PENNOYER'S SPEECH.

The Roseburg Review has the following just commentary upon Pennoyer's speech:

Concerning the main points in Governor Pennoyer's speech in this city Tuesday night, there is little to be said. What there is good in it, is sound democracy what is vague and experimental is equally sound populism. He scores the late republican legislature and gives figures that show conclusively why taxes are high in Oregon. In his denunciation of the attempted repeal of the Australian ballot law, he points out clearly what will happen, if the republicans control the next session, and sounds a warning note of the danger that threatens our free ballot system. Going deeper into state matters, he ventilates the action of the Oregon delegation in congress regarding the improvement of the Columbia river giving unassailable reasons why Dolph, Mitchell, Hermann and Ellis should be relegated to private life.

But in all parts of his speech, Governor Pennoyer attempts to give no reasons why intelligent citizens should throw away their votes on the populist nominees, when there is every reason to believe that a democratic legislature would wipe out these crying abuses. He convinces no reasoning man that it would be policy to vote for poor, old Charles Miller for Congress, when such an able, fearless champion of the people as J. K. Weatherford is a candidate for the same place on the democratic ticket.

The governor's arguments against the protective tariff system are convincing and would be endorsed by every true democrat in the country. He gives sufficient reasons why the workingman is unemployed, and so many of our industries bankrupt. Later on he attempts to blame upon the financial legislation the past all the grievous evils from which the people are suffering, but there is a painful weakness in his logic that is very perceptible to his auditors. While much legislation on the money question has not suited the people of the West, democrats, republicans and populists alike, it is observable that the governor dwells strongly upon this point in order that he may indulge his well known hatred for President Cleveland. This personal spite against the president crops out in every sentence that he speaks concerning silver, and it explains why he is today fighting the democratic party.

The governor knows that he made a fatal mistake as a politician when he quitted the party that raised him from obscurity to prominence. The lightness with which he touches upon the sub-treasury scheme, government ownership of railroads and other wildcat notions of populism show that these things are repulsive to his democratic training and instincts. For a man of intelligence who has spent the best years of a busy life in expounding the doctrines of Jefferson and Jackson, it does not come natural to preach paternalism and socialism. This candid admission is read between the lines all through that carefully prepared speech.

Governor Pennoyer's campaign tour will make thousands of democratic converts before election.

Jury was out but a Short Time.

WASHINGTON, May 8.—Congressman Pease, of Colorado, in the police court today made the closing argument in behalf of the commonweal. He said that no one who heard the evidence expected a conviction. J. L. Coxy came to ask for the enactment of laws, which he believed, and thousands of others believe, will be of inestimable value to the unemployed. Coxy's plan might be foolish, but he had come to present it peacefully at the head of an orderly body of American citizens, and had as much right to petition congress as anybody else. The representatives of large interests coming here as paid lobbyists to corrupt congress meet a warm welcome, but these were men who came herefooted, tramping through the snow, led by a man who had the courage of his convictions, to be invited to the open doors of a jail built through the taxation of citizens. Pease commented upon the fact that for the first time in this term the district attorney had come into the police court to prosecute a case, thus showing the administration was behind the prosecution. "Tomorrow, Coxy, a free man by your verdict," said Pease, "will appear before the labor committee of congress under the resolution of Mr. Bell, of Colorado, to devise means of giving employment to the unemployed, and should be listened to more attentively than any paid lobbyist. I can assure you whatever shall be written of the Coxy movement, let it not be said that 12 citizens of Washington branded this honest, well-meaning man as a criminal." District Attorney Bierney discussed the case calmly. He spoke of the senator from Nebraska looking far over the heads of the jury, to talk to his constituents on the distant prairie, the member from Kansas, talking to the cornfields of his state, and the gentleman from Colorado talking to an open-mouthed constituency.

Judge Miller charged the jury, seeking to impress upon them that there was no issue before them except whether the defendants had violated the law by seeking to collect a crowd on the Capitol grounds. The jury retired at 1 p. m.

The jury in the Coxy case returned a verdict finding Coxy, Browne and Jones guilty of carrying banners in the Capitol grounds, and on the charge of walking on the grass, Coxy and Browne guilty, and Jones not guilty. A motion was entered for a new trial.

A Young Girl Missing.

TUCSON, Ariz., May 8.—Last Friday afternoon, Laura, a 17-year-old daughter of W. M. Jacobs, of this city, disappeared from her home, and it was supposed she had eloped with Rudolph Vasquez, a young clerk who had been paying her some attention. Vasquez, however, having been seen in town last evening without the girl, the police forced open his room and there found a piece of Miss Jacobs' dress and a bottle of hairdressing oil. Immediately suspecting foul play, Vasquez was looked for, but up to the time of sending this dispatch he could not be found.

A Widow Brutally Murdered.

LATHROP, Cal., May 8.—The most brutal murder committed in Eldorado county in years was perpetrated near this place last night. Ellen Robinson, an aged widow, living on her ranch on the line of the Haverville & Sacramento railroad, was evidently stamped to death and her horse plundered. Her body was found outside of her door, the lower jaw broken in two and all but two of her ribs crushed. The skin and flesh over the fracture showed the black marks of a lead ball. The bed clothes and contents of a trunk were scattered in confusion about her bedroom. Suspicion attached to a couple of Kanakas who have been camping near by.

A Fatal Spree.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 8.—Emile H. Bellows, of Portland, Or., was found dead early this morning on the floor in the back room of a Market street hotel. Bellows had been drinking hard several days, and alcoholism was no doubt the cause of his death. The deceased was a prominent farmer of Portland.

Four Mines Suspended Work.

FRESNO, May 8.—Contrary expectations, 1000 miners in four mines suspended work today. Miners are stationed along the road from here to the Elkhart and Hoffman mines to induce the men to suspend.

NOTICE.

The republican machine politicians of Portland, led by the editor of the Oregonian, who was chairman of the committee on platform, refused to allow the initiative and referendum to be considered at all by the state convention. This was done in the face of Clackamas county's instructions to her delegates to make this demand a plank in the state platform if possible, and the further fact that it had been endorsed by many republican county conventions.

It is a plank of both the people's and democratic state platforms.

While many republican candidates may pledge themselves to the necessary constitutional convention, and from conviction will do all they can for this reform, yet those who are governed by the machine will be against it.

No friend of the initiative and referendum should vote for any man for the legislature or for a state office unless he is sure the candidate has promised in writing to do all in his power to submit the question to the people.

Sec'y. Joint Com. on Direct Legislation.
Milwaukie, Or., April 25, 1894.

The amnyerism of Astoria, Oregon, have almost given up hope of a large pack of salmon this year. Despite the fact that all the conditions so far have been favorable for a heavy run, fish are still scarce, and the average mark per cannery is not above 60 cans. Since the opening of the season and in fact for two weeks previously, the weather has been all that could have been wished; and it was confidently expected that the high temperature would bring the fish in but the expectation failed of realization. There has been little or no trap fishing yet on account of the freshet, and until the water clears it would be a waste of time and money to get the traps in readiness. It is safe to say that the total pack for the year will not reach last year's figures. V. Kratz makes the people of Eugene a plain proposition for the building of a flouring mill. He needs $15,000 in the way of building and operating expenses and proposes to give the mill and Portland property as ample security for a loan of that amount at a good rate of interest. A flouring mill is badly needed here and an effort should be made to secure one under this proposition. Mr. Kratz is an experienced mill man. The tramp movement is sanctioned by such an eminent authority as Governor Pennoyer. He seeks to catch votes by confounding the vagrant tramp element with honest unemployed labor.

A VETERAN'S VERDICT.

The War is Over. A Well-known Soldier, Correspondent and Journalist Makes a Disclosure.

Indiana contributed her thousands of brave soldiers to the war, and no state bears a better record in that respect than it does. In literature it is rapidly acquiring an enviable name. In war and literature Solomon Yessell, well known as a writer as well as a soldier, is a notable exception. During the late war he was a member of Co. M, 3d N. Y. Cavalry and of the 11th Indiana Infantry Volunteers, bearing a important circumstance as follows:

Several of us old veterans have been using Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine, Heart Cure and Nerve and Liver Pills, all of them giving splendid satisfaction. In fact, we have never used remedies that compare with them. Of the Pills we must say, they are the best combination of the qualities required in a preparation of their nature we have ever known. We have found the pills of great value for them. They are the only pills of a new principle in medicine, and some of the system workers, pills. We are all, by these remedies, — Solomon Yessell, Marion, Ind., Dec. 4, 1892.

These remedies are sold by all druggists on a separate prescription, or sent direct by Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind., on receipt of price, 50c per bottle, six bottles $2.50, money returned. They positively contain no opiates or dangerous drugs.

NEAR DEATH'S DOOR FROM Inflammation of the Kidneys

Dear Sir: I can scarcely realize I was so near death's door, the result of a bad attack of inflammation of the kidneys. My urine was bloody and terrible pains ran the spine. I tried several remedies, but got no relief. When I was suffering terribly by a copy of your Medical Adviser was received by my one in our household. After reading part of it I sent for a bottle of Dr. King's Kidney and Liver Cure, and after the doses I felt relieved. I continued taking until I had taken three bottles, and was completely cured.

Gratefully yours,

Their Note arrived at the Dulles.

THE DULLES, Or., May 7.—The advance guard of the Portland contingent of Coxy's army, numbering about 100 men, moved on East this morning, after having been joined by another company with their baggage on the early morning freight train from the West. They were quiet and orderly, and succeeded in getting a few contributions of food from the citizens. Most of the men have severe colds and one is quite sick with pneumonia. They said they would leave the trains when ordered to that effect, but would immediately return to the main body in Portland. More will come on every trip.

It would seem by this that the commonwealers are beginning to gradually diminish and are working their way Eastward. Saturday night about 75 of the men of the Portland contingent of the Dulles, and from there will proceed to their temporary rendezvous, Kansas City. These men left in box cars. Another detachment left yesterday. It is stated that all the men belonging to General Seligler's command, will be camped by their departure from the bonnyard encampment within a few days, as they will have departed over the Union Pacific line.

Last evening Chief of Police Hunt received a message from the authorities at the Dulles complaining of the influx of the Portland contingent of the industrial force.

Officer Parker, of the East Side, reports that as near as he could estimate there were about 50 men in the crowd that quietly boarded last night's freight train going East. There were no special trains, no "hurry" or demonstrative farewells. The men quietly got into the cars and as quietly got away.

General Superintendent Baxter, of the Union Pacific, in speaking of the exodus of the commonwealers, stated to the Dulles that he had no orders relative to granting free transportation to the industrialists, had not been changed, and that all officials of the company were requested and required to see that the rules made should be carried into effect. No arrangements so far as he knew, had been made with reference to carrying them away. Of course, if they took advantage of freight trains, and stole out in small numbers at a time, the company could not help it. If the commonwealers got out of the city on cars, they did it by stealing a ride, and under the circumstances it was very difficult to prevent them from doing so.
