Any one who has had an attack of inflammatory rheumatism will rejoice with Mr. J. A. Stumm, 220 Boyle Heights, Los Angeles, over his fortunate escape from a seizure of that distressing ailment. Mr. Stumm is foreman of Merriam's Sanitarious establishment. Some months ago on leaving the heated work room to run across the street on an errand, he was caught out in the rain. The result was that when ready to go home that night he was unable to walk, owing to inflammatory rheumatism. He was taken home, and on arrival was placed in front of a good fire and thoroughly rubbed with Chamberlain's Pain Balm. During the evening and night he was repeatedly bathed with this liniment and by morning was relieved of all rheumatic pains. He now takes especial pleasure in praising Chamberlain's Pain Balm, and always keeps a bottle of it in the house. For sale by Osburn & DeLano.

George Cummings, of Thurston, while working in the Blue River mill, started with Sam McGonigal to work their ledge. They found a treadmill fallen across their trail; Cummings stopped to cut it out, the other going on to the ledge. The tree lay up hill and had broken and split in half. While looking where to cut, Cummings placed his axe on the tree, when without warning, the upper half slid downward, striking Cummings on the right thigh, throwing him down and the end striking his leg above the ankle, shattering both bones and forcing the bone through the opposite side, pinning him to the ground; in his agony he raised himself up and thrust the log of his leg, when it entered the log of his leg. He lay there in the hot sun from 7 o'clock until 10, when McGonigal heard Cummings call. He then went to help, getting back with him to their cabin at 4 p. m., Cummings having laid 7 hours before being moved. Word was sent to Dr. Russell and he rode all night, arriving at the cabin at 8 o'clock Sunday morning. After dressing the leg, he was placed in a wagon and Mike Shomas brought him to Dr. Russell's hospital. One doctor has hopes of saving his leg, although it is bruised to his hip.

The Allotment Completed. Special Allotting Agent Hartwig, who was sent out to arrange for allotting the lands of the Warm Springs Indian reservation has completed his work and returned to Washington.

The survey of allotments was made by Deputy W. E. Campbell of the Dalles and E. B. Henry of Salem, and their work has all been completed, and yesterday Surveyor-General Arnold sent off to the land department 40 books of transcripts and 26 plats showing the boundaries of the allotments survey.

Warm Springs reservation is a large tract of land lying between the Deschutes river and the summit of the Cascade range. It will make a fine country of itself when the Indians are all settled on their allotments, and the remainder of the good land has been sold to settlers. The warm springs are away up Warm Springs creek, miles to distant from the agency, and there is not much agricultural land near them; but there is a great deal of good land on the reservation, and, it is claimed, valuable mines in the mountains which form the western boundary.

John Bailey departed this life May 12th, 1885, having just entered his 74th year. Deceased was born in Clay County, Kentucky, May 2, 1818. He came to California by way of Oregon during the great gold excitement in 1847. Having met with some success he returned to Missouri by way of the Isthmus of Panama in 1849. Again in the spring of 1850 he recrossed the plains to Oregon with a drove of cattle. Reaching the Willamette valley he located for a short time in Benton county, where during the same year he was united in marriage to Miss Elizabeth Wright, who died in the year 1861. In 1864 he was again married to Mrs. Elizabeth Wright. In the year 1881 he removed to this county, during which year he and his wife located on a section of land some six or seven miles west of Eugene, on which his body now rests in the bosom of Oak Hill cemetery. He afterwards lived for a short time in the upper Sluslaw valley. In the year 1888 he came to prepare for himself and family a home some four or five miles south-west of Eugene, upon which he spent the last thirty-seven years of his life. He was the father of eleven children five by his first wife and six by his last wife. Three of his children, two sons and one daughter, preceded him in death, while eight children, four sons and four daughters, with his bereaved companion mourn the loss of their father. He was a kind and indulgent husband and father. He was a strong believer in the Bible and made a profession of faith in Christ a few years prior to his death. Though he frequently spoke of uniting with the church he never did so. Few men in Lane county were better, and none more favorably known than he. Fittingly may it be said that a noble and true man has gone. Seriously he was business, generous and hospitable to a fault, eminently reliable in all the relations of husband, father, neighbor and citizen he will be sadly missed by many. The funeral services were conducted by Rev. J. A. Longbottom assisted by Rev. Champ Richardson. With tender hands he was laid to rest on the 14th inst. in Oak Hill cemetery surrounded by a large concourse of relatives and friends. He had reached the goal of his long and useful life. Peace to his slumbering dust and upon memory's page be cherished his noble deeds. By one who knew him long and well.

Jacke Burkey loses a Hand at Potter's Sawmill. Yesterday afternoon while working in Potter's sawmill west of this city near Monroe Jacke Burkey, a German, and one of the employes of the mill, met with an accident which caused him to lose one of his hands. Burkey was employed as sawyer and while working a small piece of timber became lodged under the saw and he attempted to remove it. In doing so he picked up another piece of timber and reached down to take the first piece out, when the piece he had in his hand caught in the teeth of the revolving saw and in an instant, before he could release the stick, jerked his hand into the saw. His hand, the right one, was sawed off across the palm, the fingers and a part of the thumb remaining. His thumb, however, and the remaining part of the hand was badly lacerated to the wrist. Burkey is a young unmarried man aged about 21 or 22. As soon as the accident happened he was taken to the home of his step-father, Mr. Kilmier, who resides on the Purkison farm about eight miles west of Eugene, and Dr. L. W. Brown, of this city, was summoned. Upon examination the doctor found that an operation was necessary and accordingly about eight o'clock last evening he amputated the arm just above the wrist. The patient is getting along nicely and will probably soon recover, but he will ever be minus that most useful member of the body.

Will Hold Over. The Old Railroad Commissioners Will Stay in Office. Albany Democrat Wednesday: Judge H. H. Hewitt of this city today rendered his decision in the case of J. B. Eddy vs. H. R. Kincaid, secretary of state, asking for a mandamus compelling him to deliver over to Mr. Eddy as railroad commissioner, a warrant for his salary. The decision overrules the demurrer of the defendant to the mandamus and orders the secretary of state to issue a warrant for the amount asked. The argument is long and exhaustive, and contains an interesting feature, that of an opinion by Governor or Lord, while on the bench, covering the same point and practically settling the case. It was asserted by the defense that the appointing of the commissioners was an executive function, and that therefore the law providing for the election of the railroad commissioners was unconstitutional. Judge Hewitt holds that the law is constitutional and that the present commissioners may hold until their successors are elected and qualify.

Barns Burned. Just as the GUARD was going to press the fire alarm was sounded. The presses were delayed long enough to learn that the fire was in the barns of Geo. O. Nolan and W. W. Williams in the western part of town. The fire caught from the engine of a wood saw near by and both buildings and a carriage belonging to Mr. Williams were destroyed.

Likely Killed.—Hop growers report that the past few extensively warm days have been destructive to hop lice and that those dangerous pests have entirely disappeared from the hop vines. Although they may re-appear, in destroying them for the present the danger which they might have done is greatly modified. The past few warm days have proven a boon to the hop grower.

THE WHEAT APHIS.—Early in the spring many farmers of the county reported the wheat aphid present in vast numbers in nearly all localities. In conversation with a number of farmers the past few days we learn that very few of the bugs can now be seen, and the prospects are that the wheat crop will not be seriously damaged by them.

His hip is severely injured, and he will probably be confined for some time.
