FROM ALASKA.

Alex R. Norwood, Formerly of Corvallis, Writes a Short Letter.

5,000 Men on The Trail. SKAGWAY, ALASKA, Aug. 28, '97. FISHER & WATKINS, Eugene, Oregon. Gents: According to promise I will write you. I arrived here August 23, all safe and well. There are 5,000 men here and on this trail with horses trying to get over the pass, and are meeting with many difficulties. They are losing lots of horses, by them falling off the trail down the mountain. Everything is on the jump. There is plenty of work at 75 cents per hour or $7 per day, including board. I think there is much money to be made in the mines from what I can learn from this distance. A great rush in the spring is certain.

I will go in on the Dyea or Chilcoot trail. It will take pluck and muscle to get over. I think I will be in on the lakes by September 6th, and will winter somewhere down the river and do prospecting work.

Yours truly ALEX NORWOOD.

DR. DRIVER THE ATTRACTION.

Ho Still Claims He Debated With Robert Ingersoll.

EVERETT, Wash., Sept. 2.—The fifth session of the itinerants' Club, in connection with the M E church conference, convened in Central opera house at 9 o'clock this morning.

The address of Dr I D Driver on "The Eternal Sonship and Incarnation of Christ—Evidences From Nature," was the strongest thus far of the series of his lectures. For two hours he held his audience captive. He said in part: "Paul, in his epistle to the Romans, says that God's invisible perfections are clearly seen in his visible works. This is true of any machine, thing or system made by any being, human or divine. Anything put in material form is the result of a previous plan, and when the thing, machine or system is finished the thoughts of the maker, as the apostle says, are clearly seen in it, and is really an incarnation of his thoughts. In the mighty grasp of this question John says: 'Our eyes have seen and our hands handled the Words of Life.' It is by understanding the arrangement and adjustment of the machine or system made that the invisible perfections of the Maker are clearly seen. Hence the scientists worked on the astronomy of the heavens, but like the ignorant man trying to put together the different parts of the complicated machine, failing to catch or understand the thoughts of the inventor, all their efforts failed."

Rev I D Driver of Eugene, Or., was born in Williams county, Ohio, August 17, 1824. His parents moved to Fort Wayne, Ind., during his early childhood. He went to California in 1849 and to Oregon in 1853, where he has ever since resided. He entered the ministry in 1857, and was the agent of the American Bible Society for Oregon, Washington, Montana and Idaho from 1859 to 1873, and chief lecturer for D L Moody's Teachers' Institute during its existence. He also lectured before the College of Colleges at Northfield, Mass., when 126 colleges of Europe and America were represented besides distinguished educators from all parts of the enlightened world. He is at present the theological lecturer of the Willamette University at Salem, Or.

When the Secular Union of Chicago sent out a challenge to meet any minister in open debate D L Moody accepted, and at the request of the late W S Ladd, of Portland, Dr Driver was sent to Chicago to participate in the debate. The Secular Union chose Mr Charles Watts of London, who had been met 210 ministers in a like debate. The debate lasted four days, and at the close resolutions were introduced by Mr Stevens, secretary of the Secular Union, extending thanks to Mr Moody and Dr Driver for their interest in their spiritual welfare and their firmness and candor manifested throughout the debate. It was conceded at this time that Dr Driver was to meet the strongest opponent to the Christian faith then living, but at no time did Mr Watts have Dr Driver at a disadvantage. He also met Robert Ingersoll in a short debate in 1884.

CORNELL WAS HERE

The Modoc County Cattle Thief Visits Our City.

WENT NORTH YESTERDAY.

Came Down From Pleasant Hill Tuesday Afternoon.

Deputy Sheriff Frowley Tracking Him.

Travel worn, hollow-checked from a week's fast in the mountains, with a shaggy beard of five weeks' growth on his face, clad in a slouch hat, blue jumper, coarse trousers and shoes, Cal Cornell, the Modoc county cattle thief, who made a daring escape 10 days ago from Deputy Sheriff Frowley, E D Hager, and an Indian policeman at the Rigdon place at Pine Openings on the Military road, came into town Tuesday afternoon about 5 o'clock, riding down from Pleasant Hill with W A Chamberlain and A W Gilbert, and on the delayed north-bound freight that reached Eugene at 2 a m. Wednesday, continued his journey.

The GUARD learned of the affair at that time, but at the request of officials omitted mention of the same yesterday, as Mr Frowley went north looking for the man immediately. To a reporter Mr Chamberlain this morning told some facts in the premises that will bear mention. Mr Chamberlain had been working on the Military road improvement, and Mr Gilbert was there also as superintendent. They were working at the time Cornell escaped. Referring to the matter he said that after shooting the horse from under Cornell, the man ran about 200 yards down the road before entering the brush, climbing over a log from which the bark had been peeled. The story came to him also that the officers in pursuit did not even go down to the log to see if there were any traces of blood there, although Cornell staggered somewhat at the last end of his run as though wounded (which later events proved he was not).

Some persons have seen fit to censure Chamberlain and Gilbert for not turning the man over to the officers, and on this point he said: "We had no authority to do so, and I have had official experience enough personally to know my position in an affair like this. The officers knew where we were, and had they cared for our assistance, came to us and shown their papers, we would have helped them out. This they did not do, and without looking for Cornell, came on to Eugene with Meredith. We caught up with Cornell just this side of the Pleasant Hill store, and both Gilbert and myself recognized him. He got on our rigid road to Eugene with us. We spoke to him concerning his escape, and he did not deny anything; said he supposed we would hand him over, etc. He had a fine Colt's revolver with him. On reaching Eugene, I showed him where Hoover's chop house was located and he went in and got a meal. He said it was the first he had had since he escaped. I asked if he had any money and he replied: 'A dollar or two.' The man did not tell us he would turn himself over to the officers on reaching Eugene, as has been reported."

From other sources it is learned that Cornell took the 2 o'clock freight out of Eugene Wednesday morning. If officers down the valley are properly notified it is likely his capture will soon be effected. Still it would appear that a search for him should have been made at the time his horse was shot from under him, and had this been done it is more than likely he would now be in jail with his partner.

Deputy Sheriff Frowley is still after Cornell, but if he uses the same due caution he is reported to have exhibited at Pine Openings, Cornell will likely escape, or be captured by some official who displays a little more "sand."

Something to Depend On.

Mr James Jones, of the drug firm of Jones & Son, Cowden, Ill., in speaking of Dr King's New Discovery, says that last winter his wife was attacked with La Grippe, and her case grew so serious that physicians at Cowden and Pana could do nothing for her. It seemed to develop into hasty consumption. Having Dr King's New Discovery in store, and selling lots of it, he took a bottle home, and to the surprise of all she began to get better from the first dose, and half a dozen dollar bottles cured her sound and well. Dr King's New Discovery for consumption, coughs and colds is guaranteed to do this good work. Try it. Free trial bottles at Henderson & Linn's Drug Store.

To Be Married.—Cards are out announcing the marriage of Miss Emma J Winkley to Mr Charles C Weiss, at the home of the bride's parents at Plainview, Ore, at 8 o'clock tonight. Miss Winkley has many friends in Eugene, who extend congratulations.

CONTRACT SIGNED.

County Commissioners and L. N. Roney Sign Agreement for Court House Foundation.

To Be Completed Dec. 1, 1927.

The contract between E O Potter, Judge and J T Callison and W T Bailey, commissioners, as the county board of commissioners, and L N Roney, contractor, for the building of the court house foundation has been signed.

This provides for the completion of the foundation according to plans prepared by Delos D Neer and accepted by the court, said Delos D Neer to be superintendent for the court.

The contract price, as previously published is $8700, and the payments are to be made as the work progresses, as follows:

First payment to be $1700 and the other payments to be $3000 each.

The contract also specifies that the work shall be completed on or before Dec 1, 1927.

AN AGED CHESTNUT.

That old story of Dr Driver's about meeting Robt G Ingersoll, the noted free thought lecturer, in debate, occasionally comes to the surface. We have good cause to suspect Dr Driver is responsible for this reminiscence of his career that exists only in his imagination.

The so-called "debate" was an incident of a lecture by Col Ingersoll in Eugene, instead of Portland, and consisted wholly of an impertinent remark by Dr Driver, which gave Mr Ingersoll an opportunity to pay his respects to the web of divine in a few fitting and convincing words. This whole "debate," as Mr Driver is pleased to term it, did not consume five minutes time after Mr Ingersoll's lecture. The last contribution on this subject is from the Seattle Times of Sept 2. It says:

"Dr I D Driver, of Oregon, who has been engaged to deliver an interesting series of lectures to the Itinerants Club, is a well known character in the Pacific Northwest. He belongs to the old school of frontier circuit riders, although he is not on the circuit now. For years he traveled in Oregon, Idaho and Washington, and hence possesses an almost inexhaustible fund of interesting anecdotes about his early experiences. He is rugged and original and in his element when in a debate. Dr Driver enjoys the distinction of having confused Ingersoll in a debate in Portland, and of having met the Secular Union in Chicago. His themes are along the line of proof of Scriptural teachings from nature."

Resolutions on the Death of Sir Knight J. C Church.

It is with sincere grief that we are forced to suffer the loss, caused by the death of Sir Knight John C Church. He was one of the oldest members of our Commandery, and it is due to the efforts of such men as Sir Knight Church that Ivanhoe Commandery, No 2, has reached its present prosperous condition, and that Masonry holds its present high standard among men. Sir Knight Church was a typical Mason. Masonry was his rule of conduct and action.

He seemed to live in and for Masonry, and the high esteem in which he was held by those who knew him best, his straightforward and earnest manner, his devotion to those nearest and dearest to him, his high standard in the community for integrity and sincerity of purpose, attest both the usefulness and importance to us of a good man and the splendid truths exemplified to and recognized and followed by a true Mason.

It is therefore Resolved by Ivanhoe Commandery No 2: That in the death of Sir Knight John C Church this Commandery has lost one of its best and most useful members and one who was loved and respected by all of us. That we extend to the widow and children of Sir Knight Church our sympathy in their grief and sorrow and assure them that although Sir Knight Church has passed away from the strife and action of this life, with us he still lives and that his life to us is worthy of emulation.

RESOLVED, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the family of Sir Knight Church, and a copy be furnished the press for publication.

A C WOODCOCK, F W OSBURN, WILLIAM PRESTON, Committee.

A Tried Remedy for Bitterness.

Those who suffer from disorder of liver will never get the upper hand of the unruly organ so long as they use such irrational remedies as blue pill, calomel and podophyllin. But from the tried and popular medicine, Hottel's Stomach Bitters, they may expect relief with a certainty of obtaining it. The influence of the Bitters upon the great biliary gland is direct, powerful and speedily felt. The relief afforded is not spasmodic, but complete and permanent. The sallowness of the skin, torpid appearance of the tongue, indigestion, constiveness, headache, nausea, pains through the right side and shoulder, in fact every accompaniment of the chronic complaint, entirely and promptly removed by a course of this inestimable medicine, in behalf of which testimony is constantly emanating from every quarter, and from all classes of society.

The wreck was caused by misprudence of orders.

Willis Brown Not Able to Prove the Charge of Label.

The Portland Telegram of yesterday, the 8th, says: The case of C B Jeffries the well-known fruit dealer, arrested on complaint of Willis Brown, of the Oregon Fruit Union, for alleged criminal libel, was today dismissed by Judge Sweek in the municipal court.

The hearing of testimony occupied the greater portion of yesterday afternoon, and the proceedings today were given up on an argument of the case by opposing counsel. Brown had made out rather a weak case, however, and as many of the charges made by Jeffries were substantiated, the court held that there was not sufficient testimony to warrant sending the case to the grand jury. Taking this view of the case, the defendant was discharged.

Drying Fruit.

The Eugene cannery has commenced receiving fruit and filling the dryer preparatory to making the seasons run. It is proposed to grade all fruit brought to it in three grades and after drying all the dried product to the fruit owners in proportion to the weight and grade of fruit delivered.

This is the only practical way to handle the fruit. Some growers will bring a poor lot of stuff which if dried with that which has been properly handled, would spoil all, both for price and quality. Growers should not pick fruit until it is ripe then it will make a first class article. Already fruit has been brought in that is hard and unfit for drying purposes. It is about the same as thrown away for no dryer can make a good grade of dried fruit from unripe fruit.
