HENRY GEORGE ON PACIFIC COAST
Worked His Way Around the Horn— Though a Protestant He Married a Catholic Girl.

Borrowed his Wedding Clothes.

Henry George the great single tax advocate, who lies dead in New York City from excitement and overwork incident to the city election campaign just closed, was on the Pacific coast in an early day. He worked his way round the Horn to California as a sailor before the mast in 1858. The Fraser river gold excitement was at its height, but before he could get to the mines the boom had subsided. He returned from Victoria, B C, to San Francisco in the steerage. There he did what work he could get as a printer, and got a job in a rice mill. Borrowing $20 he made his way to Sacramento. Here he started a little evening paper.

"It was then that I came nearly starving to death," said he. "The war had begun and things were unsettled. We slept in bunks in the office and set our own type and got pretty much all our own news, though we had a reporter." He desired to enlist, but as all California volunteers were being used to garrison Pacific ports, he held back, as everybody believed the war would be over before the journey could be made to the east. He stuck by the paper. "And I came close to starvation. I had no shoes to wear and scarcely any clothes. So I went to 'subbing' on the other papers."

MARRIED ON LESS THAN NOTHING.

"I was then acquainted with the girl I married. She was a California girl, of Australian birth, an orphan and a pretty strong Catholic, while I was an Episcopalian. I was very much attached to her, and the sentiment was mutual. There was a kind of understanding between us that we should get married.

"I had got into a sort of unpleasantness with my wife's people, for which I was entirely to blame, as I see it now. Being a boy, I did not look at things in the right light. Having had a quarrel with the girl's uncle, I concluded to make her my wife and end it. We were married in 1861. I was then 22 and she 18. I was very poor, but when I talked the matter over with the young lady she said she was willing to begin life with me regardless of our poverty. I remember I borrowed some clothes to get married in."

THE GOOD THAT WILL HAVE BEEN DONE.

In the light of the tragic death of Henry George—tragic because of the time it happened—the following of the Twentieth Century is not uninteresting.

"It now remains to consider what good will have been accomplished by the Henry George movement in the not impossible event of his defeat. In using the word defeat in this connection, it must be understood that defeat is not admitted a particle. The outlook may change at any moment, and the enthusiasm back of the George cohort is very likely to bring victory at the last moment. But in the event of defeat the contest will have done an incalculable amount of good. It will have served to open the eyes of the people of the great merits of civic collectivism. Civic action is far more important in the present condition of our country than any other sort of action."

THE REPUBLICAN PARTY AUTOCRAT.

"It is to be seen whether anybody can be elected to congress from this state hereafter who is a Janus-faced, temporizing sneak on the money question."

It is thus the Oregonian, takes the republican party of Oregon by the nape of the neck and dares it to do otherwise than the moguls of the Oregonian tower dictate.

Does the Oregonian own the republican party of the state, or is it simply a mortgage which it will not press to foreclosure and ruin so long as its behelms are headed? We believe somebody "will be elected to congress from this state" next June who will be in harmony with nine-tenths of the voters on the financial question—a silver man.

And, we believe that this will be accomplished by a union of democratic, populist and free silver republican votes. The Oregonian granny and the gold standard men from those parties will not be allowed to override the plain sentiment of the people. Oregon is a free silver state and her voters will no longer be hoodwinked and deceived by lying promises and platforms.

The Clevelandites from the democratic party and the Oregonianites from the republican party should be taught that they are a very small and insignificant fraction of the vote of this state. It will be done if the people forget political prejudices long enough to vote their sentiments.

This has been an exciting day for Greater New York. A city election surpasses in interest even the most closely contested national election. The metropolis of the new world has a pay roll of about $100,000,000 a year which is sufficient explanation of the fierce battle waged for control of the consolidated cities.

Pullman left his sons three thousand each per annum yet they are discontented and seek to break the will. There are thousands of sons roaming about who would be satisfied with a moiety of that amount.

THOSE FRUIT SHIPMENTS.
How Benton County Fruit Growers Were Robbed—Lost Their Fruit and Asked to Pay Freight Bills

From the Corvallis Times: F P Sheagreen is another fruit shipping sufferer not hitherto reported. His total shipments were 1,100 crates of Italian, and the freight bill against him calls for him to dig up about $55 in cash besides the prunes the transportation people got. Still another is E E Caldwell, residing across the Willamette. On shipments of his in two cars, one of which was 250 crates and the other not loaded, the extra charges aggregate a few cents less than $60.

One freight bill rendered by the transportation companies illustrates the shameless way in which the fruit men have been rooled. It was a bill rendered to F P Sheagreen and the statement of the sale and expenses is as follows: "29 crates of Italian prune sold at 30 cents per crate, $7.70." The charges against the 20 crates are "loading, 58; freight refrigerating and icing, .15 46; commission, 70; total, $18.74." Balance due the dealers, which Mr Sheagreen is requested to remit in cash is $8.04. At this rate, if Mr Sheagreen sticks to the prune business and continues to ship green fruit, he must soon become very wealthy.

The growers, as yet, have taken no steps in the matter. They are merely waiting to see what will turn up. All of them will probably act in concert if the transportation people continue to press the collection of their claims. The growers are advised on all sides to resist payment, but whether or not the matter will come to that pass remains to be seen.

Thrown to His Death.

A very sad accident occurred in P D valley Polk county, Thursday of last week, by which Ed Schythe lost his life. A donkey engine used in a logging camp was being moved by a process that would insure accident in advance. A pole was set in the ground on an angle, with the top of the pole inclined from the engine and lying almost on the ground. The opposite end was buried in the ground and to a cable was attached reaching back to the engine. The intention was for men in sufficient numbers to get on the farther end of the pole and hold it down as a counterforce to the power required to move the engine.

Ed Schythe, about 25 years of age, laid flat on his stomach across the detached end of the pole, and when steam was put on to start the sled on which the engine was to be moved, the force was so sudden the pole was jerked straight up and the young man, who had no time to save himself, was thrown as a missile from a catapult high into the air and lit 30 feet distant with a terrible crash. As suddenly as the plunge occurred life was extinct. Ed Schythe has been a resident of P. D. for many years, where his parents still live. Such accidents are not easily excusable, for it looks like mismanagement.

SELDOM.

COTTAGE GROVE NEWS.
Clipped From the Leader of October 30th.

Wheeler Bros & Owens of Royal, have taken a contract for another thousand ties, which when finished, will make 4,000 since the mill was put in operation.

The Royal mill company put a bridge across Silk Creek one day last week, near O D Wheeler's place; several men of the neighborhood turned out to the raising.

The ladies of the Christian church will give a supper on Thanksgiving evening.

Brumbaugh & Spong put quite a force at work last week, getting out timbers for the mill frame and excavating for the raceway.

Mr Geo E Milligan, of Chicago, and one of the principal stockholders of the Noonday mine, is in the Grove paying off the miners and every one is wearing a broad smile.

Considerable snow has already fallen at Bohemia.

Work has been commenced on the M E parsonage just east of the church.

Some heavy shafting arrived at the depot last week for the 30 foot arrastra mill, now nearing completion at the Fourth of July mine.

A game of football will be played here a week from next Saturday, between the Grove team and a team from Eugene.

F E Touchette has just made a safe-run of about 5,000 railroad ties down the river to this place. The whole number of ties lost was four.

CHARGED WITH LARCENY.—La Grands Chronicle, Oct 26: "Miss O Langford and W W Curtis have been subpoenaed before Justice Blakeslee's court in Union in a case against C A Bushnell, the photographer. The Jones Bros are the principal witnesses for the prosecution. They leased to Bushnell their photograph gallery and when Bushnell left, a few of the apparences were missing, and Bushnell is charged with the theft of the same. Bushnell was arrested at Dayton Wash, and brought to Union to answer the charge." Mr Bushnell had the Winter gallery under lease for a few months, and his many friends here trust that he will be able to prove his innocence.

Daily Guard, November 2.

WRC INSPECTION.—Last evening Department Inspector Fannie Lonsbury, of Portland, made an official inspection of J W Geary corps, of this city. The visit proved most pleasant and profitable, the inspector only adding to her popularity among the members of the order. Clara Parsons, president of the local corps, invited the G A R to assist in disposing of the elaborate banquet prepared for the occasion, and right nobly did they perform that part of the program. Several speeches were made, prominent among which was one by Mrs Lonsbury, who complimented the Eugene corps very highly, as being the banner lodge of the state and the most efficient in its work.

Daily Guard, November 2.

TOUGH HOBOS.—The marshal now has under his charge three of the toughest tramps that ever visited Eugene. They refused to work while out in the chain gang this forenoon, and for a time they were chained to a telegraph pole. They will be assigned to dark cells in the city jail, with a bread and water diet, until they agree to work or until they serve out their sentence.

Daily Guard, November 2.

$10 AND COSTS.—Zip Yarnell, of Cottage Grove, tried to run the town last evening, but Policeman Croner landed him in jail early in his engagement. He was taken before Recorder Dorris this morning and fined $10 and costs. He paid $7.00 and the costs and was given one month's time in which to settle the balance.

DRYER TO START.—The Goodell Refrigerator Car Co, will, in a few days, start the dryer in the Eugene cannery, making a run on apples. They have packed a car of apples and will ship the same in a short time.

Hop Sales at Dallas.

DALLAS, Nov 1.—E C Kirkpatrick, We's and Plummer sold 161 bales of hops here today at 12 cents. Seventy-five bales belonging to different parties here were also sold at the same price.

Felt Dead.

SYRACUSE, N. Y.—W J Bellen, republican candidate for the legislature dropped at the polls today. Apoplexy was the cause.

Died at Polle.

STANTON, Va., Nov. 2.—Col. James Cochran, republican nominee for state senator, died at the polls here today.

Ask Your Doctor!
Of all the nerve-tonics—bromos, celerics or nervines—your doctor will tell you that the Hypophosphites are best understood. So thoroughly related is the nervous system to disease that some physicians prescribe Hypophosphites alone in the early stages of Consumption. Scott's Emulsion is Cod-liver Oil, emulsified, with the Hypophosphites, happily blended. The result of its use is greater strength and activity of the brain, the spinal cord and the nerves.

ROBBERY AT IRVING.
Burglars Carry off About $100 Worth of Goods From J M Kitchen's Store.

Burglars entered J M Kitchen's store at Irving, for the third or fourth time last Saturday, supposedly after midnight, by forcing in the front doors and carried off goods worth at a low estimate $100. Among the goods were one bolt of dress goods worth 45 cents per yard, several bolt of calico, boots and shoes, gents undershirts, oysters, sardines and numerous other articles. They carried them off in a sugar sack marked "J M K" and also a vitriol sack, hence it is supposed two men were concerned in the robbery. One pair of boots by some means were dropped in the rear of the store. No clew to the robbers.

Mr Kitchen says if the light fingered gent continue their work that he will be compelled retire from business, as they hardly let him make a dollar until it is stolen. It seems that a regular gang of robbers are plying their nefarious calling upon our country merchants. It is too bad that they are not captured.

Died.

Luke Sales, of pneumonia, in Eugene, on Sunday, October 31, 1897, at 11:50 a m. Mr Sales was born August 8, 1849 in Blackhawk county Illinois. In Kansas, on July 4th, 1878, he married Emma Adams, and soon after moved to Iowa.

On March 28, 1884, he came with his family to Roseburg, Oregon. About two years after, the family moved back to Iowa, only however, to return to Oregon, on August 28, 1892. The family came to live in Eugene nearly four years ago.

Enjoying his usual health, he worked all day Friday, Oct 22d in the rain. That night he was taken with a severe chill that developed into pneumonia. Medical aid and the loving ministry of his faithful wife, kind neighbors and friends did all that could be done for him. Mr and Mrs Sales have buried four children. Mrs Sales at five children (one son and four daughters) mourn his death. Mr Sales was a member of the Baptist church in this city, as is Mrs Sales.

While living in Roseburg, Oregon, he and his wife were converted, and upon confession of their faith in Christ were baptized and united with the Baptists. The day before his death he assured those by his bedside that he experienced the sustaining power of God's grace. Funeral services were held Monday at 2:00 o'clock p m, in the Baptist church, conducted by the pastor, Robert Leslie.
