The O. P. Ratiroad. PORTLAND, Nov. 27.—As the time draws near for the sale of the Oregon Pacific railroad at Corvallis there is reason to believe that several bidders will be present ready to buy the property. December 22nd is the day set by the court for the sale, A. B. Hammond of Missoula, Mont., has been investigating the property and it is said he will put in a bid. It is surmised that Hammond is working in the interest of Marcus Daly of Anaconda, who, it is reported, is looking for an outlet to the coast for his Butte and Anaconda road. It is also said Wallis Nash, of Corvallis, has backing for the purchase of the road. W. M. Hoag, former manager of the oad, has arrived from San Francisco and may be a bidder.
