Washouts, and Damage to Settlers Along the Bottoms.

The Willamette river at this city this morning presented a sea of water. The stream had attained a height of 19 feet, according to the register on the river bridge at 6 o'clock this morning, the highest since the flood of '90, when the rise at its highest point reached twenty-two feet and a half, and the waters continued at a high stage for seven days, stopping all trains and mails during that time and doing $40,000 damage to Lane county in loss of roads and bridges.

The rise of the Willamette was quite rapid, occasioned by warm chinook rains which brought the snow recently deposited in the mountains out in such volumes as to soon fill the streams to overflowing. The rains have fallen almost incessantly since Friday night and greatly increased the volume of water which the streams were unable to carry away. The Willamette at this city raised from the 6-foot mark yesterday afternoon to the 14-foot mark yesterday afternoon, when it began to leave the banks of the stream. By six o'clock this morning it had reached a height of 19 feet and all the bottom lands along the stream were submerged. At nine o'clock last night the wind suddenly shifted from the south to the north and the temperature fell several degrees. This doubtless turned the rain, which was falling in the mountains, into snow. The weather continued cool last night and today and the river began to go down this morning and has fallen quite rapidly today. The danger is now over unless the temperature should grow warm again.

IN EUGENE.

In Eugene no damage has resulted from the high water. The swale south of town was flooded to overflowing and sidewalks in the south part were floating last evening. The sewer is flooded by back water from the river, but lacks fully two feet of being as high as it was last winter though the river is 2 feet higher than it was last winter. This is probably due to change in the current of the river. The only place that the sewer has overflowed is on the Phil Miller property on sixth street. The water just reached one corner of the building at the lannery, and operations were not suspended. The race is overflowed and water power will not be available for several days. The damage to the race cannot be told until the waters have receded. The electric light plant is being run by steam power and the flour mill is shut down. Water attained a height of two or three feet in both buildings. A part of the wing built to protect north approach of the bridge has been carried away and a large quantity of drift wood has been deposited against the approach. The approach and the bridge, however, have remained intact.

TRAINS AND MAILS DELAYED.

Freight trains have been abandoned by the Southern Pacific company and passenger trains are irregular.

No 18 local for Roseburg, due here at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon arrived at seven o'clock yesterday evening. No 16 overland for San Francisco due here at 1:30 p. m. today arrived at 7 p. m. and laid over until 9 p. m., when it was ordered on to Creswell. The Shasta flyer and No 15 overland for Portland, due here this morning, failed to arrive.

The delay north of here is caused by a washout between Jefferson and Marion. The delayed overland which arrived here this morning from Portland was sent out by the West Side division from Portland and crossed over on the O. C. & E's line near Corvallis. Another train was started out of Portland this morning by the East Side line, but no definite information can be gained as to when it will reach this city.

The delay south of here is caused by a washout at Lurch's Spur, two miles this side of Cottage Grove. The Shasta flyer and No 15 overland for Portland are held at Cottage Grove. No 16 overland for San Francisco is held at Creswell this side of the washout. No 18 Roseburg local laid at Creswell last night and this forenoon was ordered back to Portland on No 17's time. It had several cars of piling and took a pile driver from this station which will be used in repairing the track between here and Portland. No transfer of passengers or mail was made at Lurch's spur and no San Francisco mail has been received in this city since yesterday morning. A construction train has been sent out from Roseburg to repair the break in the track at Lurch's spur as soon as the water goes down. On the Springfield branch at Coburg yesterday cars loaded with rock were run out on the bridge across the McKenzie to weight it down.

STAGES STOPPED.

Bangs' McKenzie stage started out on its first trip to Leaburg this morning but was compelled to turn back at Henderson because of high waters. Bangs' Sluslaw stage was also started out this morning and got as far as the long bridge on Coyote when it too was compelled to turn back. The stages will start out again tomorrow morning, as the mail laws require that they make an effort each day until they succeed in getting through.

ALONG THE RIVER.

Along the river considerable damage has undoubtedly occurred to gardens, orchards and stock, but the extent of the damage cannot be told until the water has fallen. On Patterson island near this city two families who were surrounded by water signalled for help this morning by firing off guns. They could not be reached, but were not in immediate danger as the water soon began to recede. Telegraph wires are not affected and communication between Ashland and Portland is kept open.

Owing to lack of outside news the extent of the storm is unknown, but the flood is at least general to the Willamette valley.

AT 4 O'CLOCK.

The latest reports are to the effect that the overland from San Francisco would arrive at 5:30 p. m., the washout having either been repaired or a transfer made this side of Cottage Grove. The local from Portland was expected at 4:30, a transfer having been made at Marion.

NOTES.

The river had fallen to the 17 foot mark at 3 o'clock this afternoon.

Mr. Davies, who lives just across the Eugene bridge, had a number of hogs drowned.

The sewer has done splendid work all through the storm. It is worth double what it cost for ridding the city of surface water.

Before the grading of the streets the river used to back up into the city whenever the river registered sixteen feet at the bridge. Now a twenty foot rise does not put any water into the city.

The territory on South Willamette street was one huge lake yesterday afternoon and several barns in that neighborhood were flooded.

The passengers of the south bound overland train took their breakfast in this city this morning.

The Eugene butchers all killed enough stock and hauled the same to town yesterday afternoon to last them two or three days. Wise men.

The flouring mill is closed down on account of the high water and the electric light plant is now run by steam.

THE GYPSY WILL NOT COME.

The O. R. & N. Company Announces That It Will Not Run Boats Above Harrisburg.

M. Svarverud, local freight agent for the O. R. & N. Company in this city last season, has written to know if the company intended running a boat to Eugene this winter. He received a reply from D. C. O'Neilly today which is substance as follows:

"Our present intent is not to run above Harrisburg. Our experience with the Eugene business last season was so bad that we are loth to embark in it again until we can at least see sufficient business to pay operating expenses."

If the business of Harrisburg will pay the company to run a boat there it certainly would seem that it would pay to run one to Eugene. The volume of freight handled in this city is certainly as great as that at Harrisburg, and the additional expense of running here is not very great.

THE DIVINITY STUDENTS SURPRISED.—Last evening the students of the Eugene Divinity School were tendered a surprise party by about thirty of their friends. At about 7:30 o'clock the surprisers marched in a body to the school building and took full possession and the young divines surrendered without the least bit of resistance, so complete was the surprise. However, they were equal to the occasion and entertained their guests in a royal manner. Several hours were delightfully spent in songs, recitations and social conversation. During the evening a substantial lunch, which the invaders brought with them, was partaken of and was heartily appreciated. Every one present seemed to have an enjoyable time and the event will long be remembered as one of the most pleasant in the history of the school. The names of those who were present are as follows: Dean E. C. Sanderson, Mrs. M. L. Rose, the Misses Fannie Hemenway, Dora Laird, Edythe Vincent, Belle Keeney, Nellie Mulkey, Pearl Lakin, Lella Hayes, Ida Evenson, Margaret Hollenbeck, Annie Awbrey, Alice Hemenway, Vinnie Knapp, Clarice Evenson, Pearl Park, Doretha Dale, Estella Rowland, Mae Awbrey, Laura Burnett, Florence Burnett, Edna Burnett, Edith Denney, Alice Smith, Ora Reed, Mrs. R. OFF FOR CORVALLIS.—The U. of O. football team, accompanied by their coach Mr. Frick and Prof. Condon, and a number of their friends left for Corvallis this morning, where they play the O. A. C's tomorrow afternoon. The boys all wore college colors and huge yellow hued chrysanthemums, and left with a determination to win the game. This is the first of the intercollegiate series. A number of the college girls were present to cheer the boys on their departure. The GUARD hopes to announce tomorrow evening their victory over the farmers.

NOT TRUE.—Salem Journal: The Salem Woolen Mills have not reduced wages as has been reported on the streets for several days. When the mills started up, before election, the wages of seven men were advanced from $1 per day to $1.25. The wages paid are all low, but not lower than what other mills pay for similar work. The report that the mills at Oregon City have raised wages 12 per cent is not true as has been published. The rumored raise of 10 cents per man in the Oregon City paper mills is also a mistake.

TEAMS PHOTOGRAPHED.—The first and second foot ball teams of the U. of O. have been photographed by the Eugene Photo Company. One dozen each of two sizes have been ordered. The smaller size is 7x10 and the larger 11x14. They will be used for advertising purposes. The work was done by Miss Maggie Whitney, who, though having had to labor under great disadvantages, is becoming quite a proficient artist.

LOVE IN OLD AGE.—The county clerk last evening granted a marriage license to Benjamin C. Epperson, aged 72, and Mrs. Rebecca B. Jackson, aged 45.

ONE OF THE PROSPERITY REPORTS.—Albany Democrat: Every effort is being made to make it appear that prosperity is returning with a jump. Certainly everybody who has it to return, but the public wants the truth and not highly colored reports sent out merely for effect. A sample is a dispatch in the New York Herald saying the two big chair factories of Albany, Oregon, employing fifty men, had started up after election, on account of the result, whereas they have been running right along doing good business.

SATURDAY'S FOOTBALL GAME.

Coach Frick Describes the Game and Expresses Himself Plainly.

Game called at 3 p. m. Edmundson kicked off for Eugene. O. A. C. got the ball and by a series of end runs and line bucks carried the ball to U. of O.'s 30 yard line. U. of O. took a brace and got the ball on downs. End runs by Bishop and Templeton and line bucks by Davidson carried the ball to O. A. C.'s five yard line when U. of O. lost the ball on downs. Brady Burnett for O. A. C. carried the ball out to their 25 yard line by a fake kick but O. A. C. lost the ball on a fumble. U. of O. bucked the line for short gains and then Fred Templeton made a touchdown by a 20 yard run. U. of O. tried a punt out for a try at goal but failed to catch the ball, so lost the chance to kick goal. O. A. C. then kicked off from center of field. U. of O. caught the ball and made slight gains but lost the ball on downs. O. A. C. bucked the line for gains amounting to 20 yards, but then was forced to pass the ball to the full back for a kick, but he fumbled, and U. of O. fell on the ball at their 30 yard line. U. of O. made slight gains but were forced to kick and O. A. C. caught the ball. After a series of fumbles U. of O. finally got the ball and the half ended with U. of O. in possession of the ball on O. A. C.'s 45 yard line.

Score, U. of O. 0; O. A. C. 0.
Second half McAllister kicked off 12 yards for O. A. C. and Gilliland fell on the ball. Fred Templeton and Bishop by end runs carried the ball to O. A. C.'s 20 yard line, but U. of O. failed them, to make their five yards in three downs and O. A. C. took the ball. Owens for O. A. C. bucked the line five yards and again for three. U. of O. held them for two downs and O. A. C. passed the ball to Burnett for a fake kick on third down and he circled U. of O.'s right end for a touchdown after a 40 yard run. Burnett failed to kick goal.
Score 4 to 4.

U. of O. kicked off from center of field. O. A. C. got the ball but failed to gain. Passed for kick but full back fumbled and U. of O. fell on the ball; U. of O. made steady gains bucking the lines and carried the ball over the goal line but fumbled the ball, Coleman falling on it and saving a touchdown for U. of O. McLaughlin kicked the goal.
Score 10 to 4, favor of U. of O.

O. A. C. kicked from center of field. U. of O. got the ball and forced it to the O. A. C. 20 yard line where they fumbled and O. A. C. fell on the ball. Burnett tried to kick but Davidson blocked it and Burnett kicked again, Bishop catching the ball and running it in 15 yards to O. A. C.'s 40 yard line. U. of O. lost ball on downs and O. A. C. punted. McLaughlin caught the ball and U. of O. forced it to O. A. C.'s 35 yard line when time was called.

Mr. Burkhardt, manager of the Multnomah football team, was the referee, and Mr. Raley, of the same club, was the umpire. Seth McAllister, of the U. of O., was line judge.

The officials were fair and conscientious in their work and gave satisfaction to all fair-minded people. The rowdies of Corvallis who viewed the game and the prize-fighters and other dirty players on the O. A. C. team were decidedly angry with the officials, however, because they would not permit steal of the game nor an exhibition of dirty football and prize-fighting on the part of Kelsey, Brady Burnett and one or two other O. A. C. men.

The O. A. C. team in the main were gentlemanly fellows and played fair ball, but there were some whose ideas of football appeared to have been gained from the prize ring and other equally contemptible places. There were a large number of spectators who were even worse; whose training in even common decency has been sadly neglected. They neglected no opportunity to insult and revile the Eugene contingent and conducted themselves in a way which was a disgrace to any community. Mr. Burkhardt, the referee, was attacked and struck twice by an individual called Kelsey, who was simply registered at the O. A. C. because of his inability as a bruiser. Mr. Burkhardt is a perfect gentleman and is respected by all who know him as a man of honor, and the assault was entirely unprovoked and was the most cowardly and outrageous proceeding ever seen on a football field.

The U. of O. team all played good, hard football, but were fair and gentlemanly in their conduct and won praise and golden opinion from all decent people.

I may well say I am proud of the U. of O. team both as football players and as gentlemen. J. G. FRICK.

COMPLIMENTARY.—Portland Rural Northwest: "Prof. F. L. Washburn, who while connected with the Oregon Agricultural college and experiment station was a frequent and welcome contributor to the Rural Northwest, recently supervised the planting of a carload of Eastern oysters in Oregon waters. The oysters were supplied by the United States Fisheries Commission, and at the request of Gov. Lord, Prof. Washburn was excused from his duties at the State University long enough to attend to this matter. As a student and professor of biology (the science of life) he has given much attention to the artificial propagation of oysters. If we can raise oysters on our coast it would save the state quite a sum of money which now goes east, as the majority of people much prefer the eastern oysters to our small native variety."

IMPROVING THE LIGHT.—Cottage Grove Moderator: "Andy Nelson, owner of the electric light plant is making arrangements to increase the power of his plant and improve the light. Another dynamo will be put in to be used exclusively for street lighting purposes, and the present one to be used exclusively for interior lighting. The plant will be moved from its present site and a new one built on the bank of the river some distance below Main street. The building is now under way and the change will take place soon. Back water interfered with the water wheel at the electric light plant here Sunday night and the people had to use lamps and the streets remained in darkness."

THE FLOOD AT SALEM.

The County Inundated—The State Dyke Washed Out.

SPECIAL TO THE GUARD.
SALEM, Nov. 16, 4 p. m.—The country about Salem is under water. The state dyke was washed out and some of the streets of Salem are overflowed. The loss of the potato crop is feared and this will be a heavy loss to the farmers. The river now stands at 25 feet and is raising at the rate of two inches per hour.

THE RAILROAD BREAK.

The break at Marion on the S. P. R. R. track will not be repaired until some time tonight.

Notice to the Public.

We, the undersigned members of the Salvation Army of Eugene, do hereby announce to the public and citizens of Lane county, that we have withdrawn our membership from the said Salvation Army. Our reasons we give below. We joined the Salvation Army for the purpose of working for the cause of Christ, and the salvation of souls, and the result has been—only the contempt of good society, with labor and money spent in vain, while our motives and efforts were pure. In the undertaking we have not only had to suffer the disrespect of our friends, but the reproach of our officers as well. We have tried to make allowances for them and cover up their shortcomings, hoping to make a success in the end. We have called upon our Divisional Agent repeatedly to adjust matters, but have only been ignored. We have ever been willing to suffer persecution for the cause of Christ, and have done all in our power to make this work a success, in establishing a cause which we conscientiously believed would be for the upbuilding of his kingdom; and we still believe the Salvation Army is a good and grand work where it is led and conducted upon religious principles. We must own, that this corps, with the present leaders, has made a complete failure. We have been all summer as "sheep without a shepherd," but we thank God that we, the local officers and soldiers of the corps, do not have to suffer the remorse of consciences on account of it, for we have done all within our power to make this work a success, and now we leave the rest in the hands of the Lord.

Retired.

Daily Guard, November 14.

Today's Cottage Grove Moderator: "The publication of the Moderator under the present management will cease with this issue, for the reason that the revenues of the situation are not sufficient remuneration for the services and time and attention devoted to its publication. Local funds between two municipal governments, and long standing grievances between factions, militates against public enterprise and obstructs the efforts of an enterprising newspaper. These circumstances appear to be irreparable, and the publisher of the Moderator has no grievance against any of the interested persons; but to the contrary, can say that the relations with all have been particularly agreeable and pleasant, and that the discontinuation is simply for the reason that there are inducements and opportunities in a larger field of newspaper work."

"Arrangements will be made for the publication of a paper, probably under the management of Mr. E. P. Thorp, well known to the newspaper fraternity."

Mr. Ross has made a live editor and we desire to see him retire. However we welcome our old friend Thorp back into the profession.

Springfield Items.

Nov 16.

After two weeks vacation the school opened last Monday.

The sick ones in Mr. Chessman's family are recovering. They have the sympathy of all in the bereavement of their little daughter Alene.

The wedding of Miss Grace Thompson and Mr. Roberts which took place at the home of the bride's parents, Nov. 11, was a quiet one, only relatives of the contracting parties being present.

The catfata which was given two weeks ago by the Allegretto Club, was "short and sweet," but we are promised a larger entertainment, musically, in the near future. But for lack of space we would make special mention of each one who so successfully sustained her part.

The teachers' institute meets here the latter part of this month.

REPORTER.

The 1861 Flood at Oregon City.

A stray weather-beaten copy of the Oregon Democrat, published at Albany, of Dec. 3, 1861, gives an account of the 1861 flood as follows: "The water courses, large and small, from which we have heard within the past day or two, have been higher than ever before known. The Willamette river has been over six feet higher than the oldest settler has ever seen it before." The paper goes on to say that it ceased rising about 11 o'clock the previous night and had fallen about six inches. The loss of property in Albany was great, amounting to not short of $30,000.

A FALSE REPORT.—The Oregonian's Corvallis correspondent who reported Saturday's game could not help venting his spleen upon the U. of O. team and the officers of the game, simply because the game was not won by O. A. C. The report was one-sided, unfair and untrue. The score was falsely given as 8 to 4 when it should have been 10 to 4, the true score.

ALLIGATORS DEAD.—Two of Wm. Ross's alligators died this week, and he is in mourning. Cause, unknown. The other one is lively and apparently in good health.

KILLED AN ANARCHIST.

Joseph N. Russell Kills His Son-in-Law and Says He is Glad of It.

Joseph N. Russell, an old settler on the Coquille river, Coos county, near Randolph, shot and killed his son-in-law, Andrew Carlson a day or two ago without apparent provocation. Russell is a republican in politics and his son-in-law is a populist.

Carlson was a widower, and he and his four children were stopping with his grandparents. He had returned from town with a load of provisions on the fatal day, and just prior to the shooting had carried an armful of wood into the house and had seated himself by one of his daughters. A moment after Carlson sat down the report of a rifle in an adjoining room was heard, and Carlson fell off his chair to the floor. At the sound made by the gun, Mrs. Russell ran into the house and found her son-in-law prostrate and his brains spattered all over the floor. The face of one of her grand daughters was bleeding from the bullet that had killed her father and grazed her face. Mrs. Russell next entered the bedroom where she found her husband with a smoking rifle in his hands, which he gave up. Russell evidently stood on the bed when he fired. The edges of the board on each side of the crack through which he fired, show powder marks.

The bullet took effect behind and above Carlson's left ear, passed through the head and came out below the right eye producing instant death. Russell made no attempt to escape, and yielded to arrest without protest, saying to the officers that he did a good deed for his country and was willing to be hanged right off for it. Russell was held without bail. It is intimated that he has been growing crazy of late, although he appeared to be clear headed.

THIRTEEN CENTS FOR HOPS.

Such a Price Was Offered in Salem Yesterday.

Daily Guard, November 13.

Today's Salem Statesman: "One offer of 13 cents for hops was made to a grower in Salem yesterday notwithstanding the fact that the regular quotation was 12@12 1/2 cents. Those having free hops are holding with more firmness and the buyers will necessarily be compelled to increase their offerings to a higher price."

"The Giesy hops at Aurora were sold the first of the week for 11 1/2 cents."

Self Denial Week.

The Salvation Army is all alive and actively engaged in preparing for its annual Self Denial Week, which takes place throughout the United States from November 16th to 23d, inclusive.

Large sums of money have been raised in past years and it is a wonderful testimony to the Army's development and activity. Each member of the Army, as well as the friends of its many social institutions, are asked to abstain from all luxuries and in many cases officers and soldiers have actually determined to do without certain articles of food which are ordinarily considered necessary, in order that by their act of self denial they may add financial support to the Army and its many different branches of work. The social operations throughout the country have been greatly developed during the past year. New Food and Shelters have been opened in New York, San Francisco, Seattle and Kansas City. As a natural consequence, therefore, the demand upon the Army's funds have increased, and this will require still greater effort to raise a correspondingly increased amount during this special Self Denial Week.

ETIENNE SALVATION ARMY.

A beet sugar factory will be erected at Tigardville, Washington county, Oregon.

The Dalles Times-Mountaineer says: An Eastern wool buyer, who has been in the city the last three or four months trying to buy wool, and also advocating the election of McKinley, left the warehouses in disgust yesterday, after having spent several hours in an unsuccessful attempt to buy a lot of wool, remarking that "these fool wool raisers really thought McKinley's election would raise the price of their wool two cents." Comment is unnecessary.

The T.-M.: In 1863 Louis Davenport, who now resides near Mosier, came into The Dalles with a pack train from the upper country, having with him a bundle of gold dust valued at about $20,000. He sat the bundle down while he talked with some friends, and when he went to pick it up again it was gone. Where it went Mr. Davenport could never learn. A few days ago a man named Bernard appeared in The Dalles and asserted that it was one of Mr. Davenport's mule drivers that stole the dust. The matter will be investigated, and possibly the mystery of the disappearance of the valuable package may yet be solved.

The following interesting dispatch comes from Sioux Falls, South Dakota: Senator Pettigrew opened the campaign of 1900 and addressed one of the largest audiences ever gathered in this city. It was announced as the beginning of the bimetallic fight of four years hence. The senator said that he would render McKinley every aid possible for him to demonstrate that the tariff was what ailed the country, but wanted to put himself on record as saying that he would resist every action of a tariff on every article controlled by a trust. This created a sensation, and the demonstration that followed was tremendous. The senator was given a great reception at the close of his speech.
