Theatrical.

Dally Guard, Dec. 7.

Katie Putnam, who appeared at Rhinehart's opera house last evening as the heroine in C. T. Dazey's esting comedy-drama, "Love Finds a way," has lost little of that versatility which made her famous. The char-acter of "Gay Howard" is well fitted to her style of acting, and her company on this tour gives a strong support.

The plot is well laid and the performance throughout is replete with strikingly pathetic situations and mirth provoking comedy, alternating bighly amused, but the interest increases with intensity until the curtain is down on the last act. Fay St. Clair as "Jane Bradley," L. O. Hart as "Dan Bradley" her father, George Klint as "Frank Clifton," Gay's lover, Richard Valentine as "Ralph Whitmore," the villian, and Gus Cohen, the comedian, who plays the part of "Samuel Smirks," each as-sume the character in a manner which play. It has been a long time since the theatre-goers of this city have witnessed anything which they more thoroughly enjoyed than last night's entertainment.

REDUCTION SALE.

A reduction in price in order to reduce my stock. You get the advantage of LOW prices for what you need; we get the money to put into new goods for the spring trade, and thus the benefit is mutual.

Come Early and See What We Can Do for You.

We take this opportunity of thanking our customers for their very liberal patrenage, our sales for the mouths of October and November being better than the corresponding months last year notwithstanding the money panic, and we shall continue to deserve the confidence and patronage of all those who favor us by giving them the BEST QUALITY of goods for the LEAST POSSIBLE price. Very respectfully,

J. H. McClung.
