

CASTORIA

for Infants and Children.

"Castoria is well adapted to children that I recommend it as superior to any prescription known to me." R. A. ANTON, M. D., 111 So. Oxford St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"The use of 'Castoria' is so universal and its merits so well known that it needs no word of commendation to endorse it. Few are the intelligent families who do not keep Castoria within easy reach."

LET THERE BE A CHANGE.

Jacksonville Times: The next few years will witness a decided revolution in the method of farming in this county and state. Wheat is no longer a profitable crop and will not be for some years to come. The farmers must give their attention to raising a diversity of crops. They must enter more extensively into furnishing the market with cattle, sheep, hogs, hops, vegetables and fruits. It is a shame to see the people of Oregon buying pork and eggs imported from the East. Why should our people be buying California fruit, vegetables and other things which we can raise here. We have better and cheaper lands here than they, and we have no charges for irrigation to meet. Then why not raise everything we need? The time has come when the successful farmer must increase the value of the product of his acres, in order to make it pay a reasonable income on the present estimated valuation.

Should Pay Taxes.

WASHINGTON, March 5.—Some millionaires who have not been mentioned in the lists printed, are given below. They too will have to pay heavy taxes, but on the fortunes that their fathers or relatives left behind at death for these fortunate to enjoy. Estate of Charles Pratt of Brooklyn, worth $25,000,000; divided among eight heirs, made in oil refining and transportation. Annual income $1,250,000; daily income $3,424; income tax $25,000. Albert H. Gallatin, worth $2,000,000; made in banking and real estate, inherited from Albert H. Gallatin. Annual income $100,000; daily income $273; income tax $2,000. Rev. Charles H. Hoffman, worth $5,000,000; inherited from his father, Samuel V. Hoffman. Annual income $250,000; daily income $684; income tax $5,000. Very Rev. Eugene F. Hoffman, worth $5,000,000; inherited from his father, Samuel V. Hoffman. Annual income $250,000; daily income $684; income tax $5,000. Stuyvesant Fish, worth $5,000,000. A fortune was left to Mr. Fish, made up principally of real estate, and he has added to it by sound investments. He is president of the Illinois Central and of the Chicago, St. Louis and New Orleans railroads. Annual income $250,000; daily income $684; income tax $5,000. Charles S. Green, worth $1,500,000; inherited from his brother, John C. Green, who made a large amount of money in the China trade. Annual income $75,000; daily income $205; income tax $1,500. Samuel J. Colgate, worth $1,500,000; inherited. Annual income $75,000; daily income $205; income tax $1,500. Estate of Richard B. Conolly, worth $5,500,000. Conolly was comptroller of the city of New York during the Tweed regime. Annual income $175,000; daily income $479; income tax $3,500. Robert Johnston, worth $2,000,000; inherited from John Johnston. He was made in the dry goods business. Annual income $100,000; daily income $273; income tax $2,000. Henry R. Mallory, worth $2,000,000; inherited in part from Charles Mallory, who made it in ship building. Annual income $100,000; daily income $273; income tax $2,000. Robert Mallory, worth $2,000,000; inherited in part from Charles Mallory. Annual income $100,000; daily income $273; income tax $2,000. Charles H. Mallory, worth $2,000,000; inherited in part from Charles Mallory. Annual income $100,000; daily income $273; income tax $2,000. Howell Osborne, worth $1,500,000; descended to him through his mother from his father, C. J. Osborne, who was one of Jay Gould's brokers. Annual income $75,000; daily income $205; income tax $1,500. Joseph F. Loubat, worth $2,000,000; inherited from his father, who was a tea merchant. In pastry you cannot have either without a good shortening. Lard has always had very objectionable features, causing indigestion and many other dietetic troubles. Science has come to the assistance of the cook, and of weak stomachs, with the new shortening,

Cottolene

It is composed of the choicest beef tallow and highly refined vegetable oil, in many respects as good as the finest imported olive oil. Physicians endorse it, cooking experts recommend it, and thousands are now using it in preference to any other shortening. Refuse all substitutes.

School meeting this evening. Commissioners' court Wednesday. I. B. Riddle, of Roseburg, is in Eugene. M. O. Wilkins, of Corvallis, is in Eugene. A. J. Pickard spent Sunday at Drain, Oregon. The Oregon City woolen mill is again running. E. B. Williams, of Portland, is here in attendance upon court. J. R. Wyatt, of Albany, came to this afternoon to attend court. Mrs. Powell Reeves, of Los Angeles, California, is again in Eugene. T. Slipper, of Hamilton, Washington, is in Eugene visiting friends. J. L. Simpson this morning went to McMinnville on a business trip. We are pleased to learn that Hon. K. Wilkinson continues to improve. O. C. Applegate, of Klamath county, is in Eugene today visiting relatives. So Steinheiser, who was recently seriously injured by a fall at his residence in Portland, is now recovering. Hon. J. K. Weatherford, of Albany, spent yesterday afternoon in Eugene, leaving for Grants Pass on the evening train. Frank Blanton returned on the train this morning from Ashland in an absence of two months. His health is improved. James M. Bailey, the famous Dubuque News editor, and originator of "American Domestic Humor" was yesterday.

It is reported that the Eugene Ledger.

I. O. G. T. will reproduce the same, "Ten Nights in a Barroom," in the near future. A paper advises: "Never interrupt any conversation, but wait patiently for your turn to speak." This does not apply to married men.

The republican club meeting Sunday night had a fair attendance. Messrs. Woodcock, Condon and Mulkey made the leading speeches during the evening.

The Junction City Dramatic Club will play the "Turn of the Tide" at that city, March 6, 1894. We acknowledge the receipt of complimentary tickets.

Ex-Governor Whitaker went to Portland on this morning's local train to attend the conference of demagogues, to be held at that city tomorrow.

Saturday's Corvallis Gazette, Mr. Angle Patterson, of Eugene, arrived, Corvallis today to visit her mother and friends here. She is the guest of Mr. Whitaker.

Harry Baxter, of Mohawk, informs us that snow has fallen in that valley every morning for the past ten days. He says very little snow, however, remains on the ground.

Candidates for county offices are plentiful, and there will not be many open positions to be filled. The conventions to be held before election will decrease this considerably.

This will be a lively week in Eugene. Circuit and county court, school meeting, meeting of the republican and democratic county central committee and the holding of the populist county convention.

Pendleton E. O., of Saturday says Elmer E. Clever went over to Baker City this morning to attend funeral services held over the body of Miss Etta Clever of that city, whose death occurred Friday.

Later reports from the Mcelford fire which occurred Saturday morning state that besides the tailoring establishment burned, a saloon, barber shop, restaurant and real estate office were destroyed. Five rooms of the Hotel Mcelford were also burned. The Salem Statesman: The young man at Eugene who started out to exterminate a whole family, did the taxpayers a great kindness by exterminating himself. This latter act, however, was not performed quite early enough. In this particular his example is not to be commended.

The pupils of the Central school's Sunday evening, headed by a deacon, called on the teachers of the school and gave their yells. They also visited the residence of Mayor Friendly and called on the gentleman who responded with a few well timed remarks.

Corvallis Gazette: Judge John E. Bosley has been solicited by a number of his friends throughout the state, to accept the nomination for the office of attorney-general, and if this sentiment is general the judge might be induced to favorably consider the proposition.

Although now 74 years of age his health is "never better," and he says has been solicited by a number of his friends throughout the state, to accept the nomination for the office of attorney-general, and if this sentiment is general the judge might be induced to favorably consider the proposition.

TUESDAY, MARCH 6.

Dexter Items.

March 6, 1894. C. M. Parker is cleaning up a field to sow to lay this spring. That's the way, raise hay ourselves and we're sure to have it. Born to the wife of Lucien Parker, at Fossil, a son. Lucien says he is coming back to webfoot to spend his old age. Elder Richardson preaches at this place on the second Sunday of the month, and also Presiding Elder Jones on the fourth Sunday. After a time we are again called upon to assume the responsibility as news gatherer, and although our "proxy" has got some little trouble on his hands by his straightforward and impartial manner of giving the news, we will shoulder all the responsibility and will try to hoe our own row with the rest of the boys. Here we are again. The young men from Ohio who are stopping in the mountains near the Kemp place signify their intentions of locating permanently if employment can be secured. Our dog enjoyed a very poor night's rest last Sunday night, being repeatedly aroused by the sound of rattling hoofs, and Monday morning we were pleased to learn that Louie Morgan and Wallace Kimball had taken a boy and girl, respectively, to keep during the hard times. All are doing well. Also Thomas Brown has taken a boy to board since our last issue. "A bad penny will return." Wanted more newspaper correspondents. It seems as though every one feels himself duty bound to contribute something. "Let them come," "the more the merrier."

Frank Taylor's baby has been seriously ill during the past few days, but is reported convalescent at present. Dr. McKim, of Eugene is in attendance. According to an old tradition an early Easter always indicates a forward spring. But the professional weather prophet had as well fold his tent and consign us to old Dr. Ayres "as all signs fall in Oregon."

Thomas Hunsaker has taken a home-stand on Mt. Zion, and intends to raise hogs we understand. A commendable enterprise. Bertha Williams is somewhat sick at present writing, presumably by the grip. She is being attended by Dr. Thompson. We understand that the directors of this district have not as yet hired any teacher for the spring term of school, but will likely do so in a few days, as teachers are plentiful now a day, more than is.

The school house of the upper district has been moved up the creek quite a ways greatly to the joy of some parties and chagrin of others. We hope they will all be satisfied as we have a nice house as well as location. W. R. Parker is boarding in town nowadays doing jury duty. This is usually an onerous duty, but when we go to the legislature we will have the law changed so that we may all sit on the jury, especially on rainy weather.

As most of the brethren received a valentine we might add that the report has somewhat gained credence that we were a highly favored party on the 14th, when in reality a friend of ours whom we have not seen for a long time sent us his photograph together with a little verse in rhyme selected to suit his fastidious tastes that would credit to a— On exhibition in our sanctuary. Call and see and be convinced. Uncle Dan Parker and James Rutledge visited down the valley points last week. Uncle Dan returning Sunday while Mr. R. remained a few days.

Another explanation due Mr. "Greenhorn." We understand that notwithstanding your high majestic tribunal a couple of young men indulged in a Mitchell vs. Corbett contest for the championship of lickskilled. Bring them to the bar of justice Mr. "Greenhorn" and give them a sample of your Andrew Jacksonian dignitary displeasure. As far as the sentiment is expressed among democrats it seems to be generally against fusion with populists, republicans or any other party, great or small, in existence. As for us we say let us sink or swim, survive or perish for the democratic principle, and let others skin their own cats. "Let every tub stand on its own bottom."

At the school meeting Monday H. G. Vincent was re-elected director and Thomas Hunsaker was elected clerk. Both selections are commendable. Mrs. Wes Neet is quite sick at the present writing.

REGULAR. Corvallis Times: The work of setting out 100 acres of prune trees on the Excelsior prune farm, five miles northwest of Monroe, will soon be completed, 72 acres having already been set out, and the ground is already prepared for the balance. A large part of the tract is fir and oak grub land that was slashed twice years ago, and most of the winter's work has been the clearing out of the stumps. From eight to fifteen men have been engaged on the job since December first.

The Lake County paper charges 20 cents a line for publishing sagacious poetry.

Bradstreet's, which is acknowledged authority on trade matters, says that mills starting up to these closing down are ten to one. The New York dry goods market, wholesale and retail, is reported much stronger, and large retail houses say that business with them is about equal to that of a year ago, which was thought to be a prosperous time. The strength of the print cloth market reflects an improved situation in the cotton goods industry, and more active inquiry for paper stock betokens busier times among the paper mills. The boot and shoe industry also report some little improvement. Undoubtedly the depression has been exaggerated for effect on tariff legislation. The Boston Herald cites the case of a mill which had been paying regular dividends and earning more and adding to its plant, whose officials, after admitting all this, "croak" to frighten congress from tariff legislation. Now that the bill seems certain of success we shall have less of this croaking for ulterior purposes, and hence a further improvement in appearance to add to an actual improvement in conditions.

The Oregonian protests vehemently against the right of the poor man to have a family that he is unable to properly feed, clothe and educate. It is not consistent. It is howling for home production and home market and now seeks to cut off the supply which will create the demand. The poor man is noted for the children he can gather around his hearthstone, with an occasional surplus of dogs, and if this dear privilege is denied him we shall have to depend on the pauper labor of Europe for a supply. The rich will not attend to the increase of our census roll, and we seriously doubt if any amount of agitation will cause the poor man to cease his worthy efforts to people the earth.

The Oregonian forgot partisanship and petty politics the other day and referred to these times as a "season of world wide depression." From the general tenor of that paper one would suppose that the United States was the only country that suffered, and that Cleveland and the democratic party were responsible for hard times. The facts are that the United States have fared far better than other countries. Outside of the large cities there has been but little suffering, and in those centers of population no winter passes without aid and charity being necessary for the poverty stricken.

Republican papers throughout the state are considerably worried over the bare idea that there may be a fusion between the democrats and populists. The piratical Telegram sailing under false colors seeks to give democrats advice in this matter against fusion. They know that the state of Oregon under normal circumstances is eight or ten thousand republican and if fusion can be prevented the republican state ticket and legislature will be safely elected.

The most amusing spectacle in Oregon journalism is that of the Portland Telegram being run under the guise of a democratic paper through the Oregonian office. The disguise is so thin, however, that no one will be deceived.

The la grippe does not make any spread eagle pretensions like the cholera or other epidemics, but does the work in a quiet kind of a way with a result that other diseases hide their heads in shame when the roll call of death is made.

There are over 100,000 men out of employment in Vienna. It might be supposed from the resemblance that Vienna is working under a McKinley tariff, but she is not. She is working under one a few degrees higher.

Lane county will not have to foot a very large bill for the expenses of this circuit court. The average taxpayer will be satisfied.

There are men in this enlightened West outside of insane asylums, who accuse Cleveland of being responsible for the low price of wheat.
