Blackberries and Kisses.

Single number.

We were up on the green old hill side Where the blackberry bushes grow, And we gathered the ripe, sweet berries Till the sun was getting low, And somehow, where the fruit was ripes I could not account for this!-We were sure to eat all the berries,

And sweeten them with a kiss. Oh, I know of nothing better, The whole year round, than this: A handful of ripe blackberries Made sweet with a lover's kiss. "If they saw us eating the berries

In this new, but pleasant way, They would say we were silly creatures," Said she; but I answered, "Nay. They would say we were wise, my darling, To eat our berries so, For kisses are cheaper than sugar

In times like these, you know." Oh, I know of nothing better, The whole year round, than this; A handful of ripe blackberries Made sweet with a lover's kiss.

As we stood in the path together, When our feet were homeward turned, I whispered the sweet old question That each lover's heart has learned. I forgot the words of her answer, But I remember this,

It was all my heart had hoped for, And I took it with a kiss. Oh, I know of nothing better, The whole year round, than this; A handful of ripe blackberries
