Memorial Sermon.

Daily Guard, May 25.

The First Presbyterian church was crowded yesterday morning at the union memorial services. Rev. W. S. Gilbert preached the sermon, which was a most fitting discourse for the occasion. The music was appropriate and the decorations of the interior of the church were beautiful. The G. A. R., W. R. C. and Company C organizations all attended in a body.

THE MINES.—Brownsville Times: We learn from parties who have recently been in the Calapooia and Blue river mines, that things up that way begin to look as though times would be lively coming in from every direction, and soon there will be several mills in operation. It behooves every man in this community to do everything in his power to bring the wagon road to this place if the mines prove half as good as anticipated.

THE LECTURE.—Mrs. N. Anstie addressed a large congregation at the M. E. church Sunday evening on "The Many Vices of the World." The lady is engaged in a lecture tour, and in towns where an admission fee is charged a portion of the proceeds is given to the poor orphans in such places. She expects to leave for California in a few days.

BRANDING.

John Stewart and his gang of cowboys are branding cattle near Goshen preparatory to starting across the mountains by the McKenzie route in a few days.

A commercial traveler representing the large paper house of Crocker & Co., San Francisco, made us a call today. He has recently been through a large portion of California and reports that state suffering from the worst drought ever experienced. He predicts good demand for Oregon produce this fall. The hay crop especially is short, and what was cut was badly damaged by a delayed rain a few days since.

The Junction City Picnic.

Daily Guard, May 25.

Yesterday the county candidates spoke at Junction City, and a picnic was held in addition, which drew nearly 1,500 visitors to that lively little city, nestled on the northern boundary of Lane county. The best of feeling prevailed, no fights occurring and very few drunken men were to be seen. In the forenoon a band concert was given by the Junction City and Eugene brass bands and the same was highly enjoyed by the people.

At 2 o'clock the county candidates addressed the people on the political issues of the day. They were all listened to with marked attention. The speech of Hon. Robert Clay was the one that received the most attention, as he secured one of the opposite candidates, W. H. Spangh, and he was applauded time and again; and after he came off the rostrum he was warmly congratulated by his numerous friends.

In the base ball game the Eugene club was victorious over the Fern Ridge club by a score of 21 to 6. Good ball was played. Wm. Mayer umpired for the Eugene.

The Blair horse won the horse race. A number of bicycle races were run, besides the above.

The foot race was won by Otto Roberts, of Eugene.

In the evening the Junction City brass band gave a grand ball which was largely attended. The music was excellent, and the best of order was maintained.

The people of Junction are to be congratulated upon the manner in which the programme was carried out, and for their hospitality. Over 200 people from Eugene were present, and every one came home well pleased with their visit.

The Eugene Cornet band gave an open air concert in the evening, and they discoursed excellent music as usual.

CUMBERLAND PRESBYTERIANS.—Portland Oregonian: A number of delegates from the general assembly of the Cumberland Presbyterian church, held last week at Eugene, are in Portland. Among them is Rev. Dr. J. W. McLaughlin, of St. Louis. His special object is to take measures to establish a mission of the Cumberland Presbyterians and to organize a church society of that denomination here. In and about Portland there is a considerable number of persons of this religious confession, but hitherto they have not been brought together in an organized body.

P. C. WEBB, Prin.

Brownsville Times: Rev. F. H. Calder and wife, of Springfield, are in this city, the guests of their son, W. A. Calder. For four weeks previous to their arrival here they had been suffering with St. Louis. The trip proved to be too much for Mr. Calder's strength, and he has had a slight attack of lung fever while in the city. He would be pleased to have any of his friends call on him.

PANTHER POSTOFFICE.

A postoffice has just been established at Panther, Lane county, with Demetrius D. Hooker as postmaster. The office at Mound is six miles southwest of the new office and that at Crow seven miles northeast. It will prove a great convenience to the rapidly increasing number of settlers in that vicinity.

Coxey says the newspapers made his army a failure, and Mr. Cleveland is said to have said that the army was entirely newspaper-made—both tributes to the power of the press.

The Oregonian telegraphic reports of political meetings, of its faith, sounds as if they were written by the speakers. They have a very fishy appearance.

A number of fruit-growers from various counties in the state met at Portland last week and organized the Oregon Fruit Union, the object of which is to facilitate the marketing of Oregon green and dried fruits and to create a demand for them in the east.

Joseph Koch as county surveyor would keep the office in a condition of which the people might be justly proud. He is an accomplished draftsman, as the maps made by him for the county and individuals attest, while in the field he is active and accurate. Every landowner is vitally interested in the correctness of surveys, much annoyance and expense being saved thereby. The election of Mr. Koch, we believe, from personal knowledge, would be a guarantee of excellent service in the surveyor's office.

Portland Dispatch: Hon. Wm. Galloway, the democratic nominee for governor is making a quiet but vigorous canvass of the state in the interest of the party. He is a cultured man. He was forced to rely on his own resources to pay his way through the common schools and through the Willamette college. He became a member of the State Agricultural Society in 1866, when he was but 21 years old, and has retained his membership ever since. He is also a member of the State Board of Agriculture, and has been president of both societies several times. He can always receive the vote of Yamhill county, although that is republican by a good majority. He will make the right kind of a governor for the people and of the people.

It is sad to see persons who might enjoy much of happiness in the world hunting their surroundings for some dark, forbidding and unpleasant thing to be groaned over instead of living in the sunlight, and gathering pleasant things in the garden of observation and experience. Though times may be dull, that is no reason why we should give way to despondency. It is true that many of the people on this coast have not had their anticipations realized, but after all we are superlatively better off as a people than those in the older states, so on the whole we should be cheerful rather than otherwise. On all occasions look on the bright side of things. It is the right side. The times may be hard, but it will make them no easier by wearing a gloomy, sad countenance. It is the sunshine and not the cloud, that makes the flower. Full one-half of our ills are only in imagination. There is always that before or around us which should cheer and fill the heart with warmth.

The last legislature in which the democrats had the majority was that of 1878, and the general appropriation bill carried $397,828.87, while the general appropriation of 1893 was $1,400,019.95. The total appropriations for the last session were near $3,000,000. The republican state platform contains this funny little clause: "We demand the closest scrutiny and economy in expenditures; we condemn the prodigality and excess of past legislatures and call upon the next legislative assembly to keep all appropriations within the limits of the most economical administration consistent with efficiency." Isn't it about time. If the republican legislature of 1893 had exercised the "closest scrutiny" the state might have been saved hundreds of thousands of dollars.

Eugene should make some arrangements to celebrate the Fourth of July. Bring people here instead of sending them away.

Portland has a first-class backwater flood. It may cool the ardor of her north end politicians. The water is up to the 1876 mark and still rising.

A plea is made to secure votes for Mr. Jennings that he is a farmer. Those who have had the pleasure of inspecting Mr. Jennings' place will bear cheerful witness that he is no farmer to hurt.

Those who desire a safe and careful administration of the sheriff's office, should support Henry Day. He does not require the aid of anyone, lawyer or otherwise, to conduct the office in a business-like manner.

A band of 2000 head of cattle gathered in the Willamette valley will leave here in a few days for Eastern Oregon. We believe that before long stock raisers will see the mistake they have made in disposing of their young stock.

The trial of Heath for the murder of McWhirter, at Fresno, Cal., has been transferred to Los Angeles. The defendant says he cannot get justice in Fresno county, but the impartial observer of events will accept his statement with some reservation, as on the first trial the jury stood 11 to 1 for conviction of murder in the first degree, and 10 to 2 on the second trial. He came very near getting that justice which he thinks can now be found more rapidly at Los Angeles.

Voters should study the sample ballot before voting. There is only one grouping in which more than one name must be voted for, that of representatives to the lower house of the legislature, for which three should be voted. If more than that number appears that portion of the ticket will not be counted. On all other groups scratch out all names except the one for whom you desire to vote. It is a simple process if voters will pay some attention to it before entering the voting booth.

J. D. Matlock served Lane county as school superintendent, and as a representative in the legislature with satisfaction to the people. His record as an official was never questioned. Mr. Matlock was for many years a successful farmer before engaging in the merchandise business. He can be depended on to favor only such legislation as will benefit the county at large, and is not the kind of a man that would sit still when the interests of his constituents were liable to be affected by adverse legislation.

The attempt of bribery of United States Senators shows to what extent protected industries, that are authorized by law take blood from the country, are willing to proceed in order to retain the bounties they have been enjoying at the expense of the people. This will hasten the passage of a reform measure. The fierce light of publicity has been turned on the conspirators, and no senator, elected on a tariff reform platform, will now dare betray the confidence reposed in him by his constituents. The fate of Benedict Arnold would be preferable to that awaiting the senator that falters and fails to perform his duty.

Congressman Ellis is a candidate for reelection and has written a letter to the Bimetallic League of Oregon to support the free coinage of silver. It does not take a very long memory to remember that a few months since when Mr. Ellis, also Mr. Hermann, had the opportunity of voting on the free coinage question, they voted against every proposition for free coinage until the impracticable ratio of 20 to 1 was reached when both voted for free coinage at that ratio. It does not take an extremely bright man to fathom their true intent, and uncover their hypocrisy.

Weatherford and Riley, the opposing candidates are both unqualifiedly in favor of free coinage at a practicable ratio, and should receive the votes of those who consider the silver question a paramount issue.

ASSESSOR McPHERSON'S WORK.

Certain parties and newspapers have sought to make capital and votes against Assessor McPherson by giving a comparison of the bills presented by him and his immediate predecessor, Mr. Burton. We have examined the matter and propose to show that while Mr. McPherson's bills were slightly larger, the work accomplished by the office was at least double.

Mr. Burton was assessor in the year 1890, and the roll made that year consisted of 146 pages, 28 lines to a page, and no descriptions were given of real estate. The property assessed amounted to $6,882,352. Mr. Burton employed one deputy and he was allowed $1,110.60 for his work.

In the succeeding year Mr. McPherson took charge of the office. That year the present ownership maps were used and the roll consisted of 339 pages with full descriptions of real estate, 52 lines to a page in the description portion. The total property assessed was $8,318,124, a gain of $1,435,772 over the previous year when Mr. Burton performed the work. Mr. McPherson employed deputies and the total cost of assessment was $1,462.50.

Coming up to the year 1893, about the cost of which such exaggerated and misleading statements have been made, we find that the rolls—two were required, consisted of 383 pages with full descriptions of 72 lines to a page. This year for the first time the law required the assessor to make the assessment of all taxes levied by incorporated towns and school districts, and the towns of Eugene, Cottage Grove, Junction and Springfield and a number of school districts which entailed a large amount of extra work were assessed by him. For this year a military roll was made, work not previously required, giving a complete list of names of all persons in the county subject to military duty. Again the law requires the assessor to make and keep a duplicate roll in his office. Mr. McPherson has done this, but Mr. Burton did not, and went out of the office without leaving the least memorandum of his work. Mr. McPherson employed deputies, and the total cost of the assessment, including the making of rolls for the towns and school districts, the military roll, and duplicate assessment roll for assessor's office, was $1,803. At times four deputies were required.

It is unnecessary to make any comment on the above, only to state it shows the expediency of electing a tried and competent assessor. Also that it may disabuse the minds of those who have received the impression from published articles that all this money was paid to Mr. McPherson, when in fact he received only his statutory fee of $3.00 per day.

The Graduating Exercises.

The closing program of the public school graduating exercises was rendered Saturday evening at Parker's opera house. The remaining members of the class read their essays or delivered their orations. The invocation was pronounced by Rev. D. E. Loveridge. The musical part of the program was as follows:

Vocalists: Jennie Peterson and Duval Solos; Pauline Wolton, Violet Solo; James G. Hammond, Violin Solo; Andrew Svarverud, Class Song; sung by the school.

The words of this song were composed by two members of the class, the Misses Wald.

The quality of the compositions recited by the graduates in each program was of the usual high order and evinced a general and practical knowledge which commends our schools for efficient work.

The address was made by Prof. Foley, of the Portland public schools, who also presented the diplomas in a few appropriate remarks. His address was practical and full of ideas useful to the class and suggestions which others before him might heed to advantage.

The GUARD wishes the graduates God-speed on their student journey.

A NOTED CASE.

Albany Democrat: Geo. Decker was recently tried at Edgewood, Calif., for the murder of his wife and baby. He would have been found guilty, but they were pronounced alive; and Mr. Decker was discharged. The San Francisco Examiner devoted a great deal of attention to the case, attacking Decker's severity. Mr. Ernie, with Perry Conn, of this city, has just received a letter from Decker, an intimate friend and former neighbor of his in which the true animus of the prosecution is given. It was spite work. Several men, including the Examiner people, will be in hot water before the case is ended.

How about a Fourth of July celebration.

SUED FOR DAMAGES.

Clarence Bonney Sues the City of Eugene for $5,000 Damages.

Daily Guard, May 25.

Bonney was instituted in the circuit court today by Clarence Bonney, a minor child, by L. Bonney, guardian, against the city of Eugene for the sum of $5000. The complaint alleges that through the carelessness and negligence of the defendant, Clarence Bonney, aged 6 years, on June 29, 1891, fell through a sidewalk on the south side of Eighth street between Olive and Charleston streets, thereby breaking his left forearm about two inches from the shoulder joint, as well as dislocating his arm, and that the said arm will always remain useless and impaired to said child as long as he lives and said injuries so received are permanent. That by and on account of said injuries received by said child, and the plaintiff, as guardian, is charged to the sum of $5000.

W. S. McEaden, of Corvallis, and A. C. Woodcock, of Eugene, are retained as attorneys for plaintiff.

In connection we will state that L. Bonney at the November term of the circuit court, 1892, sued for $4000 damages, and received a verdict of $500 against the city of Eugene, on the same case. However, L. Bonney sued previously for loss of services of the child, while now the child sues the city in the action. After the verdict was given in 1892, the matter was compromised by the payment to Bonney of $425 and the costs of the action.

SHOT BY HIS BROTHER.

Probable Fatal Accidental Shooting in the Mollusk Valley.

Daily Guard, May 25.

An 8 year old son of C. N. Aldrich, of the upper Mollusk valley, was the victim of the careless handling of a revolver Saturday that will probably cost him his life.

With a brother a few years older he was assisting in hunting squirrels when by some accidental cause the 38 caliber revolver in the hands of the older brother was discharged, the ball entering the body of the younger in the forward part of the right side about the lower portion of the lung, ranging downward and back a few inches above the left hip.

Medical aid was at once summoned, and Dr. Paine left for the scene of the accident. He did all that was possible to relieve the wounded boy, but is of the opinion that the wound is almost necessarily fatal. Mr. Aldrich was a resident of Eugene a couple of years ago.

Steamer Eugene News.

Saturday's Salem Independent says: The steamer Eugene arrived down last evening for Portland, having made a successful trip to Eugene. It is her intention to run to Eugene for a month yet, and when the water falls to a four-foot stage at Salem she will make two trips between Junction City and Portland, making Salem the whole year round, which will be a boon to shippers who have been paying exorbitant rates to railroads in the summer season. Her dock will be the floating wharf formerly used by the Elwood, with the Elwood's agent to represent her interests at this place. Should the Oregon Pacific conclude not to put on its boats this season, she will occupy the wharf boat during the summer season. Her dock will be used for the Eugene to carry the freight arriving in this city via the Oregon Pacific line until June 2. On that day there will be a bona fide sale of the road, steamers and steamships of the above company.

National Editorial Association.

Dallas Observer: The National Editorial Association will hold its tenth annual meeting at Ashbury Park, N. J., July 2, 3 and 4. The Observer is in receipt of a splendid program being prepared for the occasion. President Campbell has appointed the following delegates to represent the Oregon Press Association in that meeting:

Charles Nichols, Times; Jacksonville; C. C. Doughty, Oregonian; Dallas; C. B. Jackson, East Oregonian; Pendleton; W. H. Leeds, Tidings; Ashland; C. A. Woody, Pacific Baptist; Portland; Albert Tozier, Pythian; Portland; George R. Small, Democrat; Baker City; D. I. Ashbury, News; Canyon City; L. L. Campbell, Guard; Eugene; G. O. Yoran, Register; Eugene; George H. Moffet, Telegram; Portland.

SHIPPING PHEASANTS.

Judge Dunne says that in proposing the law passed at the last legislature to prevent pheasants being shipped out of the state, it was not intended to prevent live birds being shipped for the purpose of stocking other states. This matter was overlooked, but he will have it rectified at the next session of the legislature. He said his idea in sending the pheasants here was first to stock the state with a fine game and food bird, and when the birds had increased and spread sufficiently, to supply birds to stock other states. He has so expressed himself to Game Protector McGuire, who understands the situation thoroughly.

What about a celebration of the Fourth of July? Do you citizens intend to allow that event to pass without notice?
