A MODEL TOWN.

Lemati, Lane County, Built Water Works Without One Cent of Charge on the Citizens.

Cheap Rates Pay the Interest.

The citizens of Lemati, Lane county are to be congratulated on the financial wisdom of her officials in the building and management of a system of water-works. The plant was put in entirely on borrowed money and, with very low rates, pays interest on the bonds sold to secure funds for the improvement with a surplus sufficient to pay the expenses of the incorporated town.

It is only fair to other water companies to state the system is a gravity one, water of excellent quality being supplied by a large and never failing spring on a hill a short distance from the town. From the mayor's message of April 11, we take the following interesting resume of the affairs of the town which, we may state has only about 400 inhabitants:

When the city was incorporated under the present charter, in June, 1893, there was a debt of about $200, which had been contracted by the city of Cottage Grove and afterward paid by the city of Lemati. There was at that time no property of any description belonging to this city, and not more than one mile of side and cross-walk. The city has also bought and paid for the following described property, viz: One lot fronting on Fourth street, 70x90 feet at a cost of $125, upon which has been erected a city hall and hose cart room at a cost of about $400. The city has bought a hose cart and 400 feet of hose at a cost of $300.

The town has acquired a system of water works capable of supplying a town of four times the present population of this town, and of good and pure mountain spring water as any in the state. In acquiring said water system the town has contracted a bonded debt of $5000 bearing interest at 8 per cent, payable semi-annually, and the principal to be paid in 20 years. The interest amounts to $400 a year and the receipts from water rent to private individuals amounts to about $300 a year, a net gain to the town of $100 a year. The water for city purposes, as for protection against fire, street sprinkling, etc. is free to the town, while private individuals get water for their residences at the small cost of 75 cents a month, and irrigation for $1 a year.

Since putting in this system the town has, in extending the same, spent about $400 for additional mains, pipes, etc. The surplus revenue from the water rent after paying the interest on the bonds, pays for the electric lights of the city and leaves a balance of $100 per year. The town has been run during these five years of hard times without the necessity of levying a tax. It is now free from debt, except the bonded debt, which is not due for 17 years, and at this time there is about $150 in the treasury. I would say, however, that the bonded debt of $5000 is no burden on the town, as the town has a standing offer of $7000 for the water system, which would mean a net gain for the town of $2000.

To sum up the whole, the town of Lemati has gained in wealth since incorporation in 1893:

The original water system.....	$2000
Extension of system, mains, etc....	400
Hose cart.....	208
Covering reservoir and developing spring.....	250
Cash on hand April 7.....	150
Lot and city hall.....	625
Total.....	$3483

O F KNOX, Mayor.

Eliza Stewart.

Eliza Stewart died at his home on West Eighth street Sunday morning, April 24, 1898, at 2 o'clock, aged 83 years, 4 months and 10 days. The funeral occurred at 2 o'clock this afternoon from his late residence, to the Masonic cemetery.

[Eliza Stewart was born in Franklin county, Virginia, Sept. 11, 1814, when a small boy he moved with his father's family to Tennessee; from there he moved to Macoupin county, Illinois, and at the age of 20 years was married to Elizabeth England. From this point his pioneer wanderings extended to Polk county, Missouri, in 1837; to Iowa in 1840, and to St. Joe, Missouri, in 1850; in 1852 the journey to Oregon was commenced with his family. On reaching the plains of the Platte, cholera attacked the little band of hardy pioneers, and when they moved on toward the Western ocean, the faithful wife and mother had been laid to rest. Uncle Eben was very much devoted to this wife and companion and her memory was held sacred by him until his death.

Reaching Oregon in 1852 deceased lived on the Calef farm near Springfield until 1855, when he moved to this city, purchasing part of the Charnel Mulligan donation land, and lived there continuously until his death.

Deceased was the father of six children: J W Stewart, of Springfield, John Stewart, of Eugene, Mrs P C Noland, mother of George and J E Noland, who died in 1872, Mrs A O Stevens, Mrs T G Hendricks and Mrs J S Luckey.

Deceased was a man with the excellent traits of the pioneer, strong, honest and of sterling worth and integrity, possessing a warm heart and strong will power, kind to his family, constant to his friends; a representative man of a generation that is fast going to its last reward—noble, courageous pioneers.]

The Maccabee June 11 at the Keeney grove, near Goshen, and want it understood that this is a "go", rain or shine, for if it should rain we have room for a very large crowd in the Mallock warehouse. Neighboring tents will be invited to assist in making it a success and a picnic not soon to be forgotten. Various amusements will be announced for the occasion later on.

Our road supervisor, C W Ryehard has been doing some substantial road work recently on that section of the road leading to Pleasant Hill and when gravel is placed on the grading now done, that portion of the road will be in fine shape.

NEW PROCESS—Today's Oregonian has the new method of preparing fruit for canning, inaugurated by S P Sladden of Eugene, last year has proved a success, the nine car loads he put up having found ready sale and much favor wherever introduced, and he intends to put up 40 carloads this year. The method he adopted is cooking the ripe fruit with a proper amount of sugar, in copper kettles, till the requisite consistency is reached, and then packing it through sieves removing the skins, pits or seeds, leaving the fruit in a condensed form, containing all the natural richness and flavor. This, packed in tins, will keep for years. It is a much more profitable way for fruit than shipping it fresh and having no returns except expense bills. Mr Sladden put up some eight or ten kinds of fruit in this way last year and believes it one of the most profitable ways in which fruit can be utilized. He is anxious to impart all he knows on the subject of preparing fruit in this way to any one interested in fruit-raising.

SPAIN'S STORY OF DECAT.

Rich Gems Torn From the Spanish Crown Within a Century.

1779—Spanish unsuccessfully lay siege to Gibraltar.

1795—Cession by Spain of part of San Domingo to France in the treaty of Basle.

1797—Spanish fleet destroyed by the English off Cape Vincent.

1801—Spain re-ceded Louisiana to France, having gotten herself into inextricable difficulties with the United States over boundaries, and fearing a revolt which would have lost her the territory.

1803—By the treaty extorted by Bonaparte Spain became involved in a disastrous war with England, and the last remnants of its maritime power were shattered in the battles of Cape Finisterre and Trafalgar; English takes possession of Buenos Ayres, in South America, then owned by Spain, Madrid was taken without difficulty and the Spanish army scattered.

1810—Revolt in Spain's Argentine colonies in South America.

—Revolt in Spain's colony in Venezuela and New Granada.

—Revolt in Mexico Spain's richest and largest American possession.

1814—Ferdinand VII was liberated and again acceded to the throne. Spain groaned under a Royalist reign of terror. The cortes [parliament] was abolished, the inquisition re-established and finances were squandered in futile efforts to regain South American colonies, which again took advantage of Napoleon's conquest of Spain to revolt against Spain's oppressive and tyrannical rule.

1818—Chile lost to the Spanish crown.

1821—Florida sold to the United States. Spain had captured the west coast from England. On his way home after his suppression of the Seminoles in 1818, General Jackson captured Pensacola and deposed the Spanish authorities. The resulting differences were ended with the purchase of the peninsula by the United States for $5,000,000. Mexico's independence gained. A revolt throughout Spain.

1823—Armed intervention in Spain by France, Russia and Prussia. Madrid entered by invaders; no effective resistance made.

1824—Peruvian independence gained, and Spain lost her last stronghold on the American continent.

1836—Spanish government involved in a desperate struggle with the Carlists.

1868—Revolution. Queen Isabella fled to France.

1876—Carlist war ended. Alfonso XII reigns.

1895—Cuban revolution begun. Now in its third and probably triumphant year.

1897—Revolution in the Philippine Islands. These rich Pacific possessions of Spain will be lost as soon as Cuba is, and probably at the same time.

THE PROPOSED BOND ISSUE.

The Salt Lake Tribune has this to say about the proposition to issue Cuban war bonds.

"It is all right to prepare to issue bonds but still we insist that for a five months' war there is enough money on hand. The treasury has now a net cash reserve of more than $225,000,000; it has besides in the treasury, with which to redeem treasury notes and silver certificates, more than 500,000,000 silver dollars. Of that amount $200,000,000 could be made immediately available by a three-line law of congress. There would then be left more for resumption than the most prudent banker would keep on hand, and the silver dollars would be just the money to use in Cuba. Let the bonds be provided for, but let the money now available be used while it lasts, for interest-bearing bonds have more lives than a cat."

FOR OR AGAINST?

The people are taking unusual interest in the financial question, that confronts the government and will make that the test of legislative candidates. The man who attempts to end the gold-standard-greenback-retiring scheme of the president will find a hostile sentiment to his candidacy. No equipment or dodging will be allowed.

For or against? The candidates for the legislature, in case of election, will have a vote for United States senator. They must answer. For or against?

Occasionally the Associated Press gets off a good one. The last is that when the United States minister, Woodford, was leaving Spain, his car was attacked by a mob at Valladolid and stoned, and wonderful to relate, "He slept quietly through the disturbance." That man has the stuff of which heroes is made. If he had heart disease it is probable he would sleep as peacefully as the infant on the mothers breast, not keep awake to thwart the grim monster. When such examples of heroism are heralded abroad the nasty Spaniards probably will quit in despair.

Secretary Kincaid says the decision of Circuit Judge Heintz commanding him to certify the names of the middle-of-the-road Populist candidates to county clerks so they can be placed on the official ballot will have no material effect, as he had already filed it and decided to put it on the ballot. It will be appealed to the supreme court by the secretary's attorney.

The announcement that prayers are being offered for success of the Spanish cause reminds us of some celebrated sayings. Oliver Cromwell, stern old Puritan, admonished his soldiers to "Trust in God, but keep your powder dry." Napoleon had little of the religious sentiment in his makeup and cynically observed that "God is on the side of the strongest battalion."

Circuit Court Case.

Ola Sharp vs A J Johnson, as sheriff of Lane county. Plaintiff asks to recover possession of Black Alder, the running horse, which was attached for debt owned by B L Bradley and T O Sharp, and $50 damages, and for costs of action.

THE OREGON EXHIBIT—Messrs Wilkins and Kuykendall, commissioners for Oregon to make arrangements for the exhibit from this state at the Omaha exposition, will commence the work of solicitation of funds in this county today. Oregon has an excellent chance to make a display of material benefit, and the opportunity should not be lost.

TAKEN SUDDENLY ILL—A G Matthews was taken suddenly ill at the Stewart ranch shortly after dinner today. Dr T W Harris left about 4 o'clock this afternoon to attend the sick man.

Mrs Elizabeth Dotson.

Mrs Elizabeth Dotson died April 25, 1898, in this city at the home of her daughter, Mrs J M Abrams aged 58 years, 9 months and 12 days. She leaves a husband, F M Dotson, and four daughters, Mrs J M Abrams Eugene, Mrs Walter Millican, Walthville, Mrs Vivian Dunton, Burns, Miss Harriette Dotson, Oregon City.
