MEANS BUSINESS

The Snag Boat Crowd Here to Work a Month on the River.

COMMENCED OPERATIONS TODAY.

Daily Guard, May 30
The whistle of the United States snag boat Mathoma Saturday afternoon about 4:30 o'clock gladdened the hearts of our citizens who are highly interested in the improvement of the upper Willamette, which the steamboat City of Eugene has proven conclusively to be a navigable stream.

Captain Galbreath gave out the news that the boat and crew would work here nearly a month if the water permitted them. The snag boat also brought out the 175 foot pile driver on a scow which is to be used in driving piles. The snag boat draws nearly 30 inches but she never struck bottom on a riffle while coming up.

The boat removed a number of dangerous snags that were a menace to navigation while ascending the stream.

Work was commenced on the Skinner's rapids, near the Sladden farm, this morning. The south end of the dam had washed out and allowed about one-half of the water to be diverted from the true channel.

After this work is completed a 700-foot dam at Davis slough will be built. This will turn the water into one channel instead of permitting the water to seek two.

Then many places along the river will receive slight attention.

The piling are all on the banks for the proposed improvement. The stone will be delivered by Chas. Croner, Jr., who has the contract.

The people of Lane county are quite thankful to Major Fiske for his sending the boat to do the work.

Loren Servner has been on the sick list, but we are hoping to soon see him around again.

Miss Hanna Johnson came home last week. She had been away at Eugene for some time.

Mr. Ringo has taught out two months of the spring term of school and has given general satisfaction.

There yet remains some government land in these parts both for timber and agriculture. Also quite a lot of unimproved lands may be bought cheap.

There is great preparation being made by the Trent and Lost Valley schools to unite in the celebration of Children's Day.

D. S. Hunsaker has sold his farm here and gone to California to remain perhaps a year or more. He settled here in June, 1853, occupying his donation land claim continuously for 46 years.

The bridge that has been down for the past two months, has been repaired, D. C. Matthews doing the work. We might say in connection, that the bad place in the road near the school house has been repaired by Mr. Servner, road supervisor.

THE STEAMBOAT

Management Changed to Facilitate Business.

LEFT DOWN RIVER THIS MORNING.

Daily Coast, May 30
The steamer "City of Eugene" left for Portland at 8 o'clock this morning with a good load of freight after spending Sunday here. While in port the directors made several changes, which it is hoped will benefit traffic. The craft has been leased to Captain Isaac Gray, who goes aboard as purser, vice Alf Kirkland resigned. The net proceeds will be applied to the indebtedness as before, this move being made merely to place the affairs of the boat in the hands of one man.

Chief Engineer Walter Kiser and Mate Dan Webb have been retired and new men will be selected in their places.

The business of the company is growing steadily and looks very bright at this time, the last cargo being the largest they have yet carried.

The Dewey Book.

Do you want to know more about Dewey, the great admiral and his gift to the Nation? If so read our up-to-date "Dewey Book," written by Jas. L. Stickney, aid-de-camp to Admiral Dewey at the battle of Manila Bay. This book is not a history of Cuban insurrections or operations—it is a Philippine book. It begins with the landing of Dewey and continues through the operations between Spanish and American forces at Manila. The battle of Manila Bay is described as only Stickney can describe it from the vantage ground of the Olympia's bridge, by the side of Dewey, where he witnessed every maneuver, transmitted every command and observed every phase of the battle and exulted in the glory of the American Navy. Complete biography of Admiral Dewey is given, also biography of the eminent American commanders, fully illustrated. The accurate and valuable maps found in this book are a valuable feature of the book. Price only $1.75. Sold by subscription only. Occidental Publishing Co., Station R, Oakland, Cal. M. W. Wristen, general agent for the Pacific Coast.

ANOTHER EXCURSION.—The Native Sons expect to give an excursion to Portland June 13; tickets at-out $3. Mr. Day is chairman of the Eugene committee.

MEMORIAL DAY

A Smile For the Living, A Flower for the Dead.

SERVICES OF THE DAY.

Daily Guard, May 30

"Under the sod and the dew,
Waiting the Judgment Day;
Love and tears for the Blue,
Tears and love for the Gray."

The soldier dead of the United States have again been honored by the nation. The sacredness of a day of memorial tribute to dead heroes has a new meaning, and while its permanence was assured before the Hispano-American war, the newer significance will perpetuate it through generations yet unborn.

In Eugene this was especially noticeable. The Grand Army of the Republic, and auxiliary organizations, while paying tribute to the dead soldiery of '61-5 was called upon to aid in the burial rites over Private Rufus K. Holbrook of company C, Second Oregon regiment, who died at Manila, August 8, 1898, and whose body reached this city yesterday.

The day opened clear and cool, and was very pleasant with the exception of one small shower. Merchants displayed flags and yards of bunting, and all stores were closed from 11 to 1 o'clock. The exercises of the day were held in the I. O. O. F. cemetery, but details were dispatched to the Masonic and other cemeteries to place floral tributes on the last resting place of the departed.

At 11 o'clock the procession started from the G. A. R. hall, corner of Ninth and Oak streets, proceeded west to Willamette, south on Willamette to Eleventh, east on Eleventh to A street, and to the cemetery. The long route was well handled by B. F. Russell, grand marshal, and his aids.

Company C, third regiment, J. M. Williams, captain, lead the procession, with martial music, being followed by the Sons of Veterans, G. A. R., Ladies Circle, W. R. C., children from the public and Catholic schools, and citizens. The military organizations formed a guard for the remains of Private Holbrook, a squad being detached to march alongside the dead soldier's body.

AT THE CEMETERY.

Arriving at the cemetery a hollow square was formed around the monument erected to the unknown dead, and the ritualistic funeral service of the G. A. R. rendered in impressive manner. A chorus furnished beautiful music. Flowers were deposited, a salute fired by company C, and this tribute was ended.

Immediately following, the burial of Private Holbrook occurred, Rev. Abbott officiating and being assisted by the various organizations present. It was a very touching and tender scene—the burial on Oregon soil of the first returning body of a Company C boy, who unselfishly gave up his young life in the service of his country. "May he rest in peace" was the fervent benediction of the large assembly.

This ended the afternoon program as previously outlined.

TONIGHT.

The several organizations, in line as above, will meet at Hall at 7 p. m. sharp, and move to M. E. church where a memorial address will be delivered at 7:30.

PROGRAM.

Invocation.
Music by Choir.
Recitation—Miss Ella McAllister.

Benediction.

Captured.

Daily Guard, May 29.

J. B. Hamblin, who is wanted for forging the name of J. M. Spores to a note for $150, which he cashed at the First National bank, was captured at Portland and brought back yesterday afternoon by Chief of Police Stiles, who was notified to come and get him.

Hamblin admits doing the work, but claims to have an accomplice, who traveled with him from Ashland. Hamblin had $24 on his person when captured, besides having a gold watch and a bicycle, all of which he turned over to the bank.

He was brought before Justice Wintermeier today and waiving examination was bound over in the sum of $1000.

Besides Hamblin one other man is now confined in the county jail, Ed Welch who is held for breaking into a house near Irving.

FATAL SHOOTING

Charles Farrell Shot Through the Head at Albany.

A SALOON ROW.

We take the following from today's Albany Herald concerning a row in which Charles Farrell, a son of P. Farrell, the marble cutter, was probably fatally wounded:

"Shortly after midnight this morning Henry Williams, the first street saloon keeper, shot and probably fatally wounded Charles Farrell. The weapon used was a Smith & Weston .38 calibre revolver. The barrel of the gun had been sawed off and every chamber was loaded. The shot was fired just as Farrell was in the doorway. The shot entering the back of the head just above the right ear and came out directly over the right eye. The bullet imbedded itself in the heavy door and from the appearance of the hole the door was partly open at the time. Williams was apparently behind the end of the bar when he fired the shot. Farrell, together with several companions, had been in the saloon during the evening and were raising a disturbance. Williams claims that they were throwing glasses at him.

"Sheriff Munkers and Policemen McClain and Bayless promptly arrested Williams and conveyed him to the county jail. Farrell was carried to the Revere House and Dr. Davis was called and pronounced the wound serious. The wounded man was then taken to the residence of his father, Pat Farrell.

"Williams was under the influence of liquor at the time of the shooting, and at first claimed he did not know who fired the shot, but afterwards claimed self defense.

"Van Riley, Fred Sanders and Herb Farrell, a cousin to the wounded man, were in the saloon at the time of the shooting. The latter claims that Williams shot at him, but bit Charlie. Herb says he threw a glass at Williams a few moments before the shooting and Williams threatened to shoot. They all started for the door and then Williams shot."

TO THE MAGDALENE HOME.

Through the kindly offices of the W. C. T. U. of this city, Miss Lottie Hanovan, the unfortunate young girl, whose history is now well known, was sent to the Magdalene home at Portland this morning. She was accompanied by Mrs. W. Kuykendall who will attend to her admission. The W. C. T. U. deserve much credit for the interest it has taken in this case.

RECOVERED.—The Richardson family, from Nebraska, that lives on Jefferson street, between Seventh and Eighth, have fully recovered from an attack of diphtheria, and the quarantine has been raised from them.

The monthly collection of fines from vice in Spokane has just been concluded in the police court, says the Spokesman-Review. They amounted to $1,575, divided as follows: Nickel-in-the-slot machines, $940; gambling, $400; prostitution, $535.

A VALUABLE INVENTION.—J. A. Fugate and Green Zuhwilt of Irving, have just received a patent on an adjustable grain sieve or riddle. Heretofore it always took quite a while to change riddles for different kinds of grain and therefore caused considerable expense. With the new invention the riddle can be changed in a second. The gentlemen ought to make money out of their invention if they handle it properly.

THE AUBREY CASE.—Heppner Gazette: The case against T. C. Aubrey tried in the circuit court this week on a charge of taking 72 sacks of wheat from Theodore Anderson last December, was decided by the jury bringing in a verdict of "not guilty." This case has excited a great deal of interest throughout Morrow county.
