ABRAHAM LINCOLN.

Appropriate Exercises Held at the University of Oregon in Honor of His Memory.
Daily Guard, April 14.
Thirty-one years ago today Abraham Lincoln, while sitting in a box in Ford's theatre in Washington, received a wound from a pistol in the hands of John Wilkes Booth, a crazy actor, that caused his death. The news of the martyred president's assassination spread like wild fire through the land and the whole nation was thrown into convulsions of sorrow. The name of Abraham Lincoln was first in the minds of the more conservative element of the American people at that time, and the reverence for his name has continued unabated to the present day.
This morning during assembly hour services commemorative to his memory were held in Villard Hall of the University of Oregon. J W Geary Post, No 7, and Company C, O N G, were invited to participate in the services, and attended in rank. Quite a number of visitors were also present.
A cast of Lincoln was placed in front of the large stage, and served to bring back tender memories of the nation's greatest leader. On the stage were seated the faculty, those who were to take part in the exercises and others.
President Chapman introduced the speakers, always adding a few fitting words at the close of each address. He spoke of the memory of Lincoln as being yet green in the minds of the American people.
The services opened with a hymn, "Abide with Me," by the choir, which was followed with prayer by Dr M C Wire.
Dr C E Loomis, a member of the G A R, was then introduced and spoke in behalf of that organization. He began by comparing the early life of Lincoln with that of the great and glorious light of a beneficent star in the constellation of his name always expressing a deep emotion in the minds of Americans. By them his memory is regarded with a respect, reverence, love and veneration which words are inadequate to express. This emotion is not comparable to any other emotion that the human race is capable of expressing. Lincoln possessed the highest, the noblest, the purest of human traits. The doctor gave a brief description of the civil war, showing its bright and its dark sides. The G A R were proud of the memory of Lincoln and of the scars and sufferings which he received in that great war. Attention was called and the G A R stood and gave a salute in honor of their departed leader.
Hon S H Friendly spoke in behalf of the University. Lincoln was a man of actions, not words. With him it was not politics but country. He spoke the feelings of the G A R, saying too much honor could not be bestowed upon the men who had left their homes to fight for their country. We as a people can make no mistake in following out the principles of Lincoln in maintaining the government. The remarks all the way through were full of excellent thought.
Miss Barlett recited the "Commemoration Ode," by Jas Russell Lowell, written for Lincoln, after which Miss Formosa Henderson sang one of her pleasing solos.
Prof Thos Condon spoke of Lincoln as a typical American. He did not wait for destiny to work for him through years of humble toil. Early in Colonial times were sown the seeds of two different classes of people. These forces grew into jealousy and then an enmity which finally burst in a cyclone that rent asunder parties and society. The country felt the need of a leader and Providence sent Lincoln, who safely guided it past the danger point.
Miss Maud Wilkins then recited a piece to the brave and great men of nations, paying special tribute to Lincoln.
Hon H B Miller spoke on Lincoln as a politician. His whole life was intertwined with politics. He often met defeat but always bore it with good grace. He possessed moral courage to do right in all things. The speaker admonished students and young men if they would be politicians after the Lincoln model.
The exercises closed with a hymn by the choir, and the benediction.

THE STORM.

The River Slowly Receding—The Foot Hills Covered With Snow.
Daily Guard, April 14.
The rain has abated somewhat since yesterday morning and the river has been slowly receding since yesterday noon. This forenoon it registered 10 feet and was still falling. Heavy rains fell again early last evening, but during the night the temperature fell and the rain turned to snow. Early this morning heavy skiffs of snow fell and the foot hills were all white, having been covered to the depth of an inch or more with the "beautiful" snow in such quantity is very unusual at this time of year and will greatly retard the growth of grain and fruits.
The latest news from Fall Creek shows the loss of saw logs by the Fall Creek Improvement Company to be as great or greater than was at first thought. A communication from Fall Creek to this paper states that the boom at Fall Creek Sunday afternoon allowing about 1,500,000 feet of logs to escape out of the mouth of Fall Creek into the Willamette.
This statement, however, is only a rough guess, and is probably erroneous, as it is contradicted by the Eugene Mill and Lumber Company, for whom the logs were cut. The company states that in all there were nearly 1,500,000 feet of logs, but that 800,000 feet were still on the banks, and that only about 200,000 feet were afloat at the Fall boom, and are positive that the boom could not have exceeded 300,000 feet.
The Eugene Mill and Lumber Company's contract specifies that they were not to receive the logs until May 1, hence the loss will fall entirely upon the Fall Creek Improvement Company who are responsible for all the logs in the boom.
James John Kissinger also had about 225,000 feet in the Fall boom, so that the entire number of feet of logs escaping would amount to about 425,000 feet.
The boom at Fall Creek broke at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon and just about that time the first saw logs began to appear in this city. These first logs are believed to have come from a small drive in the Coast Fork a short distance above its mouth. The logs quit passing here late yesterday afternoon and the company estimates that about one-fifth of the number that escaped from the boom have passed by this city yesterday. A number of available small boats were secured and men employed in catching the logs as they came down the river, but only a small proportion of those passing were saved. It is not known what the loss will aggregate but it will be several hundred dollars, as the logs are worth $2.50 per thousand feet at the boom.
There are about 2,000,000 feet of saw logs in the Mohawk, a tributary of the McKenzie, for the Harrisburg Lumber Company, but they are considered to be safe, as no work has been received of them having gone out.

ANOTHER PIONEER GONE.

At the family residence near Dexter, Lane county, Oregon, Wednesday evening, April 8th, at 10 o'clock, Mr William Veatch passed over the river to death. Mr Veatch was born in Indiana, March, 1822, crossed the plains to Oregon in 1854, settled in Lane county, where he has lived since, with the exception of about 15 years that he lived in Douglas county, near Canyonville. He leaves one son and four daughters, besides a host of other relatives and friends to mourn his death. He was brought from Dexter to Canyonville where his funeral was preached by the writer to a large congregation.

THE BEST SPRING MEDICINE
Is SIMMONS' LIVER REGULATOR—don't forget to take it. The Liver gets sluggish during the winter, just like all nature, and the system becomes choked up by the accumulation of waste, which brings on Malaria, Fever and Ague and Rheumatism. You want to wake up your Liver now, but be sure you take SIMMONS' LIVER REGULATOR to do it. It also regulates the Liver—keeps it properly at work, when your system will be free from poison and the whole body invigorated.
You get THE BEST BLOOD when your system is in A1 condition, and that will only be when the Liver is kept active. Try a Liver Remedy once and note the difference. But take only SIMMONS' LIVER REGULATOR—this is SIMMONS' LIVER REGULATOR which makes the difference. Take it in powder or in liquid already prepared, or make a tea of the powder; but take SIMMONS' LIVER REGULATOR. You'll find the RED Z on every package. Look for it.

ASYLUM INVESTIGATION.

The State Board of Trustees Examined All the Charges.
Salem Journal of Tuesday says: Governor Lord, Secretary of State Kincaid and State Treasurer Metcalf, as trustees of the state insane asylum, today conducted an investigation into the charges recently made against the management, briefly stated as follows:
1. The charge of Augusta Behle, that her son, one Thophilus Collins, an epileptic patient, was choked, etc, by an attendant on ward three.
2. The charge of A M Smith, a discharged employe, of negligence on the part of Martin Rowley, supervisor of wards, in that he played cards during his hours on duty and that Superintendent Paine refused to investigate the matter.
3. The charge of Miss Ella Long, that her brother, one Ed Long, an insane patient, had been abused by an attendant at the cottage farm.
It appeared from the testimony that Mrs Behle and Miss Long had both applied for positions and been refused employment by Superintendent Paine for what he considered sufficient reasons.

THE INVESTIGATION

was conducted openly. Representatives of the press were asked to be present but none considered the charges sufficiently serious to avail themselves of the invitation. The employes and records, as well as all the testimony and charges already read to writing were placed before the board, who conducted a searching inquiry into all the charges.
The board returned to the state house in a hack after a two hours' examination and citing a great many witnesses. Superintendent Paine was seen this afternoon but declined to express an opinion. He simply said he counted the fullest publicity in all such matters. The charges related to such occurrences as were liable to happen at an asylum and so far as certain patients are concerned are unavoidable.

NO FINDINGS

will be made by the board. They have simply ordered a memorandum made on the records of the board that certain charges were investigated, but that they do not deem it necessary to make any findings, thus completely exonerating Superintendent Paine and the accused employes.

DAVIDSON'S CASE.

DAVIDSON'S CASE.—Salem Statesman of today. Hon John D Daly, the indefatigable worker from Lincoln county, was in Salem yesterday and succeeded in getting the Salem board of trade sufficiently interested in the Yaquna bay improvements to send the following telegram to Senator J H Mitchell: "Urges retention of full Yaquna bay appropriation before senate. A I Wagner, secretary board of trade." In due time, and in a very short time comparatively speaking, an answer came back in Senator Mitchell's usual prompt style as follows: "Have no time. We will protect Yaquna bay and all other appropriations. J H Mitchell."

SODAVILLE ITEM.

At a special meeting held last Thursday evening, the members of the Sodaville Concert Band completed arrangements for the building of a fine hall, which is to be completed early in the summer. The bill for lumber has been placed at Sloper & Lauriston's saw mill.

A DIFFERENCE.

"It is unlawful for a bicycle to navigate on the sidewalks of Salem, but a Chinese wash-cart that takes up four times as much space, sails along with perfect freedom. Who wouldn't be a Chinaman?"
