A Dairyman's Opinion.

There is nothing I have ever used for muscular rheumatism that gives me as much relief as Chamberlain's Pain Balm does. I have been using it for about two years—four bottles in all—on occasion required and always kept a bottle of it in my home. I believe I know a good thing when I get hold of it, and Pain Balm is the best I have ever met with.

Miss Carrie Hall was granted a state diploma, and Miss Belle Lincoln, Mrs. Vina Lumley, Miss Grace Gibbs and Geo. Jordan were awarded state certificates. A Narrow Escape. Daily Guard, May 18. Marshal Eastland, last evening, arrested one Miller on the charge of drunk and disorderly. The man resisted and it took several men to get him away him to the city hall. About 10 o'clock Marshal Eastland and Police-man Mathews had occasion to look into the jail, and was surprised to see the same full of smoke. After hard work the bedding, which the man had set on fire, was hauled out of the jail. They got hold of the man and dragged him out to the fresh air. He was unresponsive, and it took fully ten minutes to bring him to. It was certainly a narrow escape for the inmates, as it was purely accidental that the officers went to the jail at that time of night. Miller was fined $25 this morning by Recorder Dorris. He paid $20 of the amount, and will probably serve out the other $5.

WILL REVEAL.—The little son of Joseph Lane, who accidentally shot himself yesterday morning, is resting easily, and will recover. His tongue is badly swollen, therefore the physicians in charge have not pressed for the ball.

BORN.—At Astoria, Or., May 18, to the wife of Frank Stewart, of this city, a son.

The Nominees for State Offices Address the People. At 10 o'clock this afternoon the Eugene Cornet Band appeared at the Hoffman House, and with a number of prominent democrats, escorted the delegates to the court house. After another at the large meeting was called to order by J. P. Ramsey, chairman of the county central committee, who introduced the respective speakers.

Mr. Weatherford spoke mainly on national issues, while Judge Galloway confined his remarks to state matters. He criticized severely the extravagance that has grown up under republican administrations and particularly criticized the manner in which social bills are sneaked into the general appropriation bill, and promised if elected he would veto any such work.

He declared himself in favor of the re-enactment of the mortgage tax law and opposed to any legislation that would impair the efficiency of the Australian ballot law. He called upon Judge Lord to come before the people and let them know how he stood upon these important questions. His speech was well received.

Hon. J. K. Weatherford spoke for about an hour and a half and during that time he had the entire attention of the audience. It is impossible to do justice to the fullness of his speech in this brief report. He first paid some attention to Mr. Hermann's record, and demonstrated that while that gentleman has been quite active in securing appropriations for out-of-the-way places where he has real estate interests, he has done but little for the improvement of the Willametta river, which is less navigable than it was fifteen years ago.

He then took up the tariff question and exposed the fallacies of protection in a manner that must have carried conviction on the minds of every citizen. It was an effort worthy of the best minds in congress. Referring to the claim that we cannot compete in manufacturing with the old countries if there is any reduction of the tariff he cited Mr. Hermann's claim made in a recent speech in congress, that the United States in the United States than in England, and wanted to know if Mr. Hermann was correct what need there was of any tariff whatever.

England pays higher wages than either France or Germany and yet she drives her goods out of the foreign market. Protection does not benefit the laborer, as England, since abandoning protection has increased the wages of labor more than they have been increased in any country in the world and today she pays better wages for her working classes than any other country. Protection does not benefit the farmer. It does not add to the price of anything he raises, but does add to the price of everything he buys, which duty levied upon the necessities of life and paid by those who use them just in proportion to the amount they use.

Hon. T. L. Davidson, of Salem, candidate for state treasurer, only talked a few minutes, as he explained the duties of his office, and then went to Junction City to fill the evening appointment. His remarks were well received, and were of a personal nature. He is the humorous speaker of the party.

The meeting was a good one and certainly added votes to the party in this county.

The Butte Road Open.

Daily Guard, May 18. Mr. Robert M. Murphy informs us that the free use of the public during the assembly, and for the summer season. Visitors to Eugene should not fail to make a trip to the top of Skinner's butte in the northern limits of the city. They will be well repaid by the grand view they will meet the sight on every side. It would desire to ride there are an easy grade, and perfectly safe with no team that is not fractious. The engine for vehicles is now being taken to the east end of the butte. For footmen at the end of Willametta street just above the railroad depot.

OFFICERS ELECTED.—At the regular meeting of the W. C. T. U., the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Mrs. McAllister, president; Mrs. M. Lang, vice president; Mrs. O'Brien, secretary; Mrs. Bailey, cor. secretary; Mrs. Hanna, treasurer. The reading room is composed of the following named ladies: Mrs. Swensen, Mrs. E. J. Mendenhall, Mrs. Bailey, Mrs. Jennie McClung, Miss Cora Condon.

ASSEMBLY WORK.

The Delegates Arrive and are Cordially Welcomed. Daily Guard, May 18. The Assembly train leaving between 2:30 and 3:00 delegates under escort of the reception committee, arrived here last evening shortly before 9 o'clock. A large body of people, over 1000, awaited the arrival of the train and the Eugene band discoursed some of their excellent music adding to the pleasure of the reception. The visitors had mostly eaten supper at Albany, and so were well prepared to endure the tedious work of distribution. The committee had a well formed plan which worked admirably and within an hour nearly every guest had been cared for. The visitors are as fine appearing a representative body of church people as one could possibly expect to see anywhere in the highest terms of praise for the cordial reception tendered them in Oregon by all the cities and towns along the route. Even our little sister city, Junction, turned out en masse with a brass band to cheer the good people. The journey from Bonneville by boat down the Columbia to Portland is especially spoken of as a most pleasing part of their trip.

MISSIONARY RALLY.

This forenoon at 10 o'clock the delegates assembled in Villard Hall and were entertained by Rev. G. A. Blair on several matters pertaining to the plan of entertainment. The main object of the meeting, however, was the discussion of missionary work in the Cumberland Presbyterian church.

THIS MORNING.

Daily Guard, May 18. The exercises opened with the hymn "Stand up, Stand up for Jesus." The chorus was present in good force and the congregation uniting, Villard Hall fairly rang with the sacred music. Dr. Hubbard pronounced the invocation, and Rev. Ferguson, the moderator, read the 2d Psalm, Isaiah IX-6 & 7 and St. John VI-18 to end of the chapter, for the scripture lesson. "Praise ye the Lord" was the title of the anthem sung before Dr. J. S. Grider offered prayer, and "Something for Thee," the only prayer, that was offered.

The regular announcements were made by Rev. G. A. Blair and the hymn "Bringing in the Sheaves," sung, after which Rev. Ferguson, the moderator, began his sermon with a short prayer. He took for his text last Samuel II-8, "Because the King's business requires haste." The introduction was a fitting tribute to the mission of Jesus Christ. The work of the church in fulfilling the mission began by Him was discussed upon several practical points, and was assisted. Some of the reforms necessary in our government, particularly regarding the use of the ballot, can most quickly be accomplished by the co-operation of church and state. The part of the church in this united work is not in making laws, but in educating the citizen in the development of the higher life in the individual; a spiritual understanding which will lead to a conscientious exercise of the rights of citizenship.

He spoke of the broad fields for this practical effect of church work in the larger cities of this nation. The power of this denomination in the work of evangelizing the great cities is at present so weak as to need a persistent stimulus. Much work is also waiting for the laborer in that part of the church field outside the city limits. The church must become more aggressive to accomplish the most good. From Romanism or science there is not so much to fear at the present time as the evil of altogether too indiscriminate Bible criticism. As for the future of the ideal success of the cause of Jesus, the Fatherhood of God and the universal brotherhood of man, is not even now so much of a theory. The practical religion may be seen growing and the outlook is truly gratifying. The conclusion was a glowing picture of the status of the religion of Christ in this country only a few years hence. The sermon was practical, interesting and impressive. At the close the hymn "All hail the power of Jesus name," preceded the constituting prayer of the Assembly by Dr. W. H. McClure, pastor of the church, president of Missouri Valley College.

The General Assembly being now in regular session a statement from Stated Clerk Blake was read, which informed the Assembly of the reasons for his absence. After more announcements a motion to adjourn was carried and the singing of the doxology closed the first session of the regular Assembly.

THIS AFTERNOON.

The Assembly convened again at 3 o'clock and most of the afternoon was taken up with the regular work of organization and the election of moderator. THE CHORUS. The grand chorus consisting of between 40 and 50 of the best toned voices among our local singers, under the leadership of L. G. Adair, is receiving many compliments from the visitors and it is almost needless to add that our own people think the compliments well deserved and supplement them with more encouragement for their generous enterprise.

All About a Maiden Fair.

Wednesday's Portland Telegram: In the United States court this morning Edward Z. Landers, a smooth-faced young fellow, who has not yet obtained the age of his majority, plead guilty to an information lodged against him by Assistant United States Attorney Murphy, for sending a letter obscene and offensive in character through the mails. The letter complained of was written by Landers and addressed to A. W. Bond, Irving, Oregon, who appears to have been a hated rival of young Landers for the attention of a fair little maiden in that section. The charge was that the letter was plain and forcible, and like wise the language and sentiments expressed. In ordinary times, doubtless many men would be more than willing to pay the amount of the fine imposed for an opportunity to express themselves as they pleased regarding another. It did Landers good; but another. It did Landers good; but another. It did Landers good; but another.

May 17. Miss Nellie Hendricks was in our village last week having just returned from South Bend, Wash. Matlock's warehouse here is about completed. We have heard some objection made to Pleasant Hill boys playing cards in our village on Sundays. However, we have no ordinance prohibiting it. Messrs. O'Brien and Boyd, of Cottage Grove, brothers-in-law of Frank DeWitt, together with their families, visited here last week. Mrs. Boyd will remain for a week or two. Mr. and Mrs. P. Monroe visited relatives at Springfield Sunday. J. O. Stoops and family, of Cooswell, declined, visited relatives here last week. Mrs. Hamilton's brother is visiting here.

There will be a dance given at Ben Keeney's on June 1, for which preparations will be made for a grand time. Ed Pol, of Springfield, was visiting his grand parents here Monday. Our county candidates speak in Goshen Saturday, May 19th, at 1 p. m. Let every voter of the precinct be present.

Our absence from your columns for an issue or two is due to the fact that we are the owner of an old musket that, judging from the date of its make—1836, has done a great deal of service for our country. We had been pestered with flocks of pigeons on our grain and took recourse to the old firearm and after a generous charge of shot and powder we prepared to annihilate the said pigeons, but alas! when the gun went off we made revolutionary movements in the opposite direction and did not realize the cause of our painful mishap until we recalled having used one of those Ashland papers containing Pennoyer's speech as wadding.

Chas. Smith and wife, of Star, are visiting relatives here today. FEATHERWEIGHT. Dexter Items. May 15, 1894.

The refreshing rain a boon to farmers and late sown grain. James Rutledge, Mrs. C. L. Hunsaker and Lizzie Parker returned today from a visit to relatives at Eugene and Springfield.

James Griffith is again drawing for the Sunday school. The work is finely executed. Miss Elliott, of Camp Creek, is visiting with her cousin, Mrs. A. M. Griffin. Mrs. Neet's health is considerably improved. She was out for a ride Sunday, the first in over two months.

The populist sideshow exhibited here Monday with Messrs. Mathews and Phelps as star actors. They are sanguine of victory in June. The main circus will be with us Thursday. Look close after your vote. That's what they're after. Elder Richardson preached to a large audience at this place Sunday. He has been engaged as pastor by the Baptist church at this place.

A number from Pleasant Hill attended the speaking at this place. School was closed for three days last week to enable the teacher to attend the teachers' examination. Fred Parker has fitted himself out with a new buggy and flies the dust in great shape. Miss Nellie Hendricks, of Willapa, Wash., is visiting her sister at this place.

Messrs. J. Rutledge and Hosen Parvin are the champion shinglers, we think, having removed and reshingled 5400 shingles in considerably less than a day, on James Parvin's house. Some one with an overplus of money is furnishing a number of free copies of the Oregonian at this office. We advise you to save your money.

REGULAR.

Cloverdale Items.

May 16. This week opens with a gentle shower, which is a great benefit to late sown grain and gardens. Several of our citizens visited Eugene last week. Fred Parker, of Dexter, paid relatives at this place a visit Friday returning home Saturday. Jas. Nettleton, who is working for M. L. Hendricks, visited at Eugene Sunday.

A. M. Hendricks and wife went to Eugene Saturday returning home Sunday. O. F. Callison, of Pleasant Hill, attended Sunday school at this place Sunday. Robert Schmutz and sister Nellie spent Sunday in Eugene. Frank Wizenredt visited with his brother-in-law, Lawrence Beaver, Sunday.

A social dance was given at Cloverdale Friday night under the management of Master Jas. C. Parlier. Music was furnished by Bert Parker
