NORTHWEST NOTES.

Washington.

Spokane is contributing liberally to the Concomely sufferers.

Walla Walla's financial statement for May shows a net debt of $74,417.

Whitman county expects to have thirty-four miles of plank road by the end of the year.

Everett's offer for the county-seat of Snohomish county will be twenty-two-five-foot lots and $30,000 cash.

The survey for the Blaine and Eastern is completed, and belief is professed that trains will be running by October.

A movement has been started in Port Townsend having for its object the reorganization of the city government under the general law.

The Whatumon Board of Trade has a committee at work trying to secure the removal of one of the Oregon City flouring mills to that place.

Petitions are being signed at Hoquiam protesting against the sale of water bonds now being advertised and pledging money to fight the sale in the courts.

Twenty-one out of Whitman county's seven school districts have an average bonded indebtedness of $150,500.

Of this $488,000 is Whitman's and $40,000 Blaine's.

Walla Walla county has paid out $12,000 annually for some years for the eradication of squirrel and gopher pests, and now it is rather discouraging, but apparently that these animals are more numerous than ever.

Walla Walla county's assessment roll is made up. It shows for 1904: Real estate, $1,437,740; personal property, $1,172,218; improvements, $787,027; total, $3,397,985. This is an aggregate decrease from 1903 valuations of $3,595,067.

Receiver Finnon of the Spokane land office in his report for May says the total receipts of the office were $1,728, the largest reported for more than a year.

The biggest item was $700 for thirty-nine homesteads, embracing 5,725 acres.

Willmar has a gold excitement of her own, and is fast being depopulated by a rush to Heligade Canyon on the Columbia, twelve miles away, where the claims miners are reported to be hidden in the sands in large quantities. Nobody has seen any gold yet, but the report of a syndicate's extensive filings has precipitated an excitement.

A company has just been organized in Spokane that has for its object the purchase of the extensive property of the Spokane and Inland Company and the making of vast improvements in the shape of flouring mills, saw mills, linseed-oil mills, the development of water power and electric-lighting plants. The corporation is capitalized at $750,000.

Already over 100 homesteads have been taken in Kikikat by the Indians, and the government is endeavoring to them by the government. The law does not permit them to sell or deed land until after the lapse of twenty-five years from the date of the patent issued.

The Indians are permitted to homestead eighty acres for farming or 160 acres for grazing. Forty more acres may be added to a family can enter eighty or 160 acres of land for each one of her minor children.

There were made in the jute mills of the Washington State penitentiary during the month of May 180,000 grain bags, 1,761 wool bags and 2,239 oak bags.

Forty more months of grain bags were made in the penitentiary, and the total number of bags produced from 7 cents to 9 cents each. The penitentiary now has on hand subject to sale: 1,084,385 grain bags at 6 cents each, 625 wool bags at 7 cents, 2,100 oak bags at 9 cents, 10,753 yards bob cloth, 8 1/2 cents per yard and 5,161 pounds of waste, twelve five-ply, at 8 cents per pound.

In different localities in Eastern Washington threshing is again in operation. It is found that by exercising a little care in trimming off all the damaged grain from the tops and sides of the stacks a pretty fair grade of wheat can be produced, which the stacks have been well built. The grain is still a little soft but, by scattering the sacks about on boards or rails for a few days the sun will harden it. Oakesdale millmen, who have been buying some of this grain, recommend the treatment, and say a few days hot sun will make it worth at least 5 cents more per bushel.

Joe Scott, president of the Montana Cattlemen's Association; Frank Robinson, Henry Tustler of Miles City and J. T. Boardman of Deer Lodge have just completed a cattle-purchasing tour of eastern Washington. They bought 10,000 head, the price averaging $10 for yearlings, $15 for two-year-olds and $20 for three-year-olds. It is estimated by cattlemen that 40,000 head will be taken out of Washington and Oregon into Montana this year.

The Montana cattlemen and those of the other states are again, and these purchases will materially relieve the financial stringency in Eastern Washington.

The hop louse has made its appearance at Fairview, Polk county.

Medford has abandoned the idea of opening a school for July 4.

A summer conference in the interests of Indian education is called for July 23 to 28 at Salem.

Union county's debt is decreasing every year. The present levy—10.7 mills—is the lowest in ten years.

The Pendleton scouring mills have started up, and already have 350,000 pounds of wool to operate on.

The Pendleton scouring mill uses 1,500 pounds of soap a day. It makes its own soap, consisting for that purpose some 250 pounds of tallow. This makes a good home market for tallow. As it is, the tallow has to be imported from Portland by the carload.

Major Post has taken charge of the fight to save the Cascade locks, the government standing the expense. Six trains are running, hauling brush, gravel, rock and anything that can be utilized to raise the bulkhead. Some of the cut strip looks like a scrubbed stubble field, and seventy barrels of cement were used in one day in solidifying the sand and gravel.

A sixteen-month-old child of Mrs. Shepp of Ashland tumbled out of a car window while coming down the Siskiyou and was killed. The train was moving about fifteen miles an hour. It was stopped, and the distracted mother and train crew rushed back to the rescue and found the child sitting on the sand pile where it had fallen, screaming mad, but not injured in the least.

The storm of last week did considerable damage to the crops on a narrow strip of country between the desert and the gap in the foothills on the Brownsboro road, Jackson county. The precipitation descended in the form of hailstones, and several hundred acres of wheat were completely ruined. The strip looks like a scrubbed stubble field, and presenting a strange sight, flanked as it is by fields of beautiful green wheat.

It is believed that Harry Dunn, bulletined somewhat noisily as the first inmate of the Soldiers' Home, was refused admission to the examining board. The Soldiers' Journal is taking up the matter and making quite a diverting effort to force an issue on it. Dunn's "right" name, it seems, is Sergeant Henry Campbell of the Twenty-ninth Massachusetts Infantry and was record of half a column of minutes. The objection to him is he is able to earn his living.

FAILURE OF CROP.

Western Kansas is Suffering From Another Drouth.

The President has signed the New York and New Jersey bridge bill.

It has been decided by the House Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce to report to the House a bill for equipment of the Niagara canal by the government for carrying on the work to completion.

Senator Morgan's measure will be adopted with some changes advised in committee.

The House has concurred in the Senate bill authorizing the construction of a bridge across the Monongahela river, was the bill extending the time of payment for purchases of the lands of the Omaha Indians and adopted a resolution authorizing the payment of $10,000 from the contingent fund to defray the cost of the armor-plate investigation.

George Oyster, Chairman of the State Debris Association of California, has complained to the Interior Department of the extensive damage to lands and streams caused by hydraulic mining. He asserts that the debris of that process has sacculated the navigable rivers at least one-half during the low-water season. The communication has been referred to the War Department.

A young crank called at the White House the other day, and announced that his purpose was to convert the President to the ways of righteousness. This was the first time he had been at the White House. The watchman called for the police patrol, and had him transferred to the third precinct station, where he is held for examination. His name is Heffentien. He is a converted Jew, and has been delivering explosive sermons on street corners.

The lightship at the mouth of the Columbia river has proven of such advantage to the shipping interests of Oregon that Senator Mitchell has been induced to ask Congress to appropriate $60,000 for the construction of still another lightship. A bill has been introduced and is stationed in midchannel inside Cape Disappointment. The Senator is quite confident he will secure some sort of an appropriation for the commencement of such construction at last.

There seems to be no end to the measures introduced in the present Congress for the protection of the salmon fisheries. The latest bill is introduced by Senator Mitchell of Wisconsin. It differs from the others principally in that it makes provision for the re-encantment of the old river, and for the construction of levees and certain streams as spawning grounds, giving the Secretary of the Treasury discretion to limit the duration of the fishing season and directing the appointment of an inspector at $250 a month and an assistant inspector at $150 a month. Exclusively some men up in Wisconsin have their eyes on two fat jobs.

The arid-land question, about which the Western members had much to say when the agricultural bill was before the Senate, has been considered by the House Committee on Irrigation of Arid Lands. A bill has been introduced in the name of the Senator, and Newland was instructed to draw up a general bill on the lines of the one for the survey of Idaho lands introduced by Sweet. It will provide for a survey under the direction of the Secretary of War of arid lands in the Western States, in order to the preparation of maps showing the ditches and canals and reservoirs needed for the reclamation of land, and reports upon the water available for irrigation, with estimate of the quantity of land possible of reclamation and of cost. The States of the Dakotas and perhaps others will be in the bill, with a recommendation for an appropriation of $25,000 for each State.

It is given out that the German Minister has notified our government that if the one-tenth of a cent per pound discriminating duty, which has been proposed by the Senate, is permitted to become a law Germany will place a retaliatory duty on pork, land and other products now imported from the United States under reciprocity arrangement.

In view of this notification Secretary McQuinn has recommended to the Senate Finance Committee urging the elimination of this provision of the Senate bill which operates against any government allowing a bounty on refined sugar. Inasmuch as Germany is the only competitor of the American sugar, it is a matter of serious concern to the Senate to have a discriminating duty levied practically against that country. Should the Senate comply with Secretary Carlisle's recommendation and strike out the one-tenth of a cent provision, the Sugar Trust will receive a very black eye.

McGuire of California appeared before the House Committee on Pacific Railroads the other day, making a strong protest against any funding bill or other arrangement which would release the estates of Huntington, Stanford and others from personal liability to the government for the debts of the Central Pacific.

In his request it was arranged that himself, ex-Senator Sumner of California and the members of the State delegation in Congress should address the committee. McGuire took the position that the failure of the Central Pacific to pay the debt to the government was the result of its carrying the debt to the pockets of the syndicate, which under the law should have a fund created for the payment of its debts. He recommended that the government should proceed by foreclosure or by taking charge under the condition of the law and apply to the court to secure the remainder of the debt from the Huntington, Stanford and others. Weakock inquired if he did not favor government ownership, and McGuire explained his plan for government ownership as follows: That the right of way with trains operated by private parties under government control.

Attorney-General Olney admits that a claim has been presented against the Stanford estate for $15,000,000 as its proportion of the debt represented by the Stanford stock in the Central Pacific Company, and explains that it was filed under the California statutes in order to prevent the statute of limitations from running against it. That is, while the statute of limitations cannot run against the United States, yet an estate against which the United States has a claim may be probated, settled and divided without regard to the United States claim. Unless such claim is filed within the period provided in the State laws for such filing, otherwise an estate against which the United States has a possible claim could never be settled. Along with his explanation McGuire said that the claim filed in California is not a claim against the estate of the Central Pacific corporation is not yet due. The law, however, provides that in such a case the claim may be filed and the executor or administrator of the estate may set apart enough of the estate to satisfy the claim if it be made good against the estate when it falls due. In the event of the refusal of the executor or administrator to do this the court may do it. In this case the claim is filed at this time to protect the California estate from the United States claim, and the estate proceeding of the Central Pacific construction and its affairs generally.

La Libertad has fled to Panama. The country is not yet known to his forces, which are now massed near San Salvador. La Libertad is practically in control of the American sailors, who were landed from the gunboat Bennington to protect the American Consulate and American interests. Aboard arrived here the day before yesterday, and immediately went aboard the steamer Valria and sailed for Panama.

To Colonize Jews. The Ministers of the Interior and of Husbandry have advanced a scheme to organize a Jewish colony in South Africa. It is proposed to organize a distinct Jewish colony, in which all the Jewish farmers now scattered over South Africa are to be focused. Grants of land and agricultural implements are to be given them.

Rosebery's Prophecy When at College Fulfilled.

SILVER QUESTION IN GERMANY

The Engagement of John W. Mackay, Jr., and Miss Virginia Fair Deceased by London Society.

LONDON.—The story that Miss Virginia Fair, the younger daughter of Senator Fair and sister of Mrs. Herman Oelrichs, and who is now on this side, is to be married to Maitland Kersey, the handsome agent of the White Star line, seems not to be borne out by the facts as stated here. The report now states distinctly that John W. Mackay, Jr., is to be the lucky man. He it is who is said to be engaged to the California beauty, and those who take a sentimental interest in such things find it much more suggestive of a pretty romance than a union with the handsome Englishman would be. Whether the reported matrimonial experiences of Mr. Kersey had anything to do with the breaking-off of the engagement is not clear. It is a long time ago that he was in London. Five-o'clock tea chat prefers to look on it as a sudden revelation to young Mr. Mackay of his affection for Miss Fair. It needed, in fact, the intervention of a third party to show Mr. Mackay where his happiness really lay. Miss Virginia has had many suitors, and young Mr. Mackay and Miss Fair have known each other from childhood. Their respective fathers were comrades in early straggling days and always allies and friends through the greater fortunes of later years. A marriage between the two children would therefore round out the romance of the great gold and silver eras of the West in a manner most approved by the novelist, which means by every man or woman who loves a lover.

ENGLAND'S PREMIER.

The Destiny Prophesied For Himself When at College Fulfilled.

LONDON.—Prime Minister Rosebery's Lads won the Derby, with Matchbox second and Reminder third. It is doubtful if so much interest has ever before been taken in the Derby. There were several causes for this state of affairs. In the first place many thousands of people were anxious to see the Derby, because it is the great event of the turf. In the second place, the race is owned by the Prime Minister, was looked upon as being the horse of the year, his previous victories having won him hosts of friends, who longed to see once more the primrose and rose hoops with rose-colored cap (Lord Rosebery's color) flying to the front of everything else in the field. Thus it was that the special trains at London Bridge and Victoria stations, run every five minutes, were packed to the utmost with the usual crowd of racegoers, augmented by many people who had never before ventured to Epsom, but who were in order to see "Rosebery win the third event."

THE SCHOONER'S PROPERTY.

The destiny which Lord Rosebery prophesied for himself when at college was fulfilled. He married the richest girl in England, Hannah de Rothschild; he is Prime Minister of England, and he has won the Derby with his colt Lad, but who were in order to see "Rosebery win the third event."

FROM HONOLULU.

President Dole Outlines the Work for the Constitutional Convention.

HONOLULU.—The Constitutional Convention met May 30. The ceremonies were very brief, consisting mainly of an address by President Dole outlining very fully the work it has to do and stating clearly the reasons which had impelled a change of plans by the President and Advisory Council from annexation to the United States to the creation of an independent Republic. He gave utterance also to this significant expression: "Although the establishment of a fundamental law which shall be as possible as possible for the safe and permanent administration of affairs upon the principles of a republican form of government will be the paramount object of your deliberations, the original purpose of the provisional government to negotiate a treaty of political union with the great and friendly nation that lies nearest to us must, I respectfully submit, be as fully recognized by you as a vital policy of the new Republic as it has been of the provisional government."

SILVER QUESTION IN GERMANY.

BERLIN.—In a speech closing the meetings of the Imperial Silver Commission Count von Posadowski, the Imperial Secretary of the Treasury, said he believed the members were agreed that the fluctuations and depreciated value of silver had entailed great losses upon the German foreign and home trade; that Germany alone was powerless to raise the price of silver, and it was impracticable to do so either by the creation of a monopoly by international agreement or by the regulation of the production. He added that the members of the commission would render a public service by studying to spread the conviction that serious difficulties attended the solution of the silver question.

Experiments With Cholera Patients.

LONDON.—A dispatch to the Times from Calcutta says that Dr. Haffkine from Pasteur's laboratory in Paris made a course of experiments there and inoculated 117 out of 200 persons occupying a group of huts and subject to cholera. Soon after he had completed his work the disease broke out among the people. Ten of them were attacked, and seven died. All of the cases occurred among those who had not been inoculated with the preventive.
