CANADA AND ALASKA.

Canada is urged. MONROE DOCTRINE. In reference to Venezuela, the president maintains the Monroe doctrine in opposing forcible increase by any Euro-pean nower of its territorial power on this continent and suggests that Great

Britian submit claims to arbitration. HAWAII. The president touches briefly on the Hawaii question, ending by saying gold in order to cancel these notes that Mr Thurston, the Hawaiian minister, furnished abundant reasons for asking that he be recalled.

ALIEN LAWS.

A hange in the Alien laws is suggested which will check the victous and system which at present overcomes the immigration and labor laws.

SICARAGUA. The president has no suggestion in the Nicaragua case but expects a peaceful settlement with such con-siderations and indulgence toward Nicaragua as are consistant.

SAMOAN PROTECTORATE The president asks legislation to break the fresty or agreement by which this country is jointly bound with Germany and England, to assume the management of Samos.

NEUTRALITY TOWARD CUBA Attention is called to the situation in Cuba and strict neutrality of this government is advised. It is earnestly hoped that prompt and effective action on the part of the European powers will not be delayed.

CONSULAR SERVICE

Owing to the growth of the American interests in foreign countries, the improvement of the consular service is urged. In accordance with the recommendation of the secretary of state, it has been decided to fill all consular positions, paying from $1,000 to $2,500 annually by a prumotion, or transfer, from some other position in the de-partment of state. These promotions are to be made by examination and include 196 places. Legislation is needed for consular inspection.

OFFICIAL RESIDENCES.

The president recommends that ambassadors and ministers at foreign courts be provided with official resi-dences. He advocates that while avoiding the glitter and show of for-eign nations, this country should not suffer by comparison through the shabbiness and parsimony of its diplomatie corps.

NATIONAL FINANCES.

As we return from a view of our foreign relations to the contemplation of our national financial system, we are immediately aware that we approach a subject of domestic concern more important than any other that can engage our attention, at present in such a perplexing and delicate predicament as to require prempt and wise arrangement. We may well be encouraged to earnest effort in this direction, when we recall the steps already taken towards im-proving our economic and financial situation and when we appreciate how well the way has been prepared for further progress by an aroused and intelligent popular interest in the sub-jects by command of the people

PLEA FOR REVENUE.

A customs and revenue system, designed for the protection and benefit the markets of the world, has been suspended by a tariff policy, which in principle, is based upon a denial of that right.

The compulsory purchase and coinage of silver by the governmen, un-protected and regulated by business conditions, and heedless of our cur-rency needs, which for more than 15 years deluded our people as to the volume of circulation, undermined confidence abroad in our financial ability, and at last culminated in distress and panic at home, has been recently stopped by the repeal of the laws which forced this reckless scheme upon the country.

MORE FINANCIAL REFORM.

The things thus accomplished, notwithstanding their extreme importance and beneficient effects, fall far short of curing the monetary evils from which we suffer as a result of long indulgence in ill advised financial expedients After explaining the resumption of specie payment and the creation of the reserve gold fund of $100,000,000, the president gives a brief monetary his-tory of the United States, quoting the fact that in July, 1890, congress pro-vided for the purchase of silver bullion but decided that gold and silver must be kept at a parity.

MORE FINANCIAL FACTS.

The redeemed treasury notes treated as gold obligations in 1893, amounted to $225,000,000 with $500,000,000 more outstanding, this served to deplete the gold reserve in April, 1893, to $67,011,-330, and the president ascribes, its for the especially commends the re-cent resolution of the French chambers favoring a permanent treaty of arbitra-tion between the two countries.

The especially commends the re-further depletion to high tariff laws in vogue until the passage of the Wilson bill, together with the infusion of silver into the currency and the increasing agitation for its free coinage,

THE BOND ISSUES. In consequence of these conditions the reserve had fallen in February, 1894, to $65,438,378, a decrease f $31,-000,000 in nine months. Greenbacks and treasury notes should be retired by exchanging the bonds for bonds of small denominations.

A BOND ISSUE ASKED. The secretary of the treasury should be empowered to sell bonds abroad for The amount of currency thus with-drawn would not be over $486,000,000, which would be supplied by gold.

MORE BANK NOTES.

The president suggests as a relief to circulation that banks be allowed to issue notes to the full amount of bonds deposited and the tax on their cirone per cent. As a further relief it is suggested that revenue collections be suggested that revenue collections be made payable in gold, not paid in United States and treasury notes on demand, and to insist in paying silver for the notes, the president declares would injure the parity between gold and silver which the government is bound to maintain.

NATIONAL SOLVENCY.

An excess of revenue receipts would An excess of revenue receipts would not, after the question of national solvency, as in the struggle to maintain the gold reserve the treasury could not pay debts with the money it has not only with gold, and that to the foreign investor was the only concern. As the withdrawal of gold is a direct result of fright, there is nothing to alliveate the situation so much as legislation which will lessen the desire for gold. It is not clear how an increase in revenue unless it be in gold, can satisfy those whose only desire is to draw gold from the government store. Therefore a revenue increase is deprecated:

AGAINST 16 TO 1.

Speaking of the proposition to re-lieve the financial situation by the free colonge of silver at a ratio of 16 to 1 the president declared that no governpeotection. Instructions have been ment, no human contrivance, no act sent of actual disturbances and on the demand of our minister orders have hold the two metals together in free coinage at a ratio of appreciable dif-ference from that which is established in the markets of the world. A change in the standard to silver monometalism would bring a collapse to our entire credit system.
