A Large Freight Load.

Daily Guard, June 23. The steamer Eugene arrived here at 11 o'clock this morning, after a slow trip up the river on account of being heavily loaded with freight.

This trip of the Eugene demonstrates the feasibility of river navigation the greater portion of the year on the upper Willamette. She left Corvallis with 140 tons of merchandise and feed, the largest load ever carried by a boat above that point. Eighty-three tons were brought from Harrisburg to Eugene. After leaving the Meeks landing, eight miles below Eugene, considerable lining had to be done to get over rifles, but as the steamer had plenty of time to make her return trip, no chances were taken of injuring the beat by endeavoring to make better

This should encourage our people to persistently demand liberal appropriations for improving the upper Willamette. A steambout bringing over 80 tons of freight to Eugene the last of June is a weighty argument in favor of river improvement.

A SNAKE STORY.-Walla Walla Statesman: An incident occurred during the Maennecher plenie on Sunday which was highly exciting and will be long remembered by those who were the principal actors in the scene. The little 4-year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Confan, while playing about the edge of the picuic grounds, discovered a water snake and innocently picked it up, grasping it in her hands a few inches below its head. She ran to her mother with the reptile, which would strike at the little girl's face as she held it before her. The sight is one which is easier imagined than described. UNFAIR AS USUAL.

The above letter was received by the board of regents this morning. The governor, as usual, when he has a spite against any institution or person is unagainst any institution or person is unfair and proceeds to vent his spheen. To say the least, in this particular, he is somewhat dishonest in the letter that he gives to the public. The question he asked Attorney-General Chamberlin was: "Can the regents of the university divert the money appropriated for the university to any other school or schools in the state?"

A school boy would answer no. But other school or schools in the state.

A school boy would answer no. But the regents have never been guilty of such action. They have veted funds to assist in maintaining departments of the university located in Portland, which they had and have a right to do. If the governor had wanted to be fair in the premises he would have su mitted the case as it existed.

Part Mugwump, Part Populist.

WASHINGTON, June 21.-There was a fairly good attendance in the galleries in anticipation of the opening of the income-tax debate when Vice President Stevenson called the senate to or-der today. Bills were passed as fol-lows: To authorize a commission to draft a code of laws for the district of Alaska and regulate the jurisdiction of the United States courts therein.

A soon as the clerk had read the first section of the income-tax provisions of the tariff bill, Hill, who assumed the leadership of the opposition to those provisions delivered a carefully-pre-pared argument. Hill contended that it would have been good politics to have avoided this unnecessary issue.
"I protest," he said, "sgainst the repudiation of the promises of the democratic party in order to adopt and carry out the promises of the populist party. The most disastrous defeat ever experienced by the democratic party in Oregon was the result of an effort to substitute new-fangled populist principles for the good old principles of true dem-ocracy. If this is the best leadership we can present in this great crisis, I for one must decline to follow it. I repudlate the spurious democracy, modern apostles and prophets, who are part mugwumps and part populists." The imposition of the income tax, Hill said, would drive New York, New Jersey and Connecticut into the republi-sey and Connecticut into the republi-can column, there to remain.

Higgins followed Hill. Chandler rose to resent the terms used by Allen yesterday, replying to the charge that Allen was given free lumber on condi-tion that he would vote for the bill.

Allen, replying, said he proposed to do what he considered proper in spite of "the dirty insinuations" of the senalen renewed his expressions of yesterday.

Chandler rejoined this only proved true what he had before said, that the Kyle took the floor to speak on the tariff.

Kyle made a general argument favoring the income tax, dwelling on the decline of farm values in the West. He argued that the protective system was responsible for the concentrated wealth in the hands of a few, and that it was just and equitable that the few should bear a share of the burden of taxation, which their wealth made taxation, which their wealth made them able to bear.

Senator Call, of Florida, shocked the spectators in the gallery by removing his shoes and elevating his "sky-blue" stockings to a neighboring desk while he fanned himself with a palm leaf. At the conclusion of Kyle's speech, Vest offered four additional amendments to the income tax section. most important was one to reduce the exemption from $4000 to $3000, and exempt from operation of the tax building and loan associations making loans only to shareholders. Another provides that in reckoning the profits of corporations for taxation, the actual operating expenses, losses and interest on fixed indebtedness shall be excluded. Another amendment provides the tax shall not apply to insurance business. ness conducted on the mutual plan.

Teller supported the income tax proposition. He quoted the utterances of the leaders of the republican party, Oliver P. Morton, Senator Sherman and Senator Morrill, who advocated the tax in the past. the tax in the past.
