The following extracts from a review of the situation in Portland and the Portland and San Francisco markets in regard to flour, feed and grain, we have been permitted to copy from a letter to the Eugene & MillElevator Co. written by the Oregon Washington Flour Co, dated Portland Sept 28:

"The local situation is not favorable to business. Retailers are largely stocked with the remains of flour bought on speculation whon the market was advancing. Bakers have also bought ahead and are only small cusomers for the time being.

"On feed we look for an active inquiry during October and believe that prices will be better during the next thirty days.

There is no demand for brewing barley, for the time being locally. "Oats,-San Francisco has been taking the cats as rapidly as they have been shipped, at good prices, and there is a fair local demand. Receipts are larger than they have been, and quotations should be, probably, one or two cents lower in order to represent the market.

"Hay is quoted at $12 to $13, accordng to quality. Receipts are not exreme and there is a fair demand. "Looking at the situation from all
