Two Papers One Year for $2.

We have made arrangements by which we will send the WEEKLY GUARD and Semi-Weekly Cincinnati Enquirer, for one year, to all new and old subscribers of the GUARD, who will pay one year in advance, and any arrears, for the low price of $2.00.

The Enquirer is the leading paper of the Mississippi valley, is an eight page paper, is issued Wednesdays and Fridays, and has a circulation of 100,000.

These two papers will furnish plenty of reading matter for the family circle during the long winter evenings, at a nominal price.

Subscribers are positively informed that these terms require advance payment, and no deviation will be made from this rule.

Send remittances by registered letter, postal order or draft, with name and address plainly written, to THE GUARD, Eugene, Ore.

Chas. Griswood, of Portland, who has been visiting relatives here for several weeks, returned to his home this morning.

Miss Holman of Prineville accompanied Mrs. Frank Hampton to her home in this city and will visit here several weeks.

C. L. Williams of Silver Lake arrived in town today and is loading with supplies. He will start on his return trip tomorrow.

The new chapel of the reform school at Salem is to be dedicated Sunday. The services will be conducted by Revs. W. Kelloway and A. L. Hutchison.

S. C. Beach and C. A. Moore, of Portland, a few days ago traveled from Ager to Lakeview on bicycles, making a 75-mile run on the last day over a rough mountain road.

Yakima county, Wash., has a potato average of 6000 acres, which at 200 bushels per acre, will yield a crop of 1,200,000 bushels, equal to $300,000 at 25 cents per bushel.

Albany Democrat: Yesterday afternoon Grace Hardman, daughter of the county recorder, was playing sea-saw, when she fell from the board, breaking both bones in one of her legs. Dr. Ellis was called and set the bones.

The fish ladder at Oregon City is completed. The plan for construction consists of piers blasted in the solid rock so that the fish can pass from one to the other, and thus ascend the bar-river. Now let the salmon come; but watch them!

F. M. Watts, the optician, will positively leave Eugene this month. May not visit this city again until spring. Now is the time to have your eyes tested and fitted with first-class glasses at low prices. Examination free at J. G. Watt's jewelry store, Eugene, Ore.

Astorian: Yesterday two fishermen were coming up from Baker's Bay up the ship channel, and when near No. 3 buoy, three large whales were sighted, so near that the fishermen lost control of their boat during the excitement of getting out of that vicinity. A number of whales were seen just off the bar Friday morning, and these were probably a part of the same school.

The steamer "Mayflower," a sort of flatboat with paddle wheels which used to ply the waters of lower Klamath lake (when the wind was favorable) went to the bottom of the river opposite the Thompson ranch near Keno about ten days ago. She was loaded with lumber for J. D. Fountain and E. J. Boyd, and also towing two barges laden with lumber. The Express says: "The steamer had been lying idle for a long time and the sun had opened large seams in her hull and when out about a mile and a half so much water had poured in that the boat sank and went with it the barges. Captain McCormick, his two daughters and a deck hand were on board, but succeeded in reaching the shore in safety in a boat. Captain McCormick will not raise the vessel. He will take out her machinery and build a new boat at once."

How dear to our hearts is Cash on subscription, When the generous subscriber Presents it to view; But the man who won't pay— We refrain from description, For perhaps, gentle reader, That man might be you.

A couple of Roseburg young ladies recently thought it would be a great feat to have their pictures taken with their heads thrust through a newspaper so as to show them to their friends when they came to attend the Salem fair. Imagine their horror when looking at the picture, they saw in staring outline on the paper, as photographed, "Our pants are lined in the seat."

They had inadvertently got an advertisement in the paper of a clothing firm photographed. A desperado at 10:25 last evening walked into the Mag saloon at Seattle and ordered the dozen men present to throw up their hands. Charles H. Birdell, barkeeper, reached for his pistol, but the desperado was too quick, and shot him through the heart. Birdell fell dead, and the desperado, still covering the crowd with his gun, backed out and escaped. It is rumored that he is the Puyallup murderer.

School District Controversy. The residents of Lane county school district No. 51, about eight miles west of Eugene are having a little excitement all to themselves. Recently the voters of the district made provision for erecting a new school house and voted to change the location. The directors, not being able to secure the new site, concluded that, as the season was getting late, it would be best to proceed to erect the new building on the grounds already in use.

To reach the present site of the school building it has been necessary to leave the public road and cross a field belonging to Chas. Belshaw. The land was deeded by Mr. Belshaw to the district so long as it was used for school purposes. As the voters decided to change the site, Belshaw's promise to donate the land was annulled. So when Directors L. D. Gibson and James Fisher began to haul lumber to build the new building on the old site Mr. Belshaw swore out warrants for their arrest as trespassers. These were issued from Justice Wheeler's court and served by Constable Linton Monday. Their trial has been set for next Tuesday, October 9.

Trine (Whiskers) Wins. Daily Guard, October 3. The foot race at the Eugene bridge yesterday was an amusing affair. The distance was 75 yards and the contestants were J. B. Cooley of Brownsville and Trine, better known professionally, as "Whiskers," of Springfield. Between $2,500 and $3,000 must have changed hands on the result, which was that Trine won by three or four feet.

The judges were Joe Blakely of Brownsville and Mac Summerville of this city, and J. C. Overton was chosen as referee. With their usual loyalty local sports offered money profusely to Trine, and some bets of over $200 were made in this way. The Brownsville boys were game as long as their loose change lasted. They were somewhat disappointed at the result, as might be expected, but it was their own job.

A High Compliment. BOLTON, Conn.—I am very much pleased with the effect of your Simmons Liver Regulator, and have recommended it to a good many friends.—E. A. Rose. Your druggist sells it in powder or liquid. The powder is to be taken dry or made into a tea.

Daily Guard, October 4. UPON THE RIVER.—Today's Statesman: Two boats are making trips on the upper Willamette at present—the Mndoc and Eugene. The former reached Salem yesterday morning with a large load of freight and after taking on over 100 tons started on her return to Portland. Last evening the Eugene touched at Salem on her trip up. A few minutes later she steamed away for Corvallis and other points. If she reaches that place with no delay it will be the first trip since the "dry" season.

PASSED.—Geo. W. Kinsey, ex-judge of the peace for the Eugene precinct, was a successful candidate for admission to the bar, before the supreme court at Salem Tuesday. He passed a very creditable examination and we predict a flourishing success for him in the practice of his profession.

PRELIMINARY WORK.

The U. S. Surveying Party is Here to Commence the Survey of the Willamette. Daily Guard, October 3.

The party of U. S. surveyors are here and are engaged with matters preliminary to the survey of the Willamette river. The work is under the direction of Mr. J. B. Cunningham, assistant engineer under Major Post. Capt. Rockwell, who was first detailed for the work and went over the river in a small boat from here to Portland, returned and Mr. Cunningham was assigned to the work.

The balance of the party is made up of R. C. Bonser, O. Fletcher, A. Merrill, W. S. Harer, S. S. Allison, Cook, and A. S. Young and W. P. Smith, boatmen. Besides the skill used on the survey a flat boat 23 1/2 feet will be used for houseboat and the party will live in it. This boat is now being built near the Eugene bridge and will likely be finished this week.

The undertaking will consist of a general topographical survey of the river including soundings, width, depth, current, and the various adjacent formations for a considerable distance each side of the stream.

The headquarters of the party will be here for some days, in fact until the work is completed several miles down the river. In an interview with a Gazette reporter this morning Mr. Cunningham stated that he estimated the field work of the survey would require about six months. He will begin at a point near the Eugene bridge and the distance from there to Portland by river is 172 miles. Several surveys have been made on the lower river heretofore, but this will be the first connected survey of the whole river. Commercial statistics are being gathered which will be submitted to the department in charge, together with the plans formulated for the permanent improvement of the river.

Goshen Items. October 3, 1894. V. B. Mathews visited Eugene yesterday. Charley Williams arrived here today from Silver Lake with two wagons with which he will return loaded with freight.

Mrs. Murray, of Eugene, returned home yesterday from visiting at the residence of V. B. Mathews. Mrs. Hamlin, who has been visiting at her son-in-law's, Mr. Hamilton, returned to her home in Portland on Tuesday's local.

Frank DeWitt has begun building his residence in the village. J. A. Finch, our former contemporary, of Creswell, who used to make it lively for fellow correspondents, is now driving a stage in Sherman county at good wages.

T. V. Keeney is now in Portland where he has had a position for several months with the Encyclopaedia Britannica company at a good salary. Horace and Austin Hampton returned to Goshen from across the mountains last week, accompanied by their brother John, who will remain but a few days before returning with a load of supplies.

It has repeatedly come to our ears that we are indolent, in fact our laziness is becoming a neighborhood byword, it is therefore in justice to our more industrious friends than we assume jurisdiction, publicly arraign ourselves, plead guilty to the charge, and impose the penalty of doing one hard day's labor for the first man presenting verified evidence that it is any of his business.

J. B. Keeney had ten sacks of wheat taken from his mill near his house recently. He also misses a quantity of burlap from the hop house near by. This in connection with some pilfering done during hop picking will encourage some of us to look well to our pad locks and shot guns.

Our gifted brother, of Creswell, was somewhat "off" when in his last report he referred to "one of Goshen's officials." Goshen has no officials nor has it any use for such. The last justice resigned for the want of business, and nothing has since marred the peace and dignity of the locality save an occasional flat fight and a little horse stealing. However, the man in question was a private citizen who visited that section to investigate the report that a certain prohibitionist had a man employed on his place distilling watermelon wine and disposing of it to the hop pickers as sweet cider without going through the formality of securing a license. He, as a matter of course, withheld his findings from marking of the fine flavored melons in that vicinity.

OREGON PRESS ASSOCIATION.

In Annual Session at Pendleton—A Large Attendance. We glean the following from the excellent report of the Oregonian:

Pendleton gives hearty welcome to her guests. In this regard the Oregonian will tell from the platform of the satisfaction felt by our citizens at the opportunity of entertaining the editors of Oregon on their annual outing. But meanwhile, the keys of the city are at the disposal of the newspaper men. The keys may be procured by calling on the entertainment committee. All laws are suspended for three days by order of His Honor, Mayor T. C. Taylor, excepting one law—the law of hospitality, and this the people of Pendleton will obey with alacrity. Many one of the visitors fails to enjoy Milton, being a better whipsper in the car of the committee just what brand of enjoyment he is hankering for, and it will be imported from the ends of the earth. It will be ample compensation to this city for the slight labor and inconvenience of setting as a municipal host for three days, if each guest goes to his home and says honestly that he has had a good time.

About fifty members are in attendance, the largest number in the history of the association. A concert at Frazier's Opera house at 7:30 o'clock Tuesday evening was given by local talent, at which the visitors were guests.

President Campbell's annual address was delivered Tuesday. It was of lively interest to all who listened to it. At 9:30 a. m., Wednesday, an excursion boat for Milton, where a fair display was shown and a luncheon set. They returned to Pendleton at 5:30 p. m.

At 7:30 at Frazier's Opera house, public addresses were delivered, S. A. Lowell giving the address of welcome. Captain Geo. Moffett, of the Portland Cleghorn, reviewed the association. United States Senator J. N. Dolph spoke to the audience on "The Duty and Influence of the Press and Its Responsibilities as a Means of Educating Public
