ABSOLUTELY PURE

WOMAN'S WORLD.

AMERICAN WIFE OF THE FAMOUS ENGLISH STORY WRITER.

Year's Sunshades—The Wedding Gown.

Then materials, such as crepe lisse or mousseline de soie, are far pricier and more becoming than silks or satins.—New York Tribune.

Mrs. Hilda Kipling is a slender woman, with soft brown eyes, hair and a very sweet expression. It is not "a new woman" and does not care for any society except that of her household, and she and her husband are congenial in tastes and ideas that live all the year around in a little house 15 miles from Brattleboro, and never even think of being seen in a public place.

The latest in Wall Papers.

The latest fashion in wall decoration is a bizarre, startling shade of paper known as hunter's red. It comes in plain all over red and again variegated with figures and pictures. The grotesque and fantastic designs suggest the headless dragons, centaurs and puzzling eccentricities of the old-fashioned paperings of our grandmother's day.

Not a "New Woman."

Henry Harland, the author of "As It Was Written" and other successful novels, is a Londoner these days, and Mrs. Harland is one of the most successful women in London literary circles.

Ancestral Research Their Work.

Miss Annie H. Wharton and Miss Annie H. Cresson of Philadelphia, both Colonial Dames, have adopted historical research as a profession and have formed a bureau of ancestral research.

Nellie Bly is an American. Her real name is Elizabeth Cochran. She is more of an American than most Americans because her ancestors in America's past came over and helped cut down the first trees in Pennsylvania.

Women Limp Less and Why.

Not nearly so many women limp from the shoe as they used to. Appearances are deceiving in regard to the width of the modern woman's shoe.

Mrs. W. F. Aram of Oakland, Cal., has been appointed by Sheriff White one of his deputy sheriffs.

Street refuse in Italy is sold at public auction.

Chicago has a bird hospital, the only one of its kind, it is said, in this country.

The fashion of having a fitted fur bodice with cloth skirt and sleeves may again become popular.

Black plaid silks are the novelty for princess gowns, the ground of faille, the large bars of black satin.

The long sealskin coat seems to have gone out, all the long wraps being circular capes.

A stylish jacket is close fitting, with slightly double front and very wide collar turning over the sleeve tops.

A pretty autumn hat is in sailor shape, with very low crown.

Zibeline is the French word for sable, and a fleece of fur distinguishes many new stuffs, some of the zibelines looking not unlike the familiar canton flannel on account of the length and smoothness of the fleece.

DENOMINATIONAL NAMES.

The Donatists were the followers of Donatus, the bishop of Numidia.

The Presbyterians took their name from a Greek word meaning "elder."

The Cistercian monks took their name from Cîteaux, where their order was first established.

The Old Catholics were so called by the German Dr. Dollinger, born in 1799, died in 1890.

The Apollinarians were thus called because the originator of their sect was Apollinaris, the bishop of Laodicea.

The Labadists, a body of German religious of the seventeenth century, were named from their leader, Labadie.

The Cambrides, a French religious sect, were so called from the smock frock worn by the peasants, who constituted the larger part of their numbers.

The Episcopalians are so called from their belief in an episcopal form of church government—that is, a system providing for bishops and archbishops.

The Mohammedans were so called because they were the followers of Mohammed and believers in his doctrine as revealed in the Koran.

The Carthusians were so called from their most celebrated monastery, La Chartreuse, near Grenoble.

Zoroastrianism was the doctrine of Zoroaster, who lived about 500 B. C. It was the prevalent religion in Persia for many centuries and still lingers among the sun and fire worshippers of that country.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Vigorous Girlhood.

Any one conversant with the modern female school and colleges knows that one of the best equipped and best patronized of their departments is the gymnasium, and that the result is a race of strong, graceful girls, who are far ahead of their counterparts of a generation ago as the American college athlete of today is ahead of his dyspeptic predecessor of 1860.—Philadelphia Ledger.

VALLEY OF DEATH.

A PROMINENT RANCHMAN WHO HAD SUFFERED LONG.

HE SAYS THAT HIS DOCTOR AND FRIENDS HAD GIVEN HIM UP—His Miraculous Cure.

From the Colorado Farmer, Denver, Colo.

David S. Green, who is past middle life, a man of fine physique, strong, vigorous and buoyant went to Colorado in 1860 and now resides at 2127 Grant avenue Denver.

On the first day of February, 1893, Mr. Green received a serious injury to the spine occasioned by slipping while supporting a heavy weight.

While in this condition and utterly hopeless of help (as his physician and the best medical counsel proved powerless), his attention was providentially called to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

As a drowning man clutches at a straw so he caught at Pink Pills and immediately began to improve.

In conversation with a representative of the Farmer, Mr. Green said: "I have not been on the street for sixteen months till two or three days ago, but I am so much better. It is a surprise to me and to my friends, yes, and to my doctor, too.

It is due to suffering humanity that the story of Mr. Green be told. His kindness of heart and generous impulses would rejoice in spreading the fame of a remedy that has brought him from the valley of death to enjoy the pleasures of a loving home.

His physician is a gentleman well known in Denver, has lived here many years and built up a good practice. He is broad-minded and in good standing in the best medical circles in the city.

Experts on the subject of bread grains say that wheat can be traced back into the dim past across the line marked by the advent of historic man into the dim shades of the stone age.

The prehistoric races which formerly lived in the famous "lake dwellings," which were built on platforms supported by piles driven in the lakes of Switzerland, had their meal stones, wheat-stones, sickles and other grain harvesting and flourmaking apparatus at least 4,000 years ago.
