 1.

A card was received by one of the pastors this morning stating that the revival at Cottage Grove is assuming large proportions. It says, "Altar full last night from end to end; many more under deep conviction and work spreading. Many of the young men of the town have been converted."

THE STORM.

Daily Guard, Dec. 1.

THE STORM.—The recent heavy rain storm was not unexpected by those who put any confidence in the prediction of Foster, the Missouri weather prophet, as printed in the GUARD a few days ago. In his forecast Foster said storm waves would cross the continent from November 23d to 26th and 28th to December 2d. The next will reach the Pacific Coast about December 3d and will be of very considerable energy. He says it will cross the western mountains by the close of the fourth. A cold wave of more than average force will follow this disturbance. The preceding storm wave will cross the western mountains about the 3d—Foster says so, and it remains to be seen whether or not he made a false prophecy.

CORSET STENOGRAPHER.—Corvallis Times: The second judicial district has a court stenographer. M. O. Wilkins was appointed by Judge Fullerton at the recent term of court in this county.

MACON, Ga., Dec. 1.—Ex-Commissioner Blount declined today to talk about ex-Minister Stevens' reply to his charges until he had read the whole communication, of which only a synopsis was published by the local papers.

Goshen Items.

Nov. 30.

Lucky man, eat a turkey! Rather high water yesterday.

The party at Mathews Bros. tonight will be a success.

Jos. Smith had a valuable horse killed by a train one night last week.

Some parties were down from above Cottage Grove this week to engage hop roots from J. B. Keeney.

Some of us attended a most pleasant party at Mark Kelley's near Creswell last Thursday night. To say we had a good time is rating it mildly.

One night this week we were called to the door of our domicile and valuable information was imparted to us by a friend from Trent. We anxiously await an opportunity of reciprocating the favor, but not in the same line, to be sure—no hope for that.

Persons interested in the happenings of this place will please excuse the shortness of this week's report. The fact is we were called out one night recently to defend our poultry interests, since which prudence dictates our remaining at home for our presence with our neighbors is far less enjoyed than manifested.

Born, Nov. 27, 1893, to Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Keeney, a son.

Mrs. J. M. Berkshire returned to Goshen Sunday from Cottage Grove.

Mrs. L. Gay, formerly of Creswell, but now residing with her husband and family at Coeur d'Alene City, Montana, is visiting friends near here.

Three applications for the mail contract between Goshen and Dexter were made by persons in this locality. Of course each of them is sure(?) of getting it.

FEATHERWEIGHT.

A Murderer Hanged.

ASTORIA, Dec. 1.—John Reiter, the murderer of Victor Snellman, was hanged promptly at noon today. He read in a firm voice a confession acknowledging the justice of his sentence.

Just before the trap fell, a large number of sheriffs from different parts of the state and about 500 invited citizens from the city and county were admitted within the enclosure, and saw the hanging, which went off all right.

He ascended the steps of the gallows unaided and was given a few minutes time in which to say a few words to the spectators. In firm tones he said: "I acknowledge my guilt of the crime for which I am about to suffer death, the justice of the sentence and the impartiality of the judge and jury. I have to thank Sheriff Smith and his deputies for their kindness. I forgive everybody. I hope that I may myself be forgiven, and that all will pray for me."

Toward the end of his remarks the paper which he held trembled slightly, but beyond this no sign of faintness was visible until Sheriff Smith began to platoon him. Before this operation was completed he had to be supported. The straps were arranged with remarkable celerity and dexterity and the rope adjusted in a few seconds. No time was lost, and as the sheriff completed the adjustment he lifted his hand and the trap fell. Reiter's neck was dislocated, and life was pronounced extinct in 61 minutes. The body was not cut down until 18 minutes after the drop.

Cottage Grove Items.

Leader, Dec. 2.

Miss Maggie Carey went to Eugene Sunday to attend the public school in that city.

Jackie Lurch and Ralph Whipple who are attending the state university at Eugene, came home Wednesday to spend Thanksgiving.

David Harris, of Coast Fork, was thrown from his horse last Sunday afternoon, dislocating one of his shoulders. One of our physicians was called out, and soon the trouble was relieved.

Quite a number of young people from Eugene, Creswell and Constock attended the masquerade ball given at this place Thursday evening. A good time was reported by all present and the best of order prevailed.

After a few days illness at his residence in this city, Jacob Hatterly, died November 27, 1893, aged about 69 years. He leaves a son, last heard of at deer park, Washington. The funeral services were conducted by Rev. E. Gittins at the M. E. church on Wednesday.

SALEM, Or., Dec. 1.—R. L. McGee, a laborer, was found in a drunken stupor about 2 o'clock this morning in the rear of William Anderson's saloon. He was not taken in by the police immediately, but a short time later they went to arrest him and he was dead.

The body was removed to the undertaker's, and this afternoon the coroner's inquest commenced, which is not yet finished. An autopsy of the body shows that the liquor that was taken by the deceased caused paralysis of the heart.

An analysis of the contents of the stomach and bladder is also being made. It is supposed that the deceased indulged in too free drinking of egg-nog during the early portion of last night. Two others are quite sick, caused by the same. McGee leaves a wife and six small children.

MILWAUKEE, Dec. 1.—Frederick Abbott, of this city, received a message from Charles L. Colby, of New York, yesterday, directing him to send $1000 to the suffering miners of Ironwood and Bessemer in his name.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1.—The department of state has applied to Honduras for the extradition of Menage, the Minneapolis embezzler, and to Guatemala for information on the case.

PITTSBURG, Dec. 1.—Everything is quiet at the Snowden and Gastonville mines. They did not start up as expected, but preparations are being made to resume.

NEW YORK, Dec. 1.—The Erie Railway Company today defaulted on the interest on its second mortgage bonds. It paid the interest on the funded 5 per cents.

The Albany Democrat tells of the following damages by the high water in that city: "The Union Pacific wharf was destroyed and the O. P. wharf upheaved, these being about the only damage."

Our sewer does excellent work. It was money well invested.

Our streets are in good condition considering the amount of rain that has fallen. In fact Eugene has the best improved highways of any city in Oregon.

Knox county, Ill., is probably the divorce center of the United States. In the last five years the number of divorces have averaged one to every seven marriages.

The holiday season will soon be here. Now is the time for dealers in goods suitable for presents to make their announcements in the GUARD, the best advertising medium in Lane county.

Ex.: Newspaper men who tell the farmer how to make a success of his business are like the farmer who tells the newspaperman how to run his paper, and yet there are some of both in Oregon.

The late George Belshaw did much to build up Oregon, and Lane county in particular. The loss of such a citizen is always felt by the community, and state in general. His memory will be revered by all.

The Oregonian is not so jubilant over the smuggling cases as it was a few months since. It now looks very much as if the only man that would escape the penitentiary would be Richard Roe, who has not been arrested. We suppose he is a partner of John Doe.

A locomotive is being constructed in England to run 100 miles an hour. It is 2,000 horse power and the driving wheels are twelve feet in diameter. The three cylinders are forty, twenty-eight and eighteen inches in diameter, with a thirty inch stroke. The boiler pressure is 200 pounds.

Thanksgiving was more generally observed than ever before in Eugene. The ladies of the Relief Corps distributed considerable food and clothing to the needy of the city. This organization is composed of a band of good, true and noble women who work for the good of the whole community without pay. They are deserving and should be helped in their charitable work by every citizen.

There is a bill pending in congress providing for the issue of postal fractional currency, in denominations of 5, 10, 25 and 50 cents. This is intended to furnish the public with a convenient form of money for transmission through the mails. It is to displace the postal notes, which are to be withdrawn from sale on January 1, 1894. This fractional postal currency will be furnished at its face value and without formality now necessary to
