

Washington Independent.

VOL. II. HILLSBORO, WASHINGTON COUNTY, OREGON, FRIDAY, JANUARY 22, 1875. NO. 68.

THE INDEPENDENT.

Published at Hillsboro, Oregon. B. B. LUCE, Editor and Proprietor.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION: One year, $5.00; Six months, $3.00; Three months, $1.50; Single copies, 10 cents.

RATES OF ADVERTISING: Yearly, 1 sq. 1.50, 2 sq. 2.00, 3 sq. 2.50, 4 sq. 3.00, 5 sq. 3.50, 6 sq. 4.00, 7 sq. 4.50, 8 sq. 5.00, 9 sq. 5.50, 10 sq. 6.00.

Local Notices, 25 cents per line for the first insertion, and 20 cents a line for each subsequent insertion. No notice less than $1.00.

AGENTS AT PORTLAND, OREGON—L. SAMUELS. AGENT AT SAN FRANCISCO—L. P. FISHER.

AGENTS AT NEW YORK CITY—S. M. FERRIS & CO., 37 Park Row. AGENTS AT ST. LOUIS—ROWELL & CREWMAN.

PROFESSIONAL CARDS. JOHN VITE, M. D., Physician and Surgeon. HILLSBORO, OREGON.

F. A. BAILEY, M. D., Physician, Surgeon and Accoucher. HILLSBORO, OREGON.

WILSON BOWLBY, M. D., Physician and Surgeon. FOREST GROVE, OREGON.

W. H. SAYLOR, M. D., Physician and Surgeon. FOREST GROVE, OREGON.

GEO. H. DURHAM, H. Y. THOMPSON. DURHAM & THOMPSON, ATTORNEYS-AT-LAW.

BALL & STOTT, ATTORNEYS-AT-LAW. PORTLAND, OREGON.

THOMAS H. TONGUE, Attorney-at-Law. Hillsboro, Washington County, Oregon.

JAMES WITHYCOMBE, VETERINARY SURGEON. HILLSBORO, OREGON.

LEGAL ADVERTISEMENTS.

Notice. U. S. Land Office, Oregon City, Oregon, December 15th 1874. To John Pool and his assigns, and to whom it may concern.

Notice of Final Settlement. NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN THAT the undersigned has been appointed by the County Court of the State of Oregon for Washington County, administrator of the estate of Hanson P. Baker, deceased.

Notice of Final Settlement. NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN THAT I have filed in the County Court of the State of Oregon for Washington County my final settlement account as administrator of the estate of T. G. Naylor, deceased.

Notice of Final Settlement. NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN THAT the undersigned has filed in the County Court of the State of Oregon for Washington County, his final account as Administrator of the estate of George W. Davis, deceased.

Hurrah Hurrah! Mr. Farmer, Granger, and all the rest of the living. REJOICE REJOICE Over the good news which in fact every body is anxious to hear.

THOS. D. HUMPHREYS, NOTARY PUBLIC and CONVEYANCER. LEGAL papers drawn and collections made. Business entrusted to his care attended to promptly.

FOREST GROVE LODGE, No. 136, I. O. G. T. MEETS AT ITS HALL EVERY SATURDAY EVENING, at 6 o'clock.

PACIFIC BOOT & SHOEHOUSE. The Largest Stock on the Coast. S. W. Corner of First and Morrison streets. PORTLAND OREGON.

Carpenter & Cabinet Shop. Smith, Kane & Co. Particular attention given to house-building and framing.

Wm McCREADY, FOREST GROVE OREGON. MANUFACTURER AND DEALER IN all kinds of HARNESS, SADDLES, BRIDLES, WHIPS & LASHES.

FOREST GROVE OREGON. MANUFACTURER AND DEALER IN all kinds of HARNESS, SADDLES, BRIDLES, WHIPS & LASHES.

CHARGES REFUTED.

Objects and Aims of Patrons of Husbandry. An Address by Lecturer Wright.

The Grangers Opposed to the Tyranny of Monopolies—The Earners as Middlemen—Etc.

J. W. A. Wright, Lecturer of the California State Grange, has recently made an official tour in the southern portion of that State, and has delivered a public address before the Grangers at different points from which the following are extracts:

Among the most serious charges made against the Grange by our opponents are that we are waging war against capital in general, and are opposed to all railroad enterprise. We are not enemies to capital, as such Wealth acquired by honest toil and fair dealing always brings with it that honor which the dignity of labor confers.

Is the Grange a Monopoly? It is sometimes charged by those who either do not understand or who actually oppose the Grange movement, that we Grangers, in the application of our principles, are establishing a greater monopoly and a more hurtful ring than those we complain of.

Grange Enterprises. As patrons of Husbandry, we are contending for principle; we are contending for a set of noble purposes, founded on the eternal principles of truth and justice; not for the advancement of any man or set of men, nor any political party.

Our opponents choose to call our organization a monopoly and a ring, let them call it so. What odds does it make to us? If it must be mis-called a great monopoly, let it be so.

The Grange expecting to take advantage of it to accumulate moneyed or political capital, he will find himself woefully mistaken. The Farmer as a Middleman. The attempt to make farmers appear to be monopolists and speculators by their organization in the Grange is only a little less absurd than the lame effort which appeared lately in a respectable paper of San Francisco, to prove that the farmer himself is a middleman himself.

We are willing to belong to a monopoly which enrolls under the same banner nearly 2,000,000 of the most earnest men and women of America, ignoring political, sectional and religious differences, and contending in union against the many ills of which we know we justly complain.

Our opponents choose to call our organization a monopoly and a ring, let them call it so. What odds does it make to us? If it must be mis-called a great monopoly, let it be so.

A Farmer's Monopoly, Broad and Liberal. We are willing to belong to a monopoly which enrolls under the same banner nearly 2,000,000 of the most earnest men and women of America.

Grange expecting to take advantage of it to accumulate moneyed or political capital, he will find himself woefully mistaken. The Farmer as a Middleman. The attempt to make farmers appear to be monopolists and speculators by their organization in the Grange is only a little less absurd than the lame effort which appeared lately in a respectable paper of San Francisco, to prove that the farmer himself is a middleman himself.

We are willing to belong to a monopoly which enrolls under the same banner nearly 2,000,000 of the most earnest men and women of America, ignoring political, sectional and religious differences, and contending in union against the many ills of which we know we justly complain.

Grange Enterprises. As patrons of Husbandry, we are contending for principle; we are contending for a set of noble purposes, founded on the eternal principles of truth and justice; not for the advancement of any man or set of men, nor any political party.

Our opponents choose to call our organization a monopoly and a ring, let them call it so. What odds does it make to us? If it must be mis-called a great monopoly, let it be so.

The Grange expecting to take advantage of it to accumulate moneyed or political capital, he will find himself woefully mistaken. The Farmer as a Middleman. The attempt to make farmers appear to be monopolists and speculators by their organization in the Grange is only a little less absurd than the lame effort which appeared lately in a respectable paper of San Francisco, to prove that the farmer himself is a middleman himself.

We are willing to belong to a monopoly which enrolls under the same banner nearly 2,000,000 of the most earnest men and women of America, ignoring political, sectional and religious differences, and contending in union against the many ills of which we know we justly complain.

Our opponents choose to call our organization a monopoly and a ring, let them call it so. What odds does it make to us? If it must be mis-called a great monopoly, let it be so.

A Farmer's Monopoly, Broad and Liberal. We are willing to belong to a monopoly which enrolls under the same banner nearly 2,000,000 of the most earnest men and women of America.

Grange expecting to take advantage of it to accumulate moneyed or political capital, he will find himself woefully mistaken. The Farmer as a Middleman. The attempt to make farmers appear to be monopolists and speculators by their organization in the Grange is only a little less absurd than the lame effort which appeared lately in a respectable paper of San Francisco, to prove that the farmer himself is a middleman himself.

We are willing to belong to a monopoly which enrolls under the same banner nearly 2,000,000 of the most earnest men and women of America, ignoring political, sectional and religious differences, and contending in union against the many ills of which we know we justly complain.

Grange Enterprises. As patrons of Husbandry, we are contending for principle; we are contending for a set of noble purposes, founded on the eternal principles of truth and justice; not for the advancement of any man or set of men, nor any political party.

Our opponents choose to call our organization a monopoly and a ring, let them call it so. What odds does it make to us? If it must be mis-called a great monopoly, let it be so.

The Grange expecting to take advantage of it to accumulate moneyed or political capital, he will find himself woefully mistaken. The Farmer as a Middleman. The attempt to make farmers appear to be monopolists and speculators by their organization in the Grange is only a little less absurd than the lame effort which appeared lately in a respectable paper of San Francisco, to prove that the farmer himself is a middleman himself.

We are willing to belong to a monopoly which enrolls under the same banner nearly 2,000,000 of the most earnest men and women of America, ignoring political, sectional and religious differences, and contending in union against the many ills of which we know we justly complain.

Our opponents choose to call our organization a monopoly and a ring, let them call it so. What odds does it make to us? If it must be mis-called a great monopoly, let it be so.

A Farmer's Monopoly, Broad and Liberal. We are willing to belong to a monopoly which enrolls under the same banner nearly 2,000,000 of the most earnest men and women of America.

Grange expecting to take advantage of it to accumulate moneyed or political capital, he will find himself woefully mistaken. The Farmer as a Middleman. The attempt to make farmers appear to be monopolists and speculators by their organization in the Grange is only a little less absurd than the lame effort which appeared lately in a respectable paper of San Francisco, to prove that the farmer himself is a middleman himself.

We are willing to belong to a monopoly which enrolls under the same banner nearly 2,000,000 of the most earnest men and women of America, ignoring political, sectional and religious differences, and contending in union against the many ills of which we know we justly complain.

Grange Enterprises. As patrons of Husbandry, we are contending for principle; we are contending for a set of noble purposes, founded on the eternal principles of truth and justice; not for the advancement of any man or set of men, nor any political party.

Our opponents choose to call our organization a monopoly and a ring, let them call it so. What odds does it make to us? If it must be mis-called a great monopoly, let it be so.

The Grange expecting to take advantage of it to accumulate moneyed or political capital, he will find himself woefully mistaken. The Farmer as a Middleman. The attempt to make farmers appear to be monopolists and speculators by their organization in the Grange is only a little less absurd than the lame effort which appeared lately in a respectable paper of San Francisco, to prove that the farmer himself is a middleman himself.

We are willing to belong to a monopoly which enrolls under the same banner nearly 2,000,000 of the most earnest men and women of America, ignoring political, sectional and religious differences, and contending in union against the many ills of which we know we justly complain.

Our opponents choose to call our organization a monopoly and a ring, let them call it so. What odds does it make to us? If it must be mis-called a great monopoly, let it be so.

A Farmer's Monopoly, Broad and Liberal. We are willing to belong to a monopoly which enrolls under the same banner nearly 2,000,000 of the most earnest men and women of America.

Grange expecting to take advantage of it to accumulate moneyed or political capital, he will find himself woefully mistaken. The Farmer as a Middleman. The attempt to make farmers appear to be monopolists and speculators by their organization in the Grange is only a little less absurd than the lame effort which appeared lately in a respectable paper of San Francisco, to prove that the farmer himself is a middleman himself.

We are willing to belong to a monopoly which enrolls under the same banner nearly 2,000,000 of the most earnest men and women of America, ignoring political, sectional and religious differences, and contending in union against the many ills of which we know we justly complain.

Grange Enterprises. As patrons of Husbandry, we are contending for principle; we are contending for a set of noble purposes, founded on the eternal principles of truth and justice; not for the advancement of any man or set of men, nor any political party.

Our opponents choose to call our organization a monopoly and a ring, let them call it so. What odds does it make to us? If it must be mis-called a great monopoly, let it be so.

The Grange expecting to take advantage of it to accumulate moneyed or political capital, he will find himself woefully mistaken. The Farmer as a Middleman. The attempt to make farmers appear to be monopolists and speculators by their organization in the Grange is only a little less absurd than the lame effort which appeared lately in a respectable paper of San Francisco, to prove that the farmer himself is a middleman himself.

We are willing to belong to a monopoly which enrolls under the same banner nearly 2,000,000 of the most earnest men and women of America, ignoring political, sectional and religious differences, and contending in union against the many ills of which we know we justly complain.