Unitarian Mission. Daily Guard, October 22. Rev. Earl M. Wilbur delivered two addresses to good congregations at the opera house vesterday, morning and evening. In the morning service he treated in a general way of some et-the test by the occasional perusal of the Luitarian belief and in the strongle of life's bar-treated in a general way of some et-the test by the occasional perusal of the semi-monthly doing of the company of the compa Unitarian beliefs, and in the evening his subject was "The Need of a Reconstruction of Our Religion." His theme was that man's religion has, of absolute necessity, been the outgrowth of, or conformed to, his ideas of the universe. Religion ever has been a factor in human existence. The conserve of religion, man's duty to man legion, but the Rebergia mining. be eternal. Man's ideas of this essence amazed at the extent of the "delving" of religion, or his spiritual growth after the yellow metal. have been guided by his understanding of the extent of the universe in merited trade from mineral trade which he existed. Naturally enough the conception of the extent of the universe as indicated in the opening books of the old testament, resulted in the narrow religious beliefs which looked upon the Creator as a personal God, in whose image man was formed: upon man as originally perfect, but the race fallen through the sin of the first man; upon Jesus Christ as the redemption from this fall by the shed-ding of His blood; upon anything un-heard of or unusual as a miracle per-formed by special favor of God. Through gradual changes man has become more enlightened regarding the universe until the knowledge of today is in vivid contrast with that which limited man's mind at the time the old testament was written 4,000 or more years ago. But the most marked changes have come within the last 400 years. The science of 400 years. The science of astronomy which discovered that the earth was not a narrow plain with heaven in a vault above the clouds, but that this earth is but one of countless worlds throughout the universe and instead of being the center of all creation revolves like other creation revolves like other planets around the sun the common center; the science of geol-ogy disclosing the knowledge that this earth instead of being made in six days required millions of years for formation urday evening was liberally attended and evidences that the earth was in although the weather was stormy. and evidences that the earth was in habited by man as far back as 200,000 years, a period beside which the history given by the bible seems insignificant the progress of these sciences stimulating that of cosmology and one of the resulting theories, that of evolution; all these have given man new them is product of the culture gained at the race, until he this product of the culture gained at the improvement of the resulting theories, that of evolution; all these have given man new thin product of the culture gained at the some with him for dinteresting and the race, until he this product of the culture gained at the some what resembling an omelette before being cooked.
