The Dalles Chromele: We are sorry the Portland University Exposition that the affair is an utter fake. It seems that the whole thing has been turned into a "cheap John" auction house and barkers are everywhere filling the building with their infernal din. A visitor has no chance to see anything or hear anything; and is pulled and annoyed till any where out-side the building is far more piessant than anywhere inside it. The Portland exposition has always been a hobby with us, and we regret to know that it has degenerated loro a scheme for plundering the public.

You've All Seen Him.

The confidence man, we mean. The one who takes you aside and whispers in your ear what he thinks will throw you into convulsive astonishment. He was never known to tell you a thing that you did not know before. Then there is the dealer who buttonholes you, takes you to a secluded corner and says in a stage whisper, these goods cost a good deal more than we ask for them, but you can have them at that figure.

We do differently-ask a fair price and expect to get it. For the rest of this month, however, we have decided to astonish the people with low prices and from now to Jan. 1, 1895, make sweeping reductions in nearly every line. The following prices will give a slight indication of the reductions proposed:

Good Calico .25 yds for $1.00. Standard " 20 " Indigo Blue Calico .. ..16 " Amoskeag Gingham .14 " Dress Gingham ..... Outing Flannel..... 7, 81, 10c, formerly 10, 12, 15c. 42 inch Dress Goods 371, 30, 40c. 30c. Broadhead Dress Goods, 36 in ... 25c per yard. Cotton Blankets... 65c, 75c. $1 and $1.25 per pair. White Wool Blankets $3.25, $4 and $5 " Colored Blankets... $1, -1.50, $2 and up to $4. per pr.

Clothing and boots and shoes we cannot quote understandingly, but we can assure you the prices will surprise you. We invite your inspection of our goods assuring you that we expect no profit from this sale, but simply a reduction of stock before taking our annual inventory.

We cannot take coupons during this sale and it will be conducted on a strictly
