Some time ago Jack Montgomery, of Jackson county, captured a coyote and tied a bell to him, hoping this to drive others of the kind out of the country.  Mr. Williamson tore the hull of the old Three Sisters up and delivered the machinery at the old O. P. depot, taking the woodwork of the craft as bay for his labor. The hull he sold to Eph Beach, who will use as much of it as possible in the construction of a barn on his place in Linn county.
 Roseburg Plaindealer: A very ludicrous scene occurred at Pine Grove church last Sunday during the baptismal exercises at that place. Rev. Mr. McClain was preparing to immerse a new convert. He stepped down into the water with the candidate. Standing upon a rock, he went through the usual ceremony, clasp with the words: "I baptize thee in the name of the Father, Son and Holy Ghost," and assayed to immerse the candidate; just then his feet slipped and both the minister and the candidate went under, while the crowd on the bank stood in a hearty laugh. The by-standers evidently thought that the minister should not "stand on slippery places."

 Roseburg Plaindealer: Potatoes have been selling in this city this week at 25 cents per pound, or $1.50 per bushel. Last year at this time they were selling at 40 cents per bushel. The man who has raised a good crop of potatoes this year is in luck.

A CIRCULATING LIBRARY.—The Dalles T-M says: "Miss Henrietta Owen, with the assistance of several ladies of the Dalles, has started a movement toward a circulating library in every town, and the Dalles is probably the only place of its size without such an advantage. Good miscellaneous books at this time are a luxury and obtainable only by a few, whereas a circulating library places at a trifling cost good and profitable reading within reach of the mass of the people. Such a movement should by all means be encouraged. Miss Owen has recently graduated from the University of Oregon, and is familiar with good literature and highly competent to place in our city a library of which we may justly be proud."

These are the two women who were arrested the other night in Eugene and fined for their disgraceful actions. It is hoped they will reform before it is everlastingly too late.

DELINQUENT TAXES.
 Florence West: "Deputy Sheriff Lyons arrived in Florence last Saturday with the delinquent list for that pocket with which he labored until he started for Eugene expecting to finish his labor in Mapleton and Hermant precincts on his return trip."
 From him we learn that Florence precinct is represented on the delinquent list to the amount of $146.21. Mr. Lyons succeeded in collecting $7.29 from non-residents. Of the balance, $46.94, quite a large portion was paid tax. The total tax attached to the delinquent taxes up to the time of levy upon the property was $67.35.  TWO AXES STOLEN.—Attorney Skipworth the other day purchased two new axes, one for his office and the other for his residence, and placed them in the wood closet in the O. O. F. building for safe keeping. Some person stole both of them Friday or Saturday night. This will relieve Mr. S. from a good intention at least.

GETTING SCARED.—Editorial in today's Portland Oregonian: "Some friends of the republican campaign management ought to suggest to it that McKinley's election cannot be secured beyond peradventure by the easy method of making it pleasant for callers at Cannon and receiving for telegrams of congratulation. The Bryan management hugs no such delusion."
 A CHANGE.—J. V. Ehrgren has rented the room now occupied by Stone's barber shop, and will remove his stationary store into the same the first of next month. Mr. Stone has decided to remove to some other place, no one able to suggest to it where he will open up a shop. His family will probably remain here during the winter.

 NEW COUNTY BRIDGE.—The county court has ordered a new bridge built across Hills creek at Jasper. The contract has been awarded to M. D. Chamberland for $400.
 NIGHT CHANGED.—The board of directors of the Eugene school district No 4 have changed the night of the regular monthly business meeting from Friday to Thursday.

A CRESWELL WIFE BEATER.

He was Fined the Full Penalty, Which was Exceedingly Small.
 Daily Guard, August 10.
 It has had state truly that the most despicable of all low down trutes is the wife beater. A man that will strike the woman that he has sworn to protect through life should be an outcast.
 It appears that Lane county has one of this class of criminals. One Wm. Lane was tried before Justice G. S. Miller at Creswell Saturday evening charged with cruelly beating his wife, being prosecuted by attorney Williams.
 From the evidence as related to the GUARD reporter, it appears that Mrs. S. was sick on the morning of the assault. Justice Miller was unable to arise until after 9 o'clock, when she went to the potato patch to dig some of them for her breakfast. Her husband forbade her touching them but she persisted when he slapped her in the face knocking her down a couple of times. Luckly she had a table fork in her hand and by threatening to jab his eyes out, at this time, protected herself from further assault at this place. Then she returned to the house when the brute again struck her and felled her to the floor. After this she had him arrested. Justice Miller hearing the evidence fined him $50 and costs, the full penalty under the statute, remarking that he was sorry that the penalty was not more severe. The money was paid.
 The next legislature should amend this law and make wife beating a penitentiary offense as the cowardly crime is one that should not be tolerated by a civilized people.

DEPUTY PROSECUTING ATTORNEY
 Lawrence T. Harris Appointed to This Office.
 Ever since the June election, and even prior thereto, quite a scramble has been indulged in for the appointment of deputy prosecuting attorney for Lane county. The matter was finally settled today by notification from prosecuting attorney Yates, of Corvallis, saying he had appointed Lawrence T. Harris, to the position. He had not been mentioned among the candidates hence his selection created quite a surprise.
 Mr. Harris is a young man born and reared in Eugene, and is the son of Dr. T. W. Harris, and has good ability. He graduated from the University of Oregon with high honors in the class of '93, and this spring took a degree from the law department of Ann Arbor, Mich., University, standing close to the head of his class.
 The GUARD tenders its congratulations to the gentleman, and wishes him much success in the position. Attorney J. M. Williams has held the position for the past two years and has made an earnest prosecutor. He will continue the practice of his profession here.

GRANT'S PASS.
 Circuit Judge Fullerton has handed down decisions in the following cases: Harriet E. Sladden vs Willis Brown, et al; order setting aside default and decree.

 TWO AXES STOLEN.—Attorney Skipworth the other day purchased two new axes, one for his office and the other for his residence, and placed them in the wood closet in the O. O. F. building for safe keeping. Some person stole both of them Friday or Saturday night. This will relieve Mr. S. from a good intention at least.

GETTING SCARED.—Editorial in today's Portland Oregonian: "Some friends of the republican campaign management ought to suggest to it that McKinley's election cannot be secured beyond peradventure by the easy method of making it pleasant for callers at Cannon and receiving for telegrams of congratulation. The Bryan management hugs no such delusion."
 A CHANGE.—J. V. Ehrgren has rented the room now occupied by Stone's barber shop, and will remove his stationary store into the same the first of next month. Mr. Stone has decided to remove to some other place, no one able to suggest to it where he will open up a shop. His family will probably remain here during the winter.
 APPOINTMENTS.—The county court has appointed Thos. J. Duckworth Justice of the peace and John T. Taylor constable for Elsie precinct, there having been vacancies in these offices in that precinct.

GONE TO HIS REWARD.

W. J. J. Scott, The Old Pioneer of Creswell, Died This Morning.
 Another of the noble pioneer men of Oregon passed away at his home near Creswell this morning at 6 o'clock, after an illness of six weeks. Mr. W. J. Scott. He was born in Morgan county, Illinois, October 15, 1824, and therefore has 71 years, 9 months and 24 days of age. Mr. Scott came across the plains in 1846, and first settled in Scott's valley, Douglas county, and some time afterward removed to near Creswell, where he owned large bodies of land. On October 3, 1850, he married Miss Sarrenea J. Robinson, who survives him. He also leaves ten grown children and one sister and a brother.
 The deceased lived in Eugene for a number of years for the purpose of educating his children, and formerly owned the land which is now known as Scott's addition to the city of Eugene, located in the south-eastern portion of the city.
 The success of the University of Oregon being located in Eugene, is greatly due to the efforts and liberality of Mr. Scott. He was a firm friend of higher education, as well as to the public school system. He was one of the members of the Union University Association appointed to solicit funds for the purchase of land upon which to locate the University of Oregon and also to erect the building now known as DeWitt Hall. It might be well to state here that Lane county, by the act of locating the University in Eugene, was compelled to furnish a site for the University and to place thereon and furnish a building to be of not less value than $50,000. It will be seen at once the herculean task imposed upon Eugene, which at that time, 1872, did not contain a population of over 1200. Of course the other members of the managers of the Association are also entitled to like credit. But Wm. J. J. Scott was one of the hardest workers of the board, and undoubtedly spent the most time of any one interested in the institution. When the time came for the accepting of the building by the State, there was between $8,000 and $4,000 due on it, and without paying that sum the State would not accept the structure. Mr. Scott came forward and temporarily assumed the entire indebtedness, and the State was satisfied. It may also be mentioned that Mr. Scott gave more money to the fund than any other one individual.
 He was one of God's noblemen and the people mourn for his loss. The University of Oregon will always remember him as one of the grand men that made its success possible.
 The funeral will occur at his late home tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock; interment in Howe's cemetery.

MRS. DITCHBURN WANTS DIVORCE.
 Oregonian: John Ditchburn, the attorney, has been sued for a divorce by his wife, Addie Ditchburn. The papers were filed in the state circuit court yesterday. The charge against the defendant is that he has been guilty of excessive indulgence in alcoholic stimulants, and while under their influence, has abused and sworn at her, rendering her life burdensome. Mrs. Ditchburn also alleges acts of her husband's ill-usage of her, covering the period of the past two years. She asks for a divorce from John Ditchburn, and a large sum of money, and to have her name carried in a large sized jag, and waxed very wroth because she left the baby carriage at his office, and he said he had pushed it out into the street.
 When she went with him to recover it, she asserts, that he cursed and swore at and in other ways exhibited a bad temper.
 On another occasion, she says he ordered his brother-in-law, Mark Duntley, out of the house, and again she accuses him of threatening to kill her. There are numerous other such allegations. There are two children, and she asks for custody of them. She says she is a dressmaker and can support them.
 The plaintiff avers that she is the owner in her own right of a house and lot at 184 Arthur street and she asks the court so to decree. She also asks $400 per month alimony, and the payment of counsel fees.
 The Ditchburns were married in this city December 24, 1883.
 The Ditchburns were formerly located in Eugene and Jack at one time kept a cheap restaurant here.
