The Democratic Candidate.

Lafayette, son of Gen. Joseph Lane of secession notoriety, is the Democratic candidate fer Congress. Mr. Lane is a young man of please ing address and manners, an easy and fluent speaker, a lawyer of small note, and beats a fair moral reputation. Politically he is a Bourbon of the bed-rock type, is said to be a secessionist, and a cordial hater of the Union as it is. Intellectually he does not fill the bill for a Congressman. We already have too many men of his stamp in Washington, men without moral courage or large culture, who have been and can be bought, led or driven by political wire-pullers and stock-jobbers. The The adoption of our the Federal Constitution closed a great era questions settled by in our politics and marked the end forever of human slavery ey, and of the struggle that grew out of the the adoption of the war are never to be reopened.

The adoption of the this position of our the federal constitution closed a great era questions settled by in our politics and marked the end forever of human slavery ey, and of the struggle that grew out of that system. These amendments to the Federal Constitution of the war are never to be reopened.

The adoption of our XVth Amendments of the war are never to be reopened.

The adoption of our XVth Amendments to the war are never to be reopened.

The adoption of the truggle was an anticipated. The early sowed grain is well filled, the grain being full and plump. Grain that was put in early in our politics and marked the end forever of human slavery ey, and of the struggle that grew out of the federal Constitution of the war are never to be reopened.

The adoption of our the farmers of Lane county have commenced cutting the early sowed grain, and from present prospects the crops will yield as much as was anticipated. While we would like to see them punished by the defeat of the party we would not like to elect a man of the same stamp, and who will not accept the results of the Rebellion—an enemy to the Union. We cannot afford to league perhaps, but abler. While we would Union. We cannot afford to league nal past. with the devil to overthrow his imps; on the contrary we would reverse that programme if compelled. While we are independent, we are not an indepenent rebel.

The voters of Washington county now turn their eyes to the Independent and Republican conventions to see whom they will select for candidates. If they do no better than He would get our vote.

Rowdyism at Dilley.

Ever since the starting of the saloon at Dilley, which had hitherto a fair reputation for order and respectability, rowdyism has developed which has put to shame the many respectable citizens who live in the otherwise pleasant neighborhood. Nightly brawls over card tables occur and day-light discovers blacked eyes and bloated faces. Young men blackguards and gamblers, now frequent the saloon, and are boon companions of the worst class in the drunken carousals and gambling. company. We will make no statements here concerning the management of the saloon at Dilley, as certain proceedings will come before the grand jury next fall for investigation and the proper penalties we hope will be meted out to the violators of law.

There is such a thing as keeping a saloon in a way that will not disturb the quiet of a community by nightly brawls or shock the feelings of decent people by the open deseeration of the Sabbath.

We shall be thought fanatical by whisky men when we state that we think when any business in a community becomes a public nursance that that community should have a legal, as they have a moral right to abate it. But that is our opinion.

The Black Hills' Mines.

Late reports from the Black Hills mining region present more favorable and accurate reports as to gold discoveries. Prof. Jenny has found good prospects on Spring and Rapid creeks where there is an abundance of water; also a number of flats that average 3 to 41 cents to the pan which are esteemed rich diggings anywhere.

THE Eugene Guard, a "bed-rock" Democratic paper, says of Latayette ence from every part of the county, Lane the new candidate for Congress, "There are other men in the party who have more age and experience, and we think would be stronger than Mr. Lane."

Bourbonism Dying at the East.

For the benefit of the Bourbon bed-rock Demogracy in this who will not scout the souls of the war for the Union we publish the following straightforward, honest, and ringing declaration, the first resolution in the Minnesota Democratic platform. Beside it, forcomparison, we also publish a declaration from Governor Tilden of New York in his message tast fall to the Legislature of his State.

There should be no Resolved, First: That misunderstanding as Republicans who helped elect will run independent of all parties. small triumph that they have thus beaten Bourbonism to death in Minnesota with its own club. Democracv learns at last.

The Westside R. R. Suit.

The suit of J. Gaston et al. vs. Ben Holladay et al. is set for the 5th inst. Several citizens of Washington county has been subpound to appear at Portland as witnesses.

It is devoutly to be hoped that Holladay and his crowd of harpies and blood-suckers will be defeated who had before not been accustomed in this suit and the people of Washto herd drinking or association with ington and Yambill counties get the proper railroad accommodations, and our stock-hold rs get their rights. If not, it is about time for our people community. The Sabbath, before to demand from their Legislature usually respected, puts no stop to rights denied them by the railroad

ORIGIN OF THE BARBER'S POLE .- In ancient times the calling of the surgeon and barber were always united in one person. It was the custom of the barber and leech to hang a bloody RowerL's Newspaper Directory bandage outside the door to denote that he also followed the profession of a surgeon. The bloody cloth was afterward wound around the doortime in America with a loss post, then upon a post in front of the door, and at last the post was merely painted to represent the red-stained bandage.
