The Grasshopper Pestilence.

Through the courtesy of J. R. Spencer of Cornelius we have permission to take an extract from a letter written by D. L. Davis which presents a sad picture of the devastation of that part of Missouri and the suffering consequent. Mr. Davis is well known in this county, having been the editor of the Progressionist formerly published at Cornelius. The letter bears date, May 23d and is written from Lucas, Henry county Missouri. Mr. Davis says:

We are now threatened with a serious plague which may prove disastrous to many of us. Last fall the grasshoppers came in myriads among us. They deposited their eggs in most every square inch of ground for hundreds of miles. This spring they have hatched so numerous and are growing so fast that up to this date they have consumed everything green, eating first the gardens, then wheat, oats, corn, grass and weeds and are now devouring the forest tree foliage and are not half-grown. What is to become of us God only knows. People have become scared and have ceased to work because work is useless as everything is devoured as soon as it is above ground. If these pests even leave when they get wings it will be a month yet. The middle of June with no seed in the ground. I held out manfully till to-day. I was the last to give up but, endurance ceases to be of avail. I fear a great calamity is upon us. Suffering and starvation are at some of our doors. Last year was almost an entire failure of crops here and much stock perished of hunger, and our granaries are completely empty.

We are persuaded that the above picture is not over-drawn. This is also true for several other of the bordering States. Oregon will have a bountiful harvest and out of the fullness of their granaries and the greatness of their hearts we hope our people will be in the lead to offer aid to those who must suffer from this fearful calamity.

The New Hampshire Villainy.

Governor Weston and his Council of New Hampshire, taking pattern after Kellogg and his Board of conspirators in giving the Republicans control of Louisiana against law, have cast out enough votes to defeat two of the Republicans who had been elected by overwhelming majorities and let in two of their own kind thus giving the Legisiature to the Democrats and defeating the will of the people. How is this for the redeemed and progressive Democracy! Now why do not those papers that shot their two column leaders at the Louisiana outrage turn their fire on the New Hampshire Democratic villainy? "Constushn!" Constushn! !"

Third Term Grant.

President Grant evidently esteems the retirement of George Washington and others at the end of the second term a bad precedent and is prepared to sacrifice himself (not his relations) if the good of the country demands it on the altar of a third term. It is a pity for General Grant, and a greater pity for the American people, that he sacrificed himself even for a second term. While it would be impossible to destroy Grant's military fame we have the best of evidence in his own mistakes, if not willful errors, that as great as his fame is it can be tarnished.

Indorsement.

Thanks to our Beaverton correspondent and his friends who indorse our course with the railroad. But very few have disagreed with us in that matter. A few say that the Oregonian said too little and that we said too much about it. Coming from the "straight" Republicans of the county we call that a fair indorsement of our action.

Paul Boynton has swum across the English Channel in his India rubber coat of mail in 23 hours and 40 minutes, the distance being 21 miles, or not quite a mile an hour. That beats Leander or the hero of Montechristo all hollow.

Z. Y.'s letter came to late this week.

A Wrong Impression.

Some of the people of Cornelius are disposed to think that we are dictating their town instead of the Holladay board of directors. Now they are greatly mistaken. Since the Washington Independent was established we have not written a line for the purpose of injuring that town. It has been our aim ever since we established the paper at this place to do all we could to bring to notice and aid the improvement of every part of the county. We have not failed so far as our recollection goes of publishing every item of intesest concerning Cornelius that has been sent to us. Nearly every week we have had a column of items from that place and have dealt as fairly with it as we knew how. We say this because of the impression that we are prejudiced against the town. We are not. It would be better for our business if Cornelius had 20,000 inhabitants than the population it now has.

Halsey Exit.

Halsey, Holladay's henchman, having squeezed the Oregon orange dry has sold out his household goods and will soon leave the country for the country's good. He had the honor of hissing on Holladay's dogs from the Ajax and the cars from the slums and purlieus of Portland to wrest the property out of the hands of the stockholders. It was he that filled the curs with these free Jacks armed with rifles and revolvers and sent them raiding up and down the road from St. Jo to Portland at $5.00 a day at the expense of the bondholders. Thy memory will be fragrant, Halsey. Vale Halsey. Get out! Go!!

Holladay Exit.

The Farmer states that Holladay has sold his interest in the East side railroad to the bond-holders. As he has transferred his interest in the West side road to Latham & Norris, he can no longer be counted a factor in Oregon politics.

Friend Holladay, several politicians in Oregon mourn your departure. There will be little inducement for a man to go to the Oregon Legislature now. "Old twenty dollar pieces" (of the German bondholders), good-by! Dear Benny farewell! And may you never return is the prayer of your humble servant.

West Side R. R. Suit.

The status of the litigation now in progress between the opposing Boards of Directors for the West side road is that both injunctions are still retained by the Court and will be until it is determined by an action at law, in the nature of Quo Warranto, which is the legal Board of Directors. This special proceeding will be tried at Portland sometime in the first of July and will end the contest.

A Mistake.—Some people are under the impression that we publish obituaries for nothing. If they will examine our advertising rates they will discover their mistake. We make some exceptions, but that is our business. We don't publish a paper for the accommodation of the public but for money. We say this for the information of some parties who have a false impression about the matter.

Rain.—A refreshing and most welcome rain came Monday night and saturated the dust and moistened the thirsty soil generally. Nothing was suffering as yet, but the spring crops needed this rain to insure a good yield. Now both the fall and spring crops will make an abundant harvest and hard times will flee away before the yellow wheat that in tossing gold shall glow.

We are under obligations to Mr. Gibson for the Cass Co. Courier, published in Missouri. Accerding to its story the grasshoppers, or locusts, and the chinchbugs are fighting for the last chew of tobacco in Missouri and the farmers don't care a copper which whips.

Thanks to Dr. Bailey for late files of Eastern and W. T. papers. The Dr. takes a cart load of them and is of course along with the times.

A Good Rule.—Never get within three feet of an editor's table unless you want to knock him down.

Mount Rainier is 14,279 feet high, which beats Hood a couple of thousand.

HUMOROUS.

What holds all the snuff in the world? No one sneeze.

Maine has a new town called Skatchawatchichatchie.

What is that a poor man has and a rich man wants? Nothing.

The Saratoga chap who married a girl last summer, having fallen in love with her beautiful complexion, says now that it was a "skin game."

A fellow who was up in a police court recently gave his occupation as that of a "conchologist," and explained by saying he opened clams at market.

Grand Lodge Degrees.—At the late meeting of the Grand lodge of of Good Templars at Portland the Grand Lodge degree was conferred on Miss Olive Meeks, Miss Ella Watt, Miss M. E. Hinman, C. T. Tozier and W. Parker, of this County. Mrs. M. E. Hoxter was elected Superintendent of juvenile temples by the Grand Lodge.

Fourth of July Picnic.—A celebration picnic will be held on the Hillsboro Park grounds on Saturday July 3d under the auspices of the Hillsboro Grange. Everybody is invited to come.
