Eugene City Guard.

SATURDAY,.....NOVEMBER 2.

Salem Statesman: Jim Cooper, of Independence, ought to call Mr. Hermann's attention to Salt Creek, Polk county. That stream needs improving, too.

Roseburg Review: The most radical and vindictive republican paper in Oregon is the Salem Statesman. Its editor is Mr C B Irvine, a talented young democrat.

Two foolish burglars blew the safe in a newspaper office in Rhode Island. They got just 13 cents. The editor had taken out the other two cents to put in the contribution box.

When Senator Gorman was through with his Howard county stump speech in Maryland the other day an old woman, over 70 years of age, who had known him all his life and who had listened to him from start to finish, took him by the hand and said: "Arthur Gorman when you're tired of politics you should get religion and commence preaching.

Only about 14 years have passed since the late General Mahon's change of base turned the scale in the senate, and yet many of the men in that body at that time are dead. Among those who have died are Roscoe Conkling, Eli Saulsbury, Benjamin H Hill, Joseph E Brown, David Davis, John A Logan, Preston B Plumb, James E Beck, William Windom, L Q C Lamar, Zebulon B Vance, George H Pendleton, Henry B Anthony, Howell E Jackson and Matthew H Carpenter.

Salem Statesman: Attorney General Idleman was in the city yesterday and gave his opinion to the secretary of state relative to two of the questions which were so fully set forth in a recent issue of the Statesman. In the matter of constitutional amendments adopted by the last two legislatures, Mr. Idleman thinks the failure of the last session to provide by special enactment for their publication and submission does not interfere with their proper publication now and submission to a vote. He says the secretary has a perfect right to go ahead and publish the amendments, using for that purpose the state funds appropriated for printing, and that the amendments can be voted upon with the same validity as though the legislature had taken these clerical steps. Relative to the matter of issuing warrants for the amount of land payments as soon as quit claim deeds are made to the state, Attorney General Idleman is of the opinion that Mr Kincaid has no alternative; that he must issue the warrants upon presentation of the deeds, but he must issue them upon the funds into which the money was paid, and that it is not for him to consider whether there is money now in those funds or not, or whether the warrants will draw interest. The law is simply mandatory and must be obeyed.

Halloween.

Daily Guard, October 31.

Tonight is Halloween, and it would be well for our citizens to make sure that their gates are immovable.

Hallow-even, or Halloween, the name popularly given to the eve or vigil of All Hallows, or festival of All Saints, which being the first of November, Halloween is the evening of the 31st of October. In England it was long customary to crack nuts, duck for apples in a tub of water, and perform other harmless fireside revelries. While the same thing can be said of Scotland, the Halloween ceremonies partook more of a superstitious character; taking, among rustic, the form of a charm to discover who should be his or her partner for life. Of these now almost exploded customs, the best summary is that contained in Burns' well-known poem, "Halloween."

Probate Matters.

Administrators and executors in the estate of J W Harpole, minor heirs of J S and L M Powell, Stephen R Jenkins, R B Johnson, D H Coleman, John Chestnut, Joseph Bailey, Isaac Cook, John Taylor, N Gilmore, R E Jones, Arzelia Hawley and David Mosby file their semi-annual statements, which were approved.

Estate of Julia A Scott, deceased; executor files an inventory in said estate showing amount received aggregating $23; expenditures $33.90; bills allowed $330.85. Prayer for order to sell real property and to compound the claims against R E Bristow, granted.

Estate of T J Dunten, deceased; final settlement approved.

Guardianship of Albert Simmons, a spendthrift; guardian files his semi-annual statement showing receipts of $383.65 and expenditures of $348.42; balance $35.55. Account approved.

Estate of Alfred Wilson, deceased; appraisers report real property to the amount of $1500 and personal property $617.67; total $2117.67.

Estate of R B Cochran, deceased; administrator authorized to sell personal property.

Estate of Phineas Massey, deceased; personal property set aside for benefit of the widow.

Guardianship of minor heirs of J W and Josephine McBee. Probable value of estate $3100. Philo Wilcox appointed guardian, with bonds in the sum of $6,200. Sureties: T G Hendricks and John Stewart.

Estate of J B Richardson, deceased; H T Condon appointed referee to take the testimony in the case and files his report and the evidence taken in said cause.

Estate of David Mosby, deceased; December 2, 1895, set for final settlement. Citation for dismissal of executor dismissed.

Estate of Joseph Bailey; decision in favor of the Bailey heirs, as recently published in the GUARD.

Estate of Wm B Barger, deceased; appraisers report filed showing notes to the value of $2000 on hand.

Estate of William Shaw, deceased; December 2, 1895, set for final settlement.

Becoming a Farce.

Referee Woodcock has set Monday, Nov 4, at 2 p m as the limit of the time for filing objections to claims against that $100,000. Objections have already been filed against the claims of Lincoln, Benton, Linn and Marion counties for taxes, on several grounds. A new claim is that of Turner, McClure & Ralston for $18,176, which they claim was audited by order of Judge Pipes. They also claim an additional compensation in assisting the court and its officers since July, 1893, of $10,000, $5,000 for the eastern firm and $5,000 for J R Bryson. The Farmers' Loan & Trust Co are very modest in their claim of $10,102 as trustees, which they claim as audited. John P Fay's claim as attorney for Mr Hadley is only $7,606. F K Pendleton, a New York attorney, who helped him, will be satisfied with only $3000. R C M Rand, the New York expert, sent out by the bond holders, the gentleman who met Wm M Hoag in a serio-comic duel with a pair of shears, thinks $12,752 will be about right. These services are claimed to have been done for Hadley, but Hadley, it is claimed, was not receiver until afterwards, and Rand was supposed to represent the bond holders.

This whole business is becoming decidedly funny.

FOR DEEPER CHANNEL AT YAQUINA

The Board of Engineers Have Decided Upon a Report.

It is learned that Major J C Post, of Portland, United States engineers, who went East to attend a meeting of the board of engineers who had the matter of a deeper channel at Yaquina bay in hand, has returned. He says the board worked hard for two days and a half, and finally decided on a report, which has been forwarded to the chief of engineers.

Major Post of course did not make public in advance what the report would be, but from those best posted in the matter it is expected the report will be favorable to further appropriations for the improvement of Yaquina harbor, to carry out the plans suggested by the recent survey of the channel.

Daily Guard, October 31.

RECITAL OF OTHELLO.—Hannibal A Williams, of New York City, gave his recital of Shakespeare's masterpiece, "Othello," at the M E church last evening. For some time the Shakespeare club has been laboring hard to get this gentleman here, and to place before the minds of the people a true appreciation of his ability to handle the master's masterpiece. They were rewarded with a full house last evening, and everyone feels thankful to the club for giving them the opportunity to hear the rendition of this tragic play. By this effort the club has made a big stride in the study of Shakespeare. Mr Williams was introduced by Prof Luella C Carson, president of the club, and immediately entered upon his subject. The play was interesting from the beginning but grew intensely fascinating toward the end. The speaker's appearance was pleasing, his delivery excellent and his representation of the different characters good. His interpretation of the meaning of the play was perfect, doing full justice to the writer's plans.

At the close Mr Williams expressed himself as being very highly pleased by the kind attention which the audience showed him.

MOUNTED POLICE TONIGHT.—Tonight is Halloween and there may be some fun going. There is a rumor circulating among the small boys to the effect that Mayor Matlock will have on a force of four special officers mounted on bicycles tonight to keep a lookout for them. It will take some artful dodging on the part of the fairies of Halloween to keep out of the way of these silent steeds. Their only salvation will be in a box of tacks.

LETTER FROM SOUTH AFRICA.

An Albany Man Writes From the Gold Fields of the Dark Continent.

Mr J S Morgan, of Albany, is in receipt of the following letter from H W Goff who recently went to California, and from there to Africa, the letter being dated at Johannesberg, Transvaal, South Africa, Sept 22.

MR J S MORGAN: Dear Sir.—When you open this it may surprise you, but a surprise will be good for you. I got tired of the constant cry of every one about the hard times, so I concluded that I would get out and get the moss off of my back, and as I have been wanting to make this trip for some time I thought this my best opportunity. I have been having a nice time since I left. I spent my 4th of July in Honolulu. I was at the palace, saw the president giving his first reception, also Grover's girl, Queen Lil, in the tower where she is kept as a prisoner. We stopped at the Samoan Islands a short time and at Aukland, N Z. Then I stayed a couple of weeks in Sydney and Melbourne, Australia, which time I had to wait for connection with boats, as I had to change at these points as there is no direct line from San Francisco to the Cape.

Well, I have found times far better than I had expected. You will notice by the papers that I have sent you the yearly output of gold and the gradual increase up to last month, until it has reached the enormous sum of 203,573 oz. for the month of August. This is the largest mining camp that I have ever been in. I would give you a description of it but you would not then realize its extent. The mines company are still erecting machinery.

I think I will try mining for a while for a change. At least I cannot do any worse than I have been doing. This is no place for any one that has no business to follow, for the Kaffir boys do all of the work; they work very cheap, about $2.50 per week. I don't know I will like it here when their summer commences, but from what I have seen so far I like my change. The seasons are just the reverse of America. If I don't like the hot season I will leave.

Any information you want from this country I will try to satisfy your wants. They have a very poor mail system here; you are not sure of getting all of your mail, so don't be disappointed if I should not get your letters.

Respectfully,
H W GOFF.

Goshen Items.

Wilhelm & Dillard are building a house in Goshen for E W Mathews.

E M Warren and wife will move into rooms in the rear of their store building this week.

T E Morse and family of Creswell visited with relatives in this vicinity Sunday.

B F Eby was down from Creswell Wednesday.

A A Keeney leaves for Tacoma, Wash, the last of the week.

W R Dillard, we are told, has sold Horace Hampton the southern portion of his farm—that containing the buildings—and in the deal Mr Dillard gets the small tract of land and dwelling near Goshen and the farm formerly owned by Mr Hampton.

Mrs Bettie Clemens from near Oregon City is keeping house for her brother Henry Harmes.

Wm Stewart has moved his family over from the farm that his boys may attend school.

From indications, two of our young men are contemplating connubial felicity in the not distant future.

GOING TRAPPING.—Wallace Chamberlin, of this city, and Robert Drury and Tom Shelley, of Pleasant Hill, will start on a trapping expedition down the Willamette in a few days. They will start from Jasper and will each one take a boat. They will gradually work down the river, setting their traps wherever they can find fur bearing animals. If there is not sufficient trapping on the Willamette and tributaries to keep them at work all winter they will go up on the Sound. Chamberlin is an old trapper and hunter and Drury and Shelley have been trapping for some time on the Middle Fork.

Rev. Edwards Davis Also Denies.

San Francisco Examiner: The Rev. Edwards Davis had only been home a short time when his friends took the trouble to announce his engagement to Miss Strahan. The papers gave wide publicity to the engagement, and the pastor was astonished to learn that he was to become a bridegroom on Easter next. He deemed it his duty to remain quiet under the circumstances, believing that it was proper for the young lady to make the denial of the engagement. The poet-preacher did not have to wait in vain for a denial from Miss Strahan. When she heard that the engagement had been announced she promptly took measures to have it denied in Portland. The denial was telegraphed to this city, and now the Rev Davis is happy.

He says that he has a vast amount of work to do in order to build up his church, and to this end he is going to devote his entire time. While he has much admiration for Miss Strahan, he has not the least idea of marriage. The Rev Mr Davis is not at a loss, however, to know how the story of the engagement got into print. He has a brother who is a newspaper reporter and confided to him that he met Miss Strahan at Portland and appreciated the acqnaintance he had formed. The brother took it for grated that the young preacher would marry the lady and assumed the authority to promulgate the engagement.

"The statement made by Miss Strahan that no engagement exists between us is correct," said Rev Mr Davis today. "Her mother is in Georgia and knows nothing about the affair. I am very much pained over the false publication, but I deemed it my duty to remain silent. When the announcement was made of an engagement I thought that a denial could not properly come from me, much as it might have been desired by the young lady. Her statement is correct that the announcement of the engagement is not warranted.

"On my return from a recent trip in the North I incidentally mentioned to one of my brothers an appreciation of the acquaintance with Miss Strahan, but what then seemed to be mere interest now appears to have been a reportorial pumping. The arrangement of the engagement and date was an imaginative flourish of the pen. I thought that my reporter brother could discriminate between a newspaper story and a fraternal confidence. Of course the whole thing is to be regretted, and I for the sake of the young lady, as well as my own, am very sorry that any publication was made."

Bound to See Football.

Three Corvallis boys were determined to see the football game in Eugene Saturday at all hazards without any money out. They reached Eugene. The Times tells of their return as follows:

The trio, at 11 o'clock the night after the game, mounted the blind baggage on the S P overland freight at Eugene, bound for home. They got into an empty box car, and after having three negro and five white tramps for companions, their car was set out on a siding at Shedd. They succeeded, however, in catching another car on the same train, and reached Albany at 3 a m. There the nightwatchman espied them, and in the belief that they were tramps warned them to get out of town quick or they would be shut up for vags. The students did not wait for a second bidding, but put the Albany bridge between them and the belligerent policeman with all haste and then struck out afoot for Corvallis. They reached home in the grey dawn of the morning footsore and sleepy, and though the trip was inexpensive enough to suit, they will attend the next game via another route.

Daily Guard, October 31.

ALMOST A FIRE.—This morning some ashes were emptied into a box in a room upstairs in the frame building back of and adjoining the Matlock lodging house. Fire started from coals in the ashes and burned through the box and then burned a large hole in the floor. Fire dropped to the floor in the room below and burned through it also. An old counter in the lower room was burning when the fire was accidentally discovered by S Case, one of the barbers who are moving into the front room of the same building. Had it gone till night a conflagration would have followed.
