AN OREGON EDUCATOR.

Prof. Luella C. Carson, of the University of Oregon, talked about in the Chicago Inter-Ocean.

Mary Badollet Powell writing in a recent issue of the Daily Chicago Inter-Ocean says:

"Two interesting women, who have not long returned from Chicago to their posts of duty, telling an interesting story of the greatness of Chicago in the matter of education as well as other facilities for promoting human progress, are Miss Cora Martin McDonald, of Wyoming; and Miss Luella Clay Carson, of Oregon, late students in the summer course of the University of Chicago. Both women are enthusiastic professors in the state university of their respective states, and both remarkably handsome women."

Miss McDonald being a perfect brunette and Miss Carson a decided blonde.

The Inter-Ocean prints pictures of both women, and continuing the writer says of Miss Carson:

"Miss Carson is a representative of the extreme West, being a native of Portland, Ore. In appearance and temperament Miss Carson might be a model for the 'I Will' of her progressive corner of the world. Of tall, commanding presence, with head well modeled, and features expressing firmness with tenderness, she is a perfect type of the scholarly, well-balanced Western woman. Miss Carson's father, Hon. John C. Carson, was one of the pioneer settlers of Oregon, and has ever been identified with the best interests of the state."

He was for many years a member of the State Senate. Miss Carson was educated in Oregon and California, graduating from a college that did not at that time confer degrees. A few years later it happened, curiously, that the degree A. M. was conferred upon her on the same day by the two leading colleges of the West. Miss Carson has always been closely identified with the educational interests of her state, both in the public school and college work, and speaks most highly of the public schools of Portland, and of the excellent high school, with its beautiful building. It is with the college work, however, that Miss Carson has been most active, and it is of the Western colleges and their aims that she would speak. For five years she was connected with the Congregational college, Pacific University, at Forest Grove. This is one of the oldest colleges in the state; and has alumni who are among the builders of the great, growing commonwealth of Oregon. Its first alumnus, Mr. Harvey W. Scott, is the well-known editor of the chief paper of the Northwest, the Oregonian. President McCalland of this college is now trying to secure funds to meet the generous offer of Mr. D. K. Pearson of Chicago of $50,000 given on condition that the college will raise $150,000.

"The leading college of Oregon is the State University, where for eight years Miss Carson has occupied the chair of rhetoric and English."

"It was recently estimated that 60 per cent of the present population of Oregon are pioneers or the children of pioneers. The pioneers of Illinois know the motto that such a population possesses."

"The colleges of Oregon are constantly sending the flower of their youth to Eastern colleges, and it is their pride that these youths take rank wherever they go. Last year the American Institute of Sacred Literature at the University of Chicago offered two prizes for the best translations of New Testament Greek. The first prize was taken by a young lady in a Canadian university, while the second was won by Mr. Clyde Fogle, a sophomore in the University of Oregon. As there were more than a thousand competitors, Miss Carson and her associates naturally consider this quite a victory for their college. Every summer for years Miss Carson has taken the long journey from Portland to Boston and New York, taking a special course of study; but this year she decided to take the summer term at the university of Chicago. Of her sojourn here she says: 'I should like to express my appreciation of Chicago University. The opportunities it gives for regular summer work is very valuable to the West, in the example it sets as well as the welcome it extends and the inspiration it gives. It is a long distance to come from Oregon and return for a six weeks' course, yet I hope to come again next summer. My tower room in Foster Hall open to all the refreshing breeze, looking out upon the blue waters of the lake by the day, and the twinkling lights of the midway by night, and the throngs of people seeking recreation and rest in the beautiful parks of Chicago, will haunt me with its pleasant associations during the coming winter. I shall certainly come again and do all in my power to make other women students see that it is possible for them to do the same.'"

THE PEOPLE OF EUGENE THANKED BY GOOD SAMARITAN HOSPITAL.

The following is self-explanatory and needs no comment:

GOOD SAMARITAN HOSPITAL, PORTLAND, DEC. 12th, 1896.

REV. D. E. LOVERIDGE: Dear Sir:—The Thanksgiving donation to the hospital from Eugene has been received and we tender our sincere thanks. The offering is especially appreciated this year as the hard times are felt by us as by everyone, and the help we have received in money and in kind has enhanced our power of helping those who cannot do for themselves. Asking for your continued interest in the work we are doing to the best of our ability.

I am respectfully,

EMMA J. WAKEMAN, Superintendent.

Now is your time to place a holiday advertisement in the GUARD. It will pay you.

SHAKESPEARE CLUB.—The Shakespeare Club met last evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Robinson and continued their study reading of Cymbeline as far as Act IV, Scene IV. At the unanimous request of the club Miss Carson consented to prepare and read a paper on "The Women of Shakespeare." The club had the pleasure of having with them as a visitor Mr. Bates of Portland. Papers upon the leading characters of the play were then assigned to different members to be read at the meeting on January 5th, 1897. The club then adjourned to meet next Tuesday with Rev. and Mrs. W. S. Gilbert at the Presbyterian house.

Cataract Cannot be Cured with local applications, as they cannot reach the seat of the disease. Cataract is a blood or a constitutional disease, and in order to cure it you must take internal remedies. Hall's Cataract Cure is taken internally, and acts directly on the blood and nervous system. Hall's Cataract Cure is not a quick medicine. It was prescribed by one of the best physicians in this country for years, and is a regular prescription. It is composed of the best medicines known, combined with the best blood purifier, acting directly on the mucous surfaces. The perfect combination of the two ingredients is what produces such wonderful results in curing cataract. Send for testimonials, free.

JAS. F. NIXON.

A Man at the Masthead.

Corvallis Times: "People who live in the vicinity of the college, and who arose early Monday morning saw a strange sight. At the top of the flag mast there hung suspended what appeared to be the form of a man. Pinned to it was a placard that bore an inscription reflecting on the president of the college. As soon as discovered the effigy was removed by employees on the college farm."

"In addition to the effigy there were legends, expressing dissatisfaction with the president, on the front steps and storm doors of the main college building, on the doors of the chemical laboratory, and other places. As quickly as possible after the discovery all evidences of the lettering were obliterated by a coating of yellow paint."

"The Times has no hesitancy in condemning the work of the persons at the bottom of the mischief. It is true that the boys will be boys, and that they must have enjoyment; but the doings that striped the doors with insulting legends and hung the effigy on the flag mast is wrong in spirit, brutal in conception, and ungentlemanly in performance. Young people often consider to be grievances, things that are for their own good, and it is a long step toward manhood to make sure that there is a grievance before resorting to unlawful acts to right them. A large body of students yesterday morning adopted resolutions condemning the performance."

THEY WOULD'NT INDICT.—Deputy Fish and Game Warden M. O. Wilkins of this city is somewhat disgusted with the action of the recent Douglas county grand jury. Last week Mr. Wilkins was directed by State Fish and Game Warden H. D. McGuire of Portland to go before the grand jury of Douglas county at Roseburg and present to that body the evidence in several cases wherein the defendants were charged with violation of the state game laws. Mr. Wilkins claims to have secured and presented to the grand jury sufficient evidence for conviction in six cases—five of them being an open violation of the fish law and the other one being a violation of the deer law. The jury, however, threw out all six cases. Mr. Wilkins thinks it is much easier to enforce the game law in Lane county than in Douglas.

MISS BROWNSON SURPRISED.—Miss Irene Brownson was tendered a surprise party at the home of Miss Ione Ziegler, on South High street, last night by about a dozen of her young friends. The guests were invited to call at Miss Ziegler's home at 7:30 o'clock. Miss Ziegler arrived soon after, accompanied by Miss Brownson whom she had persuaded to go home with her. The time was spent until a late hour, playing games, etc., light refreshments being served during the evening.

THE MASONS.

Annual Meeting and Election of Officers by Eugene Lodge No. 11.

Daily Guard, December 17.

The annual meeting of the Eugene Lodge No. 11, A. F. & A. M., was held last evening with a very large attendance of the members and a general Masonic reunion of the members and visiting brethren was enjoyed.

The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: E. O. Potter, W. M.; P. E. Snodgrass, S. W.; M. Moran, J. W.; J. C. Church, treasurer, Jas. F. Robinson, secretary; V. McFarland, tyler.

After listening to appropriate remarks by a number of brethren, the lodge was requested to allow Mr. H. W. Wesco, to take a flash light picture of the members and their elegant hall; after which the retiring master J. L. Page invited the craft to the banquet hall where light refreshments and coffee were served. After extending fraternal greetings and congratulations the members and visiting brethren departed for their homes, having had a most delightful evening.

The installation will occur Saturday evening, December 26th. It will be conducted by Past Grand Master Malcolm, of Portland, who will also deliver an address upon that occasion. He is one of the brightest Masons in the state and is a ready speaker.

Will of the Late Andrew Nail

The last will and testament of the late Andrew Nail has been placed on file in the county clerk's office.

It gives and bequeaths $5 each to N. P. Nail the heirs of Martha Looney deceased, Willis Nail, Isaac Nail, the heirs of Chas. Nail deceased, and Jane Shelley.

The farm near Junction City, consisting of 110 acres of land, together with the family residence and the lots in Junction City, all personal estate and goods and all chattels with rents, issues or profits thereof, are bequeathed to Permelia Nail, wife of deceased, for and during the term of her natural life and from and after the decease of said Permelia Nail and after the payment of all debts incurred in his last sickness and for funeral expenses, the residue is given and bequeathed to Nancy Mays, daughter of deceased.

O. P. Mays has been appointed executor of the will and estate.

The document was made out on the 11th day of November, 1896, and was witnessed by J. T. Kirk, F. M. Eaton and D. E. Ruff.

Stands at the Head.

Aug. J. Bogel, the leading druggist of Shreveport, La., says: "Dr. King's New Discovery is the only thing that cures my cough, and it is the best seller I have." J. F. Campbell, merchant of Suffolk, Ariz., writes: "Dr. King's New Discovery is all that is claimed for it; it never fails, and is a sure cure for Consumption, Coughs and Colds. I cannot say enough for its merits."

Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds is not an experiment. It has been tried for a quarter of a century and today stands at the head. It never disappoints. Free trial bottles at Henderson & Linn's drug store.
