A Full Explanation.

We publish the following letter which gives the river disagreement between the O C & E R R Co and the O R & N Co, from the former's stand-point:

CORVALLIS, Or, Dec 13th, 1895.
GRIFFIN HARDWARE Co, Eugene, Oregon:

GENTLEMEN:—In reply to your favor of the 12th inst just received, the "Hoag" will come out of Portland on Tuesday next and will run to Harrisburg regularly, and to Eugene if the water will permit. The "Bentley" will be in the service in about a week after the "Hoag" comes out and will make alternate trips with the "Hoag" between Portland and upper river points.

We will take your freight to Harrisburg as cheap as the O R & N and give you as good or better service. As yet we have not quite completed our river tariff, but as we have a flat rate of 10 cents S F to Corvallis, it will probably not be higher than the rates you name to Harrisburg and Eugene. I will write you further as soon as we have determined what rates we will have to make and in the meantime want your business and will see that you do not lose anything by consigning your freight our way.

Regarding the freight that has been here since last Monday, we were assured by Mr Lee, superintendent of the river division, that they would be glad to take our business south of Corvallis until we were in a position to handle it ourselves. The agent here also assured us that the "Gypsy" would take it off Tuesday. When Tuesday came our men were on hand to deliver it, but they stood us off on the ground that they were late and behind time and could not spare the time to load it (the time they would have been delayed on this account would have been about half an hour) but they promised to be sure and take it on Friday (today) and said they would probably go through to Eugene on that trip. This morning we were on hand bright and early to deliver the freight to them and the boat actually came up to our incline and waited until we had a load on one of the incline cars to lower to them, when the captain gave orders to haul in the lines and pulled away with the same excuse they offered before, that they were late and could not spare the time. This happened just at their leaving time.

We have done all we could to get them to take the freight but so far have not accomplished anything, but it is a pleasure for me to state that we will not have to ask them to take it again, although as a matter of accommodation to the consignees we will give it to them next trip if they will take it, provided they make another before our boat comes up.

Yours truly,
EDWIN STONE,
Manager.

FOSTER'S FORECASTS.

Weather Predictions for the Next Ten Days.

Foster's last bulletin gave forecasts of the storm wave to cross the continent from the 10th to 14th and the next he says will reach the Pacific coast about the 15th, cross the west of Rockies country by close of 16th, great central valleys from 17th to 19th, Eastern states 20th.

This disturbance will strike the Pacific coast further south than usual and its path will lie through the Southern states, causing colder weather than the average for the month.

Most of the precipitation from this disturbance will be in the form of snow and sleet and the snow line will reach unusually far south.

The warm wave will cross the west of Rockies country about 15th, great central valleys 17th, Eastern states 19th. Cool wave will cross the west of Rockies country about 18th, great central valleys 20th, Eastern states 22d. Ten days or more of continued cold weather will follow this cold wave.

WHO IS HE.—Cottage Grove Leader: We learn that a young and handsome damsel up this way recently received by express an elegant and highly ornamental box from her beau in Eugene. It made her mouth water and she could hardly wait till she opened it. Imagine her disgust on opening it to find it full of old ten cent a pound Christmas candy—when she expected chocolate bon bons, angel food, gum drops, etc. She threw the whole business in the fire, and the rube who sent it don't know but what he did the handsome. Poor boy.

BABY SUNK. — Geo N Frazer's steamer, the Baby now rests on the bottom of the river, back of Skinner's butte, only the top of her cabin projecting out of the water. The boat quietly went down when no one was present. During the recent raise in the river the current washed the bow of the boat up on the bank and when the water receded, the stern settled down, allowing the water to pour into the hold and sink the boat. It will necessitate quite an expense to raise the boat again.

SHOULD BE GRANTED.—A petition is being circulated and generally signed asking the department to re-establish the Blue River postoffice on the McKenzie and appoint S C Sparks postmaster. The residents in that section must travel twelve or fifteen miles now to get their mail while the stage route passes right along by their doors. This is the office for the Blue River mines and is therefore an important point. The petition ought to and will be granted by the department as soon as received.

Eugene has a haunted house From reports the house has been haunted for a long time—haunted by disreputable young men and married men too, for that matter.

Mrs Helen Harford delivered a very interesting lecture at the C P church Thursday evening on the subject of equal suffrage. Her talk was exceedingly good and sensible and her address was certainly worthy of a larger audience.

K OF P SOCIAL.—The annual social given Saturday night by Helmet Lodge, No 33, Knights of Pythias, of this city, was attended by about 100 people, and was a very brilliant affair. The program was short, but was well received by the audience. The address of welcome was delivered by D E Yoran, C C. Solos were sung by Misses Formosa Henderson, Blanche Straight and Stella Dorris. A piano solo was played by Miss Mae Huff, and a male quartette was sung by Messrs Adair, Awbrey, Cornell and Test. The Mandolin club also played several selections After the program was finished the guests were invited to repair to the banquet room, where 16 couples waited upon at a time. The Mandolin club, assisted by the piano, furnished music, and as soon as the large room was cleared, dancing and other amusements commenced, and continued until a late hour. The banquet tables were very beautifully decorated floral displays, and an elegant and tasty luncheon was served to all. A souvenir card, bearing the name of the lodge and the date, was presented at the plate of each one. The whole program was carried out with perfect harmony, and all present seemed to enjoy themselves very much. The Knights had spared no pains to make this social a grand success, and were well rewarded for their labors.

LECTURE ON THE NEW WOMAN.—A good audience was at the Congregational church last evening to hear President Chapman's lecture on "The New Woman." The program was opened with a solo by Miss Stella Dorris, after which Dr. Chapman took up his subject. He spoke for some time, showing in an impartial manner the advantages and disadvantages of the new woman over others. He spoke of the new woman as the slave of fashion, and then again as the queen of the kitchen. He also dwelt upon the bloomer question, stating that like other fads, it had become a fashion, and once a fashion woman was bound to follow it out. Bloomers have come to stay so long as worn ina practical sense. He showed his sympathy for the cause of the advancement of woman, and believed that they should become prominent in works of science and in political life; for they have done much for those causes. They have purified politics and been beneficial in temperance work. They have always builded up, but never torn down, in everything they have undertaken. From a wholesome, as well as an economic point of view, however, there is room for culinary improvement in the household. The lecture was highly appreciated. At the close Misses Yoran and Johnston sang a duet, after which a lunch was served, and social time had by all present.

SURPRISE PARTY.—On Saturday evening a very pleasant surprise party was given to Miss Rena Applegate at her home in honor of her birthday. The evening was spent with music and games, after which refreshments were served. Those present were: Agnes Harris, Ina Craig, Clara Evenson, Elma Hendricks, Ermine Church, Alicia McElroy, Lottie Waller, Della McCullough, Ermine Thompson, Mabel Miller, Amelia Horn, Olive Kuykendall, Sybil Kuykendall, Grace Edmunson, Lulu Applegate, Mercey Applegate, Rena Applegate, Coleridge McElroy, Ray Willoughby, Oriville Waller, Ray Kerns, Joel Ware, Loris Johnson, Bert Wiley, Keneth Miller, Fay Howe, Henry Gibbs, Sherwood Burr, Oren Howe, Arthur Frazer, Percy Johnston, and Chester Washburn.

CHURCH BOARD MEETING.—At a meeting of the board of trustees of the U B church, held last week, a contract was closed employing Rev. Geo D Needy as pastor for the term of one year. Frank Close was chosen chief usher, and Curtis Harris and C D Edwards, assistants. Frank Close and M V Harrison were chosen collectors. The board decided upon a revival meeting to begin the first week in January This revival service will be conducted by Rev D Leppert and wife, late of Dayton, Ohio. Mr and Mrs Leppert come from Yamhill to Eugene and have the reputation of being very successfull in evangelistic work. They are excellent musicians and use both organ and piano.

LAUREAN SOCIETY. — At their meeting Friday night the Laurean society debated the question, "Resolved, that the U S should adopt the protective tariff system." The affirmative was supported by Messrs Gray, Edmunson, Hovey, Wilkins, Mulkey and Eastland; the negative by Messrs Gale, Richards, Boone, Travis and Loomis. The decision was rendered in favor of the affirmative by President Fisk. The officers elected at the last meeting were installed.

The object of the visit is an inspection of the property values of Lane county, there being an objection presented by that county to the board as to the amount of its assessment, claiming it has been assessed too high and asking for a reduction."

The gentlemen spent Saturday afternoon and Sunday in Eugene, returning to Salem to resume their duties on this morning's local train.

SENIOR ENTERTAINMENT.—The entertainment and reception given at the university Saturday evening by the Senior class was well attended, and was a social success. The play, "The Courtship of Miles Standish," was reproduced by members of the class. It was well rendered, and won the admiration of the audience. The characters were all attired in Puritan costumes, which added much effect to the play. The quartet by Misses Beattie and Yoran, and Messrs Templeton and Hulin, and the vocal solo by Mrs Linn formed interesting parts of the program. After the program was finished a social time was had. The evening's program was well carried out, and shows the ability of the class of 96' to entertain.

HE OUGHT TO DIE.—Albany Democrat: Lloyd Montgomery's trial is set for 1 o'clock Tuesday. The prisoner continues sane and yesterday stated to the sheriff that he guessed he ought to be hanged, and had rather be than go to the penitentiary. He is getting pretty well fixed in his mind the greatness of the crime which he did and he certainly is right in thinking he ought to be. He should plead guilty at 1 o'clock Monday, save the county the expense of a trial, which can only end in his conviction, and be hanged at an early day. Let Linn county set the world an example in prompt justice.

The articles were pawned by Dr Bill and Mrs Marvin had him arrested at Eugene."

PRETTY TOUGH.—Roseburg Plaindealer: During the present term of court there has been a greater number of cases of a libidinous character, and more salacious testimony given than at any court here for years. COST OF BAD ROADS.

The office of road inquiry of the department of agriculture has completed an interesting investigation relating to the use of the common roads of the United States. Returns have been received from about 1,200 counties, showing the average length of haul from farms to markets of shipping points to be 12 miles; the average weight of a load for two horses, 2,000 pounds; and the average cost per ton per mile 25 cents, or $2 for the entire haul. Estimating the farm products at 219,824,227 tons in weight and making estimates on other articles carried over the roads, it is calculated that the aggregate expense of this transportation in the United States is $956,414,665 per annum. Reports have been asked from the United States consuls abroad of the expense of hauling where the roads are good, so as to render if possible a calculation which will show how much of this large outlay is due to bad roads. The estimate is ventured, however, upon information in the office of road inquiry, counting the loss of time in reaching markets, the enforced idleness and the wear and tear to live stock and hauling machinery caused by poor roads, that two-thirds of the cost might be saved by an improvement of the roads.

WHAT THEY ARE.

According to the new congressional directory, which has just made its appearance, the house of representatives of the fifty-fourth congress is composed of 223 lawyers, 24 farmers, 18 newspaper men, 16 merchants, 15 manufacturers, 9 physicians, 6 bankers, 5 lumbermen, 3 brokers, 4 railroad men, 3 college professors, 2 clergymen, 2 shipowners, 2 miners, 2 builders, 1 printer, 1 architect, 1 druggist, 1 theatrical manager, 1 school teacher, one music teacher, and 16 other men who have followed no other business or profession than politics.

The senate of the fifty-fourth congress contains 60 lawyers, 6 merchants, 3 newspaper men, 3 farmers, 3 railroad men, 2 clergymen, 2 miners, 1 physician, and 5 men who have followed politics only.

In other words, about 63 per cent of our representatives and about 78 per cent of our senators in the national legislature are lawyers. With such a host of lawyers to make the laws and such a variety of occupations and professions represented by their colleagues in the minority, it would appear that this dignified body is capable of at least considering any question which may appear on the legislative calender. The only important class of our industrious citizens conspicuously absent from both houses are engineers—the men who devise the instruments by which the wealth is made, the men who have always held the throttle regulating the world's speed of progress.

SENATOR E D. BAKER.

Speaking of the late E. D. Baker, once United States senator from Oregon, the Fulton, Ills, Democrat says:

"This grand hero-statesman fell at the battle of Ball's Bluff, Oct. 21, 1861, while leading his command in the hottest of the fight. It was a dramatic ending of the singularly heroic and brilliant life.

"And yet, after all this service rendered Illinois in the state legislature, in congress and on the battlefields of two wars; his services to Oregon in the senate of the United States; his services to California as commander of her soldiers; his services to the Union in laying down his life in one of the first battles against secession and rebellion—the body of this grand patriot and hero rests on the shore of the Pacific ocean with simply a marble slab to mark his grave.

"Is this creditable to the great state of Illinois that he served so faithfully and so well? Do the states of Oregon and California feel that they have done their full duty to this one of their most gallant and worthy sons? Can the United states government, whose uniform he wore when he fell with his face to her enemies, his body pierced with nine rebel bullets, have any just cause for pride and exultation over the situation?"

"For shame Illinois! Shame Oregon and California! And let the United States government hang her head in shame until justice is done and fully done to Edward Dickson Baker, one of her most faithful and gallant sons and heroes."

THEY DRIFT APART.

An exchange says: "Young men and young women who move in the same circle on terms of equality before they have reached maturity find themselves drifting apart as they advance in years until they belong to different classes. Those who have made good use of their leisure hours have advanced while those who have sought only idle amusements have stood still or retrograded. To each young man and woman should come, on the approach of winter, the serious inquiry: What use shall I make of the leisure and opportunity for study now afforded? Shall I fritter away precious hours in idle amusements or shall I devote a part of my time to self improvement? On the answer given to these questions will depend the future career of those to whom they are presented."

La Grande Chronicle: "There is talk of a suit to enjoin the officers of Baker county from paying scrip of that county issued in excess of the constitutional limitations. The indebtedness of the county is about $200,000, and this large sum has been piled up by extravagant doling from the public crib. It is now a difficult matter to call a halt, because the county is compelled, in many instances to pay unusual prices for supplies by reason of the heavy discount from the face of its scrip."

The democratic national committee will meet in Washington, D. C., Jan. 16th, to call the national convention.
