A Bold Thief.

An individual has been making his way through this section of the state. He is a woman traveling with him, and a case in Roseburg.

Exciting events in the case of the woman who is making her way through the state. The officers have been on his trail but so far he has escaped their vigilance.

This individual, or individuals, for it seems there is a woman traveling with him, stole a case in Roseburg last Friday. From there he traveled north, being on the road at night only.

When within four miles of Cottage Grove the pirate of the highway became tired of a single rig and without consulting that gentlemen's wishes in the matter, he "swapped" the stolen cart for a buck, a horse and harness and a horse belonging to Frank Veatch. The theft was committed Monday night. The officers in this city were notified and last night Constable Scott had men out searching for the miscreant but they failed to find him, though officers thought they had trace of him on the McKenzie road. They went up as far as "Dutch Henry's" 30 miles from this city, but did not find their man. It is quite likely that he has taken some other road.

"The Lost Cabin" in the Santiam. It is said that Mr. Louis Paquet, Mr. Walter Jones, and Captain Robertson, are fitting out an expedition in Portland to leave for the head waters of the Santiam in the month of July.

The party will penetrate is not by any means unknown to Mr. Louis Paquet, as he has traversed it a number of times. Most every season the past few years has found him prospecting in that region.

Mr. Paquet, who is a native of Oregon, went into that region about 30 years ago and built the "lost cabin" and prospected around for quite a while. They found evidence of a rich deposit, but the party had a hard time to come out of the mountains, without having accomplished anything.

About the year ago Mr. Paquet led a party back into the same section, and after some time succeeded in finding the remains of the old cabin. There was not much of the cabin left, but enough to locate it beyond all question.

Since then Mr. Paquet has been back, and always with him has been a party of men of gold quartz. It is a very hard trip, through the wildest country imaginable. The timber is heavy, the canyons are deep, and the sides of the mountains are deep and precipitous.

There is more catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. IN CORVALLIS.

Hon. H. B. Miller not Satisfied With the Sentiment He Found There. Corvallis Times: "Mr. H. B. Miller, whose name has been frequently mentioned in connection with the presidency of the O. A. C. was in Corvallis last Friday and Saturday. Mr. Miller was dissatisfied with the treatment he had received at the hands of the Corvallis newspapers, as well as the sentiment he found among the Corvallis people hostile to his selection for the O. A. C. presidency. Mr. Miller felt that he was not treated right by the man who said that Mr. Miller was "a successful operator of a Josephine county saw mill," and he felt that he was not treated right by the Times when it printed what he said. Mr. Miller is a pleasant talker, and in an argument of an hour or more he explained wherein he had been falsely represented. He had not, he said, sought the presidency of the O. A. C. His name had been mentioned by certain members of the board who wanted a change, and the idea was a complete surprise to himself. At first he declined, he said, but being pressed and being assured of very liberal support by the board members, he finally wavered, and then yielded. He thought that he was equipped by nature and by education for the position, and experience to be the head of the agricultural college, and he said that if at the end of a year he couldn't make the thing gibe, he would step down and out. He denied emphatically that he had ever been a politician, but said that he would have accepted the congressional nomination because he thought Washington would have afforded exceptional advantages for educating his children. Besides this, Mr. Miller says much more. What he said is very effectively put forth in a recent article in the Grand published at Eugene, where Mr. Miller resides, and we reprint the article in another column. Mr. Miller returned home Saturday."
