SENATOR DOLPH'S VISIT. He Delivers an Encouraging Address to the Students of the University of Oregon. Daily Guard, October 16.

A visit from one who represents the commonwealth of Oregon in the chief council of the nation, was the occasion for the assembling of professors and students, and a few visitors in Villard Hall this forenoon at 11 o'clock.

Senator Dolph spoke substantially as follows: "Mr. President, the faculty, regents and students of this university, ladies and gentlemen, although I know that my time would be closely taken up with business affairs and even otherwise occupied during my brief visit to this city, when I received the invitation from the secretary of the faculty to address you at this time the faculty of Portland was very strong to be resisted."

you, keep your honor unsullied, do not forget your self respect, nor heed allurements from the path of rectitude. Seek to know the right and fearlessly pursue it. "The lives of many good men have been wrecked by extravagant living. Never live beyond your means. The social influence of one who loses this is largely lost. Be content with the just reward of your labor whether it be of hand or brain. The great aim of life, the crowning glory and end of education is to know God aright. You who sit before me today can hardly realize the fruition of all your hopes with the value your imaginations now attach to them; but if you reach your declining years with the knowledge of some duty performed in the elevation of the human race to greater happiness you will find the pleasure of a really successful life. Do not fail to reach the true end or make that last which should be first—I repeat—an endeavor to know God aright. In the language of one who voiced the conclusion of a broad experience and an arduous life: "Fear God and keep his commandments, for such is the whole duty of man."

TUESDAY, OCTOBER 16. Klamath county has a debt of $70,000. Four cents per pound on foot is now paid for hogs to feed. At this term of court Umatilla county sent 11 prisoners to the penitentiary.

The county judges of Oregon will convene in Portland, Oct. 25, to discuss legislative amendments. There are six Smiths members of the next Oregon legislature. Who says the Smith family is not at the top of the heap?

A letter received from San Francisco brings the information that Frank Ware had just returned to that city after a six months' trip to Honolulu. One of the street cars had a profusion of mourning on it this forenoon, and many were the questions wanting to know the reason. We did not learn the cause.

Attorney A. C. Woodcock, administrator of the Meek estate, in the past few days, has purchased 150 logs, which he will sell on wheat for the market. He expects to buy 150 head more. John Wilson has purchased the saloon in the Hotel Eugene, formerly owned by Tannese and Weber, and is now in charge. The Bureau saloon which I was in charge of, will be run by the new firm, Chas. Mayhew and D. L. Butler.

Rev. D. E. Lovridge has demonstrated that the culture of grapes can be successful carried on in this section. His vineyard in the bottom between Eugene and Springfield produces grapes of the finest flavor and quality. Sam Goldsmith is in town again. Hon. E. B. McElroy, of Salem, is in Eugene. Hon. C. H. Baker and M. J. Hillegas are in Eugene.

Attorney L. Bilyeu arrived home from Salem last night. Attorneys L. Bilyeu and H. D. Norton visited Junction today. Attorney J. M. Williams returned home on last night's train. O. P. Huff the Irving postmaster is in town to remain over night. Hon. Geo. B. Dorris returned home from Salem on last night's train. Miss Rose Williams of Cottage Grove accompanied by Miss Younger, visited in Eugene today.

Miss Ella Armitage, who has been visiting friends in Lane county, returned to Portland this morning. Hon. J. N. Dolph, P. S. Malcolm and J. C. Carson, of Portland, made this office a pleasant call this afternoon. Hon. H. H. Gilfrey went to Portland this morning and will leave that city tonight for California enroute to Washington. Hon. S. L. Moorhead, of the Times, Doc Blanton, Hon. Robt Clow and C. F. Hurlbut, all of Junction City, are in Eugene.

Miss May Cochran of Cottage Grove, who has been spending several days visiting relatives here, returned home yesterday. Chas. W. Doyle left last night for Portland and will go from there to San Francisco to engage in work at his trade of paper-hanging and painting. L. G. Cole and Wm. Gibson, capitalists from Boston, are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Geo. M. Miller. They are very much pleased with Oregon climate and may locate in this state.

P. S. Malcolm, grand master of the Masons for Oregon, arrived here on this morning's early train. He will pay the Eugene lodge A. F. & A. M. an official visit this evening. Frank J. Fleming, of Chicago, who has been spending several months in Eugene for Frank J. Miller, rode up to Portland on last night's train. After a few days stay in that city he will return to his home in Chicago.

According to the Times-Mountaineer a few days ago a young man in The Dalles opened a pack of cards in which he found the name of a lady written, dated at Cincinnati, Ohio. Being a bachelor, and desirous of having a partner for life, he wrote to the address and received an answer. Matters have progressed very favorably so far, and it may be expected that after the parties become acquainted, the correspondence will result in something that will savor of a romance in real life.

A WOMAN'S GRIT.—Monday's Albany Herald: "And this is the way she showed it. This afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Miller rode up to the Foster block, Mr. Miller got out of the buggy with the lines in his hands; Mrs. Miller was about to get out, when the horse sprang forward, Mr. Miller was lashed against a telegraph pole and the lines jerked from his hands. Instead of screaming, Mrs. Miller reached far out over the dash board, and when the horse passed the Revers House at a very fast gait she had hold of the reins. Keeping the animal in the street she gradually pulled him until he stopped after a run of about five blocks. It was cool headed work and created some admiration. Mrs. Miller is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Gray of this city."

Better Than Pills. Mrs. Agnes Wilhelm, wife of Adam Wilhelm, was born at Gernshelm on the Rhein, in Germany, May 31, 1822. She was married at Deitheim, Hessen-Darmstadt, Jan 21, 1845. Came to the United States in August, 1854, and lived in Wisconsin until May, 1884, when she with her husband and son, who are now in the merchandise business, moved to Oregon and located at Monroe, where she died Tuesday, Oct. 16, 1894, an ornament to society and a model of virtue. Her death, though not out of the course of nature, will be lamented by all. The funeral services will be held at the Catholic church at Monroe, at 10:30 o'clock, Thursday morning, Oct. 18.

A Masonic Gathering. Daily Guard, October 17. One of the largest and most pleasant meetings of Masons in Eugene took place in the temple last evening on the occasion of an official visit from Phillip S. Malcolm, grand master of the state of Oregon, accompanied by past grand masters, Senators J. N. Dolph and Hon. Robt. Clow. Interesting speeches were made by the visitors, Rev. D. E. Lovridge and Mayor Friendly. After the regular exercises the visiting brothers, and members of the lodge, dined at a fine lunch, prepared by Landlord Brown, in the banquet hall. Nearly 200 were present, including the Creswell lodge, and Masons from different portions of the county.
