"For many months the Independent has published all school reports sent to the office from the country districts, and many teachers have acknowledged the benefits that the custom has been to them, but do the schools get the most good possible?"

The Water in Portland Continues to Rise.

Wharves in Imminent Danger.

The Alsworth dock, which has hitherto withstood the heavy strain, is now raised a few inches and partially loosened from its moorings.

The owners of the steamer Lillian are putting a new coat of copper paint on the bottom of the aforesaid vessel.

E. F. Davis, from Eugene, and O. A. Wheeler, from Springfield, came down the river last Sunday to go out on the fishing excursion, but they happened to be a day behind time and therefore could not take part in the ocean trip of the Roberts.

The graveyard at Florence was fittingly adorned on Decoration day by loving hands, and kind thoughts for the departed ones were uppermost in the hearts of those who thus paid their best tribute to the memories of the ones that have gone to the great beyond.

The schooner Danielson, Capt. Graggler is a record breaker without doubt, having made the round trip from San Francisco to Siuslaw river and return in 13 days.

A Fitting Compliment. We clip the following item from the Seattle Post-Intelligencer of June 1. These young men have a large circle of friends here who will appreciate the compliment:

County Clerk T. W. Gordon has made a change in the deputy of the equity department of the superior court, and Mr. T. J. Quigley, who has held the office since Mr. Gordon's inception, will be replaced this morning by Mr. Walter A. McClure, brother of Attorney Henry McClure.

Roseburg Review: Several people in this county have received telegrams from Congressman Hermann stating that he has succeeded in having a large part of the Cascade reserve restored to the public domain.

The people of Lane county may congratulate themselves that the political campaign, now ending, has been remarkably free from personalities.

England sends us Irving and Terry, and America reciprocates with Corbett and Jackson. And yet we are prone to boast of the superiority of American productions!

Wool is strong and the price has advanced considerably. This is sad news to those politicians who have been telling the people that the free wool tariff policy of the democratic party would destroy that industry.

Bland laughs at Thomas B Reed's proposition for the silver using nations to fix discriminating tariff rates against countries using silver.

The Oregonian has raked out a chestnut of large proportions in the shape of a contract for a lumber combine made in 1878 to which Penoyer was a party.

A Portland firm with whom we have business writes us, date 31st of May, that they have 2 feet of "dew" in their office.

A new process of seasoning Canadian lumber is being developed, and bids fair to become an important industry to our Canadian friends.

Gold-grabbing has touched the British pocket nerve until it quivers. The gold standard was all right as long as the effect was only to increase the interest on English investments.

More Englishmen have been converted to bimetalism in the last six months than in the previous nearly 80 years since the gold standard was adopted.

Lombard street is not only unable to collect interest on South American and Asiatic investments, but is in danger of losing a great part of its principal.

England is not yet converted. There is no immediate prospect of English bimetalism. The revival there only exemplifies the revival elsewhere.

The eleven thousand virgins mentioned in Catholic martyrology, were the virgin train of St. Ursula. While on their way to France they were driven by adverse winds to Cologne, where they are said to have been murdered by Huns.

JUDGE HAYES' REPLY.

The Iowa general Assembly recently passed by a party vote a resolution condemning the Wilson reform tariff bill and instructed that a copy be sent to each congressman.

"Respectfully returned with the information that while I would treat with the utmost consideration any legitimate expression of the general assembly of the state of Iowa upon any particular subject affecting the interests of our people, I cannot respect the cheap demagoguery or consider other than insulting the sending to a democrat of any such document as the joint resolution, which is a joint conglomeration of ignorance, falsehood and political rot that is not only contrary to all ideas of reason and political economy, but to the teachings of the Iowa republican statesmen and Iowa republican platform up to the time when the party in the state abjectly surrendered to the tariff barons, and for political reasons made Iowa interests and prosperity subservient to the monopolistic and monetary interests of the east.

The two men were then taken out of the jail, through the hallway and up stairs to a small perch. The rope was fastened to the balcony, above the porch, and when everything was ready Parker was thrown over into the darkness and immediately afterward Hill was launched.
