'The sheriff of Lane county announ es that he will make good the shortage of his desaulting and absconding deputy, H J Day. This is right and honorable."

The above extract is from the editorial columns of Sunday's Salem Statesman. It is a novelty in Oregon, when the public officer defaults, and especially so if the disnonest man be a deputy, for the county to receive all moneys due without long and expensive litigation. In a great many cases the county or state is defeated in the courts on techicalities, as bardly a bond is drawn strictly in accordance with the statutes. Bill Withers, our most efficient and honest sheriff is not that kind of a man. He is made of different off. But to the landlord's surprise in material. Got Even With Randolph

One night when traveling through Virginia John Randolph stopped at an inn near the forks of two roads. The innkeeper was a fine old gentleman, and, knowing who his distinguished guest was, he endeavored during the evening to draw him into a conversation, but failed. But in the morning, when Mr. Randolph was ready to start, he called for his bill and paid it. The landlord, still anxlous to have some conversation, tackled him again:

"Which way are you traveling, Mr. Randolph?" "Sir!" said Mr. Randolph, with a look of displeasure. "I asked," said the landlord, "which way you are traveling?" "Have I paid you my bill?" "Yes."

"Do I owe you anything more?" "No. "Well, I am going just where I please. Do you understand?"

"Yes." The landlord by this time got somewhat excited, and Mr. Randolph drove a few minutes he sent one of the servlandlord yelled at the top of his voice:

A lady in Paris is reported to have lost her purse in a dressmaker's establishment. She had all the young ladies of the establishment called in, so it is seriously reported, and demanded from each one a lock of her hair.

The tokens were then pinned to humiliation of being searched I intend early tomorrow morning to submit your hair and handwritings to a somnambulist and clairvoyant, who will tell me which of you is the thief."

The Hug Pleased Him.

"See that man?" said the clerk of an up town hotel to me this evening as a handsome, middle aged man strolled through the lobby. "That is the president of the - Life Insurance company. He married his stenographer last spring. It was quite a romance. He and the girl and his office boy were coming down in the elevator in the insurance building one afternoon when the stenographer saw a mouse on the boy's shoulder. She threw her arms around the president's neck and screamed to him to protect her. The mouse cowered in a corner until the elevator reached the bottom floor and then escaped, the girl holding the president all the time. Well, he liked the sensation of being hugged by a pretty girl so much that he married her a few weeks afterward."

"And what became of the office boy?" I asked.

"Oh, he has a desk in the office at a good salary now and is in line to be president in due time," answered the clerk carelessly,-New York Cor. Pitts burg Dispatch.
