A RUNAWAY.—This afternoon while the 2 o'clock train was standing at the depot Chilson's delivery team, which was attached to a light wagon with a heavy top, and left standing near the depot became frightened and ran away. The team ran south on Willamette street, the wagon swaying from side to side as they went as far as Hale & Preston's harness store, where they were stopped. Luckily no particular damage was done. This makes six or seven runaways which have occurred on Willamette street within as many months. In nearly every instance the team has been left standing while its driver was away. As yet no one has been hurt, but such affairs are liable at any time to cause loss of life when they happen on the business streets of the city. There is a city ordinance forbidding teamsters to leave their teams standing on the business streets without being held or having some one to hold the reins.

AS IT WERE.—Portland's sensational divorce should be a surprise to no one. Old man Dixon answered the ad of a winsome widow and the expected result followed closely. The widow advertised this way: "A refined widow of 30, a stranger in the city, wishes the friendship of a cultured gentleman of sufficient means to be of assistance to her. Address Winifred Bartram, postoffice." The wedding followed quickly after the old man replied to the ad and it wasn't a fortnight after the knot was tied that she raised a howl because he held his knie at this way and his fork that. In fact she found fault with his table manners in general and his ways in particular and otherwise made life a burden for the old farmer. He now sues for a divorce, and the charming Winifred, knowing of his wealth and considering that his sands of life have nearly run, is fighting the case.

A HAPPY BIRTHDAY.—Sunday's Oregonian: Friday, January 3, was the birthday anniversary of Miss Eva Taylor, the bright little daughter of Dr and Mrs N J Taylor. A number of friends called at the Brown, and enjoyed a delightful evening, grandly enjoyed by many features—the grand march down the hall, Miss Edna Taylor's music, little Annie Ditchburn's recitation, Frankie Fabre's song, and also one by Albert Cody. Games and refreshments followed. The thoughtful friends had kindly remembered the hostess of the occasion, and accordingly surprised her, with appropriate wishes. A pretty remembrance of the day, too soon the hour arrived for the many guests to bid a chery good night, for the evening was one of unwarmed enjoyment.

THE O P CASE.—Corvallis Times: Stenographer M J Wilkins completed this afternoon a schedule showing the exact amount of the unorganized labor and voucher claims in the O P matter of reference to A C Woodcock. The aggregate amount of uncontented labor, material and supply claims, is $59,052.74, and for labor and services, $188,256.44. This is but one class of claims, and does not take into consideration the claims for vouchers, fees, taxes or contested labor or vouchers claims. Mr Wilkins will go to Salem to assist Referee Woodcock early next week in the preparation of his report.

FOR INSPECTING TREES.—The following is the law for inspecting nursery stock, trees, plants, etc. before shipment: "Title 15 All persons growing nursery stock, trees and plants for sale or to be
