Castoria is so well adapted to children that it is recommended as superior to any prescription known to us. H. A. AUSTIN, M. D., 111 So. Oxford St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"The use of Castoria is so universal and its merits so well known that it seems a work of supererogation to endorse it. Few are the intelligent families who do not keep Castoria within easy reach." CARLOS MARTIN, D. D., New York City.

Castoria cures Colic, Constipation, Sour Stomach, Diarrhoea, Eructation, Kills Worms, gives sleep, and promotes digestion, Without injurious medication.

"For several years I have recommended your 'Castoria,' and shall always continue to do so as it has invariably produced beneficial results." EDWIN F. PARDEE, M. D., 126th Street and 7th Ave., New York City.

WALL STREET'S HYSTERICS.

The New York World is one of the strongest democratic gold standard papers in the country, but it is not afraid to read Wall Street a lesson occasionally. Only a few days ago it turned its editorial batteries loose on the stock gamblers and gold brokers who congregate there in the following vigorous manner:

The Stock exchange has no Bryan, so far as is known, but on Saturday it worked itself into quite a fair imitation of the Chicago convention hysteric. One of the members frantically waved an American flag, and there was a great outcry and uproar against "Bryan and Populism." The tumult ended with the organization of a "Bankers' and Brokers' McKinley Campaign Club," consisting of democrats and republicans.

The men may mean well, but they don't seem to know that any demonstration which they may make is not calculated to help the republican ticket. They ought to have received a strong hint from St. Louis and to have learned for certain from Chicago that anything which "Wall street" wants is quite sure to be hotly opposed by immense bodies of voters in other parts of the country.

Nor is this feeling without reason. Many of the wrongs and grievances complained of by the voters who sent the two-thirds majority to the Chicago convention are real and just. While not upholding the remedy they propose, we have never for a moment lost sight of the fact that their grievance is great and their complaint in some part well founded.

It is the concrete and combined power for which "Wall street" is the symbol in the popular mind that has made a monopoly of transportation, that has brought all the prime necessities of life—iron, steel, oil, coal, beef, sugar, and a hundred others—under the control of trusts and combinations that oppress labor at one end and rob consumers at the other.

It is "Wall street" that has depleted the treasury of gold and exacted usurious millions from the government in forced bond sales to "protect its credit."

It is you, gentlemen of the gambling exchanges, manipulators of money corners, organizers of swindling trusts, wreckers of railroads, shearers of "lambs" tax dodgers and absorbers of money that you never earned, who have done more than all the ignorant blundering at Washington and all the demagoguery at the South and West to raise the "spectre of Anarchy and Populism" at which you now stand affrighted.

THE ELECTORAL COLLEGE.

In these days when every man wants to figure for himself how the election is going it is useful to have at hand the electoral vote cast by each state. Here is the list:

A majority of all, being 224 votes, is necessary to elect.

If the 8 cent tariff was taken off the hop crop of Oregon what would our farmers do? They are now getting nearly half that for their hops.

It is a point not to be overlooked that not a single democratic newspaper in Ohio is bolting Bryan and free silver. It should be put more forcibly. There is not one that is not giving the national ticket and platform its earnest and fullest support. Three of the principal democratic papers of the state, the Cleveland Plaindealer, Cincinnati Enquirer and the Columbus Press, were fighting for free silver long before the national convention met.

Druggist and Carpenter vs Burglars (Alias Cat.)

A few evenings ago at the hour of about 10 o'clock a prominent druggist of this city heard a peculiar noise on the roof of his store. The strange sounds continued for some time, and as the druggist could account for them in no other way, he was at last led to believe that they were made by burglars who were trying to gain admittance to his store from the upper story. He resolved to make an investigation and asked a very brave carpenter who was found of adventure to assist him in the exploration.

The two repaired to the outer yard and cautiously began to mount the back stairs. The druggist took the lead and the carpenter, as a means of protection to the former, brought up a close rear. Both men were very brave but to face one or perhaps a dozen burglars is a dangerous undertaking and was a trying ordeal on their nervous system. As they ascended the steps the druggist, affecting to assume tones of authority, as if he were backed up by a whole posse of armed policemen called out: "Who's here?" and "What do you want?"

He repeated the calls several times but received no reply. Perhaps the burglars were keeping silent until the proper moment came when they would resent the approach of their would be apprehenders. The thought that they might then be within close proximity to the numerous ruffians made the heart of the druggist beat a little harder and a little faster against the outer walls of his chest, while that of the carpenter kept close accompaniment. But it would not do to give up the chase, and stirring up all the remaining courage they had, our two brave, burglar hunters pressed on when, presto, a welcome sound greeted their ears. It was like the sweetest music, which had such a soothing effect that their hearts soon settled back to their normal conditions.

"Why," exclaimed the druggist "it is only a darn cat."

After petting pussy they returned to the cheerful room below feeling that they had failed to route a very brave thief.

JOE PETTY PARALYZED.

A Well-Known Character Goes East For Treatment.

Joe Petty, a character well known in Portland, Eugene and Astoria, has gone East to have an operation performed for partial paralysis. He will be treated at Bellevue hospital, New York.

Joe Petty has been one of the best known characters around Astoria for a number of years. He was born in Portland, where his father was a sailor boarding-house keeper. Even as a boy he was noted for his strength and agility, and as he grew older he became famous as a high tumbler and traveled with a circus several seasons as a star attraction. Between seasons he was a prizefighter and sailor boarding-house runner, in which latter capacity he became notorious around Astoria. While he dissipated a great deal, he retained his wonderful strength, and his system seemed to be unimpaired.

He had a ranch on the Walluski, and a few years ago his wife was mysteriously murdered there and he was charged with the crime, but the coroner's jury exonerated him and decided that it was a case of suicide. At the beginning of the last fishing season he was employed on sealing grounds up the river. One day, while a net was being hauled ashore, the rope broke and a single-toe flew back and struck him on the back of the head. He was unconscious for a short time, and when he recovered he felt such a pain in his head that he did not return to work, but, coming to Astoria, he went out to his ranch. The day after his arrival he fell down at his cabin door with a stroke of paralysis. When found he could not move a portion of his body, nor has he been able to since, although he has received the best treatment at the hospital. His mind is clear and his muscles strong and hard as ever, but he is entirely unable to assist himself in the slightest particular.

Mental Geography.

Echange: The most populous country is Oblivion. Many go there but few return.

The deepest river is Time.

The region where no living thing has habitation is called Yesterday.

The most highly civilized country is Today.

The highest mountain is called Success. Few reach the top save those who watch sharply for the passing of the spirit of the mountain. Opportunity, who carries upward as those that seize hold upon him.

The region where no man hath ever set foot is called Tomorrow.

The greatest desert is called Life, and it hath many oases. These are called Hope, Ambition, Love, Charity, Home. And of them all, the last is most beautiful. Besides these, are many others, smaller in extent, whence the traveler obtaineth refreshments during the weary journey through Life.

The hunters killed a large cougar Saturday and sold the hide for $5, to a man who will have it dressed for a rug.

Speaking of wild animals reminds me that Johnny H saw a bear in a tree a few days ago and hurried to camp for a gun but when he returned his bear-skip was conspicuous by its absence. Yes, we believe it was a "bar" and not a chipmunk, as some might insinuate.

A party of young men, all from Eugene, have been camped at John Hills for several days. They started to go to the Lakes but one of their horses seems to have an aversion to hard work and refuses to proceed. Like one of old boys declare: "A horse! A horse! My Kingdom for a horse!"

Rev Daniel Vaughan and son John of Eugene are here. The former preached a very fine sermon Sunday, and received good attention from the audience present. Sabbath school was also held by a gentleman who has an aversion to seeing his name in print.

YOURS TRULY.

Alabama Election.

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Aug. 4.—Returns so far show conclusively that Johnson and the entire democratic ticket win by a majority of about 40,000. The lowest estimated majority is 25,000, the highest 60,000. The legislature is surely democratic by at least two-thirds. Heavy democratic gains were made in the white counties in Northern Alabama. In this portion, Goodwin, populist, ran behind Kolb's vote of 1894. The populist leaders of Birmingham, claim that thousands of fictitious votes were cast in the black belt, and threaten that if Goodwin is not elected they will organize the populist against Bryan and carry the state for McKinley. There is no doubt that this is the greatest democratic victory in the state since 1840.

The Described Bloomers.

The following description of how bloomers were made was written by a lady in Pendleton by a young lady friend. The East Oregonian is permitted to publish it only upon a sacred promise to never, never divulge either the name of the writer or the party written to:

"They are pantaloons very wide where men strike their knees and full over the pistol pockets. Tight around the knees to keep the mice from crawling in, with buttons on the south sides. They are worn by damsels as they fly by on their "bykes."

A NEW COMPANY.

A new company has been organized in this city for some time and is soon to be launched upon the theatrical world. The troupe consists of the Cotton children and their mother, who have been spending the summer here, strengthened by Alf Dillard who will accompany them as musician, Fred Mummy, who will have comedy and tasses, profundos, and Ralph Brumley, who will also have comedy. Geo. Gilt will join the troupe later as manager. The company makes its first appearance at Roseburg. The company will handle specialties exclusively. The Cotton children, brother and sister, have given several entertainments in this city and met with popular favor. They have been raised on the stage and are possessed of considerable ability.

The Oregonian is unfair in its press reports.

Instead of Senator Thurston opening the campaign in Wisconsin, it appears that it was a joint debate with C. S. Darrow, a Chicago silverite, and that the majority of the 8,000 present were in favor of Mr. Darrow.

A Burglar Makes a Bail

A burglar broke into a house in McMouth recently and carried away the following booty: One silver table spoon, one silver sugar spoon, one silver cake basket, four silver knives and forks, one silver napkin ring, all of which to the thief were free silver. Also one large pair of shears, one silver inkstand, two suits gents clothing, black, one ladies dress, one gents mackintosh, one ladies mackintosh, one felt hat, one pair gold other jewelry, finger rings and ladies shoes. Also one pair ladies shoes, one silver five, one silver thimble, one silver nothing more. The thief, it is believed, was headed for Corvallis. It is suggested that this burglar has perhaps gone to Newport to cut a swell with his new duds and jewelry. At any rate the officers here were unable to find any trace of whereabouts.

"THE SILENT SISTERS."

—It seems like the title of a story by May I Wilkins, doesn't it? But these are truly live. They are three of those old maids and farmers, and their life is a desolate old farm in Tennessee. Two of them work in the field; the third does the cooking and the other household work. There is but one period of the year that any member of the family has anything to say to any other member. All during the winter, spring and summer they go about their business with the seal of silence in their lips. When fall comes and the corn is harvested they break the silence, and only then to quarrel over the proceeds divisions. When she has succeeded in getting all she thinks proper, silence reigns again until the next harvest time. The sisters have made a name for themselves. They are known far and near as the "dumb triplets," although this is scarcely appropriate.
