FRANK REID SHOT HIM.

"Soapy" Smith Downed by a Former Linn County Man.

Albany Herald: The shooting and killing of the celebrated Soapy Smith at Skagway will have an additional interest to Albany and Linn county people on account of the man who did the killing having been a former resident of Linn county. It was the same Frank H. Reid who in 1879 killed a man named Simons at Sweet Home. Reid was then a school teacher, a brother of D. V. S. Reid. He was tried and acquitted, the defense being that the act was done in self defense. Reid soon after left Linn county and has resided in Washington state since then, until going to Skagway during the excitement. He was serving as city engineer. On July 8 a party of miners came from Dawson with considerable gold. One of them J. D. Stewart was bounced out of $2,700 by the gamblers. The vigilance committee immediately held a meeting on the wharf. Reid and two or three other men were appointed guards at the entrance of the wharf. The following occurred:

Smith heard of the meeting and said he would go down single handed to stop it. He made his men stay back and armed with a Winchester started down to the wharf. Reid was the first man he met. He walked up to him and with an oath asked what he was doing there at the same time striking him with the barrel of the gun. Reid grabbed the gun and pushed it downward. As he did so, "Soapy" pulled the trigger. The ball passed through Reid's right groin, and came out through the lower part of the right hip.

Reid pulled his revolver and fired a shot, striking Smith in the leg. Again the crack of Smith's rifle was heard and Reid felt a bullet plump into his leg. Then came the shot from his revolver that pierced Smith's heart. The fight was ended.

The meeting on the dock came to a sudden termination. Reid, who was believed to be mortally wounded, was taken to Dr. Moore's office, and a number of physicians made a hasty examination. Later in the night he was removed to the Bishop Howe hospital, where an operation was performed which gives him an excellent show for life.

On Saturday a coroner's jury held an inquest over Smith's body. A clause in the verdict reads: "That the said wound was the result of a pistol shot fired by one Frank H. Reid, who resides in the Bishop Howe hospital, of Skagway, dangerously wounded from shots received at the hands of the deceased. That such shooting on the part of said Reid was in self defense and in the opinion of the jury entirely justifiable."

BLANK COLUMN NEWS.

The Spanish press is subjected to a strict censorship not being allowed to publish any news unfavorable to the Spanish cause. The opposition newspapers that are thus deprived of the opportunity to give their readers the current events of the day have hit on a plan that is far more effective as a means of exciting the populace and causing discontent with the government. They simply leave the space blank and allow their readers to guess at the extent of the latest disaster and reverse to Spanish arms. A London dispatch of July 18, from Madrid, is explanatory of the situation:

"The appearance Friday night of several newspapers with blank columns representing portions of news suppressed by the censor, caused a sensation. The following day, however, Lieutenant-General Chinchilla, military governor of the city, had interviews with the leading editors and managers, and discussed the situation. He expressed a desire to apply the new regulations with the least possible rigor, but the result is that a bitter feeling prevails, and as one effect of the censorship the papers insinuate they know more than they dare assert.

"El Nacional suggests that the entire press should cease to appear until the censorship is abolished.

"El Liberal significantly reminds the government that the last time the newspapers appeared with blank spaces was the eve of the September revolution, when the revolutionists were headed by Senor Sagasta, Queen Isabella's implacable enemy."

GUSH.

Hon W H Corbett of Portland is credited with being an active candidate for United States senator to fill the seat left vacant by the expiration of Hon J H Mitchell's term of office. He is also credited with having parted with considerable of his "dough" in hope of securing a quorum of, and election to the United States senate by the last attempted legislature. A sort of heirship to the Mitchell forlorn hope. This being understood the following extract from the Portland Chronicle needs no explanation except, maybe, "how much" it believes in the ambitious aspirant for the senatorship:

"The Chronicle has no use for a political chameleon. It believes in the Damon and Pythias sort of fidelity in all of its dealings and performs its duties regardless of how others fail in doing theirs. The Chronicle was the first paper that advocated the election of Hon W H Corbett for the United States senate. It supported him as no other candidate ever was supported in this state for similar honors. It has carried the fight right to the gates of hades, and if necessary, will bombard the "boilers" until they capitulate.

"Hon W H Corbett is the best qualified man in the state of Oregon for the high office of United States senator. Will he again become a candidate? The Chronicle doubts it."

The "gates of hades" reference may require some explanation by those who are not posted in senatorial contests or the new version of the Scriptures. Hades is a polite term for the old fashioned and out of date hell of our forefathers. The quotation above may properly be read: "It has carried the fight to the gates of hell." Such fidelity should be rewarded with not less than three figures.

THE OREGON'S PERFORMANCE.

The wonderful performance of the battleship Oregon in making the trip around the Horn in good time, and without the least delay an account of the workings of her machinery, still excites comment in naval circles all over the world. The official figures just given out show she made the latter part of the run in better time than the first. From Puget sound to San Francisco, 991 miles she averaged 13 4/5 miles an hour. On the home stretch, from Barbadoes to the coast of Florida, an even 2000 miles, she averaged 14 1/10 miles. And she arrived in condition to take a leading part in the naval battle a few weeks later and measured speed with one of the crack cruisers of the navy in pursuit of the fleeing Spanish fleet.

A Bush, the Salem banker, is home from a two months sojourn in the New England and Middle states. In a general conversation with Mr Bush the following impressions were obtained: "He says war interferes with all lines of business. Manufacturers say they have not made any money for three years, and many factories are shut down. They say there is too much machinery. Improvements made in the last few years do away with more and more hands. The manufacturers are asking for freer trade and an enlarged market. The next move for tariff revision will come along the lines of less restrictions on trade, extension of trade. We cannot compete with countries that do not tax raw materials."

The wonderful advancement in modern gunnery is illustrated by the shelling of Santiago de Cuba by United States ships recently. The fighters laid off the coast line a half-mile, four and a half miles from the city. A range of hills two hundred and fifty feet high laid along the coast. The ships were listed by weighting the seaward side until the guns obtained an elevation at which they cleared the hills, then threw their steel missiles into the city.

London papers express the opinion that the United States made a very wise move when it agreed to send the Santiago prisoners home on parole. Besides being relieved of the expense of keeping them, a decided change in the sentiment of Spain for our country cannot but result. The men who have been treated so graciously by a victorious enemy cannot but feel a great respect for the generous victors. Such action eliminates the passion of revenge from the contest.

BOHEMIA MINES.

Fine Prospect at Every Mine Now Worked.

Cottage Grove Leader: The Laura Group, owned by the LeRoy Bros, on Champion Creek, is a fine prospect and would make a fine claim for a company to operate. It shows from 12 to 40 feet of fine ledge at the surface, and the quartz from the different levels is magnificent. It has ample water power for a stamp mill, and splendid timber covers the claim. It is also on the same vein as the famous Bruneau, Jennings property. The boys may well be proud of it. They also have several other good claims on Hard Scabble trail, which are sure to turn out good ore.

Considerable work is going on at the mines in Bohemia. The saw mill is nearing completion, and the ground has been broken for another 10-stamp mill at the Music mine.

The road into the mines is being pushed as fast as possible, but must necessarily be very slow, on account of so much rock. It is being pushed from both ends, and will be completed sometime in August. When completed it will be a very fine road with a very easy grade.

The Nonday mine is putting out its usual amount of ore. They have just finished an air shaft, to give better ventilation.

The Champion mine has placed a new concentrator in their 10-stamp mill and will handle their products themselves.

The Music mine is putting out some beautiful quartz.

The Bruneau & Jennings property is a gem.

The Griffith & Reed, and the Ziniker Bros claims are fine prospects.

Harlow Bros are pushing the work on their new stamp mill.

AT SHERIFF'S SALE.—The Nonday Mine, formerly the Annie Mine, in the Bohemia district, is being advertised at sheriff's sale in the Roseburg Plaindealer. The amount against the mine in this sale is $7,884.83. This is one of the valuable mines of the famous Bohemia district.
