DEMOCRATIC COUNTY CLERK.

B. W. Wilson Will Retire After 30 Years of Service.

Corvallis Times: The election of Ira Hunter as clerk, and the retirement of B. W. Wilson from that office is a reminder that democratic clerks of Benton county have been few and far between, and that likewise there has been a paucity of change in the clerk's office of Benton county at all. In the 44 years that Benton county has elected clerks, Hunter is the seventh man that has been elected to the office. The first was William Knotts, who was elected in 1850 and served until 1862. A. G. Hovey, now manager of the Lane County Bank, and then a Douglas democrat, but now a republican, succeeded him and served until 1894. B. R. Riddle served from 1862 till 1886, and was succeeded by T. B. Odell, who served two terms, and gave way to E. L. Perham in 1890. The latter served until 1894, and was succeeded by the redoubtable Bushrod W. Wilson, whose 30 years of service ended July 1st, and distinguishes him as one of the most successful office-holders of whom there is any record. The nearest approach of whom the writer has heard was Joel Ware, in Lane county, who served as county clerk twenty years, and a sheriff of San Jose county, California, who has served about twenty years. Hunter is the second democrat to become county clerk of Benton county.

Umattila House Not Damaged.

Regarding the published statement that the Umattila house at the Dalles was in danger of being carried away by the floods, Messrs. Sinnott & Fish, the proprietors, write:

"The hotel building has not sustained one particle of damage in any respect which would cause any one to fear it. The building is open and is accommodating every one as before, and is not floating, or liable to float, until the water rises at least 20 or 30 feet more, as it is very difficult to float a building 32 feet high with six feet of water; at least it looks that way to us. You can find out correctly what shape our building is in by writing to any reliable citizen here."

A Dry-Weather Railroad.

Roseburg Platender: The Jacksonville Times reports that a very heavy rain occurred in that vicinity recently, and in consequence thereof a special train which was run to Medford experienced considerable difficulty in returning owing to the rails being wet. It would probably be a good idea to build a shed over that railroad, thus avoiding vexatious delays, caused by the rails getting wet.

SCHOOL REPORT.—

School report of the Wolf creek school, district No. 135, for the month commencing May 7, ending June 7: Total enrollment, 14; number of days taught, 26; number of days attended, 278; number of days absence, 1; average daily attendance, 13; number of visitors, 14. The following were neither absent or tardy: Daisy, Johnie, Georgie, Lillie and Alice Lewis, Willie and Harry Hunnicutt, Lizzie and Lura Eams, Annie, Tresey and Johnie Doster. Thirteen received 100 per cent. in department.

FANNIE JUSTICE,

Teacher.

No Boat This Week.—

On account of the high water at Portland, the steamer Eugene was unable to procure the freight destined for this city, and will therefore not make her usual trip this week. She will make her regular run again next week.

SHERIFF'S SALE.—

Sheriff Noland, yesterday sold at public auction, on execution, considerable machinery belonging to the Eugene Canning & Packing Co. It was bid in by S. B. Eakin, trustee, for $650.

AROUND.—

The Fourth of July committee has been around in the land today interviewing our business men on the subject of finance.

Of Southern Oregon Towns.

Grant's Pass cast 796 votes, and Ashland is credited with 725. Medford has 548 votes, Jacksonville 562, and Central Point 211.

GOOD FOR THE O. P.—

May was a good month for the Oregon Pacific. Thousands of new ties were put in the track; others were bought up; and for 200 piles were driven in the big bridge at Albany, a number of extra section men were in service, fuel for two months was purchased, other betterments of a trifling nature were put on the road, and after paying every cent that some additional improvements entailed, the road's account showed an entry of $550 on the credit side of the page, says the Times.

On Thursday the employees will be paid for May. The O. P. is all right.

DR.—

E. C. Smith, who combined his Harrison yard, yesterday, says the ground is a large yield is better than ever before, and that the flies have disappeared.

Homeward Bound.

Mr. W. K. Scarborough received the following card from one of the gentlemen who attended the C. P. Assembly here, dated at Pueblo, Col., June 1: "We have had a very pleasant trip via San Francisco and Ogden to Denver. There we met heavy rain and were delayed 36 hours between Denver and this place. We hope, after a 15 hours delay here, to get a transfer over the Arkansas river at 2:45 a. m. tomorrow. About 30 of our party took the Rio Grande route at Ogden. They are in the mountains and can't get out except by packs sent from here. A 4-horse sled left here today at 1:30 p. m. to take provisions and bring what they can to the city. Great damage has been done to this city by the overflow. Eight blocks are under water. However, the waters are confined to their channels now. Great destruction to railroads is still ahead us."

THE STRAIGHTS.—

The Salem Independent of Monday says: Yesterday was an exciting day on the river, and some lively races took place. The steamer Eugene started from Salem first on Sunday morning, followed by the Altona, with the Modoc a few minutes behind. The Eugene held the lead for about 30 minutes, when she was passed by the Altona. The Altona kept the lead for some time, and until she was compelled to make a landing, when she was passed by the Modoc, who started out in the rear. The Modoc would not allow the Altona to pass her, and every time an attempt was made to pass she would swing directly in front of the Altona, compelling the latter to come almost to a standstill. This was kept up for a considerable time when at last the Modoc made a landing, giving the Altona the lead which she kept until she reached Portland. At the locks all three boats were three together.

SKULL FRACTURED.—

A Roseburg dispatch of June 12 says: George Happersch, the fireman on south-bound freight No. 32, met with a serious accident this morning at Salt Creek tank, 35 miles south of Roseburg. The train stopped for water, and Happersch stepped on the tank to adjust the pipe. The starting of the long train of 22 cars caused a violent jar, throwing him back upon the pilot of the second engine from where he rolled into a ditch. He was brought to Roseburg on a light engine, and examination revealed that his skull was fractured and his back badly bruised. He is still unconscious.

KILLED A COYOTE.—

Roseburg Review: Mrs. Cal Yokum was the heroine of a little adventure early this morning. Her attention was attracted by the yelping of a coyote on the hill in front of her residence, and her husband not being present, accompanied by a large white dog she set out in pursuit of Mr. coyote, and was successful in capturing and killing him, which can now boast of a five dollar bounty for the scalp. Few ladies possess such pluck.

BROWN'S ELECTION.—

Wall, of Cottage Grove; secretary, J. W. Harris, executive committee, D. A. Paine, T. W. Harris and E. W. Trenton.

A Pleasant Affair.

Last evening a very pleasant surprise was given Rev. G. M. Weiner, pastor of the First Christian church, and wife, by members of his church, and friends to the number of about 75. The occasion was the tenth anniversary of their marriage, and it will long be remembered by those present as a most happy event. The evening was spent with music and social chat until about 10 o'clock, when the ladies served an elegant lunch, to which all later the guests departed, wishing them many more anniversaries as happy as this one.

The Flood of 1844.

The high water in the Columbia brings up reminiscences and Hon. John Minto, who came to Oregon in 1844 tells the Astorian of the first big flood of the Willamette: He states that with the exception of the flood of 1861 the Willamette was never higher than in December, 1844. It had been a dry summer and fall that year up to October 18, when the early warm rains commenced and continued until the flood came in December. He distinctly remembers how warm it was, because of the fact that some of the pioneers went barefooted all winter. The river commenced to rise about Salem, and never ceased rising until there were but few spots in the city left uncovered by water. There was not much damage done in Salem, but at Lin City, which was opposite Oregon City, the buildings were washed away entirely, and it was a long time before the town was rebuilt. In the bottom lands along the river a great deal of stock was lost from the farms about Salem and down to the mouth of the Willamette. This flood of 1844 had no perceptible effect on the Columbia river whatever. Portland at that time had no existence, there being nothing but a single camp on the present site of that city.

A Race For Life.

Pendleton Tribune: Joe Combs, sheriff of Grant county, arrived in Pendleton Thursday, with a prisoner sentenced to one year in the penitentiary. The sheriff and his charge dropped in at the transfer house bar to enjoy a nice invigorating drink. The prisoner made up his mind, and after mature deliberation, he did not wish to spend the coming year in such close quarters as would be accorded him in Salem, so made a dash for liberty. He ran out the side door, the sheriff in swift pursuit. He then ran along the porch to the east, and jumped off, thinking to alight on solid ground, and would then be able to get away, the night being dark. He was greatly horrified when he alighted, to find himself in the small stream that flows along there, and after floundering around a nice, having become thoroughly saturated, was captured by the sheriff, who took his prisoner out of town on the next train and gave him no more opportunity to give an exhibition of his foot-racing proclivities.
