GOLD STANDARD FORCES FOUND THE ENEMY.

Cincinnati Enquirer, Nov. 11. "Gayly the gold standard forces went out to hunt the enemy on Tuesday morning. Easily they found him. Results: New York City, where last year a Wall Street republican reign of terror stifled free speech in the great presidential battle, rolled up a plurality of over $1,500 for a democratic mayor, who in 1896 stood by his party and voted for Bryan. To this should be added over 20,000 votes, cast for young Mr. George, an independent candidate, by men, every one of whom voted for Bryan last year. New York state, which gave McKinley a tidal wave majority, has repudiated the McKinley administration by a majority of 70,000. Kentucky, where John G. Carlisle lived and sang the songs of democracy, until he contracted the Wall street itch, has given a majority of nearly 30,000 for a silver democratic platform and candidate, and blazed the way for the return of glib Joe Blackburn to the senate in the next fight. Maryland is back in the democratic fold, and Gorman has triumphed over his enemies. Massachusetts and Iowa have reduced their immense republican majorities of last year one half. Nebraska, the home of the well-beloved candidate of last year, has given an increased majority against the party of usury and gold domination. In Ohio, the home of the new president, the republican platform, of which Mark Hanna is the overseer, the state which has raised up some great republican chiefs, and a great many little ones, the chosen battleground of the money power in the West, and regarded by its leaders as a rotten borough which they can always command, Ohio has given the gold dragon his death wound.

THE AWFUL CARP.

Some years since an effort was made to stock Oregon streams with carp fish. The attempt failed, as the cool waters and gravelly beds of our streams are not suitable for carp, which are of a sluggish hog-like nature, and delight in muddy swampy river beds and water. Indiana streams were stocked with the fish and this is the plaint of a paper from that state. "No monument will ever be erected to the man that suggested that the Indiana streams be stocked with carp, but a vote of thanks and a medal are awaiting the person that can suggest how the streams can be rid of them."

A Kentucky paper which has for a long time been trying to save the Democratic party, "all by itself," has given up the fight since the party took up the salvation business the other day. The editorial which announces the abandonment of the enterprise is a curiosity in circumlocution, and a fine specimen of trying to "come down" while maintaining the appearance of still floating high. Properly translated it would read about this way: "We have done our best, but we fear that notwithstanding our splendid efforts everything is going to the devil; but we feel it a duty to get back in the band wagon and go to the devil with the old party, and all its sins, provided we are given dilatory consideration and are allowed to return to a seat at the first table. Of course we think this much ought to be accorded to us for old times' sake; but the fact is we have to go along if we only get the scraps. We're out of meat."

All the femininity of any consequence in Washington are wearing their hair cropped, curled and held at either side of the parting by tiny combs. This because Mrs. McKinley, as the first lady of the land, wears her hair that way, and, of course, should be copied. At the various summer resorts these dames from the capital were gazed at in horror at first, because the fashion is certainly unbecoming to almost every one, but when the "why and wherefore" was learned, maids and matrons rushed to their rooms, combed out their Merod curls and out them off. Now the McKinley curls have made their way from one side of the continent to the other.

"Can a person borrow $75 at 6 per cent without security in the city of New York. Provided that person can show that he or she is a member of a church, a worker in the Sunday school and has the name of being an honest Christian?" This above appears in the New York World, signed "Honor," and is answered in the heading, "Not in New York."

THE MARKETS.

Wheat is still Weak—Hops and Potatoes.

Under the depressing influence of a large crop in Argentina, wheat has declined to 63 cents in Eugene. It is too bad that more wheat was not sold when the market price was above 70 cents. It has kept a great deal of money locked up and subjected growers to probable losses of large sums. It is useless to advise selling or holding, as all such advice would be mere speculation. The dispatches indicate no future high price for wheat. An immense acreage is being put in here in Oregon. It will have to be harvested and sold no matter what the price. The government crop report says: "As regard crops now growing in the Southern hemisphere, the news continues to be favorable on the whole. In Argentina, the drought, which for a time in some provinces threatened serious damage, seems to have been generally broken, and danger of any serious loss from such a source seems now, in the advanced state of the crop, to have passed. "The Indian wheat crop has been sown under favorable conditions, and the same is in general true of the winter grain crops of Europe, and both in India and Europe the weather seems in the main, to have been very favorable to the growth of the seed."

THE HOP MARKET.

Nearly 3,500 bales are stored in the warehouses of Lane county, and not over 150 bales have been sold and shipped. For our best growths, offers of from 11 to 12 cents per pound are occasionally being made, but generally refused as such growers are firmly holding for 13 to 15 cents. The Salem Journal today says: "The large lot of hops from the Jas Coleman yard were bought and paid for today by a local dealer for something over $7,500, price, 13c. Exporters are picking up none but the choicest hops: As for poorer grades they are almost out of the market and will be left for American buyers. California beats are selling above Oregon figures owing to the fear that some of ours are picked with mold."

POTATOES.

Good potatoes are in good demand and are bringing a fair price for a first-class shipping article. The San Francisco market is higher than usual at this season. It looks as if they would go higher, but this is only a matter of speculation in which one man is as wise as another.

Resolution of Condolence.

Passed by Juanita Rebekah Lodge No 85, of Springfield, Oregon. WHEREAS, in His infinite wisdom the Divine Ruler of the Universe has deemed it proper to take from among us one of our highly respected, and most faithful workers in Oddfellowship, and WHEREAS, We bow submissively to the call of Him whose omnipotent power is ever watching us, in surrendering to him our cherished friend, and father of our beloved sister, Mary Burton, therefore be it RESOLVED, That in the death of our friend and citizen we have lost a most active and valuable citizen, his family a loving father and the community an honest and upright citizen and be it further RESOLVED, That a copy of these resolutions be spread upon the minutes of this lodge and a copy be sent to the family of the deceased and one copy be given to the daily papers for publication. Respectfully submitted in F L & F, EMMA DORITY, MARY CHESSMAN, MARY A MARTIN, Committee.

HOSEA BROWN DEAD.

He Formerly Resided at Lorane, Lane County.

Grant's Pass Courier: Hosea Brown, the last survivor of the war of 1812 living on the Pacific coast, passed to his final rest and reward Monday of this week, at the home of Orr Brown, on Applegate. Mr Brown was born in the state of New Hampshire, July 15, 1792, which would make him at his last birthday 105 years old. He served in the war of 1812, became a Christian man after the close of the war, and has ever been faithful to his government and to the Christian cause he continued to love until his death. The G. A. R. of this city took charge of the remains, and the funeral sermon was preached at the Christian chapel by Stephen Jewell. A large audience assembled to pay their last respects to a truly good man.

A LARGE HOP SALE.

What a Local Buyer Has to Say About the Hop Market.

Salem Journal: On Tuesday G W Dimick, of Hubbard, sold 150 bales of hops to Faber & Neils, of this city, at 13 cents. This is the first large sale chronicled in local circles for several days, the market being comparatively quiet. A local buyer was seen this morning and, in an interview on the hop situation, said: "At present there is a good demand for hops for the London market. Agents are receiving orders for only the best grade of hops suitable for the London market. Such goods are rather scarce by reason of the incalculable amount of damage done by the rains and lice during the harvesting of the crop. "Dealers find it difficult to fill orders as growers having chosen hops have frequent offers from dealers, but are holding for 15 cents. Consequently but a very few sales are being made. "London buyers are especially particular to quality, desiring only straight lots running even in quality. Local dealers find it difficult to obtain even lots. On uncertain markets local buyers can take no chances."
