REPUBLICAN INSINUITY.

Klamath Falls Express: The promise made by the republicans in their state platform that "We demand the closest scrutiny and economy in expenditures; we condemn the prodigality and excess of past legislatures and call upon the next legislative assembly to keep all appropriations within the limits of the most economical administration consistent with efficiency" must, in the light of their former practices, be regarded as a pledge to take the "Keely cure" for their extravagant habits.

The last legislature in which the democrats were in the majority was in 1878. During that session the amount appropriated for state printing was $18,000, while the appropriation for the same purpose in 1893, in a republican legislature, was $99,000.

The general appropriation bill of 1878 carried an appropriation of $397,823.87, while the general appropriation bill of 1893 carried an appropriation of $1,490,019.95.

The amount appropriated in 1878 for expenses of the legislature of that session was $30,000, and for the year 1893 it was $55,000, for the same purpose.

This last item shows clearly the extravagance of the republicans, there being the same number of members at each session, drawing the same pay, receiving the same mileage and were in session the same length of time; yet it took nearly twice as much to pay the republican legislature of 1893 as it did the one of 1878 under democratic control.

The above clause in the republican platform is a just and deserving rebuke to the republican majority in the legislative branch of the state government, but it occurs to a fair minded person that this declaration is not made in good faith, and, to say the least, their sincerity is quite questionable, for what assurance have the taxpayers of the state of any reform from a party which for the last fifteen years has steadfastly burdened them with the fruits of legislative extravagance?

Eugene has been particularly fortunate in not having been forced to entertain any of the large gangs of tramps that are passing through the country. Once aboard the trains they pass by, and it is needless to say no one complains about getting rid of them.

The Coxey armies throughout the country are breaking up. It was certain that would be the case when the railroads refused to haul them and the people to give them food until they could be foisted on the next community. The members will now go back to their old trade of tramping singly or in small squads.

Henry Waterson in his speech in Portland the other day said: "The happy man is the one who believes his own wife is the best woman in the world; the vine-covered cottage he calls his home is the dearest spot on earth, and who would not swap his freckle-faced brats for the best dressed kids he ever saw."

An election was held in Ohio the other day to fill a congressional vacancy. The democratic candidate, although bitterly fought by the A. P. A., was elected by 1800 majority. McKinley carried the district last fall by 600. The contest was fought on the tariff issue, and shows that the hard times cry does not hoodwink the people when it comes down to a distinctively political issue.

Hon. W. H. Holmes, the nominee for attorney-general, is a native son of Oregon and has already proved his fitness for the place. He was elected prosecuting attorney of the third district in 1882, and in 1887 he was appointed clerk of the supreme court, a place he filled acceptably for a long time. Mr. Holmes, who is considered one of the best lawyers in the state, is practicing his profession in Salem, and has a large and growing practice.

THE RIGHT MAN.

The Eugene Register, a straight-out republican paper, published at the home of the democratic nominee for Superintendent of Public Instruction, has the following to say of D. V. S. Reid:

We notice that our fellow townsman and neighbor Professor D. V. S. Reid, is the democratic nominee for state superintendent of public instruction. No better nomination could have been made. Professor Reid came to Eugene a few years ago and took charge of the schools as city superintendent. He soon evinced much ability as an organizer, a disciplinarian and a thorough teacher. And he has succeeded by industry and good judgment in bringing the schools up to a high standard of excellence. For good work and good order, the schools in Eugene have no superior in the state.

Being a professional educator of intelligence and tact, he manages the schools with efficiency and economy. Young and active, he never breaks down. The teacher's institutes here in Eugene have been attended with profit by teachers from the whole country.

A man of quick perception as to the needs of the school, of instantaneous action, and of firmness of purpose, he devotes his whole time to educational matters. During the summer vacations, he attends the meetings of the state teachers' association, and holds teachers' institutes in various parts of the state. In both Eastern and Western Oregon, the past summer, he conducted very successful institutes. Thoroughly identified and familiar with the educational interests of the entire state, and a member of the state board of examiners, he is a man well qualified for the position.

Dr. W. W. Oglesby, of Cottage Grove, one of the democratic nominees for legislative honors, was born in Illinois 56 years ago, and is a nephew of Gov. Dick Oglesby, of that state. He crossed the plains with his parents in 1853, and settled on Rowe river, Lane county, in the spring of 1854.

Since that time he has continuously resided in this county. On July 4, 1857, he was the reader of the declaration of independence in this city. He commenced the practice of medicine in 1870, having graduated from the medical department of Willamette, that year, with high honors, and has successfully followed his profession ever since that time. In early days his father was assessor of Lane county for several years. Last April the doctor was elected Mayor of Cottage Grove which office he now holds. Mr. Oglesby has been one of the prominent factors in the opening and developing of the rich Bohemia mining districts, besides he has always been prominent in all enterprises that looked to the development of Lane county's many industries. He is a man well calculated to represent the people in the legislative assembly, being well educated, industrious and honest. He should be elected by a rousing majority.

Reports from all portions of the country are that Henry Day is steadily gaining strength among the voters. His well known probity and competency enlist the support of all taxpayers who wish to make a certainty that the office will be run in a business like manner. The cry of a court house ring is palpably thin, and is only indulged in by his opponents who have no other reason in the world to offer against his election.

Portland Welcome: G. M. Irwin, the republican candidate for superintendent of public instruction, was fired from the superintendent of the Chemawa Indian school several years ago, after a brief incumbency. The government soon found that he was not fit to teach Indians, but now he wants to instruct all the people of this state. The Salem Statesman, a republican paper, exposed his incompetency when he was an Indian teacher, and it should repeat its statements now.

The Oregon City Enterprise, one of the most radical republican newspapers in the whole State of Oregon, prints the following in its editorial columns of May 3d: "The Enterprise is not booming the democratic nominees this year but cannot refrain from expressing on personal grounds its appreciation of D. V. S. Reid, the nominee for school superintendent, who is a live school man and in every way qualified to fill the position for which he has been named. When the editor came to the state Mr. Reid was county school superintendent of Linn county and he issued him the first certificate which he received in the state and showed by his visits to the school and work while there his appreciation of the duties of superintendent and his ability to perform such duties well."

The new ballot law of Kansas is a deadly blow at woman suffrage. It provides that "the lower limbs of a voter as high up as the knees shall be visible from the outside while the voter is in the booth preparing the ticket, the lower part of the booth to be left open for that purpose."

California Prune Crop Damaged. SAN FRANCISCO, May 9.—Advisers have been received from interior points that the prune crop, which last month gave indications of being a heavy one, will not mature, the prunes on the trees in many places turning yellow and falling. A definite estimate of the damage cannot yet be made, but early in the year the coming crop was expected to yield about 65,000,000 pounds whereas the prospective crop today is about 55,000,000 pounds or a little over half.

A Mysterious Murder. RENO, Nev., May 9.—News has been received of the killing in Nye county of George B. Smith, of Reese river. He left home for the hills, about five miles away, to look after some sheep. Not returning at the appointed time, his wife went in search of him, and found his body shot through the side and back of the neck. At present there is no clue.

Fitzsimmons and Choyenski. NEW YORK, May 9.—Arrangements were made yesterday between Bob Fitzsimmons and Joe Choyenski to fight to a finish at catch weight. There was no trouble in coming to terms, as both men agreed not to fight unless a responsible club put up a purse of $15,000. Fitzsimmons says he means business. He is done talking nonsense, and the club which first puts up the purse which they demand will be under his attention. The articles have not been signed as yet, but they will be in a day or so.

Dynamite in a Prison. JACKSON, Mich., May 9.—An attempt was made last evening to blow up the prison with dynamite. As the convicts were marching to their cells, Edward Huntley, John Dement, and Arthur Lawrence broke from the ranks. One seized a guard and another sprang up into a window and attempted to light a fuse in connection with a dynamite bomb. Deputy Northrup and Capt. Stone arrived in time to quell the disturbance, and the convicts were soon locked in their cells. The wardens say their has been rumors of dynamite in the prison for over a year, but no trace of it could be found.

A SEVERE FROST.—Wednesday's Salem Journal. Last night occurred the worst frost known in many years at so late a date. Ice was formed a quarter of an inch thick in some places and all kinds of fruits and vegetables were more or less injured. Mr. Lyons, of the Garden road, reports Sharpshooter berries almost ruined, and the Wilson's, which are beginning to bloom, as fully half destroyed. Other fruit he thinks is considerably affected, but could not speak definitely. H. L. Black came in from the Wallace farm this morning and, though rather early to judge, ventured the assertion that one-third the pears which are already well formed are killed. Unless they are totally killed, a thinning out will only help the crop, but it is feared last night's frost was entirely too severe for such results.

Daily Guard, May 9. SCHOOL TEACHERS' EXAMINATION. The regular quarterly school examination is being held at the court house by School Superintendent Stevenson, and assistants J. M. Williams and Miss M. E. McGinnis. The class will be between fifty and sixty.

Gen. Howard Succeeds Wannamaker. NEW YORK, May 9.—General O. O. Howard was today elected president of the National Temperance Society, to succeed John Wannamaker, of Philadelphia.

Nominations Confirmed. WASHINGTON, May 9.—The senate has confirmed the nominations of Herman Wilson, postmaster at Astoria, Or., and John Williams, postmaster at Heppner, Or.

Case Pending in Mississippi. PADUCAH, Tenn., May 9.—Reports from Hillsboro, Miss., as to the effect that serious race troubles are imminent. A white planter named Leonard interfered and prevented a mob of negroes from lynching one of their color. Since then his gin mill has been burned, and both sides are armed, and the blacks are swearing vengeance. The place is remote from railroad and telegraph, and the blacks numbers about 15 to 1 of the whites. Apprehension is felt for the outcome of the trouble.

Not an Obscene Story. WASHINGTON, May 9.—The story of the Breckenridge case will be allowed to pass through the censors. First Assistant Postmaster General Jones has notified the postmaster at Chicago that the department has no authority to exclude the book.

Drowned in Burrard Inlet. VANCOUVER, May 9.—Yesterday two young men employed in a shingle mill were drowned by the capsizing of a boat in Burrard Inlet. Their names were L. E. Deane and Norman Hoshel. Deane's body was recovered by passing fishermen, and when taken out of the water he was still alive, but through ignorance of the proper methods to restore animation, Deane died a few minutes later. Both were married men.

Eastern Oregon Frosted. THE DALLES, Or., May 9.—It is feared the heavy frost of last night has done much damage to all the crops in this section. In the Dalles ice formed in many places and in the uplands ice was a quarter of an inch thick. Reports from farmers are very discouraging.

A SANTIAM CURIOSITY.—The Salem Journal tells the following: Silas E. Howard returned last night from the Elkhorn country, where he went with a party to explore the pyramidal structure of black granite rock, which was recently discovered seven miles east of Mill City. He was assisted by N. P. Quimby, of Mill City and Clifford Jones. They soon found it impossible to drill the rock, which is so hard that it readily cuts glass, is nearly black and full of glistening diamond-like particles, that take a high polish. Several hours were spent in attempting to drill holes in the side but all the drills were speedily ruined and the use of explosives had to be abandoned. The party then went to work in the top of the structure and opened a passage by breaking away the north wall and clearing away all the debris and dirt. It has the appearance of a small pyramid, encased in stone walls, rising at an angle of about 25 degrees, but the mystery of its purpose is still unsolved. It would probably take an expert geologist to determine whether it is a product of nature or human hands. The exploring party has not given up the investigation but will return with a dynamiting outfit about July 1 to continue to penetrate into the mystery of Coxy's temple on the Santiam.
