SATURDAY, OCTOBER 6.

WHY THE YOUNG MAN WAS PROMOTED.

Floyd Davis in Popular Science Monthly of a recent issue says:

A business firm once employed a trained young man whose energy and grasp of affairs soon led the management to promote him over a faithful and trusted employe. The old clerk felt deeply hurt that the young man should be promoted over him, and took occasion to complain of it to the manager. Feeling that this was a case that could not be argued, the manager asked the old clerk what was making all the noise in front of their building. He went forward and returned with the answer that it was a lot of wagons going by. He then asked the clerk what they were loaded with, and again he went out and returned, reporting that they were loaded with wheat. The manager again sent him to ascertain how many there were, and he returned with the answer that there were 16. Finally he was sent to see where they were from, and he returned, saying that they were from the city of Lucena. The manager then asked the old clerk to be seated, and sent for the young man, and said to him: "Will you see what is the meaning of that rumbling noise in front?" The young man replied: "It is unnecessary, for I have already ascertained that it is caused by 16 wagons loaded with wheat. Twenty more will pass tomorrow. They belong to Romero & Co., of Lucena, and are on their way to Marchesa, where wheat is bringing $1.25 a bushel, while it costs only $1 a bushel at Lucena. The wagons carry 100 bushels each and get 15 cents a bushel for hauling." The young man was then dismissed, and the manager turning to the old clerk said: "My friend, you see now why the young man was promoted over you." This illustrates the tendency of our times, for we are rapidly advancing into an age when concentration of energy and grasp of subject in detail in the shortest possible time are requisite for advancement.

There is a difference in pigs. If all men are equal, all pigs are certainly not. The farmer who goes into the pork business with that notion will soon find himself a poorer and wiser man. There's money in the raising of hogs if the work be done intelligently. They can be made ready for market in a short time, so that quick returns can be had—that is, if the breed is a good one and the animals are given proper care. The last is the great stumbling block. The majority of farmers seem to imagine that hogs cannot exist without dirt. It is almost impossible to convince them to the contrary. Moldy corn will not answer as well as sound corn, and a wood pasture will not keep in as good condition as a clover field. Pigs will eat and flourish on a good deal that would otherwise go to waste, but even they draw the line somewhere.

It is not generally known that the Chinese tea plant has been successfully grown in this country for some years. This season a consignment of tea from the Smith farm, near Fayette, North Carolina, was sold in New York for 80 cents a pound, and some from the Summerville gardens in South Carolina brought as high as $1 a pound. Mr. Jackson, an expert tea grower, who has charge of the Summerville plantation under General DeDuc, says that with negro labor he can raise tea more cheaply than is done with coolie labor in India, because of its greater reliability.

Articles written by M. Praecht of Ashland and published in some of the New York papers have raised the ire of California newspapers. Max states that every year Oregon orchards are visited by California buyers, who pack and ship the product under the name of California fruit. The S. F. Chronicle ridicules this and asserts that the name doesn't count for anything. What's hurting the Californians, then? The statement was a fact and evidently struck a tender place, even if Max occasionally converses through his millinery.

Jacksonville Times: The republican office-seeking contingent of Oregon is on the anxious seat and will probably remain there for some time longer, Governor-elect Lord having not given out what he proposes doing in the matter of appointments. He will soon leave for a visit to relatives and friends in the East, and until he returns and enters upon the duties of his office who the lucky people will be can only be conjectured.

A Massachusetts woman has invented an envelope which it is impossible to open and reveal without detection. That woman's ingenuity will bring down upon her devoted head the maledictions of all members of her sex who are married and most of those who hope to be.

If steaming the face is good for the complexion, why don't more girls do the family washing? One can get a lovely steam bath over a wash tub.

PSYCHICAL ATTRACTIONS.

"It is a curious thing," said an artist to a Pittsburg Dispatch reporter, "but when you begin to study anything asleep they or it will wake up at once." He was trying to catch a very pretty girl on a Long Branch boat. She was reclining gracefully on her right hand, the elbow being supported by a guardrail, and contrary to the custom of pretty girls in general, looked really prettier when asleep than when awake. But just as soon as the artistic eye had settled down to this fact, and the artistic pencil had begun to reduce it to paper, she began to get restless and fidgety, and shortly afterward waked up.

"I have tried it on animals," he continued, "and it is the same. We have a very pretty cat at our house, and sometimes when she curls herself up into graceful and unusual attitudes, I have tried to get a study from cat life; but just as soon as the attempt is made she begins to yawn and stretch, and finally opens her big eyes on me with an expression of 'Well, what in the world are you trying to do with me now, I'd like to know?'"

Statesman: The sheriff of Walla-walla county brought seven men to the penitentiary Thursday. The next trip he will probably bring the balance of the legal voters of this county.

Several Lives Probably Lost. LITTLE ROCK, Oct. 3.—Last evening's cyclone, in destructiveness as the details are gathered:

The first intimation of the impending catastrophe was when the cyclone struck. All the electric lights were extinguished, and the darkened streets were filled with flying roofs, walls and debris of all kinds. The cyclone swept up from the southwest, striking the town near the insane asylum, the male ward of which was demolished. There Dr. Ingate was killed and several inmates were injured. It then passed on to the penitentiary doing slight damage at intermediate points. The second and third stories of the shop building was blown off, the cell building unroofed, the office destroyed and the old building scattered broadcast. One convict was killed and several guards injured. Toward the main part of the city the path of the storm was with the debris or wrecked buildings, tangled telegraph and telephone wires and fallen trees that had withstood the tempests for many decades. Many residences were damaged, the roofs blown away and walls partly demolished. The next marked damage was when the storm struck the Martin building, a large brick and apartment-house, occupied by the Arkansas Methodist church, and several offices. Governor Fishback and General Armistead, who had rooms in this building escaped injury. The colored porter was seriously injured.

Some of the most substantial brick structures in the district laying along Main and Markham streets, south of Fourth and Fifth, were razed. The wind was followed by a drenching rain, that lasted nearly an hour and deluged every one in doors, so the real extent of the damage could not be ascertained at the time.

Telephone wires in the business portion were blown down. Wild rumors of death and destruction were rife. As soon as the rain abated the streets were filled with an excited populace. Feudalism was attended with extreme difficulty and danger, as there were no lights, and tangled wires, heaps of brick, twisted tin roofs, and great plate-glass windows filled the streets and sidewalks. Many were the stories of narrow escapes and most sad deaths. It is a matter of common wonder that hundreds were not killed. The police were on the scene promptly and everything was done to restrain the disorderly element from creating a disturbance. Saboteurs that were not entirely destroyed were ordered closed at midnight by Chief McMahon. Patrol wagons were pressed into service, and many of the injured were taken to the headquarters where their wounds were attended to. The storm proper did not last more than three minutes. The body of Dr. Ingate was recovered from the ruins of the asylum at noon today, but so mangled as to be almost unrecognizable. Several inmates are missing. Conservative estimate of the financial loss on the state institution is $225,000. On business property, $600,000. On dwellings $300,000.

A Batch of War Notes. NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—The Herald has the following special from Shanghai: It is reported that the Japanese have captured Kiu Lien Cheng, on the eastern side of the Yalu river, nearly opposite W. J. J.

One hundred and fifty thousand men have been gathered at Peking for the defense of the city, but of this number only 7000 are effectively armed.

Only 50,000 soldiers are available for the defense of the province of Chi Li, that of Li Hung Chang—and these are raw recruits.

The Japanese army has landed to the north of the Yellow, or Hoang-Ho river, in the southern part of the Gulf of Pe-Chi-Li, to intercept the transport of troops from the south, via the Grand canal, to Tien-Tsin.

A Japanese fleet of 17 ships is now blockading the Gulf of Pe-Chi-Li. Prince Kung is favorable to foreigners and the western development of the Chinese empire. French troops are massing in Tonquin.

EVIDENCE AGAINST WARDEN.

A Boy Who Saw the Trainwreckers at Work. SACRAMENTO, Oct. 2.—New evidence has come to light against the Sacramento trainwrecker, Warden.

A boy named Albert Weston claims that on the day the train was wrecked he was on his way from Sacramento to Davisville, and that as he was entering upon the bridge to cross over he was stopped by a band of men, one of whom he positively identifies as Warden, and ordered to go back. Instead of doing so he hid in the tules and was an eyewitness to the whole affair of wrecking the train.

Strike of Textile Workers. PAWTUCKET, R. I., Oct. 2.—What will probably be the biggest strike of textile-workers in this city was over-spread today, when 250 weavers left their looms at Loraine mills, as a protest against the reduction of wages. Thirteen hundred are involved.

THE BEST WAY.

When the inquisitive owner of the camel asked that patient animal, "Would you rather go up hill or down?" the camel was Yankee enough to answer the question by asking another. "Pray, Master, is the level way across the plain shut up?" So with us. We travel no devious way to popularity. Straight bargains, straight prices and straight methods are good enough for us.

THE BEST FOUNDATION.

Transient trade is all right for a superstructure, but steady custom is the foundation of a business. That's what we are working for. We propose to not only give prices that will attract you, but treatment that will hold you. By doing this we disprove the statement that "There's no friendship in trade," because a man had better have no customers than be without friends.

A POPULAR ERROR.

We do not believe "the American people like to be humbugged." To say that we, as a nation, enjoy being humbugged is to insult our intelligence; to attempt it will bring swift and terrible punishment. We not only know a good thing when we see it, but we appreciate merit when we meet it. Believing this we invite an examination of our stock which is complete and much larger than usual and prices the lowest. If you fail to buy, it is possible we may call in question your judgment, but you will have discharged a duty you owe yourself and family and we shall have done our best to please you. Yours very truly, J. H. McCLUNG.
