Postmasters would do newspaper publishers and some newspaper readers a good turn if they would inquire when a man refuses to take his paper from the office, whether he has paid for it. If he has not done so, the postmaster should explain that the law will compel him to pay for the paper whether he takes the paper from the office or not, and that the only way he has to stop it is to pay what he owes the publisher.

The Literary Entertainment.

Daily Guard, October 13

Parlor's opera house was well filled last evening at the Shakespearean entertainment given under the auspices of the Presbyterian Sunday school. The greater part of the program was taken up with readings and recitations by Mrs. Geo. M. Miller, of this city, and her cousin Miss Catherine Cogswell, of New York City, who is here for a few weeks' visit. Where the latter lady excels is in the portrayal of scenes taken from the plays of Shakespeare, and having been engaged professionally with the company of Frederick Ward, has rich and appropriate costumes which add materially to the effect of her rendition of such parts as "Ophelia" in the mad scene from "Hamlet"; "Rosalind" in the garden scene from "As You Like It," and "Portia" in "The Merchant of Venice." The ability of Miss Cogswell as an actress is too well known to need any additional commendation here. Mrs. Miller appeared last evening for the first time in public since her return from Boston, where she has just spent a year at a school of oratory and elocution. To the versatile formerly acknowledged her she now has added an easy stage bearing and excellent command of her voice. Other readings, an original one, "A Test of Love and Honor," and Geo. W. Cagle's "Bonaventure," pleased the audience especially well. Mrs. Miller also rendered parts in Shakespearean scenes with Miss Cogswell, adding much to the interest. At the close several representations of Greek statue posing and pantomime were given.

The musical part of the program was as follows:

- Piano duet.....Laura Miller and Henrietta Lauer
- Song, "Could I?".....Mrs. Fletcher Linn
- Piano duet.....Miss Bessie Sawyer
- Music, solo.....Miss Bessie Sawyer
- Music, solo.....Miss Mary E. McCormack

Several encores were received and responses made.

A MITCHELL AFFAIR.

News reaching Pineville Thursday evening of a stabbing affray that occurred at Mitchell last Tuesday, says the Review. It seems that W. L. Campbell, a carpenter, was engaged at work on a new building near the residence of Dr. Houck. Henry Brown rode in and dismounting left his horse standing near where Campbell was at work and entered the physician's residence on an errand. For some reason Campbell chattered to Brown's horse and the animal started as if to move away. From this the men engaged in a quarrel that led to a fight. Campbell ran at Brown to clinch him, and the latter used his pocket knife with such effect Campbell received a wound about nine inches long and two inches deep below one shoulder, a cut down the breast and a gash through the upper lip. Campbell bled profusely, but his wounds receiving prompt attention will hardly prove fatal. Brown furnished bonds in the sum of $250 and was released. Campbell was a resident of Grant county.

The orator chosen to represent the class at this year's contest was Clarence Keene. After the business of the meeting was over the students were enjoyably entertained by the hostess. Refreshments of ice cream and cake completed the pleasure of the party.

CANNOT FIGHT IN FLORIDA.

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 12.—The City Item, in answer to a query whether the Corbett and Fitzsimmons fight would be allowed on Florida soil, received the following reply from Governor Mitchell: "Corbett and Fitzsimmons will not be allowed to meet in Florida, even if the legislature has to be reconvened for the purpose of preventing the fight."

They Met in New York.

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—Corbett and Fitzsimmons were matched this morning to fight to a finish at the Florida Athletic Club, Jacksonville, Fla., for a purse of $41,000 and $10,000 a side, any time after July 1, 1895. It will probably take place in the fall of next year and the date is left to the choice of the club.

Corbett and Fitzsimmons met in the office of a newspaper. Corbett said: "Well, Fitz, I am here to make a match."

"That is what I am here for," replied Fitz defiantly. Then he introduced his manager, Captain Glori, and said: "My manager will be my spokesman on this occasion."

Corbett said: "Where is your money?"

Glori replied: "Here is $10,000 to bind the match."

Corbett pulled out a roll of $10,000 bills, and said: "You people have been talking about $10,000 a side; there is my money; cover it."

"But, Mr. Corbett, you don't expect us to put up $10,000 right away?" said Glori. "You're rich, but we are not."

Corbett smiled sarcastically and said: "Where is that $20,000 you have been talking so much about? There is no use playing the poverty game. It's too stale." Word followed word, but Corbett finally said: "Well, here I'll put up my $10,000 now, and you can put yours up when you like. I will fight Fitzsimmons any time after July 1 next year and not before."

"We think," said Captain Glori, "you should fight within six months and defend the championship twice a year."

"You do, do you?" said Corbett with evident surprise. Then shaking his head slowly he said: "You're much mistaken. I hold the championship and have the right to dictate terms. It is only a waste of words and time to talk fight before July."

Fitzsimmons' manager finally consented to have the fight come off after July 1, and both men announced a willingness to sign, but as that would be against the laws of this state the articles will not be signed here. The articles will be similar to those signed by Corbett and Sullivan in 1892. As soon as this arrangement was made the question of a purse was considered. There were three men in the room ready to make offers—Captain Williams, of the Auditorium, New Orleans; President Schell, of the Olympic Club, of the same city; and Joe Vendig, of the Florida Athletic Club.

"Now, gentlemen," said Corbett, "we have agreed to fight, and we want to know who will offer the largest purse."

Schell said: "The Olympic will give $25,000." Captain Williams claimed he had already offered $25,000 on behalf of the Auditorium.

Joe Vendig said, as he threw five $1,000 bills on the table, "The Florida Athletic Club will give $30,000, and here are $5,000 as guarantee." Schell raised his bid to $40,000, and Vendig went $1000 better. Schell offered $50,000, but as he was not prepared to make a deposit, Corbett said he would sign for Jacksonville.

Fitzsimmons objected for awhile, but finally consented. The club will allow $1,000 to each man for training expenses, and each will train for three months prior to the fight. Before the negotiations were completed Corbett turned to Fitzsimmons and said: "You said when you met me you would shake your finger in my face."

"I did not," said Fitz doggedly. "I never said such a thing about you, and I don't think you would say that about me."

"Oh, no; you're too much of a gentleman," said Corbett, sneeringly, "but if I made such a remark I would make it good."

The noses of both pugilists were not six inches apart, and it looked as if a storm was about to burst, but nothing came of it. The fight is to take place on a date to be named by the Florida Athletic Club after July 1, 1895. Corbett's $10,000 was handed to Al Smith as temporary stakeholder, and Captain Glori, on behalf of Fitzsimmons, will on Monday deposit $2500 with the same man, $2500 more December 1, a similar sum February 1, and the last installment July 1.

VALUABLE BRICK.

Cottage Grove Leader: Two bricks valued at about $5000, one month's run of a 5-stamp mill by the Bohemia Mining and Milling Co., were shipped to the mint in San Francisco by Eakin & Bristow, of this city, the first mill has not run on full time. Cottage Grove does not lose anything by such operations and if there were 50 such enterprises in Bohemia, where there is plenty of rich gold ore for such business, our people should be disposed to kick.

GEN FACTORY.

Capt. G. A. Sachs expects to open his hammerless shot gun factory in the old Abrams elder factory building, about the last of the month. He will employ six men at first, and will manufacture the entire gun at this place. He already has orders for 24 double barrel guns and two single barrel guns. The machinery to operate the plant will cost about $4,000. Every citizen should encourage Mr. Sachs in his enterprise. The way to build up a city is to patronize every one of its manufacturers.

DIED.

ANCHORE AT SUSAUW.

The Schooner Danieison in a Bad Position.

ASTORIA, Oct. 11.—Captain J. J. Winant, of the steamer Danieison, which arrived in last night from Suslaw, reports the grounding of the schooner S. Danielson, on the south spit, off the Suslaw river, last Friday morning. She was laden with lumber for San Francisco. She had a heavy deck load, which was entirely washed away after she had gone aground. The tug Roberts had the schooner in tow, and stayed by her endeavoring to get her off. The Danieison spoke them Tuesday morning, and the schooner was then as hard aground as ever, and leaking badly. The life-saving crew from Umpqua were on hand, and rendered all the assistance possible in getting the vessel back into deep water. Captain Winant is of the opinion that the schooner will be eventually floated, though it will be in a badly damaged condition. A number of small vessels have grounded on this spit during the past few years, all of which were floated with more or less injury.

The Sugar Bon Motion.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12.—Judge McComas, of the district supreme court, today denied the application of the Miles Sugar Manufacturing Company, of Louisiana, for a mandamus to compel Secretary Carlisle to appoint inspectors to ascertain the sugar production of the company. The object of the suit, it is understood, was to test the legality of the recent recall of the sugar bounty provision of the McKinley law, and also to lay the foundation for an appeal to congress for the payment of the bounty for the current year.

Visit All the Stations Weekly.

LONDON, Oct. 11.—A dispatch from Tien-Tsin says the Chinese officials no longer deny that the Japanese fleet commands the Gulf of Pe-Chi-Li. The Japanese admiral pays a weekly visit to every important station on the gulf. Eight Japanese cruisers sounded the entrance to the harbor of Wei-Hai-Wei three hours Saturday, then went across to Port Arthur, where they made observations without getting in range of the guns. The Japanese fleet returned to Wei-Hai-Wei Monday in single line. When almost within range the fleet separated and hovered around the harbor entrance. The fort fired a few shots, but the Japanese did not reply, and continued making observations until Capt. Ho's flagship, the steel cruiser Hashidate, fired one gun, whereupon the fleet reformed and steamed away in the direction of Taku. The Tien-Tsin dispatch adds a Chinese man arrested there on suspicion of being a Japanese spy, was tortured until he admitted the truth of the charge. He is to be executed. The same dispatch says four spies have been arrested at Port Arthur for cutting submarine wires connected with torpedoes. It is also stated that the fire which occurred at Tien-Tsin Thursday was of incendiary origin.

Chinese Recruits are Still Hated.

LONDON, Oct. 11.—A Tien-Tsin dispatch says: The Chinese troops arriving there is much ruffian, and badly armed. The Chinese government has contracted with German manufacturers for quick-firing guns, and the arms are expected to arrive daily. The Japanese are watching the coast for the arrival of arms. It is rumored at Tien-Tsin ironclad warships have been purchased from Austria and the United States. Captain von Hanneken is to join the Chinese service under Admiral Ting's fleet. The navy is very short of ammunition for large guns, and the arsenals are working day and night to furnish a supply.

The Mongolian Rebellion.

BEIJING, Oct. 11.—The Tagblatt published a dispatch from St. Petersburg, which says its correspondent learns the object of the leaders of the rebellion in the Chinese province of Mongolia is to secure the annexation of that territory to the Russian empire.

Killed with a Trap-Gun.

REDDING, Cal., Oct. 11.—D. E. Moun, son of D. N. Moun, editor of the Populist, a paper published here, was accidentally shot and killed at Kelling, this county, yesterday, by a shot set in a trap for the purpose of killing a deer. He had loaded both barrels of the gun, and to his attached a string to the triggers for the purpose of discharging the same. Hearing a report of a gun he thought both barrels had discharged, and running to where the bait had been placed he accidentally struck the string, which discharged the second barrel. The shot took effect, hitting him in the fleshy part of the leg, cutting the main artery entirely in two, from which he bled to death. He was brought here last night, and this morning an inquest is being held. He will be buried tomorrow.

Japanese Spies Deheaded.

SHANGHAI, Oct. 11.—It is reported here two Japanese spies arrested in this city, have been taken from Yamen at Nanking, bound hand and foot and carried to a place of execution, where they were beheaded. There were no signs of torture upon the prisoners. A rumor has reached here that another outrage upon a missionary has been committed at New Chwang.

A Brutal Murder.

GRASS VALLEY, Cal., Oct. 11.—Denise Scanlon was horribly murdered last night at 10 o'clock. Joseph Kennedy, Scanlon's roommate, went home about 9 o'clock and was attacked by two men, who beat him badly, then dragged and bound him to his bed. Half an hour later Scanlon came home and was attacked also. He was hit on the head with a fish plate. Scanlon fought and was then knocked in the head with a hammer and killed. Kennedy, after gaining consciousness freed himself but was afraid to venture from the cabin until 5 o'clock this morning, when the news first came to town. Kennedy is badly marked and cut up. Two men did the fiendish work. The crime was committed for the purpose of robbing the men, who recently received their pay from the narrow-gauge railroad where they were employed. There is no clew.

THE SUGAR FACTORY.

A Committee Has Been Appointed to Solicit Offerings of Land.

We publish the following from the McMinnville Register-Telephone to inform the citizens of Eugene and Lane county the means being taken by other communities to procure the sugar beet factory.

On Saturday some 30 of the prominent farmers of the county met in the grange hall and listened to an explanation of the plans of the Oregon Beet Sugar company by Mr. Grissen, who has been corresponding with the company with a view of locating it here. The profits of beet growing was discussed and several specimens of the sugar beet from the ranch of D. B. Kingery were on exhibition. So far as we were able to learn the company wants a bonus in the way of land, not money, and an agreement to grow for a number of years, a certain acreage of beets to be sold at prices based upon the saccharine matter in the beet, to be determined by an analysis of each lot furnished. No transfer of property is to be made until the factory is in operation. The contemplated plant will consume from 150 to 200 tons of beets daily during the season, and will require some 1000 acres of beets to supply it. Basing calculations on the average price of beets, furnished to other plants, this factory will, if erected, distribute in the neighborhood of $225,000 among the farmers of this section during the season of 3 to 5 months. There has been no analysis made of sugar beets grown in this section, but the proprietor of this paper is making arrangements with the chemist at the state agricultural college at Corvallis to analyze a portion of Mr. Kingery's crop and as soon as possible the figures in the matter will be published.

Mr. Korn, the president of the company, was not present at the meeting, having been called east on business pertaining to the plant. He will, however, be here within a month and another meeting will be called. The committee consisting of J. C. Cooper, Henry Gee, J. W. Cowie, A. C. Davis and Smith Stephens, are in the field, and when it comes to a bid for the location of the plant, Yamhill will be "in it." In the way of transportation and soil no other county in the state is our equal, and never yet have our people failed to respond to the establishment of a plant creating a new industry. The advantage to be derived from this plant are so apparent and of so much importance to the farming community that technical details of the plant are not necessary. The main point to consider is, whether or not an income of $500 to $1,000 from 10 acres of beets is worth the giving of one to five acres to obtain it.

And this is from the Hillsboro Independent, of October 10th:

A call is issued for a meeting of the citizens of Washington county interested in the best sugar industry, to be held in this town on Wednesday, Oct. 17th, at 10 o'clock a. m. The people here realize that some new departures are necessary before prosperity is to be successfully wooed.

A Surprising Discovery.

It is not generally known, but the Salem Statesman says it is a fact, nevertheless, that the mail taken to Portland on the local is not delivered until the day following its arrival. This is the way the Statesman puts it:

"If Salem people who rustle around to get their letters off on the 1:30 train knew that these letters were not delivered until the next morning, they would be a great big kick. But such are the facts in the case. Although the mail which is gathered as far south as Roseburg, arrives at Portland at 1:30 p. m., it does not reach the parties to whom it is addressed until the following morning. This is an outrage upon the part of Oregon served by the Roseburg train. Portland cannot afford to permit this state of affairs to exist longer. She should be shaking up the dry bones. If we are to have semi-daily mail with Oregon's metropolis, let us have it—if not, it is a waste of public funds to pay for the carrying of mail on the northbound Roseburg express."

CORRECT.—The East Oregonian pertinently and truthfully says: Congressmen Ellis and family have arrived at Heppner from Washington, and the local paper in giving an account of their stay in Washington, says: "Master Eddy returned with his father, Hon. W. R. Ellis, from Washington, and was so big that his friends scarcely recognized him. While at the station's capital and everybody was everybody's friend and everybody was his friend. He became so notorious that his bright sayings were quoted by New York papers." But if Master Eddy's father does not keep Master Eddy's fame out of the newspapers and keep the praise of his brilliancy from Master Eddy's ears, Master Eddy will not be worth the powder it would take to make an angel out of him. When a boy gets gone on himself from everybody's adulation of him he usually goes as straight to the devil as he can go.

LEGAL PUBLICATION.

Salem Statesman: Judging by the following from the Spokane Review, the Oregon editors talked business at their recent meetings.

"The Oregon Press association has closed a successful meeting at Pendleton. In his address President Campbell said that it seemed to him that the laws of Oregon required fewer legal publications than those of any other state in the Union. Many of the most important notices to the people of the county and state are to be found on some out-of-the-way, dirty bulletin board that is very seldom scanned by the intelligent public. The average citizen will at once recognize that this course largely defeats the purpose of legal publication. Where publicity is required in a legal proceeding it is to be found alone in the newspapers. Every other method of reaching the eye of the public is partial and incomplete."

Geary School Exercises.

Daily Guard, October 12.

Public exercises were held at the Geary school this afternoon, the occasion being the raising of a new flag pole and a U. S. flag. The ceremonies were such as would tend to inspire patriotism and other principles of good citizenship in the minds of the pupils. After the flag was raised a salute was given by both schools, the pupils of the Central school having marched down as the guests of the Geary school. The J. W. Geary Post, G. A. R., with martial music, were also there, as guests.

The balance of the program was as follows:

- Song, "America."
- Prayer.
- Duet, "The Star Spangled Banner."
- Concert Recitation, "Hail to the Stars and Stripes."
- Song, Miss Wentworth's pupils.
- Song, "Yankee Doodle."
- Concert Recitation, Mrs. Gibbs and Miss Anderson's pupils.
- Song, "Red, White and Blue."
