FOURTH OF JULY.

Eugene Held a Monster Celebration.

DETAILS OF THE DAY'S DOINGS.

Daily Guard July 5.
Balm, merry, glad, sunny Oregon heralded the anniversary of the birth of the independence of our country on yester morn. From that point our people had reason to feel that the gods had strangely favored them.

The crowd attending the celebration in Eugene was one of the largest in years. Sunday, people living at a distance began to arrive and camped in the many beautiful groves along the river's bank adjacent to this city. About sun-up yesterday morning a constant stream of wagons, carriages, buggies and bicycles began rolling into the city, forming a procession that had not entirely ceased when the main procession of the day's program commenced.

Probably never before has Eugene witnessed a celebration so enthusiastic and patriotic in its nature. Red, white and blue, our flag and Cuba's flag, and occasionally a British emblem, were seen in abundance everywhere. Business houses, residences, and every point of vantage was covered with bunting. The streets along the route of the procession were sprinkled Sunday night, a fact appreciated by those going over the course.

At 9:30 o'clock, when the procession formed, the business portion of the city was a crowded mass of good-natured and patriotic humanity. According to the schedule published the procession was formed and started as follows:

Band.
City Council.
Speakers of the day.
Chemical Engine Company.
Young ladies on bicycles representing the States.
Oregon Hose Company.
Ladies of the Patriotic League.
Hook and Ladder Company.
Members of the G. A. R.
Rescue Hose Company.
Young ladies on bicycles representing the navy.
Members of the Sons of Veterans.
Cyclone Hose Company.
Recruits for Second Regiment, Oregon Volunteers.
Floats, and citizens in carriages.

The procession moved north on Oak to Seventh, west to Willamette, south to Tenth, west to Olive, south to Eleventh, east to Willamette, north to Eighth street and thence to park.

The parade is generally considered to be one of the finest ever given in Eugene. Exclusive of the large number of citizens in carriages, the parade extended six blocks, or over half a mile in length. Every department was well arranged and taken care of, and promptly moved off in the order arranged. A large number of business houses displayed floats that were a credit to their enterprise and interest in their glorious anniversary.

MORNING EXERCISES.
Immediately on reaching the platform erected in the park the exercises of the morning were commenced.

Hon Geo B Dorris, president of the day, in his opening remarks announced the telegram just received of the great success of Sampson at Santiago and the safe arrival of our boys at the Philippines. Cheers thundered upon cheer and the wild patriotism then created served to make the exercises of exceeding interest.

After music by the band, a prayer was offered by Rev Harry S Templeton. Miss Lula Bradley then read the declaration of Independence, the clear intonation of her well trained voice making the text of this wonderful document heard throughout the vast audience.

Another selection by the band and one by the chorus choir was then rendered.

L T Harris then delivered the oration. He reviewed the sacred cause of liberty as conceived and fostered by the American colonists, and followed its civilizing growth through to the present time in all its magnificence and sublimity. The Anglo Saxon race, he declared, represents the highest influence of good citizenship and intellectual growth. Speaking of the war for humanity's sake, in which we are involved, he declared it would not cease until our lofty purpose had been realized, and that before its end Spain would learn that tyranny over oppressed people would not be tolerated by civilized people.

Music by band and chorus closed the program.

DINNER.
The noon hour was effectively employed by every one in the pursuit of a good meal, and from the contented faces seen during the afternoon it is evident that the anticipation was more than realized.

AFTERNOON PROGRAM.
At 1:30 the band took a position on Eighth street near Willamette and discoursed spirited music during the program of the races, a list of which are given below:

3:30—Starter, W O Trine, Judges, Drew Griffin, W H Alexander, Geo Smith.

CONCERT.
At four o'clock the band and chorus choir gave a concert at the platform. The music was well selected and rendered in faultless manner. This feature of the day proved most pleasurable and was received with every evidence of appreciation.

At 5 o'clock the platform was partially cleared and dancing indulged in for a time previous to the evening meal, which consumed the portion of time allotted it in interim between exercises as announced on the program.

PATRIOTIC DEMONSTRATION.
"It means something to be an American citizen." This was the thought that was composite in all minds yesterday as Dewey was remembered and as the wires brought the news from Sampson. Posters were hastily gotten out signed by Mayor Kuykendall announcing a patriotic parade at 7:30 o'clock, to the end that our people might celebrate in a fitting manner the wonderful American victories. The band kindly donated its services and led the procession. About 150 men were in line armed with guns and firing blank cartridges while the streets along the line of march were a seething mass of exploding fire crackers and sky-rockets. Such a wildly enthusiastic demonstration could not but arouse the people to the highest tension and joy knew no bounds.

ILLUMINATED PARADE.
The bicyclists moved down Willamette street from Central school building at 9 o'clock, making a pageant glorious in its transcendent beauty. About 300 wheels were out, and the long line of moving lanterns made a glorious sight. Red lights and sky rockets along the route of procession added brilliantly to the scene. For the finest decorated wheel Miss Lillian Wood secured first prize, Miss Lillian McElroy second and Miss Eva Bur on third. The judges were Messrs James D Wood, J J Walton and A Yerlington. A representation of the battleship Oregon carried on Miss McElroy's wheel is now on exhibition at G D Combs store.

THE DANCE.
At 9 o'clock Daly's orchestra started up the first strains of the music that held the dance lovers until the wee hours of today. The large platform was entirely inadequate to hold the crowd during the early part of the evening. The platform dance seems to have become a permanent fixture in Eugene celebrations, so well does it hold the popularity of its first introduction. This was the latest and last scheduled event of a day that passed pleasantly by all attendant.

OFFICERS OF THE DAY.
The officers of the day were: Marshal, W W Oglesby; aids, F L Chambers, C L Scott; President of the day, Geo B Dorris; vice presidents, A C Woodcock, E P Coleman, S L Moorhead, B A Washburne, Dr Wall, W B Hawley; Chaplain, Rev H S Templeton; Orator, L T Harris; Reader, Miss Lula Bradley; Goddess of Liberty, Miss Carrie Hovey.

NOTES.
About 9,000 people celebrated in Eugene.

The celebration committee worked like trojans.

The usual number of comical incidents occurred.

The utmost satisfaction over the program was expressed.

Every business house reports an unusually good day the Fourth.

Lane county is patriotic. The demonstration last night proved this.

Marshal of the Day Oglesby and assistants attended their work in fine form, and were complimented highly.

Only one arrest made during the day. A boy named Edy, while drunk, became insulting to ladies. He was promptly knocked down by Ad Reams, and afterward taken in charge by Marshal Stiles.

Two sticks attached to skyrockets, last night, when they fell, went clear through the roof of Mr Awbrey's house and one penetrated the ground several inches. They are certainly dangerous.

Special policemen appointed were M F Fogle, R M Pratt, S Hansaker, Sidney Scott and Clarence Luckey. They ably assisted Marshal Stiles and Policemen Croner and Simpson in keeping the crowd walking straight.

CASUALTIES OF THE DAY.
Four Burns Burned Down—Seth McAlister Injured.

On the corner of Ninth and Oak streets while on a wheel and riding rapidly to the fire Seth McAlister collided with Will Hodes, throwing the former to the ground with considerable force. He suffered congestion of the brain and a broken collar bone. He was taken to the Bonboniere and Dr Prentice summoned. Seth remained in a dazed and unconscious condition and is yet unable to recall the incident distinctly. This morning he was removed to his home and is resting very easily.

About 10:15 last evening an alarm of fire was sounded and the department hastily turned out, finding the blaze in a barn belonging to M Awbrey. It rapidly spread the flames engulfing the barns of James Stevens, Joe Luckey and J H McClung. A horse in Mr Awbrey's barn was taken from the burning building but when loosened a short distance away rushed back and was burned to death. Considerable delay was caused all along by bursting hose and most of the time but one stream played on the fire. But for this it is very probable two of the barns would have been saved. The garden hose at Mr McClung's did good service in saving his house, which was in danger as was that of Mr Awbrey.

The cause of the fire is due to the fireworks of the evening. Burning rockets were found in various places in that neighborhood, one on the roof of the Awbrey residence.

Today the business men are signing a petition calling attention to the rotten and worthless hose now in use by the fire department and asking that 1000 feet be purchased at once. It is very likely that the petition will be heeded.

A little girl was run over at the corner of Eighth and Willamette streets during the day, but not seriously injured. No blame attaches to the driver of the rig, Mrs F E Dunn, as the child deliberately ran in front of the team.

As near as can be learned no insurance was carried on either of the barns. The loss will approximate $900.

J H McClung furnished coffee and sandwiches to the fire lads after their hard work. It was appreciated by all.

A GOOD POSITION.—Dock Blanton has just been given the position of night clerk in the Golden Isles hotel at Pendleton. The Pendleton Tribune of last Sunday, has this to say concerning the matter: "G F Blanton has been installed as night clerk of the hotel. For a year and a half until a short time ago, he was manager of the Merchant's hotel in Portland, leaving there last spring, since then he has been in Montana. J A Drake will be day clerk."

The Oregon captured the Spanish cruiser Cristobal Colon after a race of 60 miles. She was uninjured.
