The mayor made a short character istic address of welcome. It was full of the warm, hearty, hospitality of our people. He said: "In numbers, grand buildings, museums, works of art and statuary, our city does not boast; but for warm-hearted liberality of her peo ple she yields the palm to none. With outstretched arms we welcome good people of whatever creed, of whatever nationality. I recognize you as a kind man, a representative of a great church. WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—Frederick C. Waite, formerly special agent for the 11th census, in a paper before the National Statistical association, on the subject of election certificates, asserts that the democratic party was defeated in the recent election by stay-at-home voters. Among other interesting statements made by Waite, are these: To show that the republi-can farmers did not vote for Cleveland in 1892. I analyzed the election returns town for town, throughout the rural districts of New York, and discovered that the rural vote for Cleveland was even less in 1892 than in 1888, in every agricultural county in the Empire State. In Ohio it was just the same. Cleveland's vote in 1892 was less than in 1888 in all the rural townships of the republicans have not cast as large a per cent. of the full vote as in 1888 in a single state.
