> Cruelty on the High Seas. At Portland, Or., on the 18th, sailors on the German ship Margaretha told startling stories of alleged cruel treatment on the part of Captain Rasch. The sailors, to a man, relate a series of outrages perpetrated since the vessel left her home port some eight months ago, that if true, whether committed with or without cause, are exceedingly startling, cruel and inhuman. They allege that ever since they started out they have been in danger of getting killed one way or another, and they assert that not for anything could they be induced to again go to sea under command of Captain Rasch. The crew, 25 men all told, have laid their complaint before the German vice-

The Seven Devils. It is currently believed that the Northern Pacific is making strenuous efforts to establish a line to connect with the Seven Devils railroad, and thus tap a rich copper region. The Northwestern Railway Company has also three crews of surveyors in the field, and is preparing the way for graders from Huntington to the Ox. bend of Snake river, and from there to the Peacock mine. There are now 28 O. R. & N. surveyors working from Keating, on Lower Powder river, to Eagle valley, arranging for the construction work from Baker City to Seven Devils.

A Good Showing. The Whatcom creamery has turned ont 32,340 pounds of butter, or over 16 tons since May 1, 1898. Patrons deliver their cream and receive 24 cents per pound for the butter yielded. The sum of $6,802 has thus been paid out to Whatcom county residents since May. The creamery will continue in operation all winter.

It is said that the electric cabs in New York city did a record business during the blizzard and proved their entire efficiency.

February 1 the citizens of Globe, Ariz., will celebrate the completion to that point of the Gila valley, Globe & Northern. The regulation golden spike will be driven, and the citizens of Globe will make the event an auspicious one. The probabilities are that the Southern Pacific will make special ratets to Globe from all points between Los Angeles and El Paso, and that the inhabitants of that section of country will turn out in gala attire.

A GAME OF BLUFF.

RAG and a bone and a hank A of hair," cynically quoted Marion. The next moment he repented his words, when he noted the hurt look, accompanied by the flash of resentment, in Warren's eyes.

Marion meant to be sympathetic, after the manner of men, by uttering philosophical platitudes as a balm for sentimental heart troubles, but he quickly realized that the case before him was too genuine and severe to be cured by such superficial ointment as quotations from cynical Kipling. So he took another tack.

"Of course, old man, there are women and women. Some can be had for the asking, while others play for all the line they can get. It's just like fishing"-his metaphor suggesting an illustration from out his sporting proclivities-"a hornpout will bite at almost anything, but a gamy trout insists on a nice fly for an attraction, and even after you've got one really hooked you've got to play it until your patience is almost gone. The tongues of the cat family are covered with recurving spines. In the common domestic cat these are small, but sufficiently well developed to give the tongue a feeling of roughness. But in the lion and tiger the spines are strong enough to enable the animal to tear away the skin of a man's hand merely by licking it.

There are several species of fish, reptiles and insects which never sleep during their stay in this world. Among fish it is now positively known that pike, salmon and goldfish never sleep at all. Also that there are several others of the fish family that never sleep more than a few minutes during a month. There are dozens of species of flies which never indulge in slumber and from three to five species of serpents which the naturalists have never yet been able to catch napping.

The Pig Was Stolen. Whether "a lie told and stuck to afterwards is as good as the truth" was debated at the dinner table where a man was sitting one day, and it "You think the girl really cares for brought out the following story from ton, $14; you?" asked Marion, dropping his rail- a rather dyspeptic looking man who had eaten very sparingly:

'I'd have the plg hung up outdoors till twelve o'clock at night, then take-him in and give out the next morning that he's been stolen.' 'By jinks,

I'll do it.' "It was a wonderfully fine plan, the farmer thought, and he left the pig hanging out, as the butcher suggested. "At eleven o'clock the butcher himself came along and packed the pork into his cart. It was not there when the farmer went out after it. "The next day, with a long face, he addressed the butcher in a hoarse whisper: 'I say, Sam, somebody did really steal that pig.' 'That's right,' said the butcher, nudging him and winking wickedly at the same time. But, by Jinks, the pig was really stolen.' 'That's right; you stick to that and you'll be all right,' said butcher, encouragingly, and he hurrled off, leaving his friend in a most bewildered state of mind, from which I don't think he ever fully emerged."

Music Hath Charms.

A couple of sallors, returned from a long voyage, strolled into the bar parlor of a public house near the docks. Above the rumble of the traffic in the street could be heard at intervals a harsh, unmusical voice. After listening intently for a moment one of the sailors turned to his companion and said: "Eh, Jack, lad; it's a long time since we heard that song." "What song?"

"The one that fellow's singing in the street-'The Light of Other Days.' "Stow it!" ejaculated the other gruffly. "That fellow ain't singing "The Light of Other Days' at all, man. I've been listening to him. He's a piping "The Banks of Allan Water."

A correspondence is being published in the Times on the subject of "French Feeling Toward Englishmen." A Mr. Jackson has written to that paper to repeat that at Caen recently a student went out of his way to publicly insult Great Britain. As a boy I was first for some years at school in Paris. I was then kicked for being an Englishman; after I was transferred to a school in England, where I was kicked for being a Frenchman, Comment is unnecessary.-London Truth.

A press dispatch from Little Rock, Ark., says that an extraordinary longdistance telephone test has been made by Charles, J. Glidden, president of the Southwestern Telegraph & Telephone Company. Mr. Glidden held a distinct and clear conversation over the wire with Frederick F. Farrar, of the firm of Poor & Greenough, Boston. The distance from Little Rock is 1,900 miles. Mr. Glidden says this is the longest circuit in the world.

Shall Porto Rico Re a State. Our public men are trying to decide what ction should be taken regarding the status of Porto Rico. We have hever before had to deal with a similar condition where hearly a million people of a foreign tongue have been amoved. Neither have we ever had before such a primite medicine for malaria, fever and ague as the letter's atomach litters. It drives the poisons out of the system and establishes atrength to resist future attacks.

How England Gets Recruits. The English have always been enterprising in their methods of recruiting and keep themselves up-to-date. Captain Eardley Wilmot, of the British navy, is giving lectures on the development of that service. They are popular lectures, illustrated with lantern slides, and the object evidently is to present the navy to the public in an attractive and honorable light. In his lecture Captain Wilmot dealt with the seamen and marines, explaining their duties and manner of living on board "Oh, mamma," answered the girl ship. Together these two lectures have quickly, "I was trying to smile at you, been a great success. A similar course would be valuable in this country. When recruits are wanted in the navy the government could well afford to try this system as a method of recruiting. Much could be done with lantern slides, and if the vitascope were used there yould be no doubt of the extreme pop
