Eugene Journal: If all men could see that it was their duty to make the roads passable along their own property, and act upon it, what a blessed improvement it would be.

Governor Turney, of Tennessee, has pardoned the Seventh Day Adventists, convicted and imprisoned in the Rhea county jail for working on Sunday.

Secretary of State Kincaid is a regular bull in a china closet in the eyes of those who believe in drawing the public test for all there is in it when they once get hold. His actions are approved by a majority of the people.

An Eastern Oregon jurymen pleaded in extenuation of an act of contempt of court, in neglecting to obey a subpoena, that he had to choose between contempt of court and contempt of his wife, and he thought the court would be the more merciful.

Senator Voorhees has a son who is a sculptor, and he has been selected to make a bust of Richard Mentor Johnson, who was a vice president of the United States. He will get $5,000 for the work. That is a good advertisement and a good fee at the same time.

A rich New Yorker returned an amount amounting to $112,000. Of this, under the income tax law as it left the hands of supreme court, $50,000 will be taxable. From this deduct $4,000 as exempt on general principles, and he is left with a taxable income of $11,000. The rich man expressed his willingness to part with $32, and gave his check for this amount.

Societies for the prevention of cruelty to animals have for some time endeavored to prohibit the docking of horses' tails. They should now turn their attention to preventing the killing and canning of horses from the bunch grass regions of Eastern Oregon. Docking tails has no comparison with canning the meat and placing it before the people of France for food.

Portland Sun: Senator C. A. Cogswell, of Crook, Klamath and Lake counties, who has just returned from the East, is of the opinion that Vice-President Stevenson will be the democratic nominee for president on a free silver platform next year. The republicans he believes will try to straddle the issue. Senator Cogswell is an observant democrat and his opinion is worthy of consideration.

Alexander Dumas says he has outdone the taste for most things that money can procure. The chief pleasure of life now is meditation, which he indulges in by taking long walks in the forest of Marly. M. Dumas is now a white-haired old man, but his old age is vigorous. He lives with his wife at his country place near Marly on the $1,000 or so realized by the sale of his collection of pictures last year.

People in town who complain of full times and nothing to do should go at once into the country. Well directed and earnest efforts in tilling the soil will drive the wolf from the door. There are thousands of acres of rich land in Lane county that will yield bounteous crops as a reward to the man who will properly cultivate the soil, and these thousands of acres are now lying idle for want of a cultivator.

The Portland Sun is rapidly coming to the front and gaining a strong foothold among the people, whose cause it ably champions at all times. Edwin J. Scott, well known in the Northwest, is now business manager, and Henry E. Reed, one of the ablest men in the newspaper field, is managing editor. There is to be no change of policy with the change of management. The paper will continue to be independent in politics, a strong advocate of free silver, and always on the side of the people. This is sound footing, and we wish the paper and the parties interested in it the success they deserve.

An old relic has been discovered in Eureka, California, in the form of a German Bible printed in the year 1535, in the days of Luther, by Wendel Rihel, of Strasburg. The work is illustrated throughout with scenes painted by hand in water colors. The orthography is a mixture of the Saxon dialect and the German of that age. It is in a wonderful state of preservation, but was rebound about 200 years ago. The relic is the property of George Kramer, who has already been offered over $100,000 for it.

The last issue of the Florence West contains a two column reprint of the article furnished the Salem Statesman for publication by Alta G. Wilson, the lady candidate for city recorder of Florence, and reprinted by the Oregonian, in which she attempts to show up Senator Alley's abject poverty and accuses him of being very snooty at the result of the pettiest election in Florence and acting in an unmanly and an unstatesman-like way toward the lady candidates. This is entirely out of keeping with the goodnatured spirit which the senator, who was then in Eugene, displayed toward the matter. He showed the GUARD the pettiest ticket before the election and said that it would be elected. After the election he unhesitatingly told the result, regarding it all as a good joke on the men.

Illinois is undoubtedly going to be carried by the silverites. We are going to have a first-class flouring mill. Other things much needed could be secured if the proper effort was put forth.

All Eastern Oregon and Washington rejoices over a bounteous rainfall, insuring good crops. Good prices are now hoped for.

Home merchants are the best to deal with, and home manufacturers should be encouraged and patronized in preference to all others.

The republicans of Oregon, are trying to organize. There will doubtless be a lively tussle to see whether gold or silver delegates will represent this state at the convention in St. Louis.

There are many things that Eugene can accomplish by applying push and energy, and there should be no delay in making the application. Both present and future welfare depend upon it.

We will never get a boat to give us satisfactory service on the river until we get one whose owners are directly interested in Eugene and her welfare. We now have presented such an opportunity as should not be neglected.

If this town is willing to give $100,000 for an opposition railroad, there should be no hesitancy in subscribing $4,000 to a boat which will bring us competition in freights and remove the freight burden of which we have complained for these many years.

The people of Oregon are taxed for $3,000,000 to pay an attorney general whose opinion goes no further than, perhaps, to create a few moments thought. This is one of the useless offices the last legislature might have abolished without fear of being censured by the people.

People throughout the world demand canned fruit. No better fruit can be found than that raised in the Willamette valley, and a Eugene cannery should furnish a part of the supply needed. The best of the world produces can be canned here.

At Vancouver, Washington, is a crematory which pays out daily $500 to the farmers in that immediate vicinity. If Eugene had one doing one-fifth as well it would be one of the best paying enterprises in our midst, and would tend strongly to relieve the financial depression in this locality.

East Oregonian: Papers and people who howl against free silver coinage and declare for protection to home industries could, it seems to us, make a silk purse out a sow's ear. Free silver coinage promises higher prices for all products and home protection to home industries does the same. They are tarred with the same stick.

Wheat can be grown in the Alps at an elevation of 3,600 feet; in Brazil at five thousand; in the Caucasus at eight thousand; in Abyssinia at ten thousand; in Peru and Bolivia at eleven thousand. It can be grown in nearly any country on the globe, and far cheaper than it can be produced in the Willamette valley. Farmers here will have to turn their attention to other crops to make farming a profitable occupation.

Pendleton Tribune: J. C. Lonergan, representing a Southern Idaho cattle company, was in the city again last night, having completed a purchase of 1500 head of steers at Eugene. The price, he stated at the time he bought was considerably lower than that for which cattle have been held in Eastern Oregon. Stock is raised in large numbers in the Willamette valley, and a good proportion of it will be shipped East from there this spring. The beef cattle around this section, Mr. Lonergan states, are pretty well shipped out. His stock will be moved in about the Montana range, from where he estimates, 400,000 cattle will be bought in the fall for the Eastern market. This will exceed any previous output for a single year, but depends entirely upon the continued high price of beef.

The action of the Advancement club in denouncing the habit of squirting tobacco juice over the sidewalks, and the floors of public buildings, is heartily seconded by a majority of the residents of Eugene. No practice is more disgusting to tastes of even ordinary refinement. It is no uncommon thing to see the sidewalks at many street corners along Willamette street fairly flooded with the filthy expectorations of chawers of the weed, and ladies are obliged to raise their skirts in order to avoid gathering up the slime. Along the stone pavements wiping up the filth cannot be avoided, as it is found every few feet. Many men who assist in strewing this filth over the sidewalks are men of refinement in many respects, yet they seem wholly unmindful of the nauseating effect their practice has on others. Less disgusting practices are punishable by law, but this practice has for some unknown reason been allowed to be carried on for all time without material interference. A general crusade against the practice is needed. If it cannot be prohibited by ordinance, let public disgust for a man who will practice such habits be brought out so forcibly that he will be repulsed by shame.

Salem Journal, Monday: Eugene will be up from Portland this evening and will proceed on to Eugene the water having risen sufficient to enable her to reach that city. Hereafter the boat will make a trip each week between Corvallis and Portland and also one between Harrisburg and Portland.

The reason Frinks, the almsman, was not arrested at Roseburg is that the message calling for his arrest and the warrant, were taken care of by messenger boy. The officer had time to reach the train and went without the almsman. He found his man, but that he refused to accompany the warrant as he presented his own arrest.

A NICE MUDDLE NOW.
And Roseburg Can Beat of Two Marshals.

Roseburg Review: The outcome of the charges against City Marshal Carroll, in regard to the impounded dogs, resulted in the declaring the office vacant at a meeting Monday night. David Carroll was then duly elected to the vacancy so caused, in spite of the claims of Mr. Carroll's attorney, who claimed that the board had no right to oust an official who held his office by virtue of an election by the people. The consequence is all this Marshal Carroll still wears his impounded star, refuses to deliver up the keys to the jail and arches his back to the performance of his duties, while the new appointee had a tin star made, and is enabled to perform his duties. When Carroll is refused his usual salary warrant, if such a warrant, he will doubt go to collect it. Public sentiment is much divided as to the merits of the case.

Citizens who are contemplating a luxury of an arrest for "drunk and disorderly" may have either Marshal Carroll or Marshal Clements present at the ceremony, just as their inclination bends.

Proofs of Publication.
Register B. F. Wilson, of the Grande Land office, issues the following notice:

"For the benefit of those that do not know the truth and the law in certain such matters, I desire to state that the final proof notices must be published in the newspaper nearest the tract, providing such newspaper is of general circulation in the vicinity of the tract.
