SATURDAY, JUNE 20.

SHOULD FIRST COUSINS MARRY?

The question of the actual anatomical and physiological causes of disabilities in the offspring of first cousins is well worthy of the most thorough investigation, says The Hospital. In a complex vital organism like the human body one need not be surprised to find occasionally or even frequently departures from the normal standard of physical and mental perfection. Such departures will naturally vary in kind and degree in different families. Thus one family may have defective lungs, another feeble hearts, another inactive livers, another poor eyesight, another inadequate auditory apparatus, and so on.

If the members of such families are fortunate to marry persons who are free from the same class of anatomical and physiological peculiarities, such peculiarities will naturally tend to be diminished, perhaps by so much as half, in their offspring, and in the course of generations of physiologically fortunate marriages they may disappear. But if, on the other hand, persons of the same blood and family, such as first cousins, all of whom must necessarily be more or less similar in structure and function, marry each other, then their peculiarities will tend not to be diminished, but to be increased, perhaps doubled. So that, taking hearing as a sense which is somewhat deficient in a given family, one would expect that two first cousins marrying, whose hearing tended to be imperfect would produce offspring who would be very likely to be deaf, but in youth, or even in childhood. The same of course is true of all sorts of physical and mental peculiarities, as well as of hearing. If people would but bear in mind that the union of persons who have similar defects, more especially if they are blood relations, tends to intensify those defects, exactly as piling coal on a bright fire infallibly produces argumented heat, they would save themselves much bitter remorse, and avoid the maledictions of a class of imperfect human beings who not seldom curse the day they were born.

OREGON BERRIES IN THE EAST.

D. H. Stearns writes from Minneapolis that the strawberries received there from Oregon in car lots are in much better condition than those in that market from Wisconsin, that did not come one-fourth the distance. He says: "Oregon folks have got to put fruit into this market in quantities that will insure use and sale at prices they can afford. They sell here at 20c a box, and in Oregon eight boxes for 25c, and there is no use for that, as they can be put here at 3c a box, and if sold at 10 to 12c they will sell in ten times the quantity they do now, and the Oregon growers make a good profit."

The Omaha World-Herald of June 24 says: "Fourteen carloads of strawberries were the supply for the Omaha and local appetite last week. The next large supply is from Oregon and though these will bring $3 a case, instead of $2 to $2.50, the Oregon fruit is so large and delicious that no trouble is expected in realizing the advance."

Blackberries are reported a short crop. The strawberry season will doubtless therefore be extended, and Omaha dealers think they can handle a carload a day as long as they can get the shipments."

The net increase of receipts at the postoffices throughout the country during the year ending March 31, 1895, was $1,749,953. This is shown in the annual report justment of presidential postmasters' salaries made public on the 19th. The changes take effect July 1. The total number of presidential offices is 3466. The salaries of 1057 are increased and 303 decreased. The gross increase in the receipts was $1,894,092, and the gross decrease $154,139. Eight states report a decrease, and practically all of these are in the West.

COMPLIMENTARY. — The Portland Sun correspondent has this to say of the new regents of the state university: "Mr. Sturgis, of Pendleton, the new regent, made a most pleasant and favorable impression during his visit to Eugene last week. It is sincerely hoped that he will repeat it. The university is indeed fortunate in the selection of two such able men as Mr. Friendly and Mr. Sturgis to serve on its board."

UNABLE TO GET BAIL. — H. P. Hayes bound over for the crime of incest, was unable to get bail at Junction City, and was brought here on last night's overland train by Deputy Constable Kissinger and committed to the county jail.

REPORTED WOUND. — Brakenham Dow Huff who was hurt in the train wreck at Rice Hill yesterday, is reported worse today. His spine was wrenched in the wreck.

CHITTEM BARK. — W. Sanders wants all the chittem bark in the county. He will pay the highest market price. Remember this and bring your bark to him.

READ IT. — Be sure and read F. E. Dunn's new ad. in today's GUARDIAN. You will make money by so doing.

From Trent.

Dr. Thompson and wife, of Silver Lake, are visiting in our neighborhood. Mrs. Harper and Maud, have returned from Eastern Oregon.

Master Oren Davis, of Pleasant Hill, was with us Sunday.

Sylvia Coffman is visiting at L. A. Wheeler's this week.

Some time ago James Pitzer sued his father for two and one half years labor, in the circuit court. The case was withdrawn and the parties agreed to arbitrate, which was done last Monday. Arbitrators: S. M. Titus, of Eugene, Jessie Cox, Goshen, and Walker Young. Kinsey of Eugene appeared for plaintiff and Geo. A. Dorris for defendant. Several witnesses were examined. A verdict of only $32 was given plaintiff.

George Kinsey says a man cannot make an honest living for his family and work for 50 cents per day.

James Tucker was in our midst Monday. Chittem bark is the standard coin nowadays.

S. A. Wheeler is clerking in his father's store this week. His father has been sick for several days and thought that visiting in different parts of the country would help him. His wife accompanied him.

E. C. Smith, one of the leading grocersmen of Eugene, was in this place on business Monday. He is agent for the Military Road lands and was looking after the interest of the company.

Dan Linton and Geo. A. Dorris went up the river fishing last Monday. There is no use for any one else to go this season for they will catch them all. They had Dan along to do the wading.

MR. SLOCUM.

Thurston Items.

A Free Methodist camp meeting will begin at this place on July 2nd.

Mr. and Mrs. Firth, who have been attending the camp meeting near Irving, returned home Monday evening. They report having had a very enjoyable time.

Mrs. Andrews and daughter, of Thurston, have been visiting relatives at Irving for the past week.

Dr. B. F. Russell received a letter from B. F. Russell Jr., dated at Princeton, June 19th, stating that he and his brother-in-law, Grant Hendricks, had reached their destination safely.

The Thurston brass band has been engaged to play at Waverlyville, July 4th. A grand time is anticipated.

Rose Mathews, of Pleasant Hill, in company with four other young gentlemen, made a flying trip to Thurston last Sunday afternoon.

Chas. Donaldson, Miss Rena Vaughan and Miss Maud Daily, of Davis, attended the S. S. convention at Unity, last Sunday. About 200 delegates were present.

Last Sunday evening at Mr. Geo. Milau and family, their horse became unmanageable and began kicking furiously. Mr. Milau jumped out of the buggy and assisted his wife and child to alight. The horse got away and ran about a mile before being caught. The buggy was considerably damaged, but the occupants only received slight injuries.

Dr. Russell has improved the looks of his residence considerably by additions in the shape of two bay windows, porches, large kitchen, two coats of paint, etc. The Doctor's colors are "red, white and blue."

BUCKEYE.

The Oregon Press Association.

The Fossil Journal gives the following as a part of the program:

The committee having in charge the matter of arrangements for the annual meeting of the Oregon Press Association, have returned from Newport, where they succeeded in getting the best possible terms from hotels and allroads for the editors and their families who are expected to attend the annual meeting, which they have set to commence Saturday evening, July 20. It is expected to organize Saturday evening, spend Sunday in religious exercises and be ready for secular business Monday. The following is the program for Sunday: 11 a. m., Sermon by Sec'y, Thos. from the text, "And Jacob kissed Rachel and lifted up his voice and wept," in which the secretary will give a lucid explanation of Jacob's performance, and present his two theories, showing why Jacob wept when called upon to perform what Mr. Tozier himself has always considered pleasant duty. His first theory is that Rachel, in her coyness, must have bitten Jacob's lip; his second, that the fair damsel had been eating onions. 7 p. m. Debate, "Does the Bible prohibit the wearing of bloomers?" Affirmative, Chas. Nickel; Negative, Ira Campbell. Revs. J. R. N. Bell, and Ed. Thorp, will officiate as umpire and referee respectively. At intervals during the debate sacred songs will be sweetly sung by Leo Peterson and at the close a silver collection will be taken up by Alvah W. Patterson.
