

CASTORIA

for Infants and Children.

Castoria is so well adapted to children that I recommend it as superior to any prescription known to me. H. A. ARCHER, M. D., 111 So. Oxford St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"The use of Castoria is so universal and its merits so well known that it seems a waste of supererogation to endorse it. Few are the intelligent families who do not keep Castoria with easy reach." CALVIN MARVIN, D. D., New York City.

Large Number Were Injured.

PARIS, Sept. 10.—The disaster to the Paris and Cologne express train at Apill, between Noyon and Chauny, was more serious than at first supposed. The first estimates placed the number of persons killed at 10, with 20 injured. Twelve bodies have already been taken from the wreck. The accident was due to the slow shunting of a freight train at Apill. The engineer of the express saw the cars on the line and reversed the engine. The shock of the collision was borne by the three front cars. As soon as the accident occurred, the train stopped, and did everything to assist the dying and injured. The report that the station-master at Apill had committed suicide by jumping in front of the engine when he saw that the collision was inevitable, is along with the train to signal the express and freight trains, and was caught between them and killed. It seems certain there were Americans among the killed or injured.

Lightning Made the Dumb Speak.

WINFIELD, La., Sept. 10.—A house belonging to John Zelinka, of this village, was struck by lightning during the storm Saturday night. A bolt went through a two-foot brick wall in the dining room where Mr. Zelinka, a neighbor, and Mrs. Fisher, a visitor, were discussing the storm. It seemed to pass between Mrs. Fisher and her 13-year-old daughter Mary, who had been deaf and dumb for over eight years. Mrs. Fisher and her daughter sat motionless for several seconds, when the girl got up, and pointing her finger to her ear, said, "Mamma, I heard that; let us go home." This is the first time, it is said, that she has spoken since an attack of scarlet fever left her deaf and speechless.

An Electric Line-man's Peril.

DENVER, Mich., Sept. 10.—Wood was a victim of the front of the city hall, just before noon yesterday, was up 150 feet in the air at the top of an electric tower, by a man rigid and helpless, his feet hanging in the meshes of wire, his head banging downward. He was a trimmer and had gone up there to trim the lamps, when he grasped a live wire and became unconscious. A crowd of 5,000 persons saw him and expected every minute that his feet would slip and he would fall. His name is Frederick Beck, and there in the air he hung until his partner, George Wideman, jumped in and saw him. Up the slim supports of the tower came Wideman, hand over hand, to the prostate man whom he grabbed, and tried to lay on the lower. But Beck was so stiff that the two men awoke in a struggle which looked as if it must end in one or both of them coming to the ground. French attempted to bite Wideman and once they threw up their hands, but Wideman finally got Beck out of the grip of French's neck and choked him into insensibility. Then he put him into a basket by which French made the ascent, and lowered him to within a few feet of the ground, where others helped him, and French was taken to his home. He was crazy from the shock. The doctors say he will recover.

A boat was quickly lowered by the steamer, and Jeremiah Murphy, of New York, one of the lost crews, was picked up. By a strong fatigue, Dr. Cooke and seven members of the ill-fated Arctic expedition were on board of the Fortis. This is the third serious marine disaster in which they have taken part in the last two months. The Fortis was a sister ship to the last Miranda, on which the Cooke party sailed for the north pole, and which was sunk in the ice.

McAvoy became enraged at some remark made by Thomas, and suddenly raising his gun, emptied a charge of buckshot into the neck of Thomas. He followed up this by striking the prostrate man over the head with the stock of the gun. Rhodes attempted to interfere and McAvoy turned upon him. Rhodes fled, but as he did so drew a revolver and fired three shots at his pursuer, all of which took effect—two in his breast and one in his forehead. McAvoy fell and was dead within an hour. Glaze had killed his man at Dallas where he had lived, and Howard had while temporarily absent from the state in Montana. The latter had also, it is said, served in the Oregon penitentiary. Jake Parker, jockey for Glaze, is under arrest as an accomplice. A coroner's inquest was held. Justice of the Peace W. C. Byrd, acting as coroner, and W. L. Adams, M. BERLIN, Sept. 8.—Emperor William's speech at Koenigsberg on Thursday night in the close of the military maneuvers about South Altenburg was of course the sensation of the hour. No class has received such rebukes as his rebellious nobles, and his rebuke is scarcely rendered the more palatable by the sense afterwards administered when his forgetting nobility was a faithful stay of his realm, to join him in the steady process of repression against all parties of disorder.

Horse-Head Sausage.

VALPARAISO, Ind., Sept. 10.—The authorities of Lake county have unearthed the existence of a factory for the manufacture of sausage and dried meat from the heads of horses. Two men of Lake county men are the promoters of the scheme and but for the vigilance of the board of health in slating the evils and threatening the parties engaged with prosecution it is probable that horse meat would still be a staple commodity. The average price paid for horse heads was $1.50, and only animals that were worthless were led to slaughter. In many instances, it is said, diseased horses were slaughtered and minced. The plant was supplied with all modern appliances for the manufacture of the articles of food known as sausage and dried beef.

The Eugene Loan and Savings Bank will conduct both a Commercial and Savings business, and your especial attention is called to the savings features of it. It is not what you make but what you save, that makes you rich. In all departments there are many devices to make savings, which, if not deposited in some bank or loaned, will be spent in one way or another. It is difficult to loan money, especially if they can be put in a savings bank and made to bring some return. Believing that the time has come for the successful operation of a Savings Bank in this community, we solicit your patronage in this matter.

The plan to raise funds for the Pythian anniversary at Gallatin, Tenn., was opened and under it a subscription of twenty-five cents is required from each Knight. A Complete Back Down.

CARLETON, Sept. 10.—Jackson has refused to sign the articles of fight Corbett. Ed Ward Lloyd, representing the Sioux City club, met Jackson and his manager, "Pearson" Davies, at the Briggs house, at noon. Lloyd presented the papers which Corbett had signed in New York. Jackson glanced over them and said at once they would not do.

"I will fight for your purse and a substitute of $1,000," he said, "but the fight must come within three months."

"That's the idea exactly," said Davies. "Corbett is on the stage now, and we don't intend to add to his bill until next May or June. This agreement calls for a fight between May 15 and June 15. Now you please sign some paper independent of mine, so that we can make the time within the next three months, and Jackson will sign."

This Lloyd said he could not do, and Davies proceeded to pick flaws in the papers. He declared the deal did not look good. No paper was signed, there were no specifications as to whether the men would fight 10 rounds or 10 years, or to a finish, and the whole matter had a peculiar look. Jackson chimed in with an objection to fighting at an outdoor place.

"I want the fight before a club or in a house," he said; "I don't want the affair to take place in a field or tent."

Lloyd became considerably excited over the fun Davies poked at the papers, but kept his temper and tried to get the necessary signatures. He declared positively, however, that he could not sign of the fight in the time specified by Jackson.

"It's three months or nothing," declared Davies, and Jackson added, "That's right." "Well, it's off," said Davies, as he picked up his hat. "I didn't like the looks of this thing, anyway."

It was announced later that Jackson would leave for New York tonight, and immediately sail for the West Indies, whence he goes to London.

"It is a pity," he is useless to try and get a fight with Corbett," the pugilist said. "I could not afford to tie around all winter doing nothing, while Corbett was on the stage making money out of the advertisement the fight would bring him. I will try London for a while."
