HONORS TO DEAD HEROES

THEIR REMAINS WILL BE BROUGHT HOME FOR BURIAL

Washington, Nov. 30.—Arrangements are being made by the war department to disinter the remains of all the soldiers who died in the campaign before Santiago and bring them to this country. Maps showing the location of these graves, the names of the deceased, the respective regiments to which they belonged and their next of kin are being prepared.

What is known as a funeral expedition will soon be started for Santiago, and the ship will be equipped with caskets and other necessary articles to be used in disintering the remains and bringing them to this country. Upon arrival here they will be turned over to the relatives of those who lost their lives for their country, and the dead heroes who have no relatives will be interred at Arlington, the national cemetery, a few miles from Washington.

The ship will probably leave for Cuba about December 15, but it may be delayed until January 1. General Wood has opposed the removal of these remains until cold weather for fear that yellow fever may be brought to this country. His advice in this respect has been heeded, and, as stated, the dead soldiers will not be interred in their native soil until some time in the new year.

Our Tropical Possessions.

When the new order of things is established in the Philippine Islands, there is likely to be a great rush to Uncle Sam's latest possessions. There will be a scramble for wealth similar to that which occurred when the Klondike goldfields were discovered. No matter what business a man is engaged in, he thinks more of his purse than his health, but wealth is worthless without good health to enjoy it. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is needed by nearly every body. Rich and poor are cured by it of constipation, dyspepsia, general debility and malarial fevers. Women who are nervous, men who are overworked, people whose nights are sleepless, should take these world-famous Bitters if they wish to be cured.

Mr. Campbell, Editor Guard, Dear Sir: I used to live in Portland, Oregon, and there I knew Mr. C. K. Wilkinson, in fact roomed with him, and I am writing you to let you know something about him that I think ought to be known to you and to the public. I met him by chance last week as I happened to be in Elizabeth, Colo. I am not able to help him financially, myself or I should not write to you regarding his condition. He is rapidly improving and I can plainly see a Colorado climate is going to save his life, but he has had a hard fight and now has the best of the battle. All he needs is a little financial aid and to remain where he is for another year. Mr. Wilkinson is certainly a very bright young man and has had bright prospects and will have them again.

He, though sick, went out during the election a few days ago, and made some speeches that opened the eyes of the politicians of this state.

I hope the good people of Eugene will put forth every effort and raise him some money, which I am sure will never be forgotten. I write this letter out of friendship for him and to let you know that I know something in which he can be aided. Could not a big ball be gotten up for his benefit, well advertised, and given Christmas? If the expenses—music etc could be donated—quite a sum ought to be realized. I only make this as a suggestion.

I do not believe that the people of Eugene would allow as brilliant a young man as Mr. Wilkinson to suffer when they knew his condition, considering the fact that with a little aid for a while he has every chance of ultimate recovery. But someone must take the lead.

I do not write this for publication, but any facts you may glean from it you may publish.

Very truly yours,
W. A. BROWN,

37TH ANNIVERSARY

OF THE GREAT FLOOD OF 1861 IN THE WILLAMETTE VALLEY.

SOBER REFLECTIONS.
Thirty-seven years ago today, December 1, water covered the Willamette valley from the foothills on the west to the foothills on the east. Dark turbid waters, in great quantities, poured down the mountains to the sea through stream channels, and overflowed the level lands with little current.

Many houses and barns were swept into the river along its course, fencing was practically destroyed, bridges and roads washed out, stock drowned, and human life was lost, with many narrow escapes to chronicle. Steamboats ran through the streets of some of the towns lower down the valley, and several small villages were destroyed by this record-breaking flood, never to be rebuilt.

The prairie lands of Lane county were covered by the flood and much loss of property resulted. Eugene was almost covered with water, few bars spots being visible. Skiffs were towed along the business streets, the business houses were flooded, and many people were compelled to move from their residences and double up with more fortunate neighbors.

Heavy snows preceded the flood, and warm continuous rains for a week previous brought it out so suddenly that the ordinary river channels were unable to carry the waters.

Some City Debts.
Salem's bonded debt is $155,181.50 and its floating debt $80,828. An increase of $35,228 to 18 months. The Statesman is carrying on a crusade in advocacy of retrenchment in all departments.

The Surprise of All.
Mr. James Jones, of the drug firm of Jones & Son, Camden, Ill., in speaking of Dr. King's New Discovery, says that last winter his wife was attacked with La Grippe, and her case grew so serious that physicians at Camden and Pana could do nothing for her. It seemed to develop into Hasty Consumption. Having Dr. King's New Discovery in store, and selling lots of it, he took a bottle home, and to the surprise of all he began to get better from first dose, and half dozen larger bottles cured her sound and well. Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, coughs and colds is guaranteed to do this good work. Try it. Free trial bottles at Wilkins & Linn's drug store.

Fresh Cow for Sale.
A pure bred Jersey cow with young calf for sale. Address or apply to NORRIS HUMPHREY, Eugene.

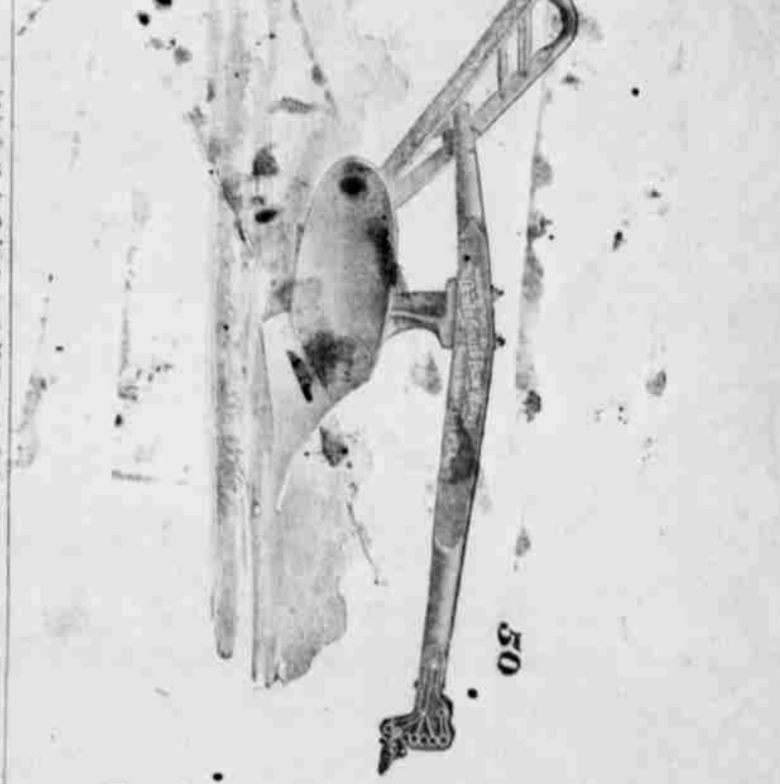

Married.
Last evening at the home of Mr and Mrs Joel Ware in this city Mr F. E. Ware was united in marriage to Miss Gerlie May Duryee. Dr. D. E. Lovelace, pastor of the St. Mary's Episcopal church officiated, and in the impressive ritualistic service of the church bound permanent the tender ties which bound the two young people. The bride and groom are well known and popular among their large circle of acquaintances, and have the best wishes of all in their dual life, begun under such pleasant auspices.

The parlors of the Ware home were tastefully decorated for the occasion. The dining room, where the wedding supper served, was a scene of joyousness.

Only a few of the relatives and intimate friends of the young couple were present. A number of handsome presents were given Mr and Mrs Ware, which will serve to pleasantly remind their friends.

The groom has furnished a residence at his farm on the Mohawk, where they will reside in the future.

J. R. BUCKNUM STILL MISSING.
One Hundred Men Searching for His Body—A Reward of $250 for His Recovery.

Today's Albany Herald: "Mr. E. E. Upmeyer of Harrisburg, partner in business of the unfortunate man, J. R. Bucknum, who was lost recently in the mountains east of Harrisburg, was in Albany yesterday. He says no trace of the missing man has been found. His relatives have offered a reward of $250 for the recovery of the body, and at least 100 men are searching for him. At the time he was lost Bucknum and C. L. Morris had killed a deer, and were going to camp and lose their way. Morris went up on a mountain to get his bearings, leaving Bucknum with the deer, it being understood that he was to wait until Morris returned, which he did within 25 minutes. When he reached the spot the deer was still there, but Bucknum was gone. Morris called several times and fired his gun, but got no response. He heard a gun fired at a distance but could not tell where it was. Searchers found a trail of blood, but could not tell whether Bucknum had met with some accident, or had shot some game and followed it. It is very likely the mystery will be solved in a few days, as 100 searchers cannot fail to find the body."

ATTENTION.
Comrades of J. W. Geary Post No. 7, G. A. R.

The Department Commander, O. P. Holloway will be here to visit J. W. Geary post Monday evening, Dec. 5th. Turn out and give him a full house. Post meets at 7:30 o'clock sharp.

New York Again Storm-Bound.
New York, Nov. 30.—This vicinity is again storm-bound. While the rain storm which began last night, followed today by snow, is not as severe as the blow of Saturday and Sunday, it has had the effect of continuing the blockade of the railroads and it is causing much delay to traffic.

Healthfulness of the bath depends largely on cleanliness of the bath tub. Court health and skin sickness by using GOLD DUST WASHING POWDER.
